PREFACE.

THE compiler of this genealogy has devoted his leisure moments for some years past, in gathering materials and putting in its present shape, the work hereby presented. The labor has been much greater than he anticipated, and time and pecuniary means have been expended, without any expectation of a return, in the examination of public and private records, and traveling from place to place to obtain information. An examination of the work will show that it contains imperfections, that there are branches of the family which he has been unable to trace, names and dates which he has failed to obtain. In some cases the family records were lost, and in one the dates were refused, the female members of the family desiring secrecy as to their ages, intending to keep up the semblance of youth as long as possible.

The author has endeavored to make the work as perfect as possible, and has spared no pains or expense to effect this end, but perfection in a work of this kind can not be expected.

To the many members of the family, and others, who have cheerfully assisted him, he returns his sincere thanks. Especially are thanks due to the Rev. JOHN G. BERGEN, D. D., of Springfield, Illinois, from whom much valuable information has been obtained of the New Jersey branch of the family.

Family History.

THE name of "Bergen" and "Van Bergen,"* pronounced Bar-rer-gen in Dutch, is a common one in the Netherlands, in Germany and in Ireland. It is of Teutonic origin, and signifies Hills, and its being found among the Celts in Ireland, can only be accounted for by supposing that natives of the Teutonic family of this name, while engaged in commercial or maritime pursuits, on visiting Ireland, found it advantageous to remain, intermarry and become permanent residents of the place, leaving posterity who have multiplied.

Davies, in his history of Holland, (vol. 1, p. 436,) sets forth that in "Guelderland the States were composed of three orders, of which the four Baronial families of Bronkhorst, Bergen, Baren and Wissen were esteemed the first." In the history of the city of Amsterdam the name frequently occurs among her municipal officers.

Finding a Baronial family in Europe of the name of Bergen, might induce some of that name in this country to flatter themselves that they are scions of this stock, and thus link themselves by imagination and without a particle of proof, as it is presumed some families among us, from similarity of names, have, with the aristocracy of the Fatherland. If any of the Bergens of this vicinity have fallen into this delusion, they may as well at once descend from the lofty eminence to which they have elevated themselves, and conclude that they are descended from the commonalty instead of the aristocracy.

* The Van Bergen family settled on the Hudson River, above the Highlands, are all per O'Callaghan, (see vol. 1, p. 433 of his New York,) descendants of Martin Gerretsen Van Bergen, who married Neiltje Meynderts, and who, in 1668, had a lease of Castle Island, near Albany, and in 1690 resided south of that island, on the west side of that river. He had property in Katskill, Coxsackie and Albany, of which latter place he was for a long time a magistrate.

They, however, are entitled to congratulate themselves, (if cause for congratulation it is,) that their paternal ancestor was a native of a country where the feudal system was never established; where, as in this country, the land was mainly held under no superior, not even the King; of the original seat of the Northmen, who, during the dark ages, made such frequent descents on the coasts of England and France; who were the ancestors of the Normans, a Scandinavian race, who conquered and carried their institutions to England and the fairer portions of Europe, who founded a kingdom in France and another in Southern Italy; and who discovered and visited the coasts of America centuries before the voyage of Columbus.

First Generation.

HANS HANSEN BERGEN, the common ancestor of the Bergen family of Long Island, New Jersey and their vicinity, was a native of Bergen in Norway, a ship-carpenter by trade, and removed from thence to Holland. From Holland he emigrated, in 1683, to New Amsterdam, now New York, probably arriving at Fort Amsterdam in April of that year with Wouter Van Twiller, the second Director General, in one of the vessels of the fleet, consisting of the West India Company's ships, the Salt Mountain, (de zoutberg,) of 20 guns, commanded by Juriaen Blanck, the Carvel St. Martyn and the Hope, which vessels accompanied the Salt Mountain in her voyage from the Fatherland.

In the early colonial and other records, his name appears in various forms, his surname or patronymic, Bergen, derived from the place of his nativity, being generally omitted, as was the custom among the Hollanders and other Northern European nations in those days, and is the custom among some of them at the present time, and that of his father Hans, in the form of "Hansen," or "Hansz," representing the son of Hans, being generally added with other appendages referring to the land of his birth.*

Among these forms may be found that of "Hans Hansen Van Bergen in Noorwegan," "Hans Hansen Noorman," "Hans Noorman," "Hans Hansen de Noorman,"

*A man's name is the mark by which he is distinguished from other men. By our present almost universal practice, it is composed of his Christian name and his surname. The one is given to him at his birth or baptism, the other, as at present practiced, derived from the common name of his parents. Anciently, among most European nations, there was but one name, surnames not commonly coming into use until the middle of the fourteenth century. The insufficiency of the Christian name to distinguish the particular individual where there were many bearing the same name, led necessarily to the giving of surnames. These in the great majority of cases were composed of the name of the place where the individual was born or dwelt, his occupation, some peculiarity in his appearance, character, history, qualities, or by adding to his Christian name that of his father, as Hans Hanse, representing Hans, the son of Hanse. The latter was the common practice in this country among the descendants of the Netherlanders until about the beginning of the eighteenth century, when it gradually ceased, and the surnames then in use have been since continued. Under it many families among us, although derived from a common ancestor, are now distinguished by different surnames, as for instance, the descendants of Adriaen Ryerse, of Flatbush, are now known by the surnames of Ryersen, Martense and Adriance. This change from generation to generation of surnames causes great difficulty in genealogical researches. The prefix of Van, meaning from, has also in many families been dropped. This is the case with the Couwenhovens, Ditmarses, and most of the Voorhees in our midst.

"Hans Hansz," "Hans Hausen,"* &c. The term "Noorman," meaning the Northman, evidently refers to Norway, and was applied to natives of that place, as for instance, Claes Carstensen, married at New Amsterdam in 1646, is said in the marriage entry to be from Norway, and subsequently he is called "the Noorman." Like unto the great mass of the original emigrants to this country, he probably belonged to an humble class in society, and came hither to better his prospects and fortune. Of his European ancestry nothing is known, which is the case with most of the early emigrants to New Netherlands; intercourse with their relatives in the Fatherland having long ago ceased, and having, no doubt, been obstructed in consequence of the piratical conquest of the Colony by the English in 1664, during a time of peace. Of the private letters which passed between the early settlers and their European relatives, which might have thrown light upon their previous position, very few remain,† none having been found relating to Hans Hansen. Many families can be traced by our records with certainty to the first emigrant, but few beyond this without calling loudly upon the imagination for assistance in the engrafting of them upon some European stock of a similar name.

In 1639, HANS HANSEN BERGEN married SARAH, daughter of Jores, (George,) Jansen de Rapalie, (since spelled Rapalje and Rapalye,) born according to the family record on the 9th day of June, 1625, and who was the first white child of European parentage born in the Colony of New Netherlands, which then covered the present States of New York, New Jersey, and a portion of Connecticut. The early historians of this State and locality, led astray by a petition presented by her April 4th, 1656, (when she resided at the Waaleboght,) to the Governor and Council, for some meadows, in which she states that she is the first born Christian child in New Netherlands, assert that she was born at the Waaleboght. Judge Benson in his writings even ventures to describe the house where this took place. He says:—"On the point of land formed by the cove in Brooklyn, known as the Waaleboght, lying on its westerly side, was built the first house, a one story log house, on Long Island, and inhabited by Joris Jansen de Rapalje, one of the first white settlers on the Island, and in which was born Sarah Rapalie, the first white child of European parentage born in the State." In this, if there is any truth in the depositions of Catalyn or Catalyntic Trico, (daughter of Jeronomis Trico of Paris,) Sarah's mother, (a copy of which may be seen on pages 49, 50, and 51 of Vol. 3 of New York Documentary History,) they are clearly mistaken. In her deposition taken on the 14th day of February, 1684-5, before Col. Thomas Dongan, Governor of the Province, she states that she came over in 1623 or 1624, to the best of her remembrance. In the other, taken "at her house on Long Island, in ye Wale Bought this 17th day of October, 1688," before William Morris, Justice of the Peace, she states, that she was aged about 83 years, and was born at Paris; that in 1623 she came to this country in the ship Unity, commanded by Arien Jorise, that as soon as they came to "Mannatans" now called N. York, they sent two families and six men to "harford River," two families and six men to Delaware River, 8 men they left at N. York to take possession, and the rest of the passengers went with the ship as far as Albany, then called "Fort Oran-gie." That deponent lived in Albany three years, that in 1626 she came from Albany and settled in New York, where she lived afterwards for many years, and then came to Long Island where she now lives."

* On referring to the original records, which were generally signed by the parties interested, we find the same mark affixed to these various names by which Hans Hansen Bergen was known; thus clearly establishing that they were intended for the same person. It is common sense and fact that a man's particular mark was intended for and is the evidence of his identity, as much as his full signature would be.

† The writer has in his possession several letters written by relatives of the Voorhees family in the Fatherland, to their friends in this country, and they are the only ones he has discovered in his examination of old papers and documents among the descendants of the Netherlanders in Kings County.

Sarah therefore undoubtedly was born at Albany instead of the Waaleboght, and was probably married before she removed to Long Island, there being no reason to suppose that she resided there when a single woman, without her parents.

Joris, (George,) Janson de Rapalie, the father of Sarah, and the common ancestor of the Rapalie's of this country, is said by some writers to be a proscribed Huguenot, from Rochelle in France, an emigrant in 1623 in the ship Unity with Catalyn Trico, whom he probably married before the voyage (although the ceremony may have been performed after his arrival, having no date of the same,) appears to have resided for three years, until in 1626, in Albany, then removed to New Amsterdam, where he remained for more than 22 years, (occupying and owning a house and lot on the north side of the present Pearl Street, and butting against the south side of the Fort, for which he received a patent on the 18th of March, 1647,) and until after the birth of his youngest child in 1650.* During at least a portion of this time he kept a tavern or tap-house, as then styled, his name appearing as late as March 16, 1648, on the records in the book of the Burgo-masters court† of said city, among the inn keepers and tapsters, inhabitants who promised to observe the proclamation of Gov. Stuyvesant of March 10, 1648, in relation to the regulation of such houses. Up to 1654 he figures frequently on the records of said court in numerous suits. His name however does not occur on a list of the tapsters of New Amsterdam of January 9, 1657, residing at this date on his farm at the Waalaboght, which he probably may have improved and partially cultivated while residing in the city.

On the 16th of June, 1637, Rapalje obtained a patent and bought a tract of land of the Indians, Kakapeteyno, and Pewichaas, called "Rinnegackonck," situate on Long Island, south of the Island of Manhattans. On the 17th of June, 1643, his Indian purchase was patented to him by the Governor, and is described as "a piece of land called Rinnegaconck, formerly purchased by him of the Indians, as will appear by reference to the transport, lying on Long Island, in the bend of Mereckkawick,* (now Brooklyn.) East of the land of Jan Monfort, extending along the said land in a southerly direction, towards and into the woods 242 rods, by the kill and marsh easterly up 390 rods, at the sweet marsh 202 rods on a southerly direction into the woods, and behind into the woods 384 rods in a westerly direction, and certain outpoints next to the marsh, amounting in all to the contents of 167 morgens and 406 rods," (about 335 acres.)

On this land, which is situated in the City of Brooklyn, in the vicinity of the United States Hospital, and on the easterly side of the Waaleboght,† Rapalie finally located, and died soon after the close of the Dutch administration, having had eleven children.*

In August, 1641, Rapalie was one of the twelve men representing Manhattan, Breukelen and Pavonia, elected to suggest means to punish the Indians for a murder they had committed. In 1655, '56, '57 and 1660, he was one of the magistrates of Brooklyn.

March 1, 1660, Aert Anthonis, Meddagh, Tonis Gysbert Bogaert, Jorsey Rapalie, Jean LeCler, Jacob Kip and others, petitioned for permission to plant a village on the river opposite the Manhattans, in sight of Fort Amsterdam, between the lands of said Bogaert and Kip, but failed to obtain the same. Bogaert at this time possessed the lands patented to Hans Hansen Bergen, and the location of the proposed village was on the line between the towns of Brooklyn and Bushwick.

On the 26th of April, 1660, Rapalie petitioned to be allowed to leave his house standing on his farm for the present, which application appears to have been denied. At this period, in consequence of the Indian troubles, an order had been issued for those residing outside of the villages to abandon their dwellings, and remove to the villages, which were fortified, for safety.

Rapalie made the following mark for his signature to documents :

“ R ”

It has been asserted by our early writers that several families of Walloons, who emigrated with Rapalie and his wife, in 1623, (who strictly speaking are the inhabitants of the frontier between Belgium and France,) settled as agriculturalists at the “Wahle-Bocht, or the Bay of the foreigners,” since known as the Waaleboght in Brooklyn, as early as 1624 or 1625*. Of a settlement at so early a period at this location, there is believed to be no documentary proof, a rigid search failing to produce from our Colonial and early records evidence to sustain the assertion. The earliest recorded Indian grant to an individual for land in Kings County, is that to Jacob Van Corlear, on the 16th of June, 1636, for flats in Flatbush and Flatlands, and the earliest to the government or West India Company is dated the 1st of August, 1638, for land between Brooklyn and Mespath. There is also evidence showing that William Adrianse, (Bennet,) and Jaques Bentyne, purchased in 1636, of the Indians, a large tract in Gowanus, and erected a dwelling house thereon, which was afterwards burned in the Indian wars. The earliest patents granted by the government for land in Brooklyn were to Thomas Bescher, on the 28th of November, 1639, of a plot of 300 paces in breadth, for a tobacco plantation, located probably at Gowanus†; and to Frederick Lub-*O'Callaghan's N. Netherlands, vol. 1, p. 101.

†April 5th, 1642, a patent was granted to Cornelis Lambertsen, (Cool,) for a tract at “Gouwanes,” adjoining William Adriaensen, (Bennet,) “which land was formerly occupied by John Van Rotterdam and Thomas Beets.” A deed from Thomas Bescher, who probably was the same indibertse, on the 27th of May, 1640, for a large tract opposite Governor's Island, neither being located at the Waaleboght. The first patents at the latter place, except that of Rapalie, were those of Peter and Jan Monfoort of the 29th of May, 1641, of Lambert Huybertsen, (Mol,) of the 7th of September, 1641, of land formerly in the occupation of Cornelis Jacobsen Still; of Pieter Ceser Italien, (the ancestor of the Alburtus family of Newtown,) for a tobacco plantation, of the 17th of June, 1643; of those enlarging or more particularly describing the bounds of the lands granted to the Monfoorts, of the 17th of August, 1643; that of William Cornelissen, of the 19th of February, 1646, for premises formerly occupied by Michael Picet; and that of Hans Hansen (Bergen,) of the 30th of March, 1647. The Monfoorts and Huybertson may have been Walloons; the name of Cornelissen indicates that he was a Netherlander; Picet or Piquet was from Rouen in France, which is located many miles from the frontiers; he was banished in July, 1647, for slandering and threatening ex-director Kieft; pardoned by Stuyvesant, and in October of the same year, for threatening to shoot the latter, sentenced to perpetual banishment and eighteen years imprisonment in the work-house at Amsterdam. Pieter Ceser (Alburtus,) as his name indicates, was an Italian; Hans Hansen Bergen was a Norwegian; and Rapalie could not have been a Walloon by birth, if, vidual known as Thomas Beets in the patent, to Cornelis Lambertsen. (Cool,) of May 17th, 1639, (prior to the date of the first Brooklyn patent,) recorded in the office of the Secretary of State at Albany, for the premises covered in the patent, is the earliest conveyance from one settler to another which has been found for lands in Brooklyn. In this deed Bescher conveys his right in "a plantation before occupied by John Van Rotterdam, and afterwards by him, Thomas Bescher, situate on Long Island, by Goawanes, in the course towards the south by a certain creek or underwood, on which borders the plantation of William Adriaensen, (Bennet,) Cooper, and to the north Claes Cornelise Smit's, reaching the woods in longitude; for all which Cornelis Lambertsen, (Cool,) shall pay to said Thomas Bescher 300 Carolus guilders, at 20 stuyvers the guilder." This is the earliest reference found in the records relating to a settlement in Brooklyn, and from this deed it may be inferred that the first agricultural settlement in said town was made on these lands, but however of this there is no certainty.

as asserted and claimed, he was a native of Rochelle, in France, a seaport on the Bay of Biscay, several hundred miles from the frontiers of Belgium. All Huguenots in those days may however have been known by the general title of Walloons, and the settlement of emigrants of this class at a later period in that vicinity, may account for the name, it being customary in Holland in those days to distinguish churches in their midst erected by French Huguenots, by the name of "Waale Kerken," or Walloon Churches, appears to favor this theory. The affidavits of Catelyn Trico, herein before set forth, appear, however to settle the point, that none of the families who came over with her located at the time of the emigration at the Waaleboght. It is not very reasonable to suppose that agricultural settlements existed in Brooklyn, and that improvements were made so many years prior to Indian purchases, or the granting of patents for the land. The most tempting locality on the west end of Long Island for natives of the low and level lands of Holland or Belgium, who were inexperienced in the clearing of forests, were the flats in Flatlands and Flatbush, miniature prairies, void of trees, with a dark colored surface soil, similar to that of the prairies of the west, which had been subject to the rude culture of the natives, and which were ready without much previous toil and labor for the plow. On these flats it is supposed, and almost certain, that the first agricultural settlements on Long Island were made, and their adaptation to cultivation accounts for their being first sought for and purchased.

Antony Jansen van Vaas from Saleé, generally written Antony Jansen van Saleé, and designated in addition in portions of our early records with the appellation of "Turk," who on being banished from New Amsterdam in consequence of improper conduct on his part and that of his wife, Grietje Reiners obtained in 1639 from Director

Kieft a grant of 100 morgens, (200 acres,) on the west end of Long Island, partly in the present towns of New Utrecht and Gravesend, on which he located and became the first settler in said towns, probably in consequence of the word Jansen, (meaning the son of Jan,) being common to both names, is fancied by some writers to have been a brother of Jores Jansen de Rapalie, but of this there is no proof, nor is this corroborated by our early records, they on the contrary going far to disprove it.

