EXPLANATION.

Numbers occurring in the margin on the left of any name re-occur in brackets following when the name again occurs as a parent in the next or succeeding generation.

Thus, the marginal number refers forward to descendants, and the bracket number backward to ancestors.

TO THE READER.

You are asked to bear in mind that these are the records of only one branch or line of the great Adams Family of New England. There are other branches, both larger and smaller—notably that of Henry Adams of Braintree and Quincy, Mass., whose history was published by the author two years ago (1898), in a volume of 1250 pages, also "William of Ipswich," "John of Plymouth," "George of Watertown," as well as several other first-comers in Massachusetts, Connecticut, Maine, and New Hampshire. The author has compiled extensive lists of all these families, which could be published for the benefit of others, if there were sufficient interest among the living descendants to warrant the labor and expense.

This book was begun many years ago when few of the original records had been printed, and it has been carried forward under many difficulties and discouragements, and is now completed only through the solicitation and encouragement of a few interested friends. If it prove to be full of errors, omissions, misstatements, it will not be surprising, for a large part of the material has been obtained only by persistent importunity and correspondence, wearying to the patience and kindness of the good friends who were interested and willing to help. In not a few instances whole families have failed, or neglected, or positively refused to lend any assistance.

Unhistoric and misleading statements have been published for truths, which have raised false expectations on the part of many people. On account of this, the book will prove a disappointment; but such as it is—being an honest effort to give useful and correct knowledge, the author submits it to public criticism, hoping it may prove useful and afford pleasure through many generations.

To the many friends who have rendered valuable assistance, and who have waited long and patiently for the completion of the work — some of whom are no longer alive — I wish here to make acknowledgment of my obligations, and among these I call to mind, and will name, Mrs. Elizabeth Reno of Brighton, Pa., Mrs. Fanny L. Freeman of Syracuse, N. Y., Mrs. Helen B. Fisk of Logansport, Ind., Mrs. Amelia R. Weston of Georgetown, Mass., Mrs. Susan E. H. Camden of Parkersburg, W. Va., Mrs. John Q. Adams of Hampden, Mass., Mrs. Charlotte E. Osgood of No. Andover, Mass., Mrs. Anna B. Boynton of W. Newbury, Mass., Miss Harriet N. Adams of Sutton, N. H., Miss Agnes M. Adams of St. Clair, Mich., Miss Ida H. Adams of Boston, Mass., Miss Annie A. Clarke of Portland, Me., Miss Alice A. Priest, and her cousin, Miss Mabel C. Williard of Shenandoah, Ia., John McKelvey of Sandusky, O., Le Roy F. Adams of Brattleboro, Vt., Edwin P. Adams of Marlboro, Vt., Mark Trafton Adams of Boston, Mass., John Collins Adams of New London, N. H., Daniel D. Adams and Stephen P. Hale of Newbury, Mass., Oliver W. Adams of Holyoke, Mass., Raymond M. D. Adams of Byfield, Mass., D. M. Wilson of Worcester, Mass., Stephen A. Tyrrell of Hill, N. H., Dr. Ezra Herbert Adams of Toronto, Ont., James Henry Adams of Hanover, Ont., and others whose kindness is duly appreciated, and whose labor will live to benefit and help thousands in the ages to come.

ANDREW N. ADAMS

THE DESCENDANTS OF ROBERT ADAMS OF NEWBURY, MASS.

Born in England in 1602, Robert Adams came first to Ipswich in Massachusetts Bay in A. D. 1635, bringing with him his wife Eleanor (Wilmot?) and his first two children. He was a tailor by trade, resided in Salem in 1638–9 and removed to Newbury in 1640, where he acquired a large farm and valuable property, and died October 12, 1682, aged 81 years. His will was made at Newbury, March 7, 1680–1, and probated Nov. 27, 1682. His wife Eleanor died June 12, 1677, and he married 2nd, Feb. 6, 1678, Sarah (Glover) Short, the widow of Henry Short. She died in Newbury, Oct. 24, 1697.

