With a natural love for research, and a shadowy recollection of my parents, I have been prompted to publish the following records, hoping that the present and future generations may be inspired to make further inquiry into the history of the family.

*“One age moves onward, and the next builds up
Cities and gorgeous palaces, where stood
The rude log huts of those who tamed the wild.
Rearing from out the forests they had felled
The goodly framework of a fairer state.”*

PREFACE.

In boyhood days my son Bayard became very much interested in the history of his ancestors, especially those of the Antisdel family, from which he was descended through both father and mother. Accordingly he questioned a great aunt (b. 1800) from whom he learned much of her father's family, writing out the information obtained in connected form. Later he gathered the records of a few other families of whom it was known that they had some connection with ours, and made some research in Connecticut, the old home of the family, but soon life became too busy and the work was dropped.

In 1902, after I had finished a work of a similar nature he suggested that I take what he had found and carry on the work to completion, which I have attempted to do, giving it most careful study, and in all cases trying to get accurate information, laboring under the same disadvantages that undoubtedly all genealogists encounter in the search for authentic data. The early records of New England towns are in many instances very incomplete, and it has been necessary to make search in the records of the registers of deeds and probate courts as well as in church records, military rolls, family Bibles, local histories and family genealogies. To obtain the names of members of the family of the present generation, directories have been searched and requests have been sent out to furnish information concerning ancestors, in many cases bringing very valuable records, and at times disappointment.

It is only fair to say that where a family has been "left out," it has occurred through the negligence of some member of that family, who failed to reply after numerous invitations. While entire accuracy has been aimed at, and while I have avoided all statements not based on good authority, I am well aware that errors, especially in regard to dates, will occasionally be found. Only those who have engaged in research of this kind will appreciate the perplexing discrepancies which constantly occur, not only in dates furnished by different members of the same family, but between different family records, between family and town records, and sometimes between town, church and probate records. In these cases of disagreement I have decided according to the best judgment I could follow, probably not always rightly, but the genealogical facts brought together are more complete than we permitted ourselves to even hope for.

One of the greatest difficulties has resulted from the change of the family name. Starting in Colonial days with "Antisell" the name has become "Antisdel," "Antisdale" and "Tisdel," while certain branches of the family have adopted the spelling "Tisdale," and have made it extremely difficult to distinguish them from the well known family of Tisdale, which is entirely different from ours.

I wish to extend thanks to those who have so kindly assisted in this work, and especially to Mrs. Harley, wife of the late Judge Daniel S. Harley of Manistee, Mich., for records of the Phelps family; to Mr. Orley D. Antisdel of Afton, Wis., for the history of his grandfather's family; to Mrs. Edith Antisdel for complete records of Phineas Antisdel (third generation) of West Warren, Pa.; to Orus E. Parker of Brimfield, Mass.; Mrs. Julia A. Hayes of S. Manchester, Conn.; Mr. John P. Antisdel of Detroit, Mich., and to Mr. Coye L. Himebaugh of Washington, D. C., for ancestral records. To all others who have furnished their family records, and to all who have taken an interest in this work which otherwise must have remained unfinished, I desire to express my sincere appreciation, and hope that every one into whose hands this little history of our family may come, will derive as much pleasure from reading as I have from compiling it.

MARY E. TISDEL WYMAN.

THE NAME.

Thorough research has been made in old English publications as to the name of Antisell, which is the name from which these records have been traced, and from the best authority, it is thought to be a corruption of Entwisle. We find this name in old Parish registers and other authority, spelled with "A" as often as "E," and "Antisell" referred to "Antweisel."

