INTRODUCTION.

DEAR KINDRED:—

To compile our family record of ten generations, covering two hundred and fifty years, finding you in almost every state, from Maine to Oregon, was a work the magnitude of which we had no conception. But once begun, with no open door of escape, we have toiled on, writing hundreds of letters, calling upon many in your homes, searching town records, looking over old family Bibles—would there were more!—and now give you in this imperfect work the result of our years' labor. We say imperfect, because you will find errors, although we have contributed largely to the government revenue to harmonize conflicting dates, and have been careful as possible in the effort to make each record exact and complete.

We would here recognize the kindness of a few (without ignoring others) who have promptly and gladly assisted us in gathering data; for without their help many names would be followed by "no report," where now the complete family history is preserved for all time.

Kinsfolk of Deliverance<sup>s</sup> will appreciate assistance of Cousin Lucinda<sup>7</sup>, from her prairie home in South Dakota, who has passed the allotted "threescore and ten." Louisa, wife of Theodore<sup>7</sup> of Cleveland, O., has contributed much information. Descendants of Ebenezer<sup>3</sup> will ever owe gratitude to their family historian, Elisha Burt<sup>7</sup>, who has lived most of his life on the old homestead in Belchertown. (See picture, page 84.) Always interested in everything pertaining to our name, he gives from his storehouse of knowledge much for the benefit of all. We also gladly acknowledge the receipt of data from Mrs. William Eustice<sup>s</sup> regarding the generations of to-day. Children of Orlando<sup>s</sup> are greatly indebted to Julia<sup>7</sup>, daughter of Adna<sup>6</sup>—Mrs. Edward Palmer of Elmira, N. Y.—who has done much, and at great sacrifice, writing scores of letters, gathering facts we could have obtained from no other source. Many other fair cousins have aided us, and they will each accept our personal thanks. But kinsfolk of Isaac<sup>3</sup>, and all others as well, should lift their hats in gratitude to Christopher Columbus<sup>7</sup> of Vermillion, South Dakota, who has done royal service in welding links of this incomplete chain: for, scenting a trail on farms in the East, or prairies of the West, among or beyond the Rockies, or in the sunny South, he followed it till he could return bringing results with him.

And in giving credit where credit is due for so much indefatigable labor, remember, this work originated with Burt Nichols<sup>s</sup> (page 42), who laid it aside in 1886 that he might prepare himself for a service promising greater reward. So send to him and his your blessing, as in their far-away home in Africa they strive to redeem the Dark Continent. We express regret and surprise that a few, who must have received repeated letters of inquiry, made no response; that they are so indifferent to a work in which they, their children and generations to come, should have lasting interest. We therefore make no apology for their unfinished page; the fault is with them.

In correspondence some of our kin take us to task for omitting the "e" in "Bridge." To such we quote Scripture: "Let every man be fully persuaded in his own mind." But as for ourselves, the shorter the bridge the safer. In the petition* signed by two brothers (see page 114) we find John<sup>t</sup> adds the "e," while Orlando<sup>t</sup> does not. Yet most (not all) of the Orlando branch use it, with a very few of Isaac's descendants; while none of the Deliverance or Ebenezer families spell the name any longer than is necessary.

We are asked if the chain could not be perfected by establishing the link between James<sup>1</sup> and his ancestry. Replies to letters sent, making inquiries that might lead to such a result have failed us, and while we have visited Hantz county, England, at that time, unfortunately, the genealogical fever was not raging, and we ignored town records and family Bibles, and simply looked about the villages with feelings akin to those of Mark Twain when he stood by the grave of his ancestor, Adam, and wept. Should good fortune ever again take us across the sea, record-searching will take the place of sight-seeing, until we can show blood relation to our English cousins.

And now we lay aside the pen. Judging by the growing interest in family records, we presume from the yet unborn, another Joseph will arise who may see enough in this history to take up the work where we leave it, correct our errors, and give to his day and generation a new and revised edition of the Bridgman Genealogy.

INTRODUCTION.

And for his use we suggest:—Note any errors found in this edition, or additional information concerning any one who has been in public or government service, forward it to us, and it shall be carefully preserved with the printers' "copy," to be of use in any new edition which may be published.

SYNOPSIS.

James Bridgman, probably from Winchester, County Hants, England, came to America about 1640, living first in Hartford, Ct., then in Springfield, Mass., finally settling in Northampton, Mass., which became our family home.

For convenience this work is divided into five parts, as follows:—

I. The Colonial Family (page 9), including JAMES, his children and his grandchildren, and covering the period from 1640 to about 1770. With four of his grandsons, all born in Northampton, comes the beginning of four branches of the family, which are as follows:—

II. The Northampton Branch (page 25). Descendants of the oldest grandson, DELIVERANCE, who was born in 1676 and always lived in Northampton, as have some of his descendants to the present day.

III. The Hanover, N. H., Branch (page 52). Descendants of ISAAC, who was born in 1680, moved to Coventry, Ct., where he lived until his death, his son Isaac moving to Hanover, N. H.

IV. The Belchertown Branch (page 84). Descendants of EBENEZER. He was born in 1686, and settled in Belchertown in 1732.

V. The Vermont and York State Branch (page 112). This line sprang from ORLANDO, the youngest of the four brothers. He was born in 1701. In 1728 he was in a garrison at Fort Dummer, Vt., and about this time built a blockhouse or fort near what is now Vernon, Vt.

TO TRACE ONE'S ANCESTRY.

Daniel Low<sup>1</sup>, born 1885, is found, by the index on page 48, his father being Edward Clark<sup>9</sup>. At the left of Edward Clark's name is the large arabic number 63. Trace back the small side numbers until 63 is found on page 36, where Edward Clark is seen to be the son of Erastus Clark<sup>8</sup>. Erastus Clark's number is 38. Look back in the small side numbers until 38 is found on page 29, where Erastus Clark is seen to be the son of Clark<sup>7</sup>. Clark's number is 24, which is found on page 26, in his father's family, Erastus<sup>6</sup>. Erastus' number 19, is found on page 25, his father being Noah<sup>5</sup> (No. 17). This number is found just above, being under Noah<sup>4</sup> (No. 10). Going still further back 10 is found on page 18, where Noah<sup>4</sup> is seen to be the son of Deliverance<sup>3</sup> (No. 4). Deliverance is shown, on page 16, to be son of John<sup>2</sup> (No. 2), and he in turn is son of James<sup>1</sup>, the first of the family.

THE COLONIAL FAMILY.