HANSE HANSEN BERGEN resided for some years in New Amsterdam, (now New York,) where he owned and probably occupied a lot on the present Pearl Street, butting against the fort, lying between the lots of Jan Snedeker, and that of Joris, (Jansen de) Rapalie, of one rod and two feet in breadth in front, one rod and nine feet in rear, with an average length of nine rods and five feet, Dutch measure, for which he received a patent, dated March 13th, 1647.* He also appears to have been interested in a plantation on Manhattan Island, as appears from a patent granted March 20th, 1642, to Thomas Hall,† in which the premises are described as "a piece of land lying on the Island of Manhatens, on the North River, formerly occupied by Edward Fiscock, Hans Hansen (Bergen, Maryn Adriansen, (having been owners,) bounded on the North by the plantation of the late Director Wouter Van Twiller and Laurens Direksen, baker, and eastward by the swamp;" and as also appears by a note for 1000 carolus guilders, the purchase money of a plantation on the North River, on Manhattan Island, heretofore occupied by Hans Hansen, dated the 23d of January, 1643.‡ It appears that Tunis Nyssen, (Denyse,) two of whose daughters married sons of Hans Hansen, also possessed a plantation in this vicinity. In 1638, Hans Hansen was engaged in the cultivation of a tobacco plantation on land of Andrus Hudde, on Manhattan Island; and in 1642, from a law suit in relation to a shallop, (sloop,) it may be inferred he was engaged at his trade of shipwright, the agreement and minutes in relation to which are hereinafter given in full.

Hans Hansen's name with the mark "H" affixed, appears among those of the commonalty, who in 1643, at the request of Governor Kieft, met in the Fort to take into consideration the propositions which should be submitted to them for the general good. This was at a period when in consequence of Kieft's mismanagement they had aroused the hostility of the savages, with whom they were surrounded, and were in danger and trouble.*

By a receipt entered on the Register of the Provincial Secretary, it appears that on the 23d of April, 1644, Hans Hansen and George Rapalie, his father-in-law, hired cattle of William Smith of Stamford, and on the 29th of November of the same year he gave a note to Cornelis Maersen of Renselaerswick for 250 guilders for wheat bought of him. George Rapalie also appears at the same time to have bought 215 guilders, worth of wheat from Maersen.†

On the 30th of March, 1647, he obtained from Governor Kieft a patent for "a piece of land situated on Long Island, in the kill of Jorse Rapalje, it extends from his house north by east till to Lambert Huybertsen's (Mol.) plantation, further on the kill of Jan the Swede, according to the old marks till to the kill of Mespatches, to and along the Cripplebush, (swamp,) further to the division line of Derick Volkertsen's land, which he purchased from Wilcock, and the division of Henry Satley, containing 200 morgen," (400 acres.)

This patent, as near as can be ascertained, covered at least a portion if not the whole of the farms at the Waaleboght of the late General Jeremiah Johnson, and the adjoining one of the Remsens, and extended back to the old Bushwick cross-roads, and to the meadows adjoining Newtown; the land of Lambert Huybertsen Mol, on its east side being the patent in the town of Bushwick which adjoins the Brooklyn boundary. On this land he resided as early as 1648, and may have resided at an earlier period, and there he continued to reside until his death, which took place in the latter part of 1653, or the beginning of 1654.* He however must, either by extinguishing the Indian title or otherwise, have been in possession of this plantation prior to the date of his patent, for in the patent of Abraham Rycken of August 8, 1640, his land is located on Long Island, opposite Rinnegakonek, bounded by Gysbert Ryken, Hans Hansen, &c.; in a deed of the 29th of July, 1641, of Cornelis Jacobson Selle to Lambert Huybertsen Mol, he describes his plantation as next to Hans Hansen, on Long Island,† and in the patent to Doughty and his associates of Mespát, on the 28th of March, 1642, embracing nearly the whole town of Newtown, their lands are bounded by the meadows of Hans Hansen.‡ Reference is also made to his lands in a survey of the disputed bounds between Newtown and Bushwick, made by Capt. James Hubbard of Gravesend, about 1669, the draft of which is still preserved, and purports to be a ‡ Riker's Newtown, p. 18 and 83.

"description of Mispeth Kills soe farre as to point out ye situation of ye place, for some farther information of two houses formerly inhabited, ye one by Hanse ye Boore, (farmer,) which were Hance Hansonn, ye other called ye Poles house." Riker, in his history of Newtown, states, that from a careful survey of the patent, he arrives at the conclusion, that Hanse's patent must have covered a part and perhaps the whole of the present settlement at the Bushwick cross-roads.

His widow, Sarah, shortly after his death married Teunis Gysberts Bogaert, the ancestor of the Bogerts in this vicinity, who emigrated from Holland in 1652, by whom she had several children. Sarah early became a church member in New York, and united with the Dutch Reformed Church at Brooklyn, by certificate in 1661. She died about 1685, aged about sixty, and the following is a copy of her mark:

Her children by Bogaert, as near as has been ascertained were:—Aartje, bap. Dec. 19, 1655, m. Oct. 14th, 1677, Theodorus Polhemius; Neeltje, bap. Feb. 22d, 1660, d. young; Antje, bap. August 23d, 1665; Neeltje, bap. August 23d, 1665, m. August 22d, 1687, Cornelis Tunissen Denyse; Guybert, m. April 16, 1689, Jannetie Symonse Van Aarsdalen; and Grietje, m. December 4th, 1687, Peter Jansen Haring of New York.

On the 4th of April, 1656,* “Sarah Jorsey, (daughter of Jores,) first born Christian child in New Netherlands and widow of Hans Hansen,” petitions the Governor and Council for some meadows adjoining the 200† morgen granted her at the "Waalebocht;"* states that her neighbors mow the meadows in question and disturb her in the use of them, although they have meadows adjoining their own lands, and that she is burdened with 7 children; she also asks an exemption from taxes. The meadows were granted, but the exemption refused. Sarah, in stating in this memorial that she was a widow, neglected to state that she was again married and the wife of Bogaert, which latter must have been the case, judging from the New York baptismal record of their first-born child, Aartje, who is entered, as hereinbefore set forth, as baptised Dec. 19, 1655. No evidence has been found on the Colonial records showing that Sarah received a grant from the government or the Indians of 200 morgen, except her statement in the petition. She doubtless resided at this time on the farm patented to Hans Hansen Bergen, her late husband, and probably when referring to the land granted her, intended to be understood as referring to those lands. From this petition has probably arisen, with the aid of a little stretch of the imagination, the story of the Indians having presented her with a farm in consideration of her having been the first born white child in the colony.

The lot of Hans Hansen in New Amsterdam was sold by Sarah in 1654, shortly after his decease; the records at Albany showing "a patent granted upon a Transport made by Sarah Jooresay, the widow of Hans Hans, bearing date the 30th day of May, 1654, unto Caes Bording, for a certain lot of ground with the Housing thereupon within this city, lying on the south side of the Fort, between Jan Snediker's and Jores Rapalje's, containing in length on the east side 9 rod, 2 feet, and 2 inches, and on the west side 9 rod, 8 feet, and 3 inches; in breadth behind on the west side 1 rod, 9 feet and 6 inches, and on south side 2 rod and 3 feet, by virtue of a groundbrief granted unto Hanse Hansen aforesaid, dec'd, now for a confirmation," &c. This patent is dated June 1, 1667.

February 28th, 1656, a suit was brought in the Burgermaster's court in New Amsterdam, by Paulus Schriek, against Sarah Joris, (the widow of Hans Hansen,) for the payment of a note of 84 florins and 5 stuyvers,* signed by her deceased husband in April, 1651. Defendant stated "she knows nothing of the plaintiff, inasmuch as the plaintiff hath not spoken to her for a long time, and also it was not counted in the settlement of the deceased's estate." She requested a delay of payment until next harvest, which was agreed to by the plaintiff.

On the conquest of the Colony of New Netherland by the English in 1664, the Governor, as an acknowledgment of their new masters, and perhaps in addition for the purpose of obtaining fees, required the inhabitants to take out new patents. Bogaert, Sarah's second husband, taking advantage of this, appears to have taken out the new patent for Hans Hansen's 200 morgen in his own name, instead of that of Hans's children, who were entitled to the same, and of whose possession of any portion thereof no record has been found, nor any evidence showing that he made them any compensation for their patrimonial estate. It is possible, although not very probable, that compensation was made, and that the written evidence has disappeared in the lapse of time. If Bogaert defrauded the orphan children, it is probable he was not the only guilty one, for the records show that in those days there were others similarly situated, who took out the new or confirmatory patents in their own names. The patent of Bogaert is as follows:—"Richard Nicolls, Esq. Whereas there was a patent or groundbrief heretofore granted by the Dutch Governor William Kieft unto Hans Hansen, bearing date the 30th day of March, 1647, for a certain parcel of land lying and being in the West Riding of Yorkshire upon Long Island, within the Kill then commonly called Jorse Rapalye's Kill, whose bounds did stretch along by the said Jorse Rapalye's House north-east and by east unto the Plantation then appertaining to Lambert Huberts, so on to John the Swede's Kill to the markt bounds, and then to the Kill belonging to Mes-path by the swamp, from whence to run by the fence of Derick Volckersen's land which he bought of Willcocks, and so along by that belonging to the land of Henry Saetly, containing by estimation about 400 acres of ground, now the right and title to the said parcell of land being devolved upon Teunis Gisberts, who married the widow and Relict of Hanse Hansen aforesaid, for a confirmation unto the said Teunis Gisberts," &c.

Dated April 5, 1667.

In consequence of Hans Hansen Bergen and Jores Jansen de Rapalie both making their marks to documents,* it may perhaps fairly be inferred that they were illiterate men in an age when the natives of Holland were generally educated, and carried their schoolmasters as well as clergymen with them to their colonies; but this is not positive evidence, for it was customary in those days for persons who were able to write, in some instances to make a mark, the same as a seal is affixed to writings. The writer has, however, in no instance seen their signatures, and perhaps they were less educated than the Hollanders, being natives of other lands.

* Other early emigrants also made their marks, among whom were Wolfert Garretse Van Couwenhoven, ancestor of the Cowenhoven or Conover family; Pieter Claesen, of the Wyckoff family; Albert Albertse, of the Terhune family; Jan Van Detmarsen, of the Ditmars family; Jan Van Kerke, of the Van Kerke family; Pieter Janse, of the Staats family; Jan Van Cleef, of the Van Cleef family; Pieter Cornelese, of the Luyster family; Ryck Hendrickse, of the Suydam family; Adriaen Andriesse, of the Onderdonk family; Derick Jansen, of the Hoagland family; Hendrick Willemse, of the Boerum family; Joost Durie, of the Duryea family; Nicholas Stillwell, of the Stillwell family; John Leeck, of the Lake family; Thomas Whitlock, of the Whitlock family, and nearly all the early residents of Gravesend, very few of the English settlers being able to write.

On the 12th of February, 1667, a patent was granted to Sarah, the widow of Hans Hans, upon a transcript bearing date the 10th day of March, 1663, made by Johannes Megapolensis, for a certain lot of ground in the City of New York, "lying and being on the south side of the Princes Graft, to the West of Michael Jans, and to the East of Susanna the Negrines, containing in breadth on the North and South sides one and fifty foot six inches, and on the West side nine feet."

On the 30 of July, 1671, a patent was granted to Cathaline, widow of Jores Rapalje, deceased, for a lot in New York.

The following are copies, or abridgements, of the entries on the early Colonial Records relating to Hans Hansen Bergen, and which have a bearing upon his biography:—

"Conditions and stipulations agreed on between Andries Hudde and Hans Hansen Noorman on the 10th day of July, 1638.*

- "1. Andries Hudde aforesaid shall, with the first opportunity of any vessel leaving a port of Holland, promise to Hans Hansen 6 or 8 persons, besides the tools required for the cultivation of Tobacco.
- "2. Hans Hansen shall be holden to cultivate this plant on the plain situated on the Island Manhattan, behind Corlear's lot.
- "3. Hudde shall be obliged to defray the expenses of transport, besides the sums paid in engaging them, and what might have been advanced before their arrival in port.

"4. Hans Hansen shall be obliged to provide the dwelling houses and stores for the tobacco as much as the time shall permit; he shall be further obliged to keep the persons emigrating from the Fatherland in constant employ to their mutual profit.

"5. Hans Hansen shall be invested with all power and authority over them in the absence of Hudde, without being subjected to any other control whatever. He, too, shall be obliged to pay half of all the expenses made by Hudde aforesaid. He shall further be holden to procure such a quantity of victuals as may be required for said number of persons, of which, however, Andries Hudde shall reimburse to him the half. Mr. Hudde shall be further obliged to pay Hans Hansen for his personal industry, in the manner as shall be agreed to by impartial men. Further shall Mr. Hudde not exact from Hans Hansen any payment for the land, but shall be obliged to assist him with such goods of his as may remain here, and all this till said Hudde shall have returned hither, when new measures may be adopted. While in regard to the above-mentioned stipulations, the parties submit their persons and goods to the judicature of the Supreme Court in Holland, or to any other lawful tribunal, all in good faith, without fraud or deceit. The above are entered on the Flatbush Reformed Dutch Church records as children of Dirck Janse Hoogland and Annetje Feddens, who may have been intended for Annetje Hansen, but of this there is no certainty and considerable doubt. If intended for her, it is singular that Sarah, her oldest child, should be born nineteen years after her marriage with Hoogland.

The first notice of Jan Hansen on our old records after his bap. is in the following:—March 18th, 1662, was made “a kind request to the Director General and Council of New Netherlands, if it will please them to present us the grant of a parcel of woodland situated between the

"The request is granted to the supplicants, provided that they shall place their dwellings within a concentration, which shall suit them best, but not to make a new concentration."† Jan Hansen resided for some years at Bedford, probably on land obtained through this application. His descendants have a tradition that he was the owner of vessels engaged in voyages at sea, and that he lost them in a great storm. From pages 452 and 456 of Vol. 2 of Documents relating to the Colonial History of New York it appears that a "Jan Bergen" was skipper or captain of the ship St. Jan Baptist, Dec. 31st, 1661, and that he was skipper of the ship "Bontekoe" or Spotted Cow, Dec. 31st, 1663. The Colonial records also show that in May, 1661, he carried to New Amsterdam in the St. Jan Baptist a cargo of emigrants; also in April, 1663, in the Bontekoe, and in April, 1664, in the ship "d'eendracht," Concord, or Unity. From the books of Warrants, Orders, &c., in the Secretary of State's office, Albany, it appears that on the 5th of December, 1664, Governor Nicolls, on petition, gave leave to "John Bergen," master of the ship Unity, to come to New York with his ship and loading of Holland goods the next year; and on the 7th of the same month he gave him leave to transport to Holland in his ship a number of persons who were desirous of leaving the colony. Nov. 1st, 1664, a suit was pending in the Burgermaster's and Schepen's Court of New Amsterdam, between Skipper Jan Bergen, plaintiff, and Tamis Daidts, defendant, in which the plaintiff claimed 340 gl. 2 st. in beavers for freight, which, after several adjournments, he finally recovered. The Jan Bergen named in the above references may have been Jan Hansen, taking into consideration the fact of his father having been a ship carpenter and the family tradition of his having owned vessels, but if it was he had command of a vessel at the age of eighteen. The matter, however, cannot be determined with certainty at this late period.

March 14th, 1675-6, "Jan Hansen," of Bedford, on his own behalf, and by virtue of verbal authority of Jan Vennagar, conveyed to "Claes Pieterse," (Wyckoff,) about 12 morgens of land in Flatlands. On the same date he conveyed, on his own behalf, and by virtue of power from the aforesaid Jan Vennagar, to Dierck Jansen, about 16 morgens of land also located in Flatlands.*

In 1675 "Jan Hansen" was assessed in Brooklyn for 10 morgens, and in 1676 for 18 morgens of land.

In 1677 "John Hansz Bergen" and "Jannetje Teunis," his wife, of Bedford, were members of the Reformed Dutch Church of Brooklyn, and in the same year he is entered on the church records as removed to the town of Jamaica, where he continued to reside on a farm at Foster's River, with probably a mill attached, until his death.

Indians of "Recowack," petitioned the Governor and Council to confirm the sale and grant a patent to the purchasers for said lands. In this petition they set forth "that they, out of old acquaintance sake and Love, have freely Given and Granted, without any perswasion or seduction of any person or persons, unto Jan Hansen, Jerome De Rapale and Jan Theunissen a certain Neck of land being and Laying att Long Island, in the North West point of Recowack, Beginning from a certain Creeke called Cockwas, running from thence South by West to another Kill called Hapex, and further to the other side of the River or Plaine."

March 13th, 1681, the commander-in-chief of the colony sent a letter to the constable and overseers of Hempstead, notifying them of the above application, and inquiring whether the premises had previously been purchased by the town, or were free and at the disposal of the Indians, and calling for a report.

March 20th, 1683-4, Hansen, Rapale and Theunissen again petitioned to have the above lands confirmed to them by a patent, in which the creek designated in the previous application as "Cockwas" is called "Coppwax."* On the remonstrance of Hempstead this Indian purchase was abandoned.

March 15th, 1684-5, "Jan Hansen" and Benjamin Coe had liberty from Jamaica to set up a corn and fulling mill on Foster's meadows in said town.† There was at this time a Dutch settlement at Foster's meadows.

June 3d, 1692-3, Benjamin Coe conveyed to "John Hansen 60 acres of land in the bounds of Hempstead, near Foster's meadows.

In 1693-4 "John Hansen" subscribed toward the payment of the salary of the Presbyterian minister in Jamaica.

April 26th, 1697, he sold his lands, 40 acres, in Bedford, Brooklyn, to Lucas Coeverts.

May 12th, 1697, "John Hansen's" name appears on the town records of Jamaica, who, with others, his townsmen, received 20 acres of meadows at the farther East Neck.†

June 9th, 1706, Gersham Higgins conveyed to "Jan Hanse" two acres on the main street in the village of Jamaica.