He is believed by many to have come from Devonshire, and to have been a son of Robert and Elizabeth Sharlon or Sharland, connected with the Ap Adam pedigree, and through that connection to have been a cousin of Henry Adams of Braintree—(afterward Quincy, Mass.), the ancestor of the presidents, John and John Quincy Adams. This famous Welsh pedigree, beginning with Ap Adam in the time of Edward the First, about the close of the 13th century, and changing to the name of ADAMS in the eighth generation, runs through thirteen generations down to Nicholas, who married and had no issue. To this pedigree has been appended by a later hand, according to competent judges, a brother of Nicholas, named John, who married Margaret Squier, and had Richard, who married and had Robert, the father of Robert of Newbury. There is no evidence whatever to sustain this pleasing belief. His origin is not positively known.

Dr. James Savage, in his Geneological Dictionary of all the earliest or first-comers in New England (1860), says: "Robert Adams, tailor, in Salem, 1638, by one tradition came from Devonshire, by another of equal value was from Holderness, County of York." According to Joshua Coffin, the historian of Newbury (1845), Robert Adams "was two or three years in Ipswich, and had before coming over, two children, John and Joanna, and at Salem, Abraham, born 1639; he removed to Newbury 1640, and had Isaac, 1648, and youngest Archelaus." He is believed to have resided within a few rods of the spot where his descendants, Col. Daniel Adams and Robert Adams, afterward lived. Mr. Coffin was mistaken in naming Archelaus among his sons. The Archelaus who has been classed as such, was a son of Lieut. John Adams, who was a son of "William of Ipswich." That he was equally mistaken in assuming that Robert Adams came from Devonshire, there is fair ground for belief.

If coming from Holderness it is not impossible that he was of Scotch origin and blood. There is a tradition among some of the descendants that he was a Scotchman.

The shears with which Robert Adams wrought and which he brought with him from England—a large pair, hand-made—are now in the possession of his descendant, Stephen P. Hale of Newbury.

The will of Robert Adams alludes to and confirms an agreement made with his loving wife, Sarah, before marriage,—gives her "my great chest and the highest chair in the room wherein we live," both of which she is to restore at her death, or if she shall marry again, "also all the money I have," she not to be accountable to any one, and "to enjoy the parlor wholly for one year." To his eldest son, John, he gives 20£ to be paid by his executors within twelve months after his decease; to his son Isaac he bequeaths 5£ yearly during life "in English corn, pork, beef, and such like, also my wearing apparel, and the bed in the north garret and all the furniture belonging to it, and the least, brass pot and pot hooks, etc." To Jacob he gives the house he lives in and the land adjoining to it as now fenced in, and the meadow on the neck or south side of Newbury River. To his daughter Hannah he gives 20£ to be paid within one year; to Joanna, or her children, the bed and furniture belonging to it in the parlor, and the biggest brass pot, and the chest and chair previously mentioned when they are returned, to have them when 18 years of age or when she marries; to daughter Elizabeth, wife of Edward Phelps, he gives one cow; to daughter Joanna, wife of Launcelot Granger, one cow; to daughter Mary, wife of Jeremiah Goodrich, one cow. To the three sons of Abraham, then born—Robert, Abraham, Isaac—he gives each a gun, and to the two older each a sword. All the rest of his effects he gives to Abraham.

He provides that his lands shall go to Robert, the eldest son of Abraham, also the great brass kettle, table, and irons and spit; Abraham and his son Robert to be joint executors, but Abraham to have power to act alone till Robert should become of age. "And though I appoint Robert Adams my heir after his father, Mary, the wife of said Abraham, is not to be debarred of any just claim if left a widow." Further, to Joanna Granger he bequeaths his pewter tankard and a pewter bowl, and to Mary, daughter of Abraham, a box with lock and key and six diaper knapkins." If Robert come into possession of the lands by reversion he is to give to either of his two brothers "now in being"—Abraham and Isaac—20£ a piece. His loving friends, Mr. John Woodbridge and Mr. Nichols Noyes, were to be overseers of the will, and to them, each one, was bequeathed one of his best wethers.