1. JAMES BRIDGMAN<sup>1</sup>, probably of Winchester, County Hants, England, came to America prior to 1640, for on March 3 of that year we first find record of him in this country, viz., at Hartford, Conn., where he certainly was not one of the original land proprietors, and whether he ever owned any land there at all is doubtful. From subsequent records it appears that he was a carpenter by trade. His oldest child, of which we have any record, was probably born in that place, and we infer that James was married there. In 1643 he moved to Springfield, Mass., the first mention of him being that "Goodman Bridgeman (he had the 4th draw or choice) rec'd 4 acres planting lot facing on y<sup>e</sup> great river."—[Springfield Town Records, Vol. I, p. 32.

At this same time, other lands were given him on both sides of the Connecticut river. He evidently had come to stay. His home lot was the one previously owned by Thomas Horton (who came to Springfield in 1638), viz., the fifth Homestead south of "y<sup>e</sup> way to the training place," which "way" is the modern Elm street. The home lots all fronted on the main street, or modern Main street, and lay between that street and the Connecticut river, their average width being eight rods.

On the Main street frontage of what was then James Bridgman's home lot, and probably within a few feet if not occupying the identical site of his homestead, is now located the block 546 Main street, which by a strange coincidence was built by Dr. William Bridgman (a descendant of James<sup>1</sup> in the fifth generation), unconsciously at the time, on the homestead lot of his first American ancestor of the name.

During his residence of eleven years in Springfield, James is frequently mentioned in various transactions. Sylvester Judd, a Northampton historian, records that James was constable in 1645, viz., while in Springfield. On November 3, 1646, he was chosen, together with George Colton, to "y<sup>e</sup> oversight of y<sup>e</sup> fences in y<sup>e</sup> longer meadows." In 1648 he showed his enterprise by building, in conjunction with several others, a "cartway over y<sup>e</sup> meadow against Robert Ashley's," and charging "4 pence a load of any others y<sup>t</sup> shall cart over y<sup>e</sup> way who have not joyned in making of it." "March 1, 1647, James Bridgeman and H. Parsons chosen surveyers of y<sup>e</sup> fences for y<sup>e</sup> home lotts." "November 7, 1648, James Bridgeman and William Warriner chosen surveyors for the highways y<sup>e</sup> year following." As shown by records of Massachusetts Bay, James took the oath of fidelity in 1648. November 4, 1651, James Bridgeman and Benjamin Parsons chosen "viewers of y<sup>e</sup> fences for y<sup>e</sup> lower end of y<sup>e</sup> towne." To show the dislike which the early settlers in general had for the use of tobacco, it is recorded that in 1649 James Bridgman was fined for taking tobacco into his own yard. He remained in Springfield till 1654, when, as we shall see, he removed to Northampton, Mass. While in Springfield he and his wife Sarah had four children born to them. His Springfield possessions of land, etc., he seems not to have sold till 1664, the deed of sale being made on March 30 of that year to Samuel Marshfield.

In 1654 James, in company with a few other Springfield men, pushed up the Connecticut river and settled in that part of Nonotuck now called Northampton, Mass. In this place he seems to have spent the most of his remaining years. His home lot in Northampton was on Hawley street, which was the original Main street of the settlement. It was twelve rods wide, fronting on the highway westerly, and containing  $3\frac{3}{4}$  acres, viz., the land lying just north of what is now the Burrows place on Hawley street.

His name frequently appears in the records of Northampton, and the state records show that on May 28, 1659, he was appointed constable of that place. On May 3, 1659, the Dorchester, Mass., town records show that he paid a visit to his son-in-law, Timothy Tilstons, of that place, who went surety for him, so that in all probability his visit to that region, then the seat of government, was in connection with this appointment.

Northampton town records show that he had at least three children born in that place, the first of whom, James, born May 30, 1655, died January 14, 1656, being the second birth and the first death of a white person in that place.

Of the family connections of Sarah, his wife, or date and place of her marriage, we know nothing. On June 18, 1661, her name is found on the member roll of the church in Northampton. Her death is recorded as August 31, 1688.

In 1658 James<sup>1</sup> was chosen deputy constable in Northampton (Centennial Hampshire Gazette), and in 1659, as we have already seen, he was chosen constable. The duties of constables in those days included those now performed by tythingmen, deputy sheriffs, collectors of taxes, coroners, etc. They carried a black staff in the execution of their office. James<sup>1</sup> was also chosen the same year sealer of weights and measures, which office he held till his death in 1676, when his son John<sup>2</sup> was appointed as sealer (or "clerk of the market," as he was sometimes called), and continued in that office for about thirty years. (From "History of Northampton," by Sylvester Judd, published in Centennial Gazette.) According to Sylvester Judd, James Bridgman and Nehemiah Allen were the two carpenters among the first settlers of Northampton.

Professor Strong, in his popular book, "Our Country," says: "When Northampton was settled in 1654, it was 'way out west' on the frontier. Among the early settlers in the then wilderness, who shaped the character and history of the town, were the Allens, Bartletts, Bridgmans, Clapps, Dwights, Elliotts, Hawleys, Lymans, Mathers, Parsons, Stoddards, Stronges, Tappans and Wrights. The town early became distinguished for its marked religious character and its educational advantages."

James Bridgman died in Northampton, March, 1676. Tradition says on the same night as the birth of his grandson, Deliverance, which was March 17 of that year.

It was customary to name children from any noteworthy event occurring at or near the time of their birth, and it is quite likely that this child was named Deliverance to commemorate the deliverance of the family from the Indian raid referred to in James B.'s will, which occurred on the night of his death.—[J. N. B.]

- I. Sarah<sup>2</sup>, probably eldest child, b. 1643, in Hartford;
d. June 26, 1712, in Dorchester.

Historical Sketch.

Previous to the settlement of Northampton, civilization in Western Massachusetts was confined to Springfield, but in 1653 a petition was presented to the General Court for liberty to plant in Nonotuck, and the request was granted. Nonotuck, however, already contained a small aboriginal population, and to the honor of the founders it should be stated that they dealt uprightly with the native and original owners of the soil. The price paid for this magnificent domain was, indeed, insignificant, but to the Indian mind it seemed an ample equivalent for the territory they surrendered to the whites, and, it may be remarked, they never afterwards complained that they had been overreached in the bargain.

Among those who settled and erected houses within the next few years, that is, previous to 1658, these names occur: Robert Bartlett, Richard Lyman, James Bridgman and others. The relations existing between the people of Northampton and the Indians of this vicinity were of an amicable nature for nearly twenty years.

At the beginning of King Philip's war the village (Northampton) was fortified by palisades, the whole place being thus enclosed. On the 14th of March, 1676, the Indians suddenly assaulted this barrier and succeeded in breaking through it; but were forced back by the inhabitants, not, however, until they had killed six persons and burned several dwellings. The town was not again disturbed; but at the Deerfield fight, in the following May, fifteen residents of Northampton lost their lives.—[Gay's Gazetteer of Hampshire County.