Some authorities give the family as Flemish (the name then being Entwysse), going from Holland to Scotland, England and Wales, finally settling in Lancaster Co., where it is of great antiquity. The coat-of-arms of the families of Antisell and Entwisle are of such similarity that we would have another reason for thinking that at one time the families were the same (in the Entwisle shield the three stars run diagonally). Sir John Antwisle of Lancashire lived in the reign of Henry V, and before 1436 a daughter of his married Sir Roger Grimston. Camden Soc. Pub., Vol. 53, mentions Robert de Hennetwisel, who lived about 1200, also Elias Entwisle of Charleton near Manchester in 1473, and Roger Enttissyle in a deed dated May 6, 1427. One of the members of this family, Sir Bertine Entwisle, distinguished himself at the battle of Agincourt (1415), and in the wars between the rival houses of York and Lancaster; he fell at the second battle of St. Albans (1461) and was buried in St. Peter's Church. We have the death of Lewce Antisell in 1612, and the marriage of Thomas Antwhistle, March 25, 1722.

From Burke's Landed Gentry we quote:

"Edward Entwisle died in 1545, had sons George (d. without issue) and William, who was father of Edmund, whose son Richard was succeeded by his son Richard (d.

THE NAME

1645) leaving besides two daughters, a son John, an utter barrister of the inner temple, living in 1665, aged 35 years. His sons were Richard, Bertie and Edmund. The sons of Richard (b. 1650) were Robert (d. unm.) and Edmund of Preston (d. 1746) in South Carolina, leaving a son Robert who succeeded to the estate. Bertie's sons were William (d. unm.), John of Liverpool (sons all d. unm.), Alexander (d. unm.) and Thomas (d. in infancy 1695). The third son of John was Edmund, D. D., Dean of Chester."

From the Parish Register of Chester Cathedral Church, 1687-1718, we have:

"Edmund Antwisley of Castleton, D. D. Prebendary and Arch Deacon of Chester, and Priscilla Bunbury of Chester were married in the Bishop's Chapel in Canonical Hours, May 19, 1701. Dr. Entwistle was third son of John Entwistle of Foxholes in Hundersfield, Co. Lancaster, by Dorothy his wife, dau. of Robert Holt of Castleton and Stubley of the same county.

"This was the second marriage, his first wife having been Grace, dau. of Nicholas Stratford, Bishop of Chester. He was married by his father-in-law in the little Chapel attached to the Episcopal Palace at Chester, in which the venerable Bishop, Thomas Wilson of Sodor and Man, had received orders years before. Dr. Antwistle was buried Sept. 19, 1707.

"Mrs. Antwistle of ye Abbey Court buried Mch. ye 30th, 1742.

"Henry, the son of Dr. Entwistle, Arch Deacon of Chester, bapt. Nov. 22, 1706.

Henry Entwistle, Esq., buried Feb. 6, 1784.

"Jane Entwistle, spinster (decay) ae. 77, buried Sept. 2, 1772.

"Catharine Entwistle, Spinster of St. Oswald's Parish (decay) ae. 77, buried Dec. 17, 1773.

THE NAME

"Thomas Antwistle, Gentleman (decay) ae. 72, buried June 2, 1774."

"The family of Entwistle was originally situated at a place of the same name, which is described by Camden as a neat and elegant house. In the 16th Century, the family quitting this residence, fixed their abode at Foxholes, which is situated on the easterly side of the town of Rochdale, and is the seat of John Entwisle, Esq.

"The modern erection of freestone was built in 1792 by the grandfather of the present possessor, on the site of the old hall."

"The present owner of Foxholes is John Bertie Norreys Entwisle, J. P., D. L., b. 1856, s. 1868, o. s. of late John Smith Entwisle, and Caroline, 2d dau. of Robert J. J. Norreys of Davy Holme Hall, Co. Lancaster, m. 1881, Mynie Sophia Taite, dau. of G. T. Dalton, and niece of late Baroness Lingar of Bosworth Hall, Leicestershire, Eng." — (Who's Who, 1906.)