July 13th, 1708, Jonathan Whitehead conveyed to "Johannes Berge"  $11\frac{3}{4}$  acres at Jamaica in the hills; probably a wood lot.

February 19th, 1709, "John Hansen's" name appears on a petition as one of the elders of Dominie Freeman's congregation in Queens County, addressed to Governor Ingoldsby, complaining that Dominie Antonides intended to ordain an opposition consistory and preach illegally in their church, and praying for an order to restrain him. To this document are appended his initials "H. B."‡ This was at the period of the wranglings and disputes in the Reformed Dutch congregations in Kings and Queens counties between Dominie Freeman and Dominie Antonides, in relation to their respective claims to the Pastorship, in which partisan spirit arose to such a height as to cause, in at least one instance, the breaking down the church doors to obtain possession of the pulpit. The main foundation of this unhappy controversy appears to have been the question, whether the congregations had the right to call a minister without the intervention of the Governor. Freeman's friends favored the interposition of the Governor. This dispute was finally healed in 1714, a union took place, and both Pastors officiated alternately in all the Dutch churches.

April 29th, 1710, John Garretsen conveyed to "John Hansen" the one-half of a house and lot in the village of Jamaica, and in the same year he subscribed 12 shillings towards the salary of the Rev. Mr. Poyinslay, a Presbyterian clergyman.

April 29th, 1715, "Jan Hansen Bergen" subscribed £3 towards building a Dutch Reformed Church in Jamaica.

November 21st, 1735, the seat of "Jannetje Bergen," (widow of Jan,) in the Reformed Dutch Church in Jamaica was sold to Isaac Van Hoeck.

Nov. 4th, 1645, in New Amsterdam; living as late as Jan. 22d, 1731, and d. about 1732; m. Femmetje Theunis, dau. of Theunis Denyse,* (sometimes written Nysen, Nysse or Niessen,) of Gowanus, and sister of Denyse Teunis the ancestor of the Denyse family of Kings County and New Jersey. Femmetje was bap. April 3d, 1650, in New Amsterdam.

March 10th, 1661, his name appears to the petition herein before referred to in the account of Jan Hansen, to the Governor and Council for more land. May 15th, 1664, he obtained from Gov. Stuyvesant a patent for 20 morgens at New Bedford in the Wallabout. After the recapture of the New Netherlands from the English by the Femmetje Janse, wid. of Hendrick the Boor or Farmer, and probably a dau. of Jan Evertse Bout. After Nyssen's decease she m. August 24th, 1663, Jan Cornelisz Buys of Brooklyn, and d. prior to 1667. Prior to 1639, Nyssen appears to have possessed or occupied a plantation on Manhattan Island, and Dec. 1, 1646, he bought of Leendert Arenden, a house and lot on the great highway, opposite the company's garden, on said Island. March 28, 1647, he obtained a patent for a lot N. of the public wagon road, and E. of the company's land on Manhattan Island, which lot he sold on the 13th of May, 1649, to Govert Loockermans. April 3d, 1647, he obtained from Gov. Kieft a patent for the plantation on the same Island, formerly occupied by Jan Celes, adjoining the Rev. Everardus Bogardus's land, and the negroes plantation, which he conveyed January 17th, 1651, to Augustyn Hermans. He also obtained a patent for a plantation and meadows at Gowanus, in the vicinity of 4th and 5th avenues and Carroll and President streets, where he at one time resided. In 1656, he probably resided at Flatbush, for on the 13th of Dec. 1656, "Teunis Nyseu of Midwout," (as per Valentine's Manual of 1861, p. 591,) conveyed to Cousin Gerretsen a lot in New Amsterdam. The plantation he owned in Flatbush, he bought in 1655, of Evert Duycknigh, for 660 carolus guilders. He resided in Brooklyn in 1658 and 1661, and in said years was a magistrate in said town. His children were Annetje, m. Hieronimus Rapalie; Jannatie m. Jan Hansen Bergen; Elsje, m. Gerrit Sneider; Femmetje, m. Michiel Hansen Bergen; Marretje, m. Dirk Janse Veerman, or the (ferryman); Jan, m. Catelina Teunis Bogaert; Dionys, m. first Elizabeth Polhemius, m. second, Helena, dau. of Jacques Cortelyou, whose descendants form the Denyse family of this vicinity.

Hollanders on the 25th of Oct. 1673, he was appointed a lieutenant of militia under the administration of Anthony Colve, the Netherland Governor. In 1676 and 1683, his name appears on the assessment rolls of Brooklyn, for 20 morgens, the amount of his patent, on which at the time he probably resided. Nov. 19th, 1679, the names of "Michiel Hansz Bergen and Femmetje Teunis, his wife," appear on the list of members of the Reformed Dutch Church of Brooklyn; and from 1680 to 1685, he appears to have held the office of deacon in said church.

March 2d, 1674, Michiel Hansen, of Bedford, agreed to purchase a plantation of Albert Cornelise Wantenaar, of Breukelen, for 8,500 guilders, 1,000 gl. down, one-fourth, (1,875 gl.) of the remainder to be paid at Christmas, 1675; one-fourth at Christmas, 1676; one-fourth at Christmas, 1677; and the balance at Christmas, 1678. The payments to be made one-third in wheat, one-third in peas, and one-third in all kinds of corn at the market value; and when all paid the deed to be delivered. In the agreement, Cornelise describes the premises as "his plantation situated here at Breukel, next to the land of Jan Evertse Bout, dec'd, but at present of Andriese Jurianse, south-east of the meadows; east 68 rods, southeast 30 rods, further the maize land* up to against the woods, northeast by north 60 rod, in the woods northeast by east 85 rod, in breadth in the woods to the land of said Andries Jurianse northwest 87 rods, again to the maize land next to the aforesaid Andries Juriansen, southwest and southwest by west 55 rods, the maize land through to the first descent southwest a little southerly 137 rods, containing 19 morgen and 105 rods; also yet another parcel of land joining the above mentioned land, thereafter to said Cornelisse allowed and on his patent noted, great about 9 or 10 morgen, so that the whole land contains about 29 morgens as it more particularly by the patent can be seen: with the above to be included the meadows by said plantation located, and by Albert Cornelisse previous to this bought of Theunis Niessen, dec'd which he promises to describe by the patent or deed from said Theunis Niessen." The boundary in the original patent of Gov. Kieft, of Feb. 22d, 1646, for this land to Huyck Aertsen van Rossum, accords mainly with the description in the above agreement, and is as follows: "a piece of land lying at Mareckkaweick,* on the marsh of Gouwanos Kill, the maize land as well as woodland, lying on the southeast by the land of Jan Evertse along the marsh, east 68 rods, southeast 30 rods, further along the maize land till to the woods northeast by north 60 rods, in the woods northeast by east 85 rods, the breadth in the woods till to the land of said Jan Evertse, (Bout,) northwest 87 rods, again to the maize land next the land of the aforesaid Jan Evertse, southwest and southwesterly 55 rods, through the maize land to the first descent southwest a little southerly 137 rods, amounting in all to 19 morgen and 105 rods." Endorsed on the patent is also "yet another adjoining parcel granted so as his land to contain by the measurement of the surveyor 29 morgen." A confirmatory patent for these premises was granted, June 21, 1667, by Gov. Richard Nicolls to Albert Cornelissen, (Wantenaer,) who is stated therein to have married Trientye, the widow of the said van Rossum, in which the boundaries accord with the original patent, but the quantity is set forth to be in all 90 morgen or 180 acres.

ment on the back of both patents, to Micheal Hansen Bergen, all his rights in both patents; also by a separate conveyance the adjoining meadows, which he had bought from Theunis Nissen, on the 16th of May, 1656, and which meadow was confirmed to Cornelissen by a patent from Gov. Nicolls, dated June 26, 1668.*

This is the farm, the main portion of which a few years ago was the property of the heirs of George Powers, deceased, distinguished as the Powers' farm on Butts' map of Brookiyn.

In consequence of Michiel Hansen holding and claiming 90 morgen, as per Gov. Nicoll's confirmatory patent, when the original one of Gov. Kieft covered but 29 morgen, the general boundaries in both being similar, the freeholders of Brooklyn, about 1722, commenced a suit in chancery against him to recover for their benefit the balance over the 29 morgen, but the dispute was finally settled after the title was vested in his son Hans, as will hereinafter appear.

In Dongan's patent of Brooklyn of May 13th, 1686, Michiel Hanse (Bergen) is named as one of the patentees. In 1681, 1682, 1686, 1688, and 1689, he held the office of one of the overseers or commissioners having in charge the town lands and to defend town rights, three citizens being customarily selected for this purpose.

In September, 1687, his name appears among those who took the oath of allegiance to the British government. Oct. 22d, 1688, he was commissioned as Captain of the Brooklyn company of militia, by Gov. Nicholson; and Dec. 27th, 1689, he received a commission for the same office from the acting Governor, Jacob Leisler, whose side he seems to have espoused in the difficulties which at the time convulsed the colony, and which ended in the unjust condemnation and execution of Leisler, and his son-in-law, Milbourne.

November 21, 1692, Michiel Hansen (Bergen,) Aris Janse (Vanderbilt,) Johannes Nan Ekelen, Symon Hansen, and Daniel Remsen, were sent on behalf of a company, (mainly residents of Flatbush,) of which they were partners, to Pennsylvania to select a good tract of land for a settlement and residence, which when found to purchase for their joint use; the partners remaining at home, each to pay two pieces of eight towards the expenses of the journey. At this period and in the beginning of the next century, many families emigrated from the partially worn out lands of the west end of Long Island to the new and fertile lands of New Jersey and Pennsylvania, the cheapness of which afforded an opportunity to enlarge their borders and better their condition. This emigration at one period was so great that the Colonial Governors complained of it in their communications with the home government. Bergen's, Wyckoff's, Cowenhoven's or Conover's, Denyse's, Stoothoff's, Barkeloo's, Rapalye's, Cortelyou's and others, descendents of these emigrants are numerous in the above named States. Having found no result of this expedition, it may be presumed, from most of the parties remaining in the county, that no land was purchased.

Oct. 11th, 1698, Michiel Hansen was appointed a Justice of the Peace by the Governor, the Earl of Bellmont, and was one of the Justices of the Sessions, which office he held until 1703; in the same year his family is entered on the census of Brookland as consisting of "1 man, 1 woman, 3 children and 2 slaves." In 1701 he was fined eight shillings for not bringing his slaves and negro women before the court as bound to the sheriff. In 1702 he was assessed for one hundred acres of arible land.

In 1708, his name among others appears on an agreement to call a Minister from Holland, in the Reformed Dutch Church of Brooklyn.

April 20th, 1709, "Machielle Hansen" bought of Garret Middagh for £429, "a house, orchard and house lot at the ferry, Brooklyn, containing about 10 acres, bounded easterly in the front and to the street from a certain house now standing and formerly in possession of John Smith, deceased, and soe stretching from said house all along a certain fence and soe by the house abovesaid and barn thereto belonging, to the salt water river; northerly by said river called the East river from high water mark thereof, soe far along said river to the westward till it comes opposite the rear fence of said land that joynes upon the land of the heyres of Jores Remsen deceased; and southerly by the land and orchard formerly in the possession of said John Smith deceased, and the land of the said Garret Middagh, excepting always out of this deed and grant out of the bounds of the land abovesaid, the house and ground of John Evertse* to him sold formerly by John Gerretse Van Couwenhoven, as per deed thereof may appear, &c.; as alsoe all that ground on said river side to the westward of said John Evertse's house and ground soe far alongst said river till it comes opposite with the reare fence of said land that joynes upon the land of the heyres of Jores Remsen deceased, to begin from high water mark all alongst said river and within the limits aforesaid, and so to run 25 English ffoot up into the hill and noe more, as a reserve for the use and property of the grantor his heyres and assigns forever; And likewise the said Garret Middagh doth grant, &c., to the said Machielle, &c., all that spott of ground lying in the front and before said house, ground and bargained premises to the streetward, beginning from a certain house now standing and formerly in the possession of said John Smith deceased, all along said house and bargained premises to the salt water river, the length thereof and in breadth by the farthermost Pale that now stands in the sand, containing 66 English ffoot between said pale and the house, garden and barne of said bargained premises, together," &c. In this conveyance is the following singular provision:—"and if said Machielle or any of his heyres shall at any time hereafter see cause to sell and dispose of the abovesaid house, land and bargained premises, that the said Garrett Middagh or his heyres (if he or they see cause) shall have free privilege to purchase the same for the price of £429 current money of New York, and upon the payment of said sum a deed to be given for the same by the said Machielle or his heyres to the said Garrett Middagh or his heyres, and that the said Machielle or his heyres may not dispose of the said premises to any other person but to those of his or their offspring if the said Garrett or his heyres see cause to buy the same for the price aforesaid, he the said Garrett or his heyres paying over and above the price aforesaid for all new buildings that shall be at that time upon said land within fence, as any two indifferent men shall value it,"* &c. June 4th, 1710, for £400, Michial Hansen, conveyed the above premises to his son Hans Bergen; they were probably at some subsequent period conveyed back by Hans or his heirs to the Middagh's, the records showing nothing farther in relation to them, and they appear to have covered nearly all the land on Brooklyn heights from the vicinity of Clark street to about Doughty street, including a portion of the river front.

In 1710 and 1711, Michiel Hansen's name again appears as a Justice of the Sessions; and Aug. 1st, 1711, as an elder of the church in "Brookland," with others on a petition to Gov. Hunter, for a charter for the church, which they failed to obtain. Oct. 9th, 1714, Cornelis Vander Hoove commenced a suit against him for £100.

August 21st, 1723, for £800, he conveys to his son Hans Bergen, of the ferry, his farm in "Brookland," (the land he bought of Albert Cornelisse Wantenaer,) "bounded S. E. by the fence of Martin Adriance; N. W. by Carel De Bevoise and the King's highway that goes to the ferry; and S. W. by the meadows; also, land at the east side of the highway from Flatbush to Brookland, containing together with the land bounded as aforesaid and the woodland at the east side of the way aforesaid, 180 acres." Also, a lot of woodland in the second division of Brookland, and another lot in the same division both together containing 20 acres; also, the meadows in said town belonging to him.

August 21st, 1723, on the same date, an agreement was entered into between Hans Bergen, of the ferry, (son of Michiel,) of the one part, and Michiel Hansen Bergen, Femmetje Bergen, now the wife of John Vanderveer, Sarah Bergen, now the wife of John Strycker, and Mary Bergen, all daughters of said Michiel Hansen Bergen, of the other part, in which it is set forth that said Michiel Hansen Bergen, for the consideration of £800, has sold to his son Hans his lands, for which Hans is to defend without any liability or expense on the part of his father, a suit in Chancery, brought against said Michiel Hans by the inhabitants of Brookland for the recovery of part of his lands, the expense of said suit to be equally borne by himself and his three sisters, and to be deducted from the sums herein provided to be paid them by Hans; Hans to pay his sister Mary £200, Femmetje £200, and Sarah £200, after the death of their father; Michiel Hans to hold possession and have the use of the premises during his life. The complaint in the above suit, was, that Michiel Hansen had taken up 120 acres of land more than what he was entitled to by Kieft's patent. Hans soon compromised the matter, and ended the suit, for it appears that January 7th, 1723-4, sixty-one of the freeholders of Brooklyn, (who were probably all, or nearly all who resided in the place,) for £40, released to Hans Bergen all their right in the 180 acres occupied by his father Michiel. Hans afterwards brought in a bill of £375, 7 sh. and 6 1-2d., up to January 19th, 1723, incurred for lawyer's fees, personal services, &c., (including the £40; paid the town,) in the defence of this suit, and a charge of interest from said date, to June 10th, 1732, of £252, and 10 sh. at 8 per cent. making a total of £693, 15 sh. 9 1-2d. which bill, if allowed, must have swallowed up the main portion of his sisters' patrimony.

January 22d, 1730-1, Michiel Hansen and Jeronimous Rapalje, two of the surviving patentees of "Brookland," convey to Cornelius Van Duyn, Carl de Bevois and Hans Michielse Bergen, for and in behalf of the freeholders of said town, their right in the common lands.* The object of this conveyance appears to be to confirm the several acts of the Trustees or Commissioners of said town in dividing their common lands; Michiel in some instances, if not in all, as a patentee having heretofore refused his assent to their divisions, perhaps on account of the dispute about his own lands herein before referred to.

November, 1662, Jores Hansen's name appears among the catechumens, and in 1677 among the members of the Reformed Dutch Church of Brooklyn. November 19th, 1679, his wife's name also appears among the members of the same church.

In September, 1687, his name appears among those residing in Brooklyn, who took the oath of allegiance to the British government, in which year from a deed it appears he owned land in "Brookland," bounded on one side by land which Sophia Van Loedsteyn conveyed to Jurian Hendrickse Vander Breets. From 1690 to 1699 inclusive, he was one of the Commissioners or Trustees of the common lands of "Brookland." In December, 1695, George Hansen requested the court to be allowed to enclose his lands all together, between "Brookland" town and Flatbush, and for the making of a new highway within his lands between said towns, &c.†

September 13th, 1698, Marretje Garitse, widow of Nicholas Janse, baker, late of the City of New York, dec'd, conveyed for £176 and 11s. to "George Hansen of "Brookland," premises in Brooklyn containing 39 acres and 40 rods, Dutch measure, as in fence and in possession of said George, bounded southeast by land of Jurian Andriese; northwest by land of Jacob Hansen (Bergen,) and land of Derrick Woortman; southwest by Gowanos Kill; and northeast by the Kings highway; formerly in the possession of Gerret Wolpherste (Couwenhoven,) as per patent to said Gerret of Gov. till to the aforesaid marsh southwest a little westerly 165 rods; along the valley to the place of beginning 60 rods, with a small projecting point, amounting in all to 19 morgen, 341 rods." This plot evidently fronted on the main road leading from Flatbush and the village of Brooklyn* to the ferry, extending back to the Gowanus Creek, and is included in the plot designated as land of G. Martense on Butts' map of Brooklyn.