As early as 1637 a John Bridgeman is recorded in Salem, Mass., in which place he died in 1655, leaving a wife and one daughter, an only child; thus this line became extinct.

Whether John was a brother, or any relation of James, we have as yet no means of knowing. If such was the case, the two probably came in company from England, landing on the Massachusetts coast, John remaining in the east, while his more adventurous brother James pushed westward into the wilderness.

2. JOHN<sup>2</sup> (James<sup>1</sup>), b. July 7, 1645, in Springfield, Mass., the eldest and only surviving son of James<sup>1</sup>; m., Dec. 11, 1670, Mary, eldest daughter of Isaac and Mary (Woodford) Sheldon of Windsor, Ct., prior to 1655, and after that of Northampton. She was b., 1654, in Windsor or Hartford, Ct. She d. April 20, 1728, in Northampton.

At a Court Held in Northampton, Oct. 3, 1664.

Alss John Bridgman for saying if those cattell weh the Constable presented had been his, he would have fought for them before they should have been taken: he owned ye words & acknowledged his word & craved ye favor of ye Cort, whereupon he was judged to be admonished before ye Court (weh was accordingly done) and that he should make acknowledgement of his offence it some publike meeting in Northampton or also to pay 10 S as a fyne to ye County; the former of weh he engaged before the Corte to doe.

John was made Freeman in Colony of Massachusetts Bay May 3, 1676. (A Freeman was required to be of Godly walk and conversation, to be at least twenty years old, and to take the oath of allegiance to the Government of Massachusetts Bay. That he should be worth £200, to hold office when elected or submit to a fine of 40s., and to vote at all elections under penalty of some fine.) He inherited his father's property, and continued to live on the old homestead on Hawley street. John<sup>2</sup> died April 7, 1712, and in his will bestowed his goods on wife and children.

CHILDREN OF JOHN<sup>2</sup> AND MARY BRIDGMAN.

- XIII. Dorothy<sup>3</sup>, b. Oct. 4, 1697; d. Jan. 20, 1705, in N. •
9. XIV. Orlando<sup>3</sup>, b. Sept. 18, 1701; d. June 4, 1771, in Vernon, Vt. (prob.)

3. JOHN<sup>3</sup> (John<sup>2</sup>, James<sup>1</sup>), b. Oct. 20, 1675, in Northampton; m., Oct. 15, 1719, in Northampton, Widow Abigail Birge, daughter of Samuel Marshall. She was mother of John and Samuel Birge of Northampton. (An Abigail B. died Apr., 1744.)

We first learn of John as a soldier in Deerfield, Mass., during the French and Indian wars. "On the night of February 29, 1704, Deerfield was taken by Major Hertel de Rouville and 340 Indians and French. Forty-seven inhabitants of Deerfield were killed and the rest (with few exceptions) taken prisoners. Among the captives taken was John Bridgman, who escaped the same day, however, while passing through the meadows."--[J. G. Holland's "History of Massachusetts."

He was taken captive, it seems, from his relative John Sheldon's house, the "Old Indian House" in Deerfield, and had a finger cut off by the Indians, "just for the fun of it." Escaping, however, as we have seen, he was rewarded the next year by the General Court for the loss of his finger. From his father's will (1712) we learn that—

"To sons John and Thomas House & Homestead all of it upon that side of street my house stands upon and 4 acres of my lot in Vantor's field upon the South side & my 4 acre lot in middle Division and my 5 acre lot in the 5th Division & middle meadow Lott I bought of Mr. Mather and my lot in old Rainbow, all but two acres hereafter in other ways disposed of, & my horses & oxen, cows, with exception of those left to my wife. And all my implements of husbandry to be to them & their heirs & to be equally divided between the two said sons John & Thomas. I give to John all my shop tools of sorts." * * * "I do hereby nominate & constitute and appoint my well beloved sons John & Thomas to be my joint executors, etc."

John lived in Northampton many years; and owned the lot afterwards Jona King's, viz., the one next north of Colonel Dwight's, and there lived in 1745. Soon after this he probably moved to Hatfield, Mass., as he died there Sept. 24, 1755. No children.

4. DELIVERANCE<sup>3</sup> (John<sup>2</sup>, James<sup>1</sup>), b. March 17, 1676, in Northampton, and tradition says on the same night as the death of his grandfather James; m., Nov. 26, 1702, the twice widowed Joanna, daughter of John and Thankful (Woodward) Taylor of Northampton. She was b. Sept. 27, 1665; d. Jan. 23, 1741. She had previously m., in 1681, Thomas Alvord. He d. July 22, 1688, in N. She had m. second, in 1690, Samuel King, by whom she had five children. He d. in 1701.

In his father's will (1712) Deliverance receives—

"Besides what I have given him already, one acre of land in Old Rainbow next to the hill and 1 acre in Vantor's field on the north side and all my lot in Munhane to be to him and his heirs forever."

Deliverance lived in that upper and northern part of the village formerly known as the "Plain." This homestead came into possession of his son Noah<sup>4</sup>, and was sold by him to Jacob Parsons when he moved to Horse Mountain (now North Farms), probably about 1743. He d. Feb. 28, 1738, in Northampton.

In his will, dated March 9, 1737, Deliverance gave his wife one-third his estate; £50 was to be paid in bills to his daughter, Rhoda Guernsey, and all the rest was given to his son Noah.

5. JAMES<sup>3</sup> (John<sup>2</sup>, James<sup>1</sup>), b. 1678, in Northampton; m., July 13, 1704, Elizabeth Allis, daughter of Captain John Allis of Hatfield.

In 1704 participated in the "Meadow Fight," so called, near Deerfield.* In 1712 James received £30 at the death of his father. He lived in Hatfield, Mass., for several years, and probably went there about the time of his marriage, or soon after, for in 1709 he bought land in Hatfield of Sam Weller of Hartford for £40. He also sold land in Hatfield in 1717. He was one of the earlier settlers in Sunderland, Mass., having bought Samuel Hawley's original claim, home lot No. 19, east side (now owned by Israel Childs, 1891), which he drew when Sunderland was laid out. The first record of James is found in Sunderland April 15, 1718. He d. June 25, 1728, in Sunderland. At settlement of his estate his property was valued at £646.

CHILDREN OF JAMES<sup>3</sup> AND ELIZABETH (ALLIS) BRIDGMAN.