The town of Entwisle was situated near Bolton, and one informant says that at one time some forty families of the name were situated in that vicinity. We also find the name in Manchester from 1773-1867, that of John, John Jun., Thomas and Richard, holding important positions. Dr. Thomas Antisell of Washington, D. C., and Thomas Christopher Antisell of Dublin, the lineal descendant of the family in Ireland, both have stated that the name was once Entwisle. Be that as it may, we have data that about 1700, Christopher Antisell, with his son Thomas (b. 1687) left Lancashire, Eng., and settled in Ireland. About the same time a young lad, Lawrence Antisell, without parents, came to America, and was never in communication with his people. We can easily conjecture that he might have been a younger son, and hope that as the Parish Registers are more generally published, some one may find the true parentage of this lad which we have been unable to do. It is interesting to notice the many ways we have found the name spelled in New England records.

Antwistle, Antwhistle, Antweisley, Antwisle, Antweisel, Antiszell, Antizzal, Antizele, Antisil, Antisal, Antisial, Antisell, Antisel, Antizel, Antisle, Antizzle, Antwisle. After the Revolutionary War, all this family placed a "d" in the name, and then we have Antisdle, Antisdel, Antisdell, Antisdale, A-Tisdel, Tisdel, Tisdell, and Tisdale, which form belongs to an entirely different family.

HISTORICAL INFORMATION

We are indebted to Mr. Louis M. Antisdale of Rochester, N. Y., for the following data taken from the original documents preserved in the Cabinet of Titles in the National Library in Paris. The certificate is given in full herewith in French, and its English translation is as follows:

Antisdale family, originally of the Province of Normandy, France. Original form of the names, Anthiewsselle and Enthiewsselle. Various (later) written forms of the name, Antiselle and Antisell.

Actual written form (the one submitted), Antisdale.

The coats of arms of this family exist in the form of a seal upon wax fixed at the bottom of a deed upon parchment, signed, sealed and delivered to Berthin Anthiewsselle, knight, lieutenant of the Earl of Suffolk, the twenty-fourth of February, fourteen hundred thirty-four (1434), which arms are: of green with a silver band of irregular edges.

Concerning the same Berthin Anthiewsselle there exists a second item on parchment, which is an order of "Henry, by the grace of God, King of France, to our well beloved officers in charge of our accounts in Normandy." By this order there was granted an extension of time to this Berthin Enthiewsselle, knight, for the fiefs which he holds of the King in Normandy, in the year fourteen hundred forty-six (1446).

Executed at Paris under the seal of the Archeological Society of France, by me, the undersigned, Expert Archivist of the Royal Academy of History of Spain. Permanent Secretary of the Archeological Society of France, at Paris, May 11, 1908, at the request of the said Mr. Antisdale.

ANTISELL IN AMERICA

FIRST GENERATION

These records are of Lawrence Antisell, of whose ancestry we are not certain, though all research points to Lancashire, England as the early home of the family. The history of the name, and the similarity of the Coat-of-Arms, leads us to believe, that at a very early day, the family in England, which is now Entwisle, and in Ireland and America are, or were Antisell (for the name in America has undergone many changes,) were of one family.

Lawrence Antisell came to America (about 1700), a mere lad of ten or twelve years of age. One tradition concerning him is that he was forcibly brought to this country, another similar tradition, "that three school boys embarked for fun, and to get away from school, on a sailing vessel, expecting to return in time, but sailing was slow in those days, and they visited various countries, (though never allowed to leave the ship,) before they reached America, so that two or three years had elapsed during the journey, that they received no reply to letters written to relatives, and one of these boys was said to be Lawrence Antisell."

That he was of goodly parentage is evidenced by the mementoes of his youth kept for years by his family, one of which was the fine silk coat he wore.