In 1698, Joris Hansen Bergen's family, as per census of "Brookland," consisted of "1 man, 1 woman and 11 children, and 2 slaves:" in the same year and in 1702, he was an elder in the church in Brooklyn. In 1690, at a town meeting he was elected one of the Trustees or Commissioners of common lands, which office he held until 1700. In 1700, he was captain of the foot company of militia of "Brookland." In 1701, "Jores Hansen," among others, was fined 8 shillings for not bringing his slaves and negro women before the court as bound to the sheriff. In 1703, 4 and 5, Capt. George Hansen (Bergen) was Supervisor of Brooklyn. In 1706, he was assessed for 76 acres of arable land in Brooklyn; and January 3d of the same year, he with others was styled "pretended deacons of Brookland," in a warrant issued by Gov. Cornbury, ordering them to deliver the church property to Dominie Freeman. This was during the unfortunate troubles in the Reformed Dutch Churches of Long Island, between Dominie Freeman and Dominie Antonides, and their respective followers, during which, the former, with his friends, broke open the doors of the church in Brooklyn, to gain possession thereof, and a duel came very near being fought between Col. Beeckman and Col. Filkins, two of the leading men of the colony. This dispute commenced in 1702, and was finally settled in 1714, by agreeing to receive and support both ministers, who were to preach alternately in all their churches. During these troubles, for at least a portion of the time, George Hansen Bergen was an Elder of the Church in Brooklyn, joining in the call for a Minister from Holland, which brought over Antonides, with whom he sided.

His name also appears among the freeholders of Brooklyn in the deed of January 10th, 1723, to Hans Bergen, herein before referred to.

Aug. 19th, 1689 he entered into an agreement with John Marsh of East Jersey for the erection of a water mill for grinding of corn, to be located on the southeast side of the Graver's Kill, within the meadows of said Corssen and those of Cornelis Subering, (see Lib. 1, p. 271 of Con. K. Co. Reg. Office,) which was built, and in latter years known as Cornell's mill. March 28th, 1698, Peter Corsen conveyed to Cornelis Seubering for £250, his land on the Neck, called Frederick Lubbertse's Neck, bounded East by land of Jacob Hansen (Bergen,) West by the Red Hook and Kool's Keys Kill, so called, and North by the land of said Cornelis Subering, containing 100 acres, with all the meadows belonging to said land. See Lib. 2, p. 162 of do. By a bond of March 20th, 1698, it appears that Cornelis Subering bound himself to maintain Peter Corsen, and to furnish him with reasonable board, clothing, &c., suitable for a person in his station in life, or to pay the expenses of the same. (See Lib. 2, p. 164 of do.) From this it may be inferred that Peter Corssen's wife at this time was dead, and that he had no surviving children. Hendrick Corssen (Vroom,) in 1680, m. Josinie Pietersz Van Kesh of the village of Brooklyn, and settled on the Raritans, where his descendants are numerous, among whom is Gov. Vroom of New Jersey.

wickrigh, (Brooklyn,) near to Werpes, extending in breadth from the Kill and marsh coming from Gowanus northwest by north and from the beach on the East River with a course southeast by east 1700 paces of 3 feet to a pace, and in the length from the end of said Kill northeast by east and southwest by west to the Red Hook, with the express condition that whenever the Indians shall be willing to part with their maize land lying next to the aforesaid land there, Frederick Lubbertsen shall have the privilege of entering upon the same in the breadth of the aforesaid parcel of land, extending from that without his being hindered by any one."

A confirmatory patent was granted to Lubbertse by Gov. Nicolls on the 28th of March, 1667, with substantially the same boundaries, and covering the land in his possession and enjoyment. Lubbertse's patent appears to have covered a large tract of upland in that portion of Brooklyn adjoining the salt meadows and marsh which formerly separated Red Hook from the main land, extending from the East River opposite Governors Island to Gowanus Cove and the Mill Creek, including a portion of the surrounding salt meadows, and covered the plots laid down on Butts' map of Luqueer (formerly Sebring,) Jacob Bergen, Coles, Conover, Hoyt, Cornell, Kelsey and Blake, Johnson, Heency and other parcels in that vicinity.

On the 7th of April, 1726, Aaltie Seabringh, (now a widow,) and Jacob Hansen (Bergen,) and Elsie, his wife, agreeable to an award made by Johannes Jansen, Jacobus Rip, Esq., Col. Joost Van Brunt, Abraham Lot, and Christopher Codwise, commissioners appointed for the purpose of dividing a portion of their father's estate, quit-claimed or released to each other certain premises. The part released by Elsie and her husband to Altie, contained 235 acres of upland and meadow, exclusive of said Aaltie's old farm not covered by the release. Aaltie Seberingh quit-claimed and released to Jacob Hansen (Bergen) and Elsie his wife "all that certain tract of land and meadows heretofore belonging to Frederick Lubbertsen, deceased, situate, lying and being in the town of Brookland, near unto and adjoining the old farm of the said Jacob Hansen (Bergen,) and Elsie his wife, beginning at a Saxafax tree with several young branches and bushes of Saxafax about the same, and standing near unto the range of the fence that divides the old farm of the said Jacob Hansen (Bergen,) and Elsie his wife, and of the said Aaltie Sebringh, running from the westward most end of the said Jacob Hansen's (Bergen) orchard, and runs from said Saxafax tree South 19 deg. 30 min. east 8 ch. 70 links to a stake, thence South 40 deg. West 35 ch. 50 links, thence South forty-six degrees and a half West 12 ch. 30 links to a stake standing at the edge of the meadow, thence South 46 deg. then . . . . thence South 60 deg. West to an inlet of water, and thence along the said inlet to Gowanus Bay, thence along said Bay to Adam Brower's Creek so called, (since known as the Mill Creek,) and so up the said Creek until it meets the meadow formerly belonging to Rut Van Brunt deceased, and thence from said Creek and along the said meadow to the upland there, thence along the upland and edge of the meadow to a certain old stump at the head of a reed meadow, thence North 60 deg. West 14 ch. to a stake to the Southward of Jacob Hansen's (Bergen) house at the Southermost side of the said Jacob Hansen (Bergen's) orchard, thence North 34 deg. West along said orchard 11 ch. to the division fence of the said Jacob Hansen (Bergen,) and Aaltje Sebringh's old farms, thence on a straight line to the first station (no part of the said Jacob Hansen's old farm being included,) containing in all 140 acres of land and meadows." And also a small parcel of meadow lying to the Eastward of Thys Van Dyk's dwelling house adjoining to Graver's Creek or Kill, and runs along a small Creek at the North side of the meadow belonging to the heirs of George Remsen, and so along said Creek to a stake standing at the Northeast side of a branch or creek that runs out of said small creek Westwardly towards the East River, thence from said stake Northwest into the East River to a stake, and so along said River to Graver's Kill to where it began, containing ten acres more or less.

Nov. 19, 1679, Jacob Hansen Bergen and Elsie his wife, of the village of Brookland, were members of the Reformed Dutch Church, and in 1682 he was a deacon in said church. In 1687 he is on the list of those who took the oath of allegiance to the British government, and in 1698 he is styled on the old Kings County court records, "a newly chosen constable of Brookland," and complained of for non-appearance at court in pursuance of notice. In the same year his family is entered on the census as consisting of "1 man, 1 woman, 6 children and 2 slaves." From 1700 to 1708 inclusive, he was elected or appointed one of the Trustees of the Common lands and to defend town rights, of Brooklyn. In 1706 he was assessed for 150 acres of arable land. April 23d, 1708, his name, among others appears on an agreement to call a Minister in the Brooklyn Dutch Church. He appears to have had difficulties with his neighbor Cornelis Sebering, who owned a part of the Lubbertse patent. Sebering commencing a suit against him Nov. 12th, 1714, also Nov. 11th, 1715, one for £19, 19s. and 8d.; and another in Oct, 1718. In Oct. 1722, he sued Sebering for £19, and again in 1723.

In 1715, as per minutes of the Board of Supervisors, Jacob Hansen (Bergen) held the office of Supervisor of Brooklyn.

April 13th, 1732, Jacob Hansen Bergen, and Elsjie his wife, conveyed to Hans Bergen their son, "200 A. in Brookland, bounded easterly by land of Jores Bergen and Mill Creek to the River ; southwesterly by said River ; northwesterly by land and meadow of Aeltje Sebering ; northeasterly by land of Rem. Remsen and Jores Bergen, excepting a certain piece of meadows formerly sold to Michiel Hanalle ; and further a certain piece of meadow of ten acres joining northeasterly upon the meadow of Aeltje Sebering aforesaid, south by a certain creek, southerly by the Graver's Kill so called, and northwesterly by the river. Also two lots of woodland in the second division of Brookland woodlands, containing 10 A. each, (Nos. 60 and 61.)" The conveyance sets forth, that he and his wife "by and with consent of all their children, by name, Frederick Bergen, Jacob Bergen Junr., Johannes Slecht, and Catrina, his wife, Gisbert Bogaert Junr., and Marretje, his wife, Jan Croesen, and Breckje, his wife, Derick Croesen, and Cornelia, his wife, testified by their being parties to the ensealing and delivery hereof, &c.," which children joined in the conveyance.* In 1738, Jacob Hansen Bergen's name appears on the census of Brooklyn, his family consisting of one white male above ten years, one white female above ten, one black male under ten, and this is the last record of his being alive.

CATALYN or CATHARINE HANSEN, (a twin with Jacob.) bap. Nov. 30, 1653. No account of Catalyn beyond that of her birth, she probably dying in childhood, for Sara her mother, in her petition of April 4th, 1656, as herein set forth, to the Governor and Council, states that she is a widow burdened with seven children, which would have been incorrect, having had eight by her first husband. Hans Hansen, unless one had previously died.

HANS OR JOHANNES BERGEN ; living in Nov. 1734 ;
m. Antie or Annetje Lucassen,* dau. of Eldert Lucassen

* Antie Lucassen is a descendant of Steven Coerte, or Steven Koers, as written by himself, from Voorhees or from before Hees, a small neighborhood of nine houses and fifty inhabitants, near Ruinen in the Province of Drenthe, in the Netherlands. The family subscribed themselves "Van Voorhies" and "Van Voorhyes," Steven is the common ancestor of the Voorhees family of Long Island, N. J., &c., and he with all his family except his dau. Merghein, emigrated in 1660, in the ship Bontekoe, (Spotted Cow,) Capt. Pieter Lucassen. Steven Coerte, m. Willempie Roeleffse, purchased land and settled in Flatlands shortly after his arrival in this country, and d. about Feb. —, 1684, his will being dated Aug. 25, 1667. in 1752. In 1707-8, the names of "Johannes Burger," appears on a petition of Cornelis Sebering, for a ferry from his lands in Brookland to New York. May 12th, 1708, it appears from the old Kings County court records that "Hans Machielse Bergen," was concerned in a riot at the house of Sarah Knight, a tavern keeper, in the village of Brookland. June 4th, 1710, "Hans Bergen" bought of his father for £400, the 10 acres at Brookland ferry, which he had purchased April 27th, 1709, of Garret Middah.*

By a deed of March 23d, 1715-16, Hans Bergen appears to have bought, and by a deed dated March 26th, 1715-16, Hans Bergen and Johannes Sebering bought of the freeholders and inhabitants of Brookland for £150, 10s., a plot or spot at the ferry, "bounded N. Palo, also, dec'd; Elizabeth, w. of Egbert Van Burson; and Catelina. "Dirck Benson," petitioned Nov. 7th, 1689, the Gov. and Council for a patent for a tract of 188 acres of land on Staten Island with some meadows, lying between Long Neck and Daniel's Neck. "Derick Bensing" in 1701, leased the ferry from New York to Brooklyn, for seven years at £130 per annum, on which lease it was said he lost money. March 23d, 1707, "Derick Benson," of Brookland, gentleman, loaned on mort. to Cornelis Vanderhove, of Bedford, £121; Nov. 10, 1707, "Derick Benson" m. Janetie Vanderwater, a second wife. In 1710, on an assignment of a mort, he is styled a merchant of the city of New York. March 24th, 1710, "Derick Bensen" petitioned the Gov. and Council for a grant of 1000 acres out of the land formerly granted to Capt. John Evans, in Ulster Co. Aug. 26th, 1714, "Derick Bensing" petitioned the Gov. and Council for a grant of 2000 acres of land lying between the south limits of the land granted to Dr. Samuel Staats and the south side of the Dunder Bergh, on which a warrant for the survey of the same was granted.

Derick Benson d. prior to 1721, and from the will of his father appears to have left children, among whom were Rachel, b. April 13th, 1689, m. Hans Machielse Bergen; Eva, bap. March 19th, 1693; and Derick, bap. July 5th, 1696. His wife d. about 1732.

In Montgomery's charter of the city of N. Y., a "Derick Bensing" was appointed collector of the outward of the city. This Derick who d. in 1750, may have been the Derick b. in 1696, and brother of Rachel.

and said spott of ground ; and N. W. by the river."* On the same date Sebering executed a mortgage to Hans for £75 on the above premises. In 1715, "Hans Bergen's" name appears on the militia list of the town as a private in Capt. Remsen's company. April 16, 1717, "Hans Bergen," baker, bought of Johannes Sebering, baker, for £99, his interest or the one undivided half of the plot they purchased of the freeholders and inhabitants of Brookland, described as "lying to ye S. W. of ye ferry house, Butted and Bounded W'ly by ye highway, S'ly by ye highway, E'ly by ye highway, and N'ly by ye river."† April 17, 1717, Hans Bergen and Rachael his wife, for £10, conveyed to Johannes Sebering, a portion of the plot "bounded E'ly by ye highway, N'ly by ye river, W'ly by the grounds of said Hans Bergen, and S'ly also to said Hans Bergen, being in breadth on both ends 7 ft., to be measured from ye northermost fence and soe upwards along ye highway and from said fence to ye river, on both ends, and in length on both sides 20ft. all English measure.‡ This plot was evidently at the corner of the present Fulton street and the then shores of the East River.

May, 2d, 1717, "Hans Bergen of the ferry, baker," bought of Thomas Palmeter for £455, "all those several dwelling houses, tenements and all that piece or parcel of land, &c., lately belonging to John and Sarah Coa, as ye same now lyes in fence: Bounded E'ly, W'ly and N'ly to ye roads or highways, and S'ly to ye land in possession of ye wid. Oct. 7th, 1720, Hans Bergen, baker, and Rachel his wife conveyed to William Baker of the city of New York for £110, a portion of the land bought of Palmetoer, "as in fence, containing in breadth 72 feet, 4 in. fronting the road, and the same in the rear, and in the length from front to rear, 152 feet, all English measure, bounded S. April 7th, 1720, he sued Jacob Vandewater for a silver tankard.‡ March 7th, 1721, "Johannes Bergen" and Rachel his wife, heirs and executors of the estate of Derrick Bensing, released a mortgage to Cornelis Vander Hoven. April 17th, 1721, Hans Bergen of the ferry, and Jan Rapalje, complained to the grand jury of the general sessions of the peace of encroachments on the public highway, on which indictments were found.§ Aug. 21st, 1723, Hans Bergen bought of his father his farm of one hundred and eighty acres, late of Albert Cornelissen, here-

‡ Garret G. Bergen of Gowanus, one of the descendants of Hans Bergen, has in his possession an old family silver tankard marked H. R. B., the initials of Hans and Rachel Bergen, probably the one here referred to.

§ The following is a copy of the entry on the court records:—"Flatbush, April 19th, 1721. John Rapalje and Hans Bergen of the ferry, desires of ye grand jury that ye Commissioners now being should be presented for not doing their duty in laying out ye Kings Highway according to ye law, being ye Kings highway is too narrow from ye ferry to one Nicalus Cowenhoven, living at Brookland, and if all our neighbors will make ye road according to law, then ye said John Rapalje and Hans Bergen is willing to do ye same as aforesaid, being they are not willing to suffer more than their neighbors."

On this complaint the grand jury at the then April term of the General Sessions for the County, found indictments for encroachments on the "common highway of the King leading from the ferry to the church at Brookland," against John Rapalje, Hans Bergen, Jaunes Harding, and others, by which indictments it appears the road should have been four rods wide. These indictments do not appear to have been tried, the Colonial Legislature in 1724 having passed a law regulating the road and establishing its width as it then was.

inbefore referred to. In 1724, "Hans Bergen" was Supervisor of Brookland.

January 11th, 1728, "Hans Bergen" and Rachel his wife, for £250 conveyed to Israel Horsfield a house and land at the ferry, "bounded S. W. on the land now in the possession of the said Hans Bergen, to the E. S. E. on the land now in the possession of Gabriel Cox, to the N. E. on a street or highway, and to the N. W. partly on a street or highway, and partly on the land of said Israel Horsfield and Cornelia Middagh; beginning at a street or highway at the E. corner, now in the possession of Gabriel Cox, and from thence running by the said street or highway towards the East River, N. 60 deg. W. 226 feet to another street or highway leading to the East River side, thence running by the said street, which leads to the said river; S. 60 deg. W. 120 feet to the lot of said Israel Horsefield. thence running by his lot S. 30 deg. E. as the said lot runs 40 feet to the rear thereof; thence running by the said Horsefield's lot S. 60 deg. W. as it runs 200 feet; thence S. 30 deg. W. by the said lot 15 feet to the rear of the lot of Cornelia Middagh; thence S. W. as the rear of that lot runs 25 feet to the S. W. bounds thereof; thence by the said Hans Bergen's land S. 54 deg. E. 429 feet to the land now in possession of Gabriel Cox, at the N. W. corner thereof; thence running by the said Cox's land to the N. N. E. as the said land runs 397 feet to the place of beginning.

May 2d, 1730, "Hans Machielse Bergen" and others, freeholders of Brookland, conveyed to Jan Bennet of Gowanus about three acres of woodland in the rear of Bennet's farm.