- I. Jonathan<sup>4</sup>, b. Feb. 1, 1706, in Hatfield, Mass. No record of marriage found. Jonathan's land was recorded and described in Sunderland, his home (from records May 5, 1730), and he is frequently mentioned in the Sunderland town records till March 15,

* For a description of this border fight, see Parkman's "Half Century of Conflict."

1745, when in division of land he had the fifth draw. He was among those under Sergeant John Hawkes, and taken with him at Fort Massachusetts, Aug. 20, 1746. John Hawkes in his letter (November, 1749) wrote that they were attacked by 1,000 French and Indians, whom they repulsed so long as their ammunition lasted. He d. July 21, 1747, in Canada, being taken there a captive. "Nov. 10, 1747. Power of administration, etc., of all goods of Jonathan B., deceased, late of Sunderland, is granted to Samuel Bridgman."—[Probate Records.

II. Mary<sup>t</sup>, b. Oct. 21, 1707; m. Weller.

III. John<sup>t</sup>, b. July 22, 1709; d. July 30, 1768, in Sunderland. From town records it appears that John lived in Sunderland, and after his father's death certainly held property. No mention was found either in town or church records of his having any family. In Probate Records is found the following: "Feb. 11, 1761. Samuel B. requests guardianship for his brother John of Sunderland, who is out of his head and unable to take care of his estate." On June 24, 1763, Samuel was appointed guardian, and on May 1, 1770, Samuel was appointed administrator of his brother John's goods, late of Sunderland. From which it appears that John was "incapable" for the last ten years or so of his life.

IV. Ruth<sup>t</sup>, b. Feb. 25, 1711; d. Sept. 7, 1734.

V. Abigail<sup>t</sup>, b. Sept. 19, 1712; m. Joseph Root Nov. 11, 1736.

VI. Elizabeth<sup>t</sup>, b. 1714; m. Nathaniel Hermon on Dec. 6, 1736.

VII. Lydia<sup>t</sup>, b. Sept. 14, 1716; m. — Weller, and had son David Weller.

VIII. Sarah, b. Sept. 3, 1718; d. soon.

IX. Samuel<sup>t</sup>, b. Dec. 26, 1720, in Sunderland; m. Elizabeth, dau. Robert and Rebecca (Rust) Danks, Jr., in 1747.—[Sylvester Judd's documents.] She was b. April 2, 1712, in Sunderland (from town records), and undoubtedly lived there through life. The last item found concerning Samuel in town records of Sunderland was 1776. "— Bridgeman d. May 7, 1800, age 70. His wife, Elizabeth, d. Jan. 16, 1812, age 79."—[From Temple's Hist. of Whately, Mass.] Samuel moved to Northampton after his father's death and lived with his uncle, Thomas B. He m. Elizabeth Danks, Jr. (as per above), and on the death of his brother Jonathan returned to Sunderland, where he and his wife were admitted into the church

Aug. 31, 1748. He was living at the Bridgman homestead in Sunderland as late as 1794, when they probably moved elsewhere. [We are inclined to think that they moved to Whately, Mass., and that the dates of death as given by Temple (see above) are correct, but the ages he gives, in that case, must be wrong.—Ed.] No children are recorded either in town or church records.

X. Sarah<sup>4</sup>, b. Oct. 28, 1722, in Sunderland.

Isaac undoubtedly moved to Wethersfield about the time of his marriage, or before, his first three children being born in that place, 1707–1710.

He was among the first settlers of Coventry, 1711–12. In that place he held many town offices, and seems to have been one of the leading men of the settlement. That for a time he held the church or town purse strings would seem to be evident, from the fact that in 1741 he received the receipt for Minister Meacham's salary for that year.

Isaac's name appears on the list of Freemen in Coventry, April 28, 1730. In his father's will (1712) he received as his portion £30 in money. He d. June 22, 1756, in South Coventry, Ct.

7. EBENEZER<sup>3</sup> (John<sup>2</sup>, James<sup>1</sup>), b. Feb. 4, 1686, in Northampton; m., June 14, 1709–10, Mary, dau. John and Sarah

Parsons of Northampton. She was b. July 5, 1681, in Northampton. Church record says "She has been a valuable woman." In his father's will (1712) Ebenezer receives—

"1 acre of land in Old Rainbow joining land given to Deliverance, and all that lot where his house stands upon and a gun of mine now in his custody."

They had their home on the "Plain," in the upper and northern part of the village. In 1732 they moved to Cold Spring (Belchertown), in which place they were among the first settlers. Took up an extensive piece of land in the northwest part of Belchertown, about three miles from present center, on the "Old Bay Road," and just at the southern foot of the eastern spur of the Holyoke range.

The site of the old log cabin is still pointed out, and is on the northeast side of the next oldest house, which was built by his grandson, Oliver. The old homestead has been owned and occupied by Ebenezer's descendants till the year 1862, when Elisha B. Bridgman (now of Boston, Mass.), of the 5th generation from Ebenezer, sold it into other hands. The northwest part of Belchertown was owned at one time largely, by Ebenezer's descendants, and was known as the Bridgman District or Ponds, and it was not long since that voters by the name of Bridgman were more numerous in Belchertown than those of any other name. Ebenezer d. Apr. 16, 1760, in Cold Spring, and both he and his wife were buried in a lot back of the old homestead. Tradition says that he "charged his son Joseph to bury him in the land that he had purchased for a possession."

- III. Ebenezer<sup>4</sup>, b. July 10, 1714; d. Nov. 22, 1714, in N.
- IV. Mary<sup>4</sup>, b. July 10, 1714.

One of the daughters, Elizabeth, probably, m. Joseph King of Northampton.

Historical Sketch.

The territory of which Belchertown is now a part was early known as the "Equivalent Lands," and was noted as an excellent hunting ground. Later on, when settlements had sprung up in the vicinity of Northampton, the highway of travel for these settlers in their visits to Boston lay directly across those "Equivalent Lands." In what is now Belchertown, near the present Cyrus Bartlett farm, and directly in the course of this highway, was a copious spring at which the travelers used to stop for rest and refreshment. Thus the section in that vicinity took on the name of "Cold Spring." This name lingered even after settlements had been effected here, and hence the territory of Belchertown, down to the time the town was legally incorporated, bore the name of "Cold Spring."

No records are left of the settlers' affairs down to 1739, but certain petitions, signed by Joseph Bridgman and others, indicate that a permanent settlement was commenced at Cold Spring in July, 1731. Up to and including 1736 the settlement had increased to twenty families. During the next twelve years the population more than doubled, for in 1752 the town had "more than 50 families."

On June 23, 1761, an act was passed incorporating the town under the name of Belchertown. The name Belchertown was given in honor of Jonathan Belcher, who was one of the original proprietors.—[Gay's Gazetteer of Hampshire Co.