Signed and sealed March 7, 1680.

ROBERT ADAMS.

Children of ROBERT ADAMS and his wife Eleanor; res. Newbury, Mass.

i. JOHN[2], b. in England, date unknown. He is said to have come to America with his father, and it has been supposed that he married a Miss Woodman, and was the father of Archelaus of Salisbury; but the probate records show that Archelaus of Salisbury was the son of Lieut. John, and grandson of "William of Ipswich."

He appears to have been living in 1680, when his father's will was made, and yet is passed over with a simple bequest of 20 lbs, no wife or children being alluded to, from which it may fairly be inferred that he was unmarried, and left no issue. Records were kept, and handed down of all the children of Sergt. Abraham, and of Jacob, the only sons apparently who married and left descendants.

1. ii. JOANNA[2], b. in England, about 1633-4; m. Jan. 4, 1654, Launcelot Granger, b. in England. They removed to Suffield, Conn., where he d. 3 Sept., 1689.

2. iii. SERGT. ABRAHAM[2], b. in Salem, Mass., 1639; m. Nov. 10, 1670, Mary Pettengill, dau. of Richard and Joanna (Ingersoll) Pettengill, b. July 6, 1652; d. 19 Sept., 1705, age 53.

He was a corporal in the militia 1685-1693, and became sergeant in 1703. He d. in Newbury, in Aug., 1714, aged 75. [*]

43. i. ISRAEL[4], b. in Newbury, Feb. 24, 1707-8; m. Mar. 20, 1733, Tabitha Farnum of Andover, Mass. She d. in Rindge, N. H., 18 Feb., 1804, age 97.

He was called "Benoni" in early life; became a cordwainer in Andover; was a soldier in the French and Indian war; removed and settled in Rindge, N. H., about 1772, where he d. 16 Oct., 1789, age about 82 or 83.

This account of the birth of Israel is received by the author from an old record in the possession of Mrs. Julia A. M. Spofford of West Boxford, Mass., one of the descendants. It has been published in The Essex Antiquarian, Vol. II., No. 2, (February, 1898).

Its correctness is disputed, and another account is given of Israel's ancestry, by John M. Adams of West Lebanon, Columbia Co., N. Y. He claims that Israel was the son of Abraham Olney Adams and his wife Hannah La Grasse, dau. of Donald La Grasse of Drumlanrig, Scotland, that he was b. in Quincy, Mass., in 1706, removed to Keene, N. H., and thence to Andover and Littleton, Mass., finally to Rindge, N. H., where he d. 16 Oct., 1789, age 83 years; that he married (1) in 1726 Mercy Holdridge of Stonington, Conn.; m. (2) Mar. 20, 1733, Tabitha Farnum, and m. (3) Polly White of Providence, R. I.

Abraham Olney Adams, according to this account, was b. near Charlestown, Mass., Jan. 11, 1680, and was son of Stephen Olney Adams, who was b. in Tenterden, Kent Co., Eng., Apr. 18, 1620; m. twice, (1) in Maidstone, Eng., May 1, 1645, to Lydia Hartwell; she d. in Maidstone, 1650.

Stephen Olney was an officer in Cromwell's army, and was wounded at the battle of Worcester, Sept. 3, 1651. Fleeing to America to save his life he settled near Charlestown, Mass., and m. (2) 1678, Priscilla Durrie, who was the mother of Abraham Olney and others. She d. in 1718, age 98 years.

The only child of Israel by his first wife, Mercy Holdridge, it is stated, was Stephen, b. in Rowley, June 6, 1727. See Stephen, No. 96, where this account is further discussed.

Children of WILLIAM[4], (1706) [29] (Capt. Abraham[3], Sergt. Abraham[2], Robert[1]) and Elizabeth (Noyes) Adams; res. Rowley (Georgetown), Mass.