On the census of Brooklyn of 1738,* "Hans Bergen's family is entered as consisting of four white males above ten years, one white male under ten, six white females above ten, one black male under ten, and one black male above ten. This entry is supposed to be intended for the family of Hans Machielse Bergen, although he was dead at the time, the number and sex of the members of the family agreeing more nearly with his, than that of any other Hans Bergen.

Hans Bergen carried on the bakery business in Brooklyn from 1717 to about 1730, in conjunction with a store and stabling for the horses of the residents of the Island, when crossing to New York, in a stone building located as near as can be ascertained, on the westerly corner of Fulton and Elizabeth streets, a portion of the walls of which are supposed to form the easterly end of the building at present located there. His will is dated Jan. 18th, 1731, and proved Jan. 13, 1732. He devises to Michiel his oldest son the farm (of 180 acres, since Powers's,) on which he then resided, valued at £600, subject to the payment of a legacy of £200 to his dau. Femmetje, and also of £200 to be paid to his son Teunis, when 21 years of age; to his son Derick, the dwelling house at the ferry, wherein John Rjm now lives, with the bolting house and the ground whereon Thomas Browne now lives, all valued at £250, subject to a legacy of £50, to be paid to his son Hans when 21; and to his son Hans in addition, a lot at the ferry valued at £150.

Fourth Generation.

Children of HANS MACHIELSE BERGEN and Rachel Bensing of Brooklyn, N. Y. :—

MICHAEL BERGEN, b. Dec. 20th, 1712, and bap. in N. Y. ; d. prior to 1788, during the war of the Revolution ; m. Catalyn, dau. of Hanse Jacobse Bergen.

Oct. 7th, 1733, Rachel Bergen, widow of Hans Bergen, and Michael Bergen his son, for £180, 12s. convey to Israel Horsefield land at the ferry, “ bounded N. E. by the highway leading from Brookland to the River ; S. E. by the highway lying between the house and grounds of Master Parmenter, (now or late in the possession of the executors of the said Hans Bergen,) and said spot of ground ; S. W. by the highway lying between the ground of the aforesaid Hans Bergen, deceased, (now in the possession and occupancy of Timothy Horsefield,) and said spot of ground ; N. W. by the River, (except and always reserving out of this present bargain and sale, 7 feet in length of the River leading from Brookland, and 25 feet in breadth heretofore sold by Hans Bergen, deceased, to Johannes Sebering ;" said land being the plot conveyed to Hans Bergen and Johannes Sebering by the Trustees of Brookland, and by said Sebering to said Bergen.*

April 12th, 1748, Rachel, widow of Hans Bergen, released to her son Michael Bergen, her right of dower in the farm (formerly of Albert Cornelissen,) in Brookland, which was devised to him by his father, said farm being bounded in the release, S'y by land of Jacobus Debevoise; N'y by land of Carl Debevoise and Israel Horsefield; E'y by the Kings highway leading from Flatbush to New York ferry; and W'y by the meadows, containing 120 acres ;† also her right of dower in the meadows and woodland.

April 30th, 1750 Michael Bergen bought a negro man of the estate of his father-in-law, Hanse Jacobse Bergen. In 1751-2-3, he was a member of the consistory of the Reformed Dutch Church of Brooklyn. March 25th, 1754, Sylvester Marius Groen and Femmetje, his wife, (dau. of Hans Bergen,) executed a release to Michael Bergen for the legacy of £200, devised to Femmetje by the will of her father. In 1755, he is entered on the list of slaves in Brookland, as having one negro man named Tight, and one negro woman named Dine.

April 3d, 1767, the executors of Thomas Cornell of Queens County, sold to Michael Bergen for £1600, a house, grist mill and farm on the south side of the town of Jamaica, in Queens County, near the salt meadows, containing 220 acres, including uplands and bog meadows, and also a plot of salt meadows. In Nov., 1776, his name appears among those who took British protection.

April 15th, 1783, on Sunday night, Capt. Hyler of New Brunswick went over to Long Island, (Michiel Bergen's, Gowanus,) and brought off a Hessian Major, Ensign, &c. During the war of the Revolution his house was robbed, and in a printed placard a reward was offered for the detection of the robbers. During those perilous times robberies were frequent.

While on his death bed, Michael Bergen, by will, devised his real estate to his grandson, Michael Bergen Grant, son of his dau. Sarah. The descendants of his dau. Tishe say that young Grant took advantage of his grandfather's infirmities, and unfairly induced him to devise his property in this manner, thus cutting them off from the inheritance. This accusation may or may not be well founded. In his life time he had given his dau. Tishe a deed for about forty acres of his farm, which deed during the troublesome times of the Revolution, she placed in the hands of her father for safe keeping. On his death, this deed with his other papers fell in the hands of Grant, who in consequence of Tishe and her descendants having no papers in their possession to the contrary, took and held possession of all the land, the forty acres included. Grant finally sold all the real estate to George Powers, and emigrated to Nova Scotia, leaving his papers with Garret Bergen of Gowanus, the deed for the forty acres included. In 1836, the heirs of Tishe obtained this deed from T. G. Bergen, in whose hands the papers had fallen, and commenced proceedings to recover the land, employing Gerard of New York as their Attorney, but it appeared they were too late to succeed.

Aug. 20th, 1744, Theodorus A. Van Wyck, of the city of New York and Helen his wife, sole dau. and heiress of Cornelius Sandford, late of Brooklyn, conveyed to "John Bergen" for £610, the house and land at Yellow Hook, Brooklyn, containing 200 acres as in fence, and in the occupancy of Jacob Bloom and Gertrude Sanford wid. of said Cornelius; bounded S. W. by land of Hendrick Van Dyck; N. E. by land of Wouter Van Pelt; N. W. by the river; and S. E. by land of said Van Dyck; also, all their right in the undivided woodlands of Brooklyn. Sandford's wid., Gertrude, was a dau. of Simon de Hart, of Gowanus, having m. for a second husband Jores Remsen; John Bergen in addition to the £610, paid £100 for Gertrude's dower right.* On this farm, Hans Bergen, after its purchase, resided the remainder of his life, occupying the old mansion, partly of stone, located near 55th street, between First avenue and the bay, which his grandson Theodorus Bergen lately occupied, and in which he died. The above premises were conveyed, April 6th, 1724, for £824, by Claes Van Dyck to Joseph Hegeman; and May 10th, 1734, for £500, by said Hegeman to said Cornelius Sanford. This farm, located in the vicinity of 52d and 56th streets, is the first purchase made by the Bergen family of the numerous farms they subsequently owned on the bay at Gowanus, Yellow Hook and Bay Ridge.

As early as in 1749, "Hans Bergen" was a member of the consistory of the Reformed Dutch Church of Brooklyn.

March 7th, 1751, Christopher Scharse and Peter Van Pelt, conveyed to "Johannes Bergen," for £225, a farm at Gowanus, Brooklyn, bounded S. W'ly and N. E'ly by land of Cornelius Van Duyne; N. W'ly as the river runs; and S. E'ly by land of Garret Cowenhoven, containing 35 acres.† July 21st, 1776, "Hans Bergen" conveyed the above farm for £227, to his brother Derick Bergen. These premises are in the vicinity of 15th and 16th streets, and designated on Butts' map as land of John Dimon and heirs of Rachel Berry.

On the 24th of Aug., 1751, in consideration of £117, Isaac Sebring of "Brookland," and Catharine his wife, conveyed to Nicholas Vechte, Jurry Brouwer, Abraham Brouwer, Peter Staets, Cornelius Van Duyn, Jun., Wynant Bennet, Jacob Bennet, Wilhelmus Bennet, and Hans Bergen, the fee of "all that certain strip or piece of meadows and marshes, situate, lying and being in the township of Brookland abovesaid in the county aforesaid, butted and bounded as followeth, viz: beginning at the east side of a little island where John Van Dyck's long milldam is bounded upon, running from thence northerly into the river all over or through the meadows of said Isacc Sebring, being in breadth twelve feet and a half."* As a part of the consideration Sebring was to make a ditch over the whole of this strip at least six feet deep, for the use of the grantees, and to allow them the use of a "foot-path two foot and a half wide to dragg or hall up their canoes or boats," reserving to himself among other things, the privilege of navigating the ditch.

March 16th, 1744, the Colonial Assembly of the State passed an act which was approved of by Gov. Tryon, on the 19th, entitled "An Act to empower certain persons therein named to complete a ditch that is partly dug from Gowanus bay to the East river in Kings county, under certain restrictions."† The preamble to this act sets forth that the same is enacted in consequence of the difficult and dangerous navigation around Red Hook, and refers to the deed of 1751. The parties named in the act are, "Nicklaas Veghte, Peter Staets, Deborah Bergen, (wid. of Derick,) Anthony Holst, John Rapalje, Winaent Bennet, Jacob Bennet, Teunis Bergen, Tucnes Tiebout and Simon Bergen." Some of these parties were among the original purchasers of the strip of meadows, and some of the others at this period owned the farms held by the original purchasers in 1751. They were required to keep the bridge over the ditch or canal on the road leading to Van Dyck's mill in order, to keep up the dams along so much of the neighboring mill ponds as adjoined upon the canal, and were authorized to close the same when they thought proper, without detriment to their fee. A provision was also inserted making such inhabitants of Gouwanus as might use the ditch, liable to contribute towards keeping the same in repair. This canal or ditch is delineated on Ratzer's map of Brooklyn and New York, and was partially closed some 25 years ago, by the improvements at the Atlantic Dock, persons being yet living, among whom is the writer, who frequently passed through it with their boats, in going or returning from New York.

The avoidance of the difficult and dangerous navigation around Red Hook by row boats engaged the attention of the neighboring residents at a much earlier period, for we find that on the 29th day of May, 1664, the inhabitants of Gouwanus petitioned the Director General and Council of New Netherlands for permission to clean out the kill at the end of Frederick Lubbertsen's land, and near Red Hook, so as to render it navigable to Gouwanus and the mill, and relieve them of the necessity of going around the Red Hook, which petition was granted.*

In 1755, "John Bargay," is entered on the list of slaves in Brookland, as possessing five negro men named Roger, Harry, Peter, Josey and Esquire, and two negro women named Mary and Pegg. This Mary, known as Mary Peterson, resided many years with his descendants and d. Nov. 1824, ag. 103 years.

June 9th, 1760, "Johannes Bergen" bought of Hendrick Van Dyck, for £950, a tract at Yellow Hook, Brooklyn, containing ninety and a half acres, adjoining and on the S. W'y side of the lands he purchased of the heirs of Cornelius Sandford, and also a tract of woodland in the rear of the same, partly in Brooklyn and New Utrecht, containing twelve acres and four perches. These parcels are located in the vicinity of 56th and 59th streets.*

From 1762 to 1777, "Johannes Bergen" held the office of Justice of the Sessions and Common Pleas of the county of Kings. April 21st, 1762, "Johannes Bergen," Wy-nant Bennet and Peter Cortelyou, were presented by the grand jury for "that their nets or seines were used on Sunday, the 20th of April inst., and they are fined by this court each six shillings," which fines appear to have been paid in court.

From 1764 to 1775, inclusive, and in 1777 and 1782, "Johannes Bergen" held the office of Supervisor of Brooklyn. There are no minutes of the year 1776, and of some of the years prior to 1782, and the probability is that if any one acted during this period he was the person, and that he held the office during the war of the Revolution and until 1783. In March and April 1776, his name appears among the committeemen chosen by the towns of the county, to protect them from British aggression, but in November of the same year, after the conquest of the Island, it appears among those who took British protection and the oath of allegiance; the county and town Committees dissolved themselves in Dec. 1776. In those days of trial, our forefathers who had rebelled against the tyranny of England, residing in the portion of the country conquered and held by the British army, were compelled either to take the oath of allegiance and make their submission, or else abandon their homes and property, and remove beyond the British lines, with a small prospect of being able to maintain their families. The sacrifice was too great for the mass of the whigs and patriots of Long Island. They concluded to smother their detestation of English rule until a more fitting season, prefer-ing their old homes to banishment. During the great Southern rebellion of our day no doubt thousands similarly situated have acted in the same manner.

July 17th, 1780, Hans Bergen's name appears among the signers of an address to the British Gov. Robertson, the successor of Gov. Tryon, on his accession to office. On the establishment of peace his name appears among the signers of a congratulatory address to Gen. Washington. He claimed after the revolution £216, 2s. of the government for the loss of 25 cattle, 2 horses, 104 bu. wheat and 136 bu. rye, caused by the American army.

From the following entries in the records of the commissioners of the Land Office at Albany it appears he was concerned in the purchase from the Indians of large tracts of land in the northern part of this state. "Thomas Palmer, Derick Lefferts, John Lake, one of the heirs of Robert Leake, dec'd, Simon Remsen, Abraham Brinckerhoff, Rem P. Remsen, dec'd, and 'Johannes Berger,' having exhibited their claim by virtue of an Indian purchase prior to the 14th of Oct., 1775, for a tract of land lying and being on the W. side of the W. branch of Hudson's river, beginning at a certain marked tree about half a mile above the big island, and runs from thence W. 46 chains to the N. W. corner of the patent granted to Cornelius Schuyler in 1742; thence N. 30 deg. W. 1040 ch.; thence N. 60 deg. E. 1400 ch.; thence S. 30 deg. E. 1400 ch.; to the said branch of Hudson's river; thence up along the same as it runs to a tract of 9000 acres conveyed to John Glen and others; thence along the E'ly, N'ly and W'ly bounds thereof to the river again; thence up along the same as it runs until it meets a tract granted to Philip Livingston; thence along the W'ly and N'ly bounds thereof until it meets a tract known by the name of Northampton; thence along the W'ly and N'ly bounds thereof to beginning, computed to contain 157,000 acres, excepting out of the bounds and limits aforesaid 24,000 acres granted to John Bergen: also for another certain tract of land lying and being on Sacondaga or the W. branch of Hudson's river, beginning at a certain marked tree on the W. side of the W. branch of Hudson's river about half a mile above the big island, and running thence W. 46 ch. to the N. W. corner of the patent granted to Cornelius Schuyler, in 1742; thence N. 30 deg. W. 1040 chains; thence N. 60 deg. E. 205 ch.; thence S. 30 deg. E. to Northampton patent; thence along the different courses of said patent to the beginning, containing by estimation 24,000 acres."

The petition for the last mentioned tract of about 24,000 acres was presented as early as the 23d day of December, 1769, in which it was set forth that the "petitioners had lately discovered a certain tract of land in the county of Albany, as yet unpurchased of the native Indian proprietors thereof."* On the 31st day of July, 1772,† Hendrick, alias Tayahansara, Lourance alias Aggneragies, Hans alias Canedagaure, Hans Krine alias Anagoadhoje, native Indians, with the consent of the Gov. John, Earl of Dunmore, for £100, conveyed said tract of 24,000 acres to John Bergen and his associates, who it appears were:

Caveats were filed, claims and counter claims presented in relation to these lands, the principal portion of which appears to have been awarded to the heirs of Philip Livingston, dec'd and others, leaving for John Bergen and his associates the tract of 24,000 acres. On the final survey by S. DeWitt, the surveyor general, and division of this tract, there is nothing on the records shewing that any portion thereof was allotted to either John or Simon Bergen, they probably with many of their associates having sold out their interests, but of this no evidence has been seen. These lands continue to be known and described as the "Bergen purchase," on the tax lists of the counties in which they are located.

Sept. 23d, 1785, "Johannes Bergen" purchased of John Van Pelt and Jane his wife, for £600, the S'ly one half of the farm late of Tunis Van Pelt, dec'd, located in Brooklyn, and bounded N. W'ly by the river; N. E'ly by land of Wynant Van Pelt; S. E'ly by the Wedge lot; and S. W'ly by land of said Johannes Bergen, containing fifty acres; also one acre of salt meadow located near said farm, 2 1-2 acres woodland in Brooklyn on the rear of said farm, 5 acres of woodland in one plot in New Utrecht, and 11 acres in another plot.

Johannes Bergen and his brothers and their descendants, used for a burial plot, (until the establishment of Greenwood Cemetery, to which most of the remains have been removed,) a plot on the farm, late of Simon Bergen, between 3d and 4th avenues, and between 39th and 40th streets, Brooklyn, which plot was probably used for the same purpose by the DeHart family, the owners of the farm previous to Simon Bergen.

* Capt. Elbert Elbertse Stoothoff van de Vreds, the common ancestor of the Stoothoff family in this country, emigrated from Nieuwkerken, a hamlet in the province of North Brabant in the Netherlands, in 1637, and finally settled in New Amersfoort, now Flatlands, where he d. in 1686 or 7. He was one of the nine men appointed by the principal classes of the com-

dau. of Garret Stoothoff, of Flatlands, b. Feb. 21st, 1743, old style, and d. July 23d, 1819.