8. THOMAS<sup>3</sup> (John<sup>2</sup>, James<sup>1</sup>), b. Jan. 7 1688, in Northampton; d. Oct. 30, 1741, in Northampton; m., Nov. 16, 1726, Abigail, dau. Nathaniel and Sarah (Chapin) Mun of Springfield, Mass. She was b. Apr. 9, 1696, in Springfield. She m., 2d, Thomas Wells of Northampton; June 18, 1745. Thomas Wells d. Nov. 13, 1747, in Northampton, and she afterwards seems to have m. John Bissell of Coventry, Ct.

Thomas probably lived on the "old place" in Northampton till 1741, when he died childless, leaving enough for the support of his wife, and distributing the rest of his goods among his brothers and relatives.

9. ORLANDO<sup>3</sup>, CAPT. (John<sup>2</sup>, James<sup>1</sup>), b. Sept. 18, 1701, in Northampton, M. 1st, Mary, dau. Capt. Benjamin and Mary (Barker) Wright of Northfield, Mass. She was b. Sept. 7, 1704. She d. Dec. 3, 1726, in Northfield. M. 2d, Martha, dau. John and Sarah (Wait) Belding of Hatfield. She d. Apr. 3, 1766, in Hinsdale, N. H., and was buried in Vernon, Vt., being the first person buried in that cemetery.

From his father's will we learn that Orlando received "All that part of the Homestead upon the other side of the street where I now live, with all the oppurtunances, and 1 acre of land in Ventors field next to land of Deliverance, and also my gun & £60 in money to be paid when he shall be 21."

He took an active part in the early Indian struggles. From Dec. 1, 1721, to July 24, 1722, he belonged to a garrison of soldiers in Northfield, and with the rest received five shillings a week. During 1723-4 he belonged to Capt. Joseph Kellogg's company, which defended Northfield, Deerfield and Sunderland. He probably remained in that vicinity till death of his wife, Mary, in 1726.

From "History of Northfield," by J. T. Temple and George Sheldon, p. 207.

"This [Capt. Kellogg's] journal, kept with soldierlike precision, reads like a most ordinary, matter-of-fact affair, deserving no special attention and no commendation, except as evidence of a faithful discharge of duty. But the labors it recorded, and the daring and endurance of these handfuls of men, thus striking off into the wild forests in the winter, fording bridgeless streams and climbing mountains slippery with ice and blocked up with snow, watching for the curling smokes from the red man's campfire and listening for the report of his gun, are a most exciting romance, if they had not been a terrible reality. By such vigilance and fidelity and wear of soul and body was our village protected and our valley kept clean of blood. The names of the men who performed this service are worthy of record in the Northfield annals and are as follows."

In the list is the name, "Orlando Bridgman."

In 1728 a trading post and garrison was established at Fort Dummer (in vicinity of what is now Vernon, Vt.), Capt. Kellogg being 1st in command, John Sergeant 2d, Orlando Bridgman 3d. It was near here and on the west side of the Connecticut river that Orlando purchased land about this time near Sortwell's farm. It was here, about  $4\frac{1}{2}$  miles south of Brattleboro, Vt., that he built what was known as Bridgman's Fort in 1740-2. We learn that in 1746 he was in command of scouting parties, hunting Indians with dogs. His fort was burnt several times, viz., Oct. 22, 1747, by about 40 Indians, also his house and barn; in 1748 and on June 27, 1755, but was as often rebuilt by its intrepid commander.

The charter for Hinsdale, N. H., was issued Sept. 3, 1753. On Sept. 25 the first meeting of the inhabitants was held, Capt. Orlando Bridgman occupying the chair, having been thus appointed by the charter.

On Aug. 14, 1763, Orlando was dismissed from church in Northfield to "lie in the foundations of the church at Hinsdale" (just opposite Vernon, Vt.) He died June 4, 1771, and buried in Vernon.

ampton. She was b. Jan. 12, 1766; d. Nov. 10, 1801. She was adopted by her uncle, Medad Alvord, who gave her a marriage portion when she was married to Israel Bridgman. M. 2d, Dec. 8, 1802, Lois, dau. of Lieut. Stephen and Ruth (Church) Noble of Westfield, Mass. She was b. June 1, 1767, in Westfield. She d. Nov. 12, 1847, in Westhampton.

Israel was a very strict man religiously. Saturday night was always observed, and no work was done after sundown of that day. He stopped work Saturday afternoon in time to shave and prepare for the Sabbath. Shaving on Sunday was against his principles. He probably went to Westhampton soon after he was married, and built near the old Northampton and Albany turnpike road. The homestead is now (1893) owned by his great-grandson, Dwight Stuart<sup>9</sup>. Israel, with his brother Elisha, were the first Bridgmans to locate in Westhampton.

He was crippled for life at the age of 9; "bound out" until 21; had no schooling after his accident. His life was one of good deeds in lifting up the fallen or degraded. Naturally a strong advocate of temperance, and a pronounced abolitionist, as such, his home was one of the stations of the underground road for fugitive slaves en route to Canada. There were many mourners at his funeral, who had been lifted into noble manhood by his encouraging words and help; yet, strange to say, at one time he was knocked down and robbed by a negro. His business was dealer in harnesses, saddlery and trunks.

His "bridal trip" was from the home of the bride (on eve of marriage) to his new house at Horse Mt., four miles distant. A remarkably social man, full of kindness to all mankind, considering no sacrifice too great if he could help on and up a fellow being. While a pronounced abolitionist, he was never known to speak unkindly of the slaveholder who was brought up in the South; but for a Northerner to advocate the right to enslave his fellow-man he had no sympathy. The last 25 years of his life he lived in Northampton, loved and respected by a large circle of acquaintances, and at his death greatly mourned, for "a good man has gone out from us."

Words fail us to do justice to the memory of our "Uncle John." He was one of God's noblemen, who, forgetting self, lived for those about him, and we only, who came under his influence and were the recipients of his kind and helpful teachings by precept and example, can tell his worth. He was a great reader, and often contributed to the columns of "The Liberator," published by his warm friend, Wm. Lloyd Garrison.—[J. C. B.]

Mrs. B. gives the following description of her bridal trip: The morning after the wedding we started for Ohio, in company with Charles<sup>7</sup> and family, driving to Albany, which took three days. From Albany to Buffalo we went by canal boat, and were a week making the distance; getting our own meals after the captain and wife had finished theirs, finding supplies in the towns en route, walking on towpath when tired of riding, and riding on canal boat when tired of the towpath. At Buffalo we took a steamer for Fairport. A terrible storm came on, and at first we were afraid we should go to the bottom of Lake Erie, but after awhile were afraid we should not. We reached Huntsburg after a journey of two weeks and three days.