But we find him a young man of Norwich, Conn., in 1731. The records of the Franklin Congregational Church, organized Jan. 4, 1718, then called the Second Church in Norwich, (West Farms, now Franklin) give the marriage of Laurance Antis-zell and Mary Armstrong Mch. 15, 1731, doubtless by the Rev. Henry Willis, who had preached there since 1717. Mary Armstrong (b. Norwich, Conn., May 17, 1709, admitted by profession to the Franklin Church Feb. 22, 1736, d. Willington, Conn., 1809.) was dau. of Benj. Armstrong (b. Nov. 30, 1674) who, in 1703 was one of the patentees of Mansfield, Conn., and Sarah Raymond, his wife; gd.-dau. of Benj. Armstrong (d. Jan. 10, 1718), and Rachel, his wife, who were in Norwich soon after its settlement, (1659). The Norwich and Windham records have the name Lawrence Antisel and Larrance Antizel, evidently spelled at the will of the recorder. We have no means of knowing what the occupation of Lawrence was, except that he was called Captain, and from the oldest branch of the family the tradition comes that he was a Sea-Captain, which is very probable.

ANTISELL IN AMERICA

Hinman in his "First Puritan Settlers of Connecticut," mentions the settlement of the Estate (£ 186) of Lawrence Antizell of Willington, who died Dec. 18, 1759, by his son-in-law, David Fuller.

In 1752 Lawrence Antisell bought of Hopestill Tyler, of Preston, land in Willington, Tolland Co., Conn., to which he removed his family, who kept the homestead until after the death of his wife, when it was exchanged for land in Madison, Geauga (now Lake) Co., Ohio, a part of the Western Reserve of Connecticut. In the northern part of Willington township there are, on a tract of high land grown up to timber, evidences of two houses, which were once the homes of the Antisells. And to this day the location is referred to as "Antisell place" or "Antisell Mountain."

True copy of deed of 1752 of "Antisell mountain," still (1907) in existence.

Lawrence Antizels Deed.

In the house at the foot of the mountain lived Phineas (son of Lawrence) who was the only son to remain in Connecticut. About a half mile south was the old homestead, where the mother lived until 1809, (lacking six weeks of finishing a hundred years) with the family of her son Silas, who in 1811 removed to Ohio. We have found it impossible to trace the records of the daughters of this family, farther than the Conn. records go, as they left the home state, and there we lose them. In one edition of "Puritan Settlers of Conn.," Hinman gives William as a son of Lawrence. The other edition does not mention him, and we have found no trace of him.

On Aug. 11, 1635, he with his wife, a single servant and eleven other male passengers, embarked at London, in a small vessel of 25 tons burthen ("The Bachilor") and reached Boston Nov. 28, 1635. He commanded the fort at Saybrook during the Pequot war, and died in 1663. James Parshall (¹) was "a gentleman" in the sense in which the word was used in Colonial times, and a man of considerable means which he brought from England."

(Parshall Genealogy.)

John Antisdel was the second child and oldest son in a family of eight children. At the time of the father's death in 1850, the family was living on a small farm in Brooklyn, Jackson Co., Mich. On the father's death he became the active and responsible head of the family, and at about the age of twenty, took a position in Detroit as clerk in a hotel. By his industry, his honesty, and his gift of winning friends he soon established himself in a position of assured independence.

This accomplished, he assisted his younger brothers to similar positions, and more closely renewed the family ties, by bringing his mother and sisters to a home in Detroit. From these small beginnings he became one of the best known hotel men of the west, having been proprietor of large hotels in Detroit, Milwaukee, Bay City and the beautiful summer resort "The Mettewas" of Kingsville, Ont.

He had little opportunity for schooling, but his wide contact with people was in itself a liberal education, and through these opportunities and his natural endowments he became a broad-minded, polished man, one whom the most influential citizens were glad to number among their friends.

He was a Christian gentleman, prominent not only in the work of the Baptist denomination to which he belonged, but giving largely to all charities. His generosity was limited only by his means; his kindness was limitless. Let a single instance illustrate: At the time of the great Chicago fire, in 1871, when an offering was taken for the sufferers, in the first Baptist Church in Detroit, he headed the list with a hundred dollars, and then followed by duplicating every subscription made by that large and prosperous church. He was a trustee, and large contributor to Kalamazoo College. A gifted speaker.