Feb. 19th, 1763, he bought of Wilhelmus Bennet, for £1,025, a farm of 70 acres at Gowanus, located in 32d and 33d streets in the 8th Ward of Brooklyn, on which munity in 1649 and 1650, who represented Manhattens, Breuckelen, Amersfoort and Payonia whose duties were to promote the honor of God, the welfare of the country, the preservation of the reformed religion, and to give their opinion on matters submitted to them by the Director and Council. In 1648, they remonstrated to the States General of the Netherlands against the acts of the Director Generals and the West India Company. Van Tienhoven in his reply, on behalf of the Company, to the remonstrance, in describing the nine men, (to whom he did not intend to be very complimentary,) says: "that Elbert Elbertse went to the country as a farmer's boy, at about ten or eleven years of age, in the service of Wouter Van Twiller." In 1653, he represented Amersfoort in the convention held at New Amsterdam to represent the state of the country to the authorities in Holland. In 1654, '56, '57, '60, '61, '62, '63, '64 and 1673, he was one of the magistrates of Amersfoort. Feb. 27th, 1664, he was one of the representatives from Amersfoort in the convention held at Midwout, for the purpose of sending delegates to Holland to lay before the States General and West India Company, the distressed state of the country; and April 10th, 1664, he was one of the delegates from the same town to the General Assembly, held at the City Hall in New Amsterdam. On the 16th of June, 1661, he obtained a patent for 18 morgens in Flatlands. After this he purchased of Garret Wolpherson Van Couwenhoven a tract of 123 morgen on the Sly end of the Westernmost of the three flats, known by the Indian name of "Kaskutew." On the 25th day of November, 1665, he purchased of Thomas Spicer "Meutelaer," (as per patent,) Island, now known as Bergen Island, in Flatlands. This island was patented, May 14th, 1646, by Geo. Kieft to Capt. John Underhill, a mercenary soldier from New England, employed by Kieft to fight the Indians. Underhill sold his patent to Spicer, who, July 20th, 1652, extinguished the Indian title, the deed of which sets forth that the Island is called by the Dutch "Metlers" Island, and by the Indians "Wimbaccocoe," and is signed by Specke Jon alias Aremacus, Oranke, Qahsse, and Ohachama, in the presence of Ambrose Londdon, interpreter, and John Lake, (both of Gravesend,) as witnesses. He also purchased, April 27th, 1662, of the executors of Wolfert Gerretsen van Couwenhoven and his heirs, for 5,000 guilders in good strong "wompom," payable in four years, one fourth each year, the lands and farms with the improvements and cattle thereon, "known by the name of Achtervalt," which the said Wolfert possessed; said lands being the premises which Andries Hudden and said Wolfert purchased of the Indians, and which are described as the "westernmost of the three flats named Kaskutew, lying on the Island named by the Indians Suanhacky, between the bay of the North river and the East river, in breadth from a certain meadow or valey and stretching about westerly to and into the woods;" which lands were patented to them by Gov. Wouter van Twiller on the 16th day of June, 1636, and by a confirmatory patent of the 24th of August, 1658, granted by Gov. Stuyvesant to said Wolfert. Elbert Elbertsen received Nov. 1st, 1667, from Gov. Nicolls, a confirmatory patent for the above premises, and as per recorded deeds was in possession at the time of his death of at least 600 acres of uplands in Flatlands. There is no patent of an earlier date for land on Long Island than that to Hudden

he resided and died. April 13th, 1781, he bought of John Vanderbilt, for upwards of $600, a mortgage on the adjoining premises of Wilhelmus Bennet, containing 74 acres and 16 perches. Under a foreclosure of this mortgage, Sept. 11th, 1784, he purchased the premises through Michael Bergen, his nephew, and held the same during the remainder of his life. Bennet after the Revolutionary war, contested the legality of the foreclosure, on the ground of irregularity, &c., and obtained a verdict in his favor, declaring the sale invalid, but on an appeal to the court of final resort, the same was reversed, and the purchase and proceedings under the foreclosure were sustained; on which, under the then existing laws, Bennet the plaintiff, in consequence of failing to pay the costs, was for a time imprisoned, but finally out of compassion, was released by Bergen, the defendant.

In 1834, the descendants of Wilhelmus Bennet, who were generally ignorant and uneducated, having the possession of the old title deeds and a tradition that they had a good claim upon the property and that their ancestors had been defrauded out of the same, under the advice of a hungry lawyer named Thompson, took forcible possession of a portion of the premises, erecting at night a shanty thereon, from which however they were soon ejected under an action for forcible entry and detainer, and mulched for costs and damages, which one of them, luckily, happened to be in possession of sufficient property to pay.

About 1764, a suit was commenced by Teunis Bergen and Anatie his wife, John Stevens and Saartie his wife, and William Nallison and Eitie his wife, against John Stiles, (a fictitious name,) and Wilhelmus Stoothoff for the recovery of the Island located in the meadows and on the shores of the bay in Flatlands, patented by Gov. Kieft to Capt. John Underhill, known as "Wynpaggue," Meutelaers, or Omety's Island,* (now Bergen's Island,) containing about 90 acres of upland, on the ground that their wives, the daughters and heirs of Garret Stoothoff, were entitled to the same by the will of Elbert<sup>1</sup> Elbertse Stoothoff, their ancestor, dated Dec. 18th, 1686, in which he bequeathed said Island to his eldest son Garret,<sup>1</sup> and after his death to his child or children in succession and on failure of succession to Garret's<sup>1</sup> two sisters, Heyltie and Aegje, and in case of their death upon their child or children, and in case of failure of them, then upon his nearest relations in blood, stating that it was his express will and desire, that the same should not go out of his family or generation, but should remain forever hereditary therein. After the decease of Elbert<sup>1</sup> Elbertse, Garret<sup>1</sup> went into possession, and by his (Garret's) will devised the Island, (supposing he had a legal right,) to Wilhelmus<sup>1</sup> one of his younger sons. However Elbert,<sup>2</sup> Garret's<sup>1</sup> eldest son entered on the Island on his father's death, and put his eldest son Garret<sup>2</sup> in possession, who died, (being accidentally drowned in the bay,) during his father's lifetime, leaving issue three dau., viz: Eitie or Margrietie, Anatie, and Saartie, plaintiff's together with their husbands in this suit. After the death of Garret,<sup>2</sup> Eldert<sup>2</sup> his father put his second son Wilhelmus<sup>2</sup> in possession, and on Elbert's<sup>2</sup> death, Wilhelmus<sup>2</sup> the second son delivered up possession to his uncle Wilhelmus,<sup>1</sup> a defendant in this suit who died in 1783, during its progress. On the death of the uncle, Wilhelmus,<sup>1</sup> his son Peter went into possession.

* The spelling of the Indian name varies on different documents; on some it is "Wynpaggue," on others "Wimbacoe," "Meutelaer, or Metlers." Meutelaer or Metler may be the name of an individual. There was a Philip, a Hendrick and an Abraham Metselaer, residing in New Netherlands in the latter part of the 17th century, from whom this name may have been derived, although no evidence has been found of any of them having resided or exercised ownership on it. Metselaer means mason or bricklayer, which occupation one of the Stoothoff's may have followed, and of which Metler may be a corruption, and hence the name. "Omety's" Island means Uncle's Island.

This suit was finally decided on the 3d of Sept, 1791, (about twenty-seven years after its commencement,) in favor of the plaintiffs, thus declaring the entailment by Elbert Elbertse to be lawful, but before its termination, Eitie or Margretie, died without issue, leaving her two sisters her heirs at law. After the termination of the suit, on the 10th of May, 1792, Teunis Bergen for £800, bought of John Stevens and Saartie his wife, their undivided half of the Island, placing his son John in possession.

June 2d, 1772, "Tunis Bergen" was commissioned a second Lieut. of Capt. John Carpenter's company of foot in the regiment of militia of Kings county, by Gov. Wm. Tryon. Nov. 1776, his name appears among those who took British protection and the oath of allegiance. After the revolution he claimed £78, for the loss of eight cattle, one horse, forty bush. wheat and forty bush. rye, destroyed by the American army, prior to the battle of Long Island. These claims were founded on an order issued, it is said by Gen. Washington to the farmers on the west end of the Island on the arrival of the British fleet and army in the lower bay, to stack their grain outside their barns, so that in case of necessity it might be burnt without endangering the buildings, (which burning took place); and their cattle to effect the same object were driven to the eastern part of the Island, and never recovered.

In 1784, he was supervisor of Brooklyn. His will is dated Sept. 23d, 1806, proved Oct. 28th, 1807, in which he devised his Brooklyn lands, (except some woodland to his son Tunis,) to his son Garret, and the Island in Flatlands to his son John, all subject to the use of his widow during life, and subject to legacies to his other children.

SARAH BERGEN, b. Dec. 18th, 1743, d. ———, m. Aug. 30th, 1759, Capt. John Grant, of his Majesty's 42d Highland Reg., who was b. in 1729. According to tradition she was celebrated for her beauty which captivated the Captain. After their marriage they resided on the farm with the grist mill attached, which her father purchased of the executors of Cornell, on the south side of the village of Jamaica, in Queens Co. Being a loyalist, immediately after the revolution, Capt. Grant with his family, (excepting Micheal Bergen Grant, his eldest son,) emigrated to Kempt, about nine miles below Windsor, on the Avon river, near the bay of Fundy, in Nova Scotia, where for his services or losses in the war, he had a grant from the British government for 3,000 acres of good land in the wilderness. In Nova Scotia, on the western shores of the Bay of Fundy, reside the descendants of Long Island and New Jersey families, whose ancestors were tories in the revolution, and fled when this country achieved her independence. Those to whom the British government assigned lands in this locality were fortunate, the soil being generally good and productive. Others had lands assigned them on the Atlantic coast, some in the neighborhood of Sherbourne, an iron bound shore, on which the lands are rocky and sterile, where after the means they brought with them were exhausted, starvation stared them in the face, from which many of them fled, and some returned in poverty seeking the protection of the government they had opposed.

Micheal Bergen Grant, the oldest son, who inherited from his grandfather the Brooklyn homestead farm, after a few years sold the same to George Powers, and then also emigrated to Kenyot. Most of the descendants of Capt. John Grant continue to reside in Nova Scotia and occupy a respectable position in society.

By a conveyance from Simon and Gashe to his uncle Tunis Bergen, and a conveyance of Tunis to Simon, the title of this farm was vested in Simon. In March, 1776, he held the office of 1st Lieut. in the militia company of Brooklyn. Gaine's Register of March 3d, 1777, says: "a few days ago Simon Bergen was accidentally shot in the leg by a musket he was buying of a sailor, and died from loss of blood." The accident is said to have happened close to and in front of the old stone house near 38th street and the bay, in which he resided. This house is among, if not one of the oldest, in the city of Brooklyn, it being laid down on a map of 930 acres purchased by William Arianse Bennet and Jacques Bentin, Englishmen, of the Indians in 1636, made Jan. 9th, 1695-6, by Augustus Graham, surveyor general. This purchase covered nearly all the land S. of 27th street in the city of Brooklyn, and

Shortly after the rebellion broke out, he joined the 13th regiment of National Guards of Brooklyn, who at the time were stationed at Annapolis, Md., thence removed to Baltimore, and at the expiration of their three months' service, returned to Brooklyn. In the fall of the same year he accompanied his regiment to Suffolk, Va. Before the three months expired for which the regiment was engaged, he accepted a 1st Lieutenancy in the 131st Metropolitan regiment, of N. Y., which was mustered into service on the 9th of September, 1862, and shortly after sailed for Annapolis, Md., where they were detailed to guard some ten thousand paroled rebel soldiers. From thence with his regiment he accompanied Gen. Banks' expedition to La., and arrived at New Orleans on the 15th of December. They were engaged in the various expeditions of Gen. Banks' department at Baton Rouge, Donaldsonville, Brashear City, on the Teche, Franklin, Vermillion Bayou, Alexandria on the Red river, and Port Hudson. From the latter place, on its surrender, his regiment removed to Carrollton and Brashear City, and through nearly the whole of this campaign he was constantly exposed and always to be found where duty called him, acting as Adjutant. La Fourche military district. While employed on this duty his regiment was ordered north and sent to the Shenandoah valley, under the command of Gen. Sheridan. He was however detained by Gen. Cameron, who was in command of the La Fourche district as Assistant Inspector General, until Gen. Canby superseded Gen. Banks, who decided that this position should be filled by a line officer, and not by one of inferior rank. Gen. Cameron then appointed him Ordinance Officer, with his head-quarters at Thibadeaux, where he remained until ordered north to join his regiment in the Shenandoah valley; on which, after an absence of two years, he visited the home of his childhood, and on hearing of the battles of Sheridan, in which his regiment was engaged in the valley, he hurried off to join them, and participate in the laurels they were winning. While on his way he was detained at Harper's Ferry in assisting the movement to Sheridan of a provisional detachment of some twenty-two hundred men, of which on Col. Kitchen, (an old school-mate,) being appointed commander, he was appointed Ordinance Officer, a responsible position, in which, together with all the offices he held, he performed his duty faithfully and to the satisfaction of his superiors. In the Shenandoah valley he contracted a heavy cold, which fell on his lungs, producing consumption; the change from the warm climate of the south being too great for his system; on which on the 10th day of Dec., 1864, he obtained a furlough, and returned home to breathe his last among his sympathising friends.

EVERT BERGEN, b. 1717; d. Nov. 17th, 1776; m. Jane dau. of Dennise Hegeman.* In his younger days resided in New Lots, which at the time was in the boundaries of the town of Flatbush, probably with his grandfather, Evert Van Wicklen. Purchased in 1737, and settled on a tract of 140 acres of land at Roysfield, Hillsborough township, Somerset Co., N. J., three miles from Somerville. Also purchased a farm at Whitehouse, nine miles from Somerville. Brought a pear tree with him from Flatbush, to N. J., which tree bore fruit until 1861, over 120 years, when it was blown down during a violent hail storm.

There is a tradition among his descendants, that at the time of his settlement at Roysfield, among other animals he brought with him a colt; that after a time the colt was missing from the pasture field in which he was confined, probably from the insecurity of the imperfect fencing of a newly settled locality; and that the colt was found at his old home in Flatbush, to reach which the animal must have swam across the kills to Staten Island, and across the Narrows to Long Island, the route then usually traveled. They say the ferryman who carried over passengers, vehicles and animals in scows, had no knowledge of having carried back the colt, which course would have been

Was a farmer residing in the county of Middlesex, N. J., about five miles from Cranberry and six from Princeton, where he owned a large plantation and a family of negroes; he also owned two other farms in the same vicinity. In person he is said to have been nearly six feet in height, well proportioned, and generally in the enjoyment of good health; in his habits he was pious, engaging daily in family worship. One of his grandsons says, he recollects his Dutch horse whip of many strands, very elastic, its handle wrapped ornamentally with brass wire, which he carried between his knees and seldom used, but when he did it was always with effect and not soon forgotten. He was among the patriots serving with the Jersey blues in the militia in the war of the Revolution, and his insignia of office was a long staff with a spear and slender battle axe attached, which after the war he preserved and kept in the garret of his house. As in many other cases, his old papers, books and deeds were preserved for many years, but at length, being in the way of the wife of his youngest son, who by paying legacies became the inheritor of the homestead, they were thrown into an old barrel in the garret, and became the resort of such as wanted waste paper. After many years a suit was brought against the homestead, or a part thereof, on some alleged old claim, in which the plaintiff recovered, for the very deed which guarded against that claim was found pasted on the inside of a window curtain of flowered paper, and in its tattered form was useless as evidence.

Sixth Generation.

Descendants of JOHN B. BERGEN and Sarah Stryker, of near Cranberry, N. J. :—

GEORGE I. BERGEN, b. June 16th, 1764; d. Feb. 1825; m. 1789, Rebecca, dau. of Judge Jonathan Combs, of Mid-dlex Co., N. J. His widow two years after his decease m. the Rev. Mr. Kenner, a Baptist preacher from Virginia, and d. in 1846. He was near six feet in height, energetic, persevering, religious, and with his wife members of the church from early youth, training their children to serve their Creator. The ancestor of Jonathan Combs, it is said, came from Scotland, in the old ship Caledonia, which brought the first emigrants from the land of stern Presbyterianism; they seeking a home in the wild country from the intolerance of Papal and Episcopal power and persecution.

When George I. approached manhood, in consequence of his health not being considered good enough for a farmer, he taught school for several years. After he was married he became a country merchant, and established the first store at Hightstown, Mercer Co., N. J., two miles south of Cranberry and ten east of Princeton. Here he prospered for eight years, having no competitors. Then he rented his property at Hightstown for three years, and with his brother Abram, joined in the purchase of a farm two miles distant, on which were grist and saw mills, cider works and distillery, tan yards and store. To this place he expected to carry his customers with him, but he was disappointed, three new stores being started in Hightstown when he left. On the termination of his lease he sold out his interest in the farm and distilleries, and returned to his old location, but he never recovered his old stand point in trade. Consequently three years afterwards he sold out, and bought at Pluckermine, in Somerset Co., 18 miles west of New Brunswick, a farm of 70 acres, with good improvements and a capacious store. Here he carried on a large and prosperous business, several stores in the country around closed, and to prevent competition he set up another small store four miles distant. He dealt largely in pork and other produce, our country at the time supplying Napoleon's, and the other European, armies with food. Money was plenty and prices high. Down came the embargo in 1808, followed by the non-intercourse act; then in 1812 the war, and in 1815 the sudden peace, on which the whole country was flooded with British goods. The result was, that he, together with his son David, who at the time was a merchant in New Brunswick, with many others who were engaged in business, failed. To retrieve their misfortunes, George I., his son David, and two married sisters, with their families left New Jersey in June, 1818, for Kentucky, where his sister Margaret and her husband John Voorhees, and two sisters of his wife, Rebecca Combs, with their husbands, Peter Conover and Peter Cox, then resided; they having emigrated in 1790, to settle at Red Stone, near the present Wheeling, then the ultima thule. There they tarried less than a year. Peter Conover* and Peter Cox were among the first who made their boats and rafts to go down the Ohio river.

At the time George I. emigrated, they resided in Wood-* Peter Conover, was a s. of John Conover, said John being one of the sons of William Gerretse and Altie Brinckerhoff, a grandson of Gerret Wolphertse and Altie Cornelise Cool, and a great grandson of Wolfert Garretse Van Couwenhoven, the common ancestor of the family in this country, referred to in the foot notes under Catharine Bergen and Gerrit Couwenhoven, and Ann Bergen and George Kouwenhoven, descendants of Michael Hansen Bergen.

John Conover, s. of William Gerretse, was b. Sept. 9th, 1681. m. it is supposed Coba or Jacoba Vanderveer, and settled on a farm in Monmouth Co., N. J., in 1705, on which a Peter Conover now resides. John had children, William; who m. Sacha Lane, Cornelius, who m. Hannah ———, Peter, who m. Rebecca, dau. of Judge Jonathan Combs, John, Dominicus, who m. Mary Updike, and Gerrit, who m. 1st, Nelly Van Mater, and 2d, Ann, dau. of Peter Schanck. All of John's children settled at first at Penn's Neck, except Gerrit, and removed thence to Kentucky, and subsequently some of them to Illinois, Gerrit and his descendants remaining in New Jersey.