In 1867 they moved to Cleveland, O.; address, 840 So. Logan St.

Mr. Bridgman is the oldest of our kin living in the United States (Oct., 1893).

He entered the bookstore of J. H. Butler, in Northampton, as clerk at the age of seventeen, and has seen continuous service in the same store since, having a partnership interest as Butler & Bridgman, Hopkins, Bridgman & Co., Bridgman & Childs to 1883, since which date he has been the sole owner, under name of S. E. Bridgman & Co. He has been a member of the school committee of Northampton, and for over thirty-five years served as superintendent of Edwards Church Sunday school.

There are few citizens of Western Massachusetts more widely known. He has been brought before the public in a number of ways. During the war, as a representative of the Christian Commission, he was often heard in the local churches, and he has been an active Y. M. O. A. worker in the several series of meetings in the different parts of the state projected by the State Executive Committee, of which he was a member for several years. He is often called upon for pulpit service, and his voice is a familiar and welcome one at the meetings of the County Conferences and Congregational Clubs. In point of service he is the oldest trustee of Mt. Holyoke College, and has taken a deep interest in Mr. Moody's schools at Northfield and Mt. Hermon. Of late years he has traveled extensively, having visited California, Alaska and Europe.

He lived on the old Ebenezer place, Belchertown. He was in his earlier days a cooper by trade, working during the winter and spring in Hatfield, on the Connecticut river, which was then the highway to this part of Massachusetts, making his three barrels a day at $1 apiece, and thus earning what for those days was far above the average for a day laborer. It is related on good authority, that on returning home Oliver was obliged by his father to share his enormous gains with his less fortunate brother, who remained "by the stuff." He assisted in a survey of the state of Vermont. Was the town clerk in Belchertown for many years. In business

In 1863 he entered the Am. Bank Note Co., N. Y., as an apprentice to learn the art of engraving and designing. Becoming dissatisfied and feeling that it was not to be his life work, he canceled his engagement and in May, 1866, sailed for Europe to enter the art schools of France. Choosing Gerome as his master, he here struggled with his work, but as it were, against fate, his pictures not selling or attracting much notice until he produced the one representing a performance in the arena of an American circus, then traveling in France. This picture was finished and exhibited, calling forth the strongest criticism abroad. Failing to sell it there, he sent it to America for sale, and it was exhibited in the small picture store of Sterk Brothers, Brooklyn, N. Y., where it received such attention and scathing criticism by the press that it was visited by the New York and Brooklyn public, making his name familiar, and proving the introduction needed, for from that time his paintings commanded high prices and his way was opened to success. Residence and address, 144 B'd Malesherbes, Paris, France.

DESCENDANTS OF ORLANDO<sup>3</sup>,
OR THE
VERMONT AND NEW YORK BRANCH.

*Historical Sketch.**

The first civilized settlement within the boundaries of Vermont was made at Fort Dummer, in the southeastern corner of the township subsequently known as Brattleboro, in the year 1724.

The old township of Hinsdale, on both sides of the Connecticut river, just north of the Massachusetts line, was at a very early period granted by charter from Massachusetts. The earliest inhabitants were emigrants from Northfield and Northampton, Mass., and they encountered with spirit and resolution the dangers to which they were exposed from their enemies, the Indians. When, in the year 1739, the township was adjudged to be within the limits of New Hampshire, the old proprietors obtained from that province a ratification of their chartered rights. By the order in council of July 20, 1764, that part of Hinsdale township west of the Connecticut river fell within the jurisdiction of New York.

Even after the township had in this manner been divided, the different parts, although under distinct organizations, still retained their original name, and were thus known until the 21st of October, 1802, when the name of Hinsdale in Vermont was changed to Vernon.

Later on, the country west of the Connecticut river was known as the "New Hampshire Grants," the governor of New Hampshire claiming jurisdiction under the New Hampshire charter. The governor of New York also claimed the territory under grants from Charles II. Upon appeal to the king, the question was decided in favor of New York.

During the earlier period of the Revolutionary war, when the majority of the inhabitants of a town or county had declared their unwillingness to obey rulers appointed by the king, town or county committees of safety were appointed to enforce the execution of laws in the absence of executive power.

He undoubtedly moved to Hinsdale before he was twenty years old, as his father was chairman at the first town meeting under the charter of 1753. On April 14, 1772, he was commissioned as Justice of the Peace. He was also elected Town Clerk, which office he held until his death.

At the meeting of the Cumberland Co. Committee of Safety, held at the Westminster, Vt., courthouse, June 11-26, 1776, John Bridgman and Arad Hunt represented Hinsdale. The duties of this Committee were quite varied. One man, who had been abusing his neighbor's wife, was by the decree of the committee committed to prison. An attempt was made to improve the condition of the treasury, by urging upon the collectors of taxes the importance of attending to their duties. Measures were also taken to perfect the organization of the minutemen of the county.

Another important topic discussed on this occasion, was that relative to the right of the New Hampshire Grants to secede from New York. Several of the members favored a union with Massachusetts, and a letter was addressed to the New York Provincial Congress, asking that they be allowed to unite with that province. This letter was assented to by the majority of the delegates, but Elkanah Day, John Bridgman and John Norton entered their protest against the declarations which it embodied; and when it was carried to New York, their names appeared among the opposition. Both of these productions were of great weight in regulating the future conduct of the Provincial Congress with regard to Cumberland county.

He was an active partisan for New York in the New Hampshire grant troubles, as were also his brothers. In 1781, when the internal government of Vermont was being established upon a court. As he had always cherished loyal feelings toward the king and had but recently avowed his allegiance to the state of Vermont, his election and that of other gentlemen like him caused much indignation, and a petition was addressed to the governor and council asking that the commission of John Bridgman, among others, be retained "in order that the petitioners might enter a proper impeachment to prove that said persons cannot be freemen of the State of Vermont." The council refused to accede to the wishes of the petitioners.

At this time Vermont—claimed by New York, regarded with hatred and fear by New Hampshire, suspected of treason by Congress, and eagerly watched by Canada—held a situation peculiarly delicate, and in the minds of many the distrust evinced toward Congress was far greater than the fear of subjection to British dominion. The language of John Bridgman, then a judge of the Quarter Sessions and a member of the State Assembly, was violent in the extreme. "D—n the Congress! Curse the Congress! Haven't we waited long enough on them? A pox on them. I wish they would come to the mill now; I would put them between these millstones or under the water wheel. They have sold us like a cursed old horse. They have no business with our affairs. We know of no such body of men!"