96. i. STEPHEN[5], b. in Rowley, Feb. 27, 1723-9; m. 1760, Susanna Dorman, dau. of Jacob and Mercy Dorman of Topsfield, Mass. Her birth is recorded in Topsfield as Sept. 15, 1740, but no more is given. She is said to have died 15 Oct., 1804.
According to a letter written by Mrs. Hannah P. Lane of E. Sangerfield, Me., a grand-daughter of Stephen, in Oct., 1891, Stephen resided in Rowley and Topsfield, Mass., "until after about half of his children were born, then he removed his family to Henniker, N. H., where he was one of the first settlers of that town."

L. W. Coggswell, in his History of Henniker (1880), says, "Stephen Adams, son of William and Betty (Noyes), came to town soon after the incorporation, and settled in the north-east part,"— "a large man, jovial, willful, obstinate; had six children born in Rowley, others in Henniker. He died 11 Jan., 1811. She d. 15 Oct., 1804."

Mr. John M. Adams of W. Lebanon, N. Y., a grandson of Jacob Adams, and great grandson of Stephen, claims that Stephen, who married Susanna Dorman, was not the son of William (1706), but was a son of Israel Adams and Mercy Holdridge, son of Abraham Olney and Hannah (La Grasse) Adams. The account given by Mr. Adams, while it has some marks of plausibility, is yet quite indefinite, and more or less vague, derived from data "kept on fly leaves of old books and margins," "disconnected and difficult to copy."

There are no records confirming them to be found in any of the towns and counties of Massachusetts,—a thing which is certainly most remarkable, where records were kept to a greater or less extent.

Mrs. Lane's father was Enoch, the youngest of the eleven children of Stephen and Susanna, born in Henniker, Jan. 5, 1783, and he was living at a time sufficiently early to be able to know surely who his parents were and he was accustomed to converse with his children upon the subject. Alluding to the claim of Mr. John M. Adams, Mrs. Lane says, under date of Sept. 9, 1891, "It does not agree with what my father used to tell me of his family."

The birth of Stephen, son of William, is given in the Rowley records as Feb. 27, 1729. Mr. Adams makes it June 6, 1727, and it may well be that there was another Stephen, born, not in Rowley, but in some other place, who did not marry Susanna Dorman.

Whatever may have been the exact truth may never be clearly established, and it has been deemed advisable, in the circumstances, to give the records as they appear in this connection.

ii. ELIZABETH[5], b. in Rowley, Apr. 17, 1731, bapt. at Byfield, Apr. 25, as "Eliza;" d. in Rowley, unm. Her estate was administered Nov. 2, 1789.

The Plumers' had removed to a place named Chartiers, near Pittsburg, Pa., and Dr. Adams followed soon, taking with him his slave servants and a heavily built carriage. After eleven years in Alleghany County, he removed and settled in Beaver township, Beaver Co., on Beaver Creek, seven miles above its mouth, where he took up a large farm, erected houses and mills, practiced his profession, became a minister in the Methodist church, and at last died on the 6th of March, 1832, greatly honored and revered. He had an extensive acquaintance, his practice and preaching covering many miles around, and his ample home served both as a hospital and as a place of worship and entertainment. His wife is described as a woman of rare charms, beautiful in person and character, inclined to rational thought and Quaker habits, most efficient in many ways as the mother of a large family, enduring heroicly and nobly the hardships of a pioneer life in a new country, far from her childhood home and loved scenes.

*REFRESHMENT.

Hast thou had hours when life seemed empty all,
And waste the garden thou wert set to till,
Like tide-swept sands that only white and still,
Unanswering lay beneath the Heaven's gray pall?
No ripening fruit to answer to His call,
Discouragement hath waited on the will;
And did some human voice that brought a thrill
Out of the silence, on the hearing fall;
'I could not rest till I had come to see
And tell you how your life hath blessed my own?'
Burst a cool spring; the heart, refreshed and free,
Went on its way under a smiling sun.
If ever this had happened unto thee,
Thou knowest a joy that's next to God's 'Well done.'"