Peter, s. of John Conover and Jacob, finally settled in Illinois, and had children, Jonathan Combs who m. Sept. 16th, 1818, Martha, dau. of George D. Bergen; Mary Ann, who m. Dec. 1st, 1819, Jonathan Combs Bergen; and probably others.

ford County, Kentucky, within 12 miles of Lexington. Within a year these families intermarried. Old Major Conover was a large landholder and reputed to be rich, but in the troublesome times then in Kentucky, and by old Virginia land claims, the result was his castle fell, and he determined in 1824, to sell his homestead, and all his, and George I.'s family decided to make their home in Indiana. The old Major, his son Combs Conover, who had married Martha, a dau. of George I., and Jonathan Combs Bergen, (s. of George I.) who had married Mary Ann, a dau. of the Major, and George I., constituted the exploring party. They parched corn, ground it in their hand mills and mixed it with plenty of maple sugar, filled their saddle bags with it and other food, and set out on their expedition. They made a stand near where Indianapolis, the seat of government now is. One night, while they were around the fire, where they were making their claim, they were suddenly roused by the cry of "who's here,"—hoosier,—and from this has come the name of the Indianians—Hoosiers. The lone traveler on horseback spent the night with them. Said he, "what are you doing here?" "Making a claim for settlement." "Why will you do it in this towering forest, where the trees are so tall and thick on the ground that the sun can never penetrate to the earth; where before you can open a farm you will all be gray among the stumps, when by going 150 miles west you will find the most beautiful prairie land all ready for the plough?" Said one in reply, "we have heard of the Sangamy country, by the rangers from the Indian war, but we have heard it is very wet and sickly." "Go and see for yourselves. I have just come from there." The result was, that next morning they mounted their horses, and by their pocket compass steered due west, and in one year from that time, they and their families were settled on a beautiful prairie, about 30 miles west of Springfield, Illinois, which they named Jersey prairie. Such is a brief detail of the circumstances which led one branch of the Bergen family, as given by the Rev. John G. Bergen, son of George I., to the great west.

Seventh Generation.

Descendants of George I. BERGEN and Rebecca Combs, of Jersey Prairie, Illinois :

JOHN G. BERGEN, b. Nov. 27th, 1790, in N. J., m. Nov. 10th, 1812, Margaretta Matilda, dau. of Dr. Thomas Henderson, of Freehold, Monmouth Co., N. J., an elder and trustee of the old Tennent Church, in said county, and a Judge and member of Congress. She d. Oct. 18th, 1853.

In consequence of the pious instruction and example of both his parents, his early impressions were of a religious character, and in his 13th year, he became a member of the church. In the Academy at Baskingridge, under the care of the Rev. Dr. Finley, he was prepared for college, entered the junior class at Princeton, and graduated when but 17 years old. He immediately commenced studying for the ministry with the Rev. Dr. John Woodhull, of Monmouth Co., who, prior to the establishment of a Theological Seminary, had been appointed by the Synod of N. Y. and N. J., Professor of Theology, and had trained a large number of young Ministers ; and at the age of 20, he was licensed to preach the Gospel. It was his purpose, as soon as licensed, to mount a horse, and go to the West, which he had chosen as his field of labor; religion and the West having been early impressed on his mind, from letters which his parents had received from their sisters in Kentucky, giving an account of the wonderful revival of religion in all that region, about the year 1800. In the Spring of 1810, he was appointed one of the Tutors of Princeton College, which position, although at first declining, he was finally, on the solicitation of Dr. Stanhope Smith, and other friends, induced to accept, and which he held for two and one-half years, the two last as senior Tutor.

In September, 1812, he resigned the Tutorship, and in October accepted a call as Pastor of the Church of Madison, Morris Co., N. J., about 20 miles from the City of N. Y. and took charge on the 1st of Dec., having married Miss Henderson in Nov. This church, during his ministry, was blessed with several revivals, on one occasion as many as 69 members being added to the communion in one day. In 1817, a revival, with a lesser ingathering, took place. In 1821-2 a great revival took place in East Jersey, commencing with the church at Madison, continuing for more than 15 months, in which more than 100 communicants were added to his church. In 1826, twenty-six were added. In 1828, his parents being on a visit to him from the West, he concluded that his work in the East was about completed, and that a door was opened for him in the West, to which place his early aspirations had been directed. On the 10th of September, 1828, he resigned his charge, and on the 22d, with his parents and family, started on wheels for his new destination. They traveled some 1,500 miles, averaging 33 miles a day, deviating from the nearest route to visit Lexington and Frankfort, in Kentucky, and arrived in Illinois in Nov ; Springfield, in Sangamon Co., being the end of their journey. Springfield, at the time, was composed of about 35 log cabins and two or three small frame houses, without a place of Divine worship other than a log school house, just built. At the time there were no churches in those regions, except those built of logs, like the cabins everybody lived in, only larger and generally rougher, some with the bark on, and others hewed. All were covered with what are now called clap-boards; these boards were kept on the roof, not with nails, for these were very scarce and expensive, but with weight poles, and these were separated from each other by knees, as they were called. The floors were laid of puncheons, being logs split, and of the same the seats were made: these were supported by wooden legs in augur holes. On the second Sabbath after his arrival, he gave notice to the people that he came to Springfield, not to make an experiment, or to tarry a few months, as had been often done by others, but to live, labor and die on the field with his armor on: he said, "come, let us rise up and build a house for God." A meeting was held, a building committee organized, funds raised, and ere long was built and dedicated the first frame or brick meeting house in the State, known as the Sangamon Church; the Methodists of Springfield, who had been aroused by his exertions, completing one a few weeks later. When he came to the town there were but 6 members of the Presbyterian Church in it: during his ministry about 500 were added to his church, about one-half on confession of faith, and the balance on certificate from other churches. At the time it was the only Presbyterian Church in the County, some of the members living 40 miles apart. Out of it he has since organized six other Presbyterian Churches, two of them in the City, colonies from the first, the others in the surrounding country. At the time he commenced laboring in the State, there were but seven Presbyterian ministers in it, he making the eighth, and now, 1865, the only survivor. He helped form the first Presbytery, and afterwards the first Synod in the State, and was the first Moderator of the same. At that time there were only 25 Presbyterian Churches in the State, and no Congregational or New School ones, although numerous Methodist, Baptist, Cambelite, Cumberland, &c. Now there are in connection with the Old School Presbyterian General Assembly, two Synods and twelve Presbyteries, embracing nearly 200 ministers, and about 250 churches, the New School Presbyterians having about the same number, and the same may be said of the Congregationalists. What an amazing progress in 33 years! from 8 ministers to 400; from 25 to 700 churches, other denominations advancing in proportion. At the time, Illinois had but 150,000 inhabitants; now it has 1,750,000. Springfield, from being a log house town, has become a stately city of 12,000 people, having many fine churches and buildings, and one private mansion which cost about $200,000. It is the seat of government, having a magnificent State House, built of hard stone of various colors, quarried about six miles south of the place. In 1848 he resigned his pastoral charge, and retired from the city to his farm in the vicinity, from which time he has devoted himself gratuitously to writing, mostly for religious periodicals, endeavoring to preach the gospel to the tens of thousands by the press; also to organize new churches, occasionally preaching in them. Many of his articles are over the sobriquet of "The Old Man of the Prairies." In 1854, without solicitation or knowledge on his part, the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred on him by the College of Danville, Kentucky. His wife having died in Oct., 1853, in Nov., 1857, he married, as a second wife, Susan Ann Lewis, widow of Henry Vanhof, who had been an elder in his church, and for whom he had performed the marriage ceremony 20 years before, she being a native of Baskingridge, N. J. In 1853, he was brought to death's door by dysentery, the same disease which removed his first wife, but since his recovery his system has been renovated; he weighs 50 pounds more than when he resigned his charge, and his ability to endure fatigue, study, and preaching, is now, 1862, greater than it then was.*

Intending to enter the gospel ministry, he commenced his preparatory studies for that purpose, but in consequence of the family removing west, the design was frustrated. Was at first a farmer in Illinois, then a merchant, afterwards a successful land speculator, so that in 1837, he was reputed to be wealthy, but the sudden crash of that period swept away all his property like dew before the morning sun. From that time until his death, he devoted himself to the work which his conscience had so often upbraided him for forsaking, and was intent upon redeeming the lost time, if it were possible. As an agent of the Bible and Tract Societies, he visited from house to house throughout the state of Illinois, carrying with him the word of God, and many, very many, can testify to the good work wrought within them through his instrumentality. His last sickness of sixteen weeks was characterised by a christian fortitude and patience seldom exhibited by mortal man. The influence exerted upon his neighbors and friends during that period, will never, while they survive, be forgotten.

The following article in relation to Susan Olive Bergen, written by the Rev. John G. Bergen, was published in the St. Louis Presbyterian, together with the accompanying stanzas, composed by her a short time before her last sickness:

"Hope in Death."

"Having just returned from visiting some of our feeble churches and desolate places; having had the privilege of preaching to the destitute, holding prayer meetings, communion seasons, and Sunday school enjoyments; having especially visited many of the grand children and other relics of my departed venerable friend, John Moore, on whom the sweet savor of his spirit and prayers rests with an unction blessed and blessing to the praise of our covenant-keeping God; and having found the following touching incident and stanzas in a young family composed of his household and mine, I send them to you, hoping that these tender mementos of God's grace—this conjugal effusion of a young wife and mother's calm, peaceful and Heavenly desires, counsels, suggestions and anticipations, may alleviate some drooping spirit—point some wanderer to a better world—soothe some aching heart—encourage some child of affliction to look up—some earth-bound soul to come away from fashion and form to a throne of grace to receive the spirit of adoption, and to breathe the life of Christ in the soul amidst bodily agonies, present or to come. These children of God had been wedded two years—to them short years and full of promise. Blooming in youth and health, in the midst of a large circle of relatives and friends, their home beautified by the family altar, enlightened by the lamp of Heaven, resounding with the songs of redeeming love, gave them their sweetest seasons of communion at the throne of grace with the light of His countenance and the joy of His salvation.

“The last four months of her life—apparently without a cause other than her delicate condition—were months in which she felt and allowed the presentiment that she would not survive to be a living mother. Her spirits meantime were cheerful, but her conversation savored of the presentiment she indulged. I cannot but think wrongfully—though with a “lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead.” She survived the event, in which she was greatly sustained but a few days, and sweetly fell asleep in Jesus, leaving a living pledge of love to tender hearts and willing hands. A few days after her burial the following stanzas—full of tenderness and delicacy, as if touched by an angel’s wing—were found in her escritoir. So far as we know they are original. Be it so or not, unless I am much mistaken, they will move the feelings of every reader to kindlier, holier sentiments, by their vein of generous nature, grace and wisdom, and well deserve a place in every heart, therefore I send them.

"Come near me, let me lay my hand
Once more upon thy brow—
And let me whisper in thy ear
Loves last and fondest vow.

"Perchance the hour may come,
When thou wilt win another form
To soothe thy heart and home,
When thou wilt welcome to thy board,
A younger, fairer face—
And bid thy child smile on her
Who takes its mother's place.

"But, think not, could I speak to thee,
That I would frown or blame
That it should love the stranger one,
And call her by my name,
For it may speak to thee of me—
My memory is its trust,
A word, a smile, a look like mine
Will call me from the dust.

"Yet make my grave no place of tears,
But let the dear one bring,
To cheer its mother's lonely home
The blossoms of the spring;
And ever there, thou mayest kneel,
And softly press the earth,
That covers her whose face once gave
A brightness to thy hearth.

"Then will the form of early years
Steal softly to thy side,
And for the hour thou canst forget
Thou hast another bride.
She may be all thy heart canst ask,
So dear, so true to thee!
But oh! the spring time of love!
Its freshness was for me."

May she be blessed who comforts thee,
And with a gentle hand
Of such there be, the trembling one
That would make a household band ;
She cannot know the tenderness
That would fill its mother's breast,
But she can love it for thy sake,
And make it more than blessed.

Yet keep one place, one little place,
From all the rest apart—
One spot—which I will call a home
Within thy faithful heart—
And in the holy hour of dreams,
When spirits fill the air—
With tender eye and folded wing
I'll gently rest me there.

May God forgive this erring love
That is to mortals given ;
It almost moves my soul back
From happiness and Heaven.
And yet I feel it will not die
When this frail life is o'er,
But watch till my loved ones come
To meet to part no more."

of Joris Janse de Rapalie, b. Nov. 4th, 1687.

Owned and resided on a portion of his grandfather Lubbertse's patent, in South Brooklyn, his land extending to the head of Frecke's mill pond, and amounting to about 200 acres. He also purchased, Feb. 9th, 1713, of Aert Aersen Middagh, an undivided half of the mill and premises thereto attached, since known as Remsen's mill, at the Wallabout, on lands at present occupied by the U.
S. Navy Yard. This mill was built by Middagh in 1710, on lands probably originally patented to Jan Haes; a natural pond in the marsh, requiring a short dam, affording the necessary facilities. Jan. 28th, 1722-3, Hans Jacobse conveyed his interest in these premises to Cornelius Evertse.

On the census of Brooklyn, in 1738, his family is entered as consisting of two white males above 10, two white males under 10, and three white females above 10 years of age. In 1730, he was one of the Commissioners of common lands of Brooklyn, his associates being Hans Machielse Bergen and John Rapalje.

His will is dated Sept. 11th, 1743, and proved March 12th, 1749, in which he devises to his eldest son Jacob £25; to his wife Sarah the use of his personal and real estate during life; after the decease of his wife, one fifth of his estate to his son Jacob, one-fifth to his dau. Antie, wife of Garret Cowenhoven, one-fifth to his dau. Elsje, wife of Rem Remsen, one-fifth to his dau. Catelyste, wife of Michael Bergen, and one-fifth to his dau. Sarah Bergen.

The following copy of an original paper* in the archives of the N. Y. Historical Society presented by Peter A. Jay, gives some curious information in relation to the localities occupied by Jacob Hanse and Jores Hanse, (two sons of Hans Hansen Bergen,) and by their descendants. The paper is endorsed :

"ISRAEL HORSEFIELD, ads. ON D. OF HANS BERGEN.	}	Copy of what witnesses          can say."

Also endorsed in hand writing of Gov. John Jay, "see Remson's Evid. respecting Nutten's Island." Underneath is the following endorsement by Peter A. Jay : "The first two pages of these notes, are I believe in the hand writing of John Chambers, an eminent counsel, afterwards Judge of the Supreme Court of the Colony—the note on the margin is in the writing of John Jay, his nephew and executor of his widow.

* A copy of this paper is published in Valentine's Manual of the city of N. Y., of 1849, in which on a careful comparison with the original, a few errors were found.

The trial appears to have taken place in 1741, but no records have been seen throwing light upon its results.

“Gerrit Dortland says he is 86 years of age. Was born at the ferry, and lived after at Brookland; knew Frederick Lubbert's land since a boy, says that he knew where Frederick Lubbertse lived, which is S. Westward of Sebring's mill,* and it was commonly esteemed that Frederick Lubbertse's line was near to his house. Remember Joost Francey in possession of land that George Bergen and Israel now have; fences went to the creek, about sixty years since he knew them; has now seen the fences and think they stand as then. Remembers Jan Evertse Bout in possession of Bevois land, was a man of 75, and married a girl of 16. Says he help't him to make his fences; work't there two years and fences stood as now, was then about 23 years old; never then heard that Frederick Lubbertse made any pretension to these lands nor any for his right till now.

“Maritie Bevois says is aged 84 years, near 85, was born in New York; it's last May 63 years since she came to live at Brookland; knew Frederick Lubbertse lived where Hans Bergen now lives. Remembers was going to the place where Brewer's mill† is now from Brookland by the house of Lubbertse and saw many little hills in the way from the house to the mill along the neck and enquired what the hills were, and was answered by them with her that it was the Indian corn land; knows where Mauchonell lived a little below Tommeties; knew the land of George Bergen to have belonged to Maritie Gerritse, or Ex. She let it to Israel Francey (Maratie Ex.) lived at

* This is evidently an error, Lubbertse's house being south-eastward from Sebring's mill, and north northwest of Freek's mill pond, formerly Brower's, at the head of a small creek, and near the junction of the present Hoyt and Warren streets.

† Brower's Mill.

New York. She remembers Francey on it about 60 years ago, that Francey lived on it till Maratie sold it to George Hanse, father of George Bergen. Remembers it to be always in fence, and that the fences stood as they now stand and the same of the other lotts; has lived at Brookland ever since she removed from York as before.

"Heard Jeromus Remsen's mother say, that there was only a small creek between Nutton Island and the shoar, and that a squah carried her sister over it in a tub; that that sister was the first born in this country.*

"Says that George Bergen's half-sister† lived at Bevois place on rent, and had a mind to buy Maratie's Ex. place but was disappointed, and complaining of it with tears said it was her brother Jacob Hanse Bergen and brother Michael that were the cause of Jorey's buying it and disappointing her.

"Joost Van Brunt, aged 77 years and upwards, born and lived at New Utrecht, says when he was about nine years old, when the Dutch came to take New York, he came with his father, mother and brothers in a wagon down the hollow near Tommeties, and they said that the other side of the hollow was Fred Lubbertse's land. Says that a great deal of the land is wash't away against Nutton Island, and it went farther out than now, but can't say how much. Remember to have seen meadow before Sebring's house, but how far out he knows not; has seen the fences at Bergen's and does not remember to have seen them

*Jeromus Remson's mother was Jannetie, dau. of Joris Jansen de Rapalie; her sister Sarah, who m. successively, Hans Hansen Bergen and Tunis Gysbert Bogaart, was the eldest child of Joris Jansen de Rapalie, and reputed to be the first born of Europeans in the country, in which respect the testimony of the witness agrees with what is generally admitted. According to this witness, Sarah was the one carried over in a tub.

otherwise than as now. That he was an arbitrator about dividing the land between Sebring and Bergen about 14 or 15 years ago, and that there was no pretence that lands in question were part or that they claimed any right there.