In the winter of 1782-3 it seemed likely that a civil war would break out in Vermont between the Vermont and the New York parties. On the night of January 20, John Bridgman, at that time one of the judges of the county court, was taken prisoner and brought to Guilford. On the following day he was released on parole. His abilities seem to have won for him the respect of both parties, even though he was loyal to New York.

On the 6th of January, 1784, terrified at the summary manner in which the government of Vermont appeared determined to treat its opponents, a number of the most prominent adherents of the New York party assembled at Brattleboro and addressed a petition to the authorities of the state, asking for "an amicable settlement of past misunderstandings which have happened between the people claiming to be subjects of New York and Vermont." This petition was signed by both John and Orlando Bridgman.*

* Most of the information regarding John Bridgman's public life is from Hall's "Eastern Vermont."

We find this epitaph upon his tombstone in Vernon cemetery:—

The Hon'
John Bridgman Esq

In 1778 he was on "Safety Committee" in Hinsdale, N. H. In 1784 his name appears on a petition to the authorities of the state of Vermont concerning "New York grant troubles." The bitter quarrel regarding the "Hampshire Grants" led to the settlement of Orlando<sup>4</sup> and his sons in New York state. This occurred as follows: New York, recognizing the fact that over a hundred settlers in Vermont had been deprived in a great measure of their means of subsistence, by reason of their active support of the claims of New York, and that they could not without the greatest inconvenience to themselves and their families remain in Vermont, granted to these families what were called "Recompense Lands," in Bainbridge (formerly Jericho), Chenango county, on the Susquehanna river.* Orlando Bridgman<sup>4</sup> received his grant July 11, 1786, and, moving from Brattleboro, within a few years settled his four children about him in his new home.

His parents moved to Bainbridge, N. Y., when he was two years old, and this was his home till 1836, when he purchased the farm on the Big Fiats road (now Hoffman street), Elmira, where he spent the remainder of his days. At that time Elmira was a village of about 1,200 inhabitants, and his home was in a comparative wilderness, two miles out of town. He engaged extensively in lumbering, building of mills and bridges in Steuben county, and achieving a competence retired from active business and devoted himself to the improvement of his farm. He was a prominent member of the Methodist church, a compeer of Colonel Foster, William Hoffman and David Conklin, Esq., and they left the Chemung valley in which they accomplished their life labor, better and more beautiful for their having lived in it. He lived to see Elmira, from the time it had no means of communication with the outer world except the stagecoach and rafts which then navigated the river, expand to a city of 20,000 inhabitants.

LAURA DEWEY BRIDGMAN.

APPENDIX.

A.

LAURA DEWEY BRIDGMAN. Born in Hanover, N. H., December 21, 1829. She was a pretty and sprightly infant, with bright blue eyes. She was, however, puny and feeble until a year and a half old. Then she began to rally, and at two years was perfectly well. Her mental powers rapidly developed and she could prattle some words. But suddenly she sickened again. The disease raged five weeks; her eyes became inflamed, and finally their contents were discharged. Her sight and hearing were gone forever. For five months she was kept in bed in a darkened room, and it was a year before she could walk unsupported. It was now observed that her sense of smell was almost entirely destroyed, and, consequently, that her taste was much blunted. It was not until four years of age that the poor child's bodily health seemed restored, and she was able to enter upon her apprenticeship of life and the world. Not being able to hear her own voice, she soon lost command of her articulation, and the last articulate word she was ever heard to utter was "book."

At the age of eight years she was taken to the Perkins Institution and Massachusetts School for the Blind at South Boston. At this time she had a well-formed figure and a large and beautifully-shaped head. Her education was begun by putting small labels, on which were raised words, into her hands and then handing her the article which they represented. She soon distinguished that the crooked lines spoon differed as much from the crooked lines key as the spoon differed from the key in form. Now the truth began to flash upon her. Her intellect began to work, and she perceived that here was a way by which she could herself make up a sign of anything that was in her mind and show it to another mind. Her instructor, Dr. Howe, says he could almost fix upon the moment when this truth dawned upon her. Having mastered the manual alphabet of the deaf mutes, and learned to spell readily the names of everything within her reach, she was then taught words expressive of positive qualities—as hardness, softness—always, however, in connection with some particular object. It was found too difficult to make her understand any general expression of quality, as hardness or softness in the abstract, in the earlier stages of her instruction.

With little girls of her own age she was full of frolic and fun, and she had the same fondness for dress and for finery as other girls of her age. If people did not notice it she directed their attention by placing their hands upon it. Her tiny fingers were to her as eyes and ears and nose, and most doftly and incessantly did she keep them in motion.

At the age of twenty she was studying algebra, geography and history. She was fond of dress, but with a tact that seems incomprehensible she avoided everything gaudy, odd or in bad taste. Her idea of fun was precisely like that of any other young person who had a like mental constitution and the disposition to mirthfulness. Life was to her a boon, and she so considered it; for often, in the fulness of her heart, she said, "I am so glad I have been created."

She would meet the governor of the state as quietly as she would the most ordinary person. She would, if permitted, examine with eager fingers the new articles of dress upon a fashionable lady fresh from Paris.

She loved her parents and her brothers, but she could not find in their remote village the means of continual culture and improvement which were to her the bread of life. After her twentieth year her daily life was occupied with little household duties, reading and writing, knitting and the like.

Though conscious that the loss of her three senses was an unusual affliction, and aware of the advantages of sight and hearing, she neither deplored nor seemed to regret her loss, but accepted her lot with childlike submission. The privations which limited the range of her experiences and pleasures also shielded her from many trials and disappointments. The deepest sorrow of her life was the death of her first teacher and best friend, Dr. Howe, and to the end of her life she remembered her benefactor with reverent love and gratitude.

From the time she entered the Perkins Institute in 1837 until the time of her death in 1889, the greater part of every year was spent within its walls, and wherever this institution is known there, too, is recalled the remarkable story of her education.

DR. BENJAMIN ELLIOTT BRIDGMAN of Shellman, Ga., writes he has been told that his great-grandfather John went from Massachusetts to Virginia. Now it is possible that John<sup>6</sup> (page 115) may have settled in Virginia, as we can find no record of him at Marietta, O., and that this Virginia branch are his descendants. Still this is a surmise only. Dr. Bridgman also writes that his grandfather Isaac early moved to Tennessee, where he had six sons: Benjamin Franklin, who lived and died in Tennessee; Andrew Jackson, now living in Texas; John, a railroad man, who lived and died in Texas; Sampson David, now living in Griffin, Ga.; Isaac, living in Georgia; and Oliver, who it is supposed is living in Iowa or Illinois.