“Jeromus Remsen, aged 77 years, was born about Brookland, and lived all his days there. Knew Frederick Lubbertse lived where Hans Bergen now—but had little acquaintance with him—remembers about 55 years ago, that Jacob Hans Bergen, father of Lessor, lived at Lubbertse’s place, that he came to this depon’t to get a pr. of shoes made, that then he told the depon’t he had been at York with Maratie Gerretse to ask if she would sell her place, and that she had said she would, and said that he was going to his brother George Hansen, at Flatbush, to get him to buy it; that George Hansen bought it soon after and lived there; that he was there a long time before the date of the deed; that deed was only given at last paym’t;* that the year depon’t was married, which was 1688, the said Joris Hanse, being a carpenter, agreed to do a job of work for depon’t, if depon’t would plow for him, and that depon’t did plow for him the very land now in question, close up to the meadows, that it was then in fence and fences stand now in the very place they were then. Never heard of any pretence, and says that if he had any he would not have gone to advise his brother; says that he turned his plow ag’t the fence of the land of Bevois, and that fences stood then as now so far as he thinks. Says that he has heard his mother say she was carried off Nutten Island by a Squah, and that it was all sedge and meadow, only a creek between Nutten Island and Long Island; his mother’s sister was first born in this country;

* The deed is dated Sept. 13th, 1698.

its now 116 or 117 years since she was born ;* his mother was four years younger ; he heard often from other people that there was but a small creek between Nutten and Long Island.†

“ Abraham Lott, aged 57, remembers between 30 and 40 years that fences stand at George Bergen's as now ; says was an arbitrator ; was shown then the will of Fred. Lubbertse, who devised to his own two daughters each one plantation as then in fence, and to his wife's two sons‡ other lotts ; seems pretty sure the words were as then in fence ; heard no discourse of any claim of neighbour's land out of fence.

“ Peter Stryker, aged 44, says that being on a jury of view about 6 or 7 years ago, Jacob Hanse, father of Hanse Bergen, said at his house on talking of Worpus, there's Worpus,§ pointing with his finger thro' his window to the head of the creek by his garden ; remembers about 30 years the land in fence as now and no claim till within this year or two.

* From this testimony it appears that Jannatie, dan, of Joris Jansen de Rapalie, who m. Rem Vanderbeck, the common ancestor of the Remsens and the mother of Jeromus, was also carried from Nutten (now Governor's) Island to Long Island, by a squaw ; that her sister (Sarah) was born about 1625, which agrees with the recorded date of her birth. Quere: from the witnesses reference to his mother's sister Sarah, might it not be inferred that he intended to be understood that Sarah, and not his mother Jannetie, was the one carried over, as previously testified to by Maratie Bevoise, and that the tradition referred to the same person.

† On the margin against this paragraph, is the following in the hand writing of John Jay: “his mother carr'd from Nutten to Long Island by a squaw. Sworn 1741, at ye Tryal.”

‡ These were Cornelius Corssen and Peter Corssen, children of Tryntje Hendricks, the wife of Frederick Lubbertse, by Cornelius Peterson Vroom, her first husband.

§ “Warpoes” was a term bestowed on an eminence in the vicinity of the present Chatham square, situated near the small lake or pond called the Kolck, in the city of New York, and was probably the site of an Indian village. This term is stated by Schoolcraft to be apparently a derivation from Wawbosc, a hare. The “Worpus” pointed out by Jacob Hanse, may also have been the site of an Indian village, a large Indian burying ground being located in the vicinity, where remains were exhumed a few years ago in leveling the ground for city purposes ; and besides Indian maize lands are referred to in that region in the early patents.

"Peter Winans, aged 79, born at Bedford, and about 8 or ten years old when he came to live at Brookland; knows the land in dispute upwards of sixty years ago, and believes the fences stand now much as they did then; ab't 40 or 45 years ago he went to live at Staten Island; he remembers Nicholas Baker,* who was husband of Maritie Gerretsen, first lived upon the land of George Bergen, and the witness's father and Joost France hired it of Maritie Gerretsen, or her husband, and his father left it to Joost France. He remembers Jan Evertse Bout, who lived upon the land sold by Carel De Bevoise to Israel, above 60 years ago; he knew Fred Lubbertse, and never heard he made any pretense on any of their lotts. Knew old George Hanse Bergen, father of the present George, in possession of the premises above 40 or 45 years ago, when France's time was out, and he was often in the house.

"Benjamin Van Dewater, aged 71 years, said he knew Jan Evertse Bout the son of the patentee; that he had heard and understood that the father was owner of both the place of Bergen† and Debevois, that he made a will and died before his son was born; that 63 years ago he remembers Annetje Pieterse, widow of Jan Evertse Bout the elder,‡ in possession of the land of Carel Debevoise; they lived on it about 12 years and then let it out."

† The deed from Maritie Gerretse to Jores Bergen, in addition to the plantation patented by Kieft to Garret Wolpherste Couwenhoven, covers the one half of the neck of land butting against Gowanus creek, patented to Jan Evertse Bout.

‡ Annatje Pietersen or Para, after the death of Jan Evertse Bout the elder, her first husband. m. Andries Janse Jurianse, by whom among probably others she had a son Jurian Andriesse. She then m. Jan Janse Staats, who owned and resided on the farm late of Adrianse Van Brunt, at Gowanus. Jan Evertse Bout the elder, obtained July 6th, 1645, from Gov. Kieft, a patent for land at Marechikawick, (Brooklyn,) on the kill of Gowanus, bounded easterly by land of Huyck Aertsen, (Van Rossum,) westerly by land of Gerret Wolpherste, (Van Couwenhoven,) containing including the meadows, together with the place of Jacob Stoffelsen, 28

The tradition as given by these witnesses that Nutten or Governor's Island and Long Island were so closely connected at the time of the early settlement of the country, is doubted by many intelligent persons, and there is nothing in the early maps of the vicinity favoring its accuracy.* Old traditions on being compared with the documentary evidence of the time, are found to be very unreliable. No docks until about the period of this trial were built east of Wall street, that could have the least effect in diverting the currents of the East river towards Buttermilk channel.† It is well known to residents in the bay morgens and 270 rods, for which a confirmatory patent was granted, Feb. 14th, 1667, by Gov. Nicolls. This patent, in addition to the land on the north side of Gowanus Creek, apparently covered a tract south of said creek on which was located Brower's mills, since of Freecke and Denton, that of Freecke being known as the old Gowanus mill, having been erected prior to 1661. This will, according to the affidavits of Jan Cornelisse Buys and Dirk Jansen, of Sept. 12th, 1698, (see Lib. 2 of con. p. 179, K. C. Reg. off.) in 1667 Bout gave "the corn and meadows and place whereon the mill is grounded," to the children of Adam Brower. By a recital in a deed dated April 30th, 1707, of Sybrant Brower to Abram and Nicholas Brower, (see Lib. 3 of con. p. 201, K. C. Reg. off.) it appears that a conveyance had been executed by the heirs of Jan Evertse Bout and "Tunis Nuyse," (Denyse,) to Adam Brower, their ancestor, for the neck of land on which the mill was located. March 1st, 1695, Anntie Para, widow of Jan Evertse Bout, Sen., and of Andries Janse Juriance, and now wife of Jan Janse Staats, who appears to have been in possession of the land north of the creek, for £150, conveys the same to Jurian Andriesse, her son, bounding said land as lying on the south side of the Kings highway, on the west side of Machiell Hansen (Bergen,) and on the east side of Jores Hansen (Bergen,) and Lambert Andriesse, the latter probably also her son. Feb. 19th, 1707-8, Jurian Andriesse for £400, conveyed the above premises, giving the quantity as 27 morgen, more or less, to Carell Debevois. Debevois afterwards conveyed to Israel Horsefield, who appears to have been in possession at the time of the lawsuit. It may be that the Evertse's who a few years ago owned land and resided west of Fulton ferry, were descendants of Jan Evertse Bout, Jun., having dropped the surname of Bout and retained that of Evertse, Evarts or Eyeret.

* See map in Van der Donck's "Description of New Netherland," printed in 1655, a copy of which may found in the Hon. Henry C. Murphy's translation of the "Vertoogh of New Netherland and Breeden Raedt," printed N. Y., in 1854, in which Governor's Island appears to be as distant from Long Island as on modern maps.

† One writer quaintly supposes this name to have been derived from this channel having been the passage through which the wives and daughters of the residents of Gowanus wended their way in their canoes or row boats loaded with buttermilk to the market of New Amsterdam. In these early days most of the citizens or burghers of New Amsterdam, as in

of New York, that the loss by abrasion on its shores is caused mainly by the waves during storms and high tides, and very little, if any, by the ordinary currents. The theory advanced by some, that the docks of the city changed the current so as to sweep away the intervening meadows and form a fordable creek from a deep, wide and navigable strait, does not appear to be very tenable.

other new and sparsely populated cities, probably kept cattle of their own, leaving little demand for outside milk. The name was most probably derived (and of this there can be little doubt,) from the abundant white froth or foam on the water in a part of the channel, produced by the ripple caused by the meeting of the tide of that portion of the East river which passes through said channel, with the tide of the North river. Hence also from the spray and white color of the water, the name of Buttermilk falls on the Hudson, near West Point.

* Claes Arentse Van Vechten, with his wife Lammetje, 3 children and a boy, emigrated from Norch or Nora a community in the province of Drenthe, Holland, in the ship Bonticoe, (spotted cow,) arrived in New Netherlands in April, 1660, settled, as near as can be ascertained, in the Eighth ward of Brooklyn, on the farm late of Adrian and Jaques Cortelyou, extending from 1st to 5th streets, and erected in 1699, the old stone house known as the Vechte or Cortelyou mansion. His children were Hendrick Claesz, of Brooklyn, who m. Oct. 10th, 1680, Garretje Reiniers Wizzel-penning, and Gerrit Claesz, of Staten Island, who m. Corson and Company, which plot he had recently purchased of Hendrick Kroesen and others.* On the Richmond county records his name is written "Frederick Berge." About this period farmers were in the habit of turning out their cattle on the commons for pasturage, each owner having a distinctive mark, which was recorded on the public records. March 5th, 1740, on the county records of Richmond Co., it is recorded of "Frederick Berge," that "the ear mark of his horse kind, cattle, sheep, &c., is a swallow tail at the end of the right ear, and a half moon or half circle in the upper part of the left ear."

In 1715, he was a private in Capt. David Aersen's company of Brooklyn; in 1738, a Lieutenant of militia in Richmond Co., and in 1727 and 1728, a deacon in the Reformed Dutch church on the north side of Staten Island. From Richmond Co. he removed to Somerset Co., N. J., where he owned and cultivated a farm and died, his will being dated May 28th, 1757, proved Nov. 22d, 1762, and recorded in the office of the Secretary of State of N. J., in which he devises his farm to his son Jacob.

Fourth Generation.

Descendents of HANSE JACOBSE BERGEN and Sara Rapalie, of Brooklyn, N. Y.:—

JACOB BERGEN, bap. Dec. 12th, 1708; d. about 1767; m. Antie ———. Resided on and owned a portion, if not the whole, of his father's farm, in Brooklyn, probably occupying the old dwelling house of his ancestor, Frederick Lubbertse, located near the junction of Hoyt and Warren streets.

On the census list of the residents of Brooklyn, in 1838, his family is entered as consisting of two white males above 10, two white females above 10, one white female under 10, one black male above 10, and one black female above 10 years of age.

Oct. 8th, 1742,* among other residents of Brooklyn, he signed a deed relating to the parsonage of the Reformed Dutch church, located in Flatbush. April 7th, 1750,† Jacob Bergen and Rem Remsen, Jun., conveyed to John Rapalie a right of way over their lands in Brooklyn.

lyn, being the premises afterwards conveyed by Rapalje to Robert Stoddart, and by the latter, Dec. 21st, 1799, (except a portion previously conveyed to Coles,) to Jacob, s. of Hans Bergen and Catryntie, located in the vicinity of Court street and Gowanus Creek, and designated on Butts' map as land of Jacob Bergen and Jorden Coles.

April 30th, 1750, Sarah, (wid. of Hans Jacobse Bergen,) Jacob Bergen, Gerret and Antie Couwenhoven, Rem Remsen, Rem Remsen, Jr., and Sara Remsen, signed a bill of sale for a negro boy named Tyte, aged about 19, to Michael Bergen, which boy formerly belonged to Hans Jacobse Bergen. March 7th, 1755, (decd not recorded,) Jacob Bergen and Antie, his wife, of the Wallabout, conveyed to Martin Ryerse, 150 acres of land situate at the Wallabout, bound W. by land of John Ryerse, S. by land of Cornelius Vanderhoven and the King's highway or road leading from the ferry to Jamaica, and E. by land of Jeronimus Rapelje, Harman Andriesen and Jacobus Leferts. These premises have since been known as the John Ryerson farm, and probably were inherited either by Sara Rapalje, Jacob Bergen's mother, or by Antie his wife.

His will is dated Sept. 10th, 1766, and proved April 25th, 1767,* In it he bequethes his estate, real and personal, in "Brookland" and in the town of Brookhaven, Suffolk Co., to his wife Antie, during widowhood; on her decease or re-marriage, his Brookland lands to his grand son Rutgert Van Brunt, subject to a legacy of £12 per annum to his dau. Sarah, the mother of said Rutgert, now the wife of Thomas Roberson; his Brookhaven lands to his grandson Jacob Van Brunt, subject to a similar legacy of £12 per annum to his dau. Sarah; to his grandson Thomas Roberson, a minor, £400; his grand dau. Sarah Roberson, a minor, £400; and appoints his wife Antie, brother-in-law Michiel Bergen, cousin John Van Horn, and friend Johannes Bergen, executors.

It is probable that Jacob Bergen during his lifetime, (although the deeds have not been seen,) sold other portions of his patrimonial estate, and that he purchased a portion of Gerret Wolphertse Van Couwenhoven's patent, (since of George Bergen, and afterwards of Horsfield,) and a portion of Jan Evertse Bout's patent, (since of Debevoise, and afterwards of Horsfield,) said purchased lands lying between the northerly portion of his patrimonial estate and those of Van Rossum's patent, (once of Michael Hanse Bergen and late of Powers.) This probability is founded on the fact that the Van Brunts, the descendants of his dau. Sarah, owned said portions of Van Couwenhoven's and Bout's patents, and that they resided in the ancient dwelling house located on the Bout patent, which the spirit of improvement, caused by the spread of the city, some 20 years ago swept out of existence.

HENDRICK BERGEN; d. 1816; m. Mary or Polly Cowenhoven dau. of Peter, sister of Joost or Joseph and Nicholas, of New Jersey, and cousin of Johannes Couwenhoven, of New Utrecht. Owned and resided on, at first, a farm within about one mile of New Brunswick. Afterwards owned and resided on a farm at Hillsborough, near Somerville, N. J., where he died. Will dated Dec. 17th, 1815, and that of his wife in 1826.

He owned a number of slaves on whom, probably in consequence of having no children of his own, his and the affections of his wife, were entwined. Negroes are known to be proverbially fond of poultry, and from this infirmity his were not exempt. They were in the habit of pilfering hen roosts, and when the stock of their master failed would depredate on that of the neighbors. For this they were frequently arrested, and being tried before a Justice of the Peace, sentenced to the whipping post, the punishment at that time usually inflicted for petit larceny. In these cases uncle Hendrick, as he was styled, would make feeling appeals in their behalf, and submit to paying fines to screen his negroes from punishment, and when this failed would be moved to shed tears to serve them.

No issue.

CHARITY BERGEN; d. 1822; m. Abraham Quick, a widower, a Colonel in the Revolutionary war, who d. in 1805, and who owned and cultivated about 500 acres of land at Ten Mile Run, N. J., on which some of his descendants now reside. Charity was born to command and did command up to the time of her death, she managing and giving all directions for the farm, of which she was left in possession, after the death of her husband. They had 14 slaves, and amongst her peculiarities, as related by one of her descendants, was her taking her stand morning, noon and night, in the door leading from the family room to the kitchen, with a well filled flask of apple whiskey or apple jack in her hand, when the slaves coming in for their meals would be called by name, beginning with the oldest, and each be allowed to take a good stiff dram of the raw stuff, and then retire from the door, hat in hand, with a "dank gij vrow," or, thank you Missus.

The custom of giving drams to their negroes was quite common among the descendants of the early settlers a half century ago. The author well recollects an amusing incident which occurred in the old homestead in his younger days, at the time when his grandmother was in command. Among the negroes employed on the farm was a freedman named Tite, who, whenever he wanted a dram, would project his head through the doorway into the dwelling room, catch the eye of the old lady, and without uttering a word commence rubbing his lips with his finger. She, understanding the pantomime, would take from the closet the bottle and give the darkey his dose. On one occasion, by mistake, she filled the glass with spirits of turpentine, which Tite in his haste took down in one swallow, when instead of "thank you Missus," the burning sensation he experienced, caused him to exclaim with rolling and extended eyes, "O, Missus, what have I taken? what have I taken? I will die, I will die!" Death, however, did not ensue, the ostrich-like stomach of the negro disposing of the burning fluid without injuring the patient.

On this he became a member of said church, with which he has been connected ever since, with the exception of a short period when connected with the Congregational church. At the age of 21, he commenced study with a view to the gospel ministry, at Kingsborough, N. Y., and in the fall of 1836, entered William's College, Mass., graduated in 1840, after which studied Theology at Princeton, N.

J., and in the spring of 1841, was licensed to preach. In Oct., 1841, after his marriage with Miss Mary H. Badger, of Boston, Mass., he came to northern Illinois as a missionary of the A. H. M. Society, and in January, 1842, was advanced to the gospel ministry at Elgin, in said state, by the Fox River Union, since which he has labored in various places in northern Illinois, residing at present in Galesburg.