Benjamin Elliott was born in Jacksboro, Tenn., January 9, 1847. A graduate of the Louisville Medical College. A practicing physician in Shellman, Ga.

D.

THE MISSES BRIDGMAN (Mrs. Estes and Iona) received their early education at the Academy in their native town, graduating from the Emerson College of Oratory, Boston, in class of '82, since which time they have been engaged in giving public readings, recitals, teaching the Delsarte system of physical culture, voice building, and dramatic expression.

Wherever they have appeared, at the desk, on platform or stage, in character delineation, or the rendition of poem or prose, musical, humorous, or pathetic, they have met with signal success.

They are interested, not alone in their chosen profession, but in the questions of the day. Liberality in religion, State, and National prohibition, and higher education. The enfranchisement of woman claims their earnest thought, warm sympathy, and cordial support. Their contributions to the press, on these and kindred topics, have been very acceptable to the reading public.

OTHER FAMILIES.

All persons bearing our name in this country are not descendants of James. Thomas (son of Francis, who had thirteen children) was born in Jefferson county, Va., April 15, 1803. In 1827 he migrated to Van Buren, Montgomery county, O., preceded two years by a brother of his father. He had eight sons and three daughters: Benjamin Franklin, Asa J., Sarah, Mary J., William H., John T., Perry B., Albert V., Laura A., Francis M. and Charles G. Most of the boys are farmers and live near Dayton, O.

We found a John Wesley in Covington, Ky.; his brother, George, in St. Louis; and their father, Daniel A., writes from Drum, Mo., that his grandfather was born in England, came to this country and settled in Virginia. But without dates we are unable to connect them with the Jefferson county family. We also found in St. Louis others who hailed from Virginia, and still, so far as known, no relation to the above. A John Bridgman living in Martinsburg, Va., has a widowed Aunt Augustus at

IONA MAY BRIDGMAN.

Sardis, O., but we get no response from either to repeated letters. A Dr. Bridgeman and an Alfred Bridgeman, seedsmen of New York, both well known over the country as large advertisers, and a family at St. Albans, Vt., came from England direct. At Troy and Binghamton, N. Y., Burlington, Vt., Chicago and elsewhere, we find our name among the Irish. At Toledo, O., we discovered a Bridgman, a subject of his Majesty, King Wilhelm of Germany, who could "wie gates," "better alls goot English." At Selkirk, Kan., is an M. J. Bridgman, who recently found that his grandfather, an orphan when a child, was adopted by a German family. So he is not certain of German blood in his veins, as he supposed. Another branch bearing our name is scattered in the States and Canada, in no way connected with any above mentioned, and tracing their ancestry to a John Bridgman from England direct, who had a son William born in 1755, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Unwilling to live under the Stars and Stripes, their property was confiscated and they moved to New Brunswick. Later some made Canada their home, and of the present generation of this family we have in the States, well and favorably known, George, business editor of the Buffalo (N. Y.) Courier; John W. and George, father and son, prominent artists in the same city; Rev. George Henry, D.D., president of the Hamline University, at St. Paul, Minn., who has two children, Donald and Dorothy; and living in Canada, yet often heard this side of the line, is Rev. Wellington of Manitoba; Ashman, a lawyer, from Ridgetown, Ont., et al. And again, here and there in the West and South, we find those who have our name, but we are unable to place them as so few have any records preserved beyond a generation or two.

OUR NAME is among the honored in England, and has been for centuries. Among those who have filled important and responsible positions we have record of an Edward Bridgman who was sheriff of the city and county of Exeter in 1562-3. The office of sheriff is one of great honor in England. He had two sons, Thomas and Michael.

Thomas' eldest son was the Right Reverend John Bridgman, D.D., Lord Bishop of Chester and Rector of Wigan. He was born at Exeter, November 2, 1577. Took his M.A. at Oxford, July 4, 1600. He was consecrated Bishop of Chester, May 9, 1610. Died in 1652. It is written of him, "that he loved neither to threaten nor to strike, but when he did strike he did it effectually as if he liked it."

We quote from "Lives of the Lord Chancellors of England":—

Sir Orlando Bridgman, Baronet, was son of John Bridgman, Bishop of Chester. He took his degree of A.B. at Queens College, Cambridge, 1623. He was a firm royalist and zealously adhered to Charles the First and Second from the beginning to the end. He held the offices of Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, Attorney-General to the Court of Wards and Liveries (an office of great importance), Sergeant-at-Law, Lord Chief Baron of the Court of Exchequer, Speaker of the House of Lords during the absence of the Lord Chancellor, and finally of Lord Keeper of the Great Seal and Privy Counsellor. This last was conferred upon him Saturday, August 31st, 1667. Presided at the trial of the regicides of Charles the First. He died at his villa at Geddington, 25th of June, 1674.

Bishop's son, Henry, was Archdeacon of Richmond, Chaplain to the Earl of Derby, and present at the Earl's execution in 1631. He was made Bishop in 1671, and many other honors were conferred upon him. He died May 15, 1682, at Chester, and was buried in the cathedral.

He had a nephew, Sir John Bridgman of Castle Bromwick, a Baron. (This castle is near Birmingham, and one of the seats of the present Earl of Bradford.)*

Sir Henry Bridgman, the fifth Baronet (whose mother was the daughter and heiress of Thomas, last Earl of Bradford, of the family of Newport), was created Baron Bradford, and his son was raised to the Earldom of Bradford, which Earldom is now enjoyed by the lineal representative, in the male line, of Sir Orlando Bridgman, and on November 21, 1892, the engagement of his granddaughter, Hon. Margaret Alice Bridgman, to the Earl of Dalkeith, was announced in the London papers. As the Earl has an annual rent roll of £200,000 we are in no immediate danger of being called upon to "chip in" to help our poor namesakes over the water.

Another item from a London paper mentions the marriage of Hon. Harriet Bridgman, whose wedding was honored by the presence of the Queen.

A KINSMAN visiting England the past summer called upon the Hon. Rev. G. T. O. Bridgman, who is the recognized historian of the English family bearing our name, and gathered the following additional information, but he failed to establish the ancestry of James!—

"James Bridgman, fourth surviving son of the Bishop of Chester, was educated for six years at Wigan School, and admitted to St. Johns College in 1631, which he left in 1633. In 1636 he was apparently living in London, and the Bishop complains that he would take no calling (or profession) upon him. In the following year he was traveling 'beyond sea,' and subsequently in Scotland, from where he returned in 1639. That year he joined the army in Dublin and served in the King's Wars (Charles I) and was knighted. He married Anne Allen and left issue one son, James (who died unmarried), and two daughters."

* Representatives of this family omit the e in our name.
