PART I.

DESCENDANTS OF JOHN BINNEY OF HULL, MASS.

DESCENDANTS OF JOHN BINNEY OF HULL, MASS.

---

1. CAPT. JOHN BINNEY, of Hull, Mass., in 1678 or 1679, fisherman, gentleman, was the ancestor of almost all of the name in America. He died in Hull, Mass., Nov. 10, 1698, intestate. Mercy, relict of John Binney, died in Hull, Jan. 19, 1708-9. Children :

- 2 i John<sup>2</sup> b. May 31, prob. 1678, deacon Hull church;
m. first Hannah Paine ; m. second Sarah Crosby.
- 3 ii Samuel<sup>2</sup> b. prob. 1679 or 1680; m. Rebecca Vickers or Vickere.
- 4 iii Mercy<sup>2</sup> b. Hull, Dec. 15, 1682; m. Nath. Baker 1704; removed to Barnstable, Mass., 1705.
- 5 iv Isaac<sup>2</sup> b. Hull, June 25, 1685; lost at sea, 1707;
was sea captain.
- 6 v Thomas<sup>2</sup> b. Hull, Feb. 3, 1687; m. Margaret Miller.
- 7 vi Elizabeth<sup>2</sup> b. Hull, Dec. 3, 1690; m. George Vickers, Jr., Dec. 12, 1710.

Capt John Binney, the American ancestor, with his wife Mercy———must have come to Hull, Mass., about 1678 or 9, and with his two oldest sons John, Jr., afterwards dea. of Hull church, and Samuel, with them probably, from Worksop Notts., England, whose nearest seaport of that, and also of Scrooby and Bawtry was Hull. The first entry of marriages, births and deaths on Hull records is by John Loring, the first town clerk of Hull, viz. "record of the children born in Hull," and "record of those who have died in Hull." These records begin in 1693, at which time, by a law of the General Court, the parents handed in the names and dates of birth of all their children born there; John Binney handed in this record, viz: "Mercy daughter to John Binney b. Dec. 15, 1782," then follows Isaac 1685, Thomas 1687, Elizabeth, 1690. It is evident from these entries, that John and Samuel, were born elsewhere and were purposely omitted on the records on that account, and they were then lads of the respective ages of 15 and 13 years and would be well known in so small a place as Hull. There are now no church records extant so early, ministers did not then marry people but magistrates did. In 1660 John Prince the elder of Hull church was empowered by General Court to marry persons in Hull as there were no magistrates near there. The church records under Rev. Zachariah Whitman, from 1660 to 1725, are lost.

If John, the ancestor, was born in 1657 and married in 1678 at about 25 years of age and died in 1698, he would be about 41 years at death; and if his wife Mercy, was 20 at marriage, say in 1678 and was b. in 1658, and d. in Hull in 1708, she would have been about 50, at death. (Her foot gravestone in Hull, has only "M. B." on it.)

John (2) and Samuel (3) were known to be children of John (1). Samuel, at death is described as "son of John and Mercy" and John (2) in a deposition of 1710, speaks of "his brother Isaac;" and John (2), when m. in Eastham, is described as "John Binney, Junior, of Hull." Dea. John the oldest son, lived and died in Hull, and was the immediate ancestor, after John, Senior, of most of the name in America. Samuel (3), also lived and d. in Hull, but his family became extinct in the 4th generation. Isaac (5), was lost at sea in 1710, probably single. Thomas (6), lived in Boston, as a merchant, the latter part of his life, and d. there but was buried in Hull, where he retained his residence corner of Quaker Lane, opposite the meeting-house, in the house that Wm. Chamberlin the Quaker formerly owned. See will of Caleb Gould, the husband of Sarah Binney (25) and will of Capt Benj. Binney (30), of Chestertown, Maryland, for disposition of that estate. All the sons of John (1), and most of his grandsons, were sea captains. Mercy (4) eldest daughter of John (1), whose birth was the first of his children recorded on Hull record as b. there, m. Nath. Baker of Hull; he was son of Samuel and Fear (Robinson,) Baker of Hull, and Barnstable, Mass., Fear R. being a granddaughter of John Robinson, of Leyden and daughter of Isaac R. of Scituate. One of this Mercy's children, was "Binney Baker" (see No. 4.)

Elizabeth (7) daughter of John (1), married in Hull 1716, George Vickers or Vickere, as indifferently spelled, and died 1725. Thomas (1) was father of Jonathan (29) ancestor of the Nova Scotia branch of the name.

John Binney, (1) always wrote and spelled his name as we do, Binney, see his deed and signature 1694 from Hull records No. 5.

John Binney (1) was buried in the burial ground in Hull, the site of his and widow Mercy's grave is known, and when his son Dea. John<sup>2</sup> who died June 30th, 1759, in his 81st year, was buried, his body was placed in his father's grave. A suitable monument or marble headstone has been erected by some of their descendants, and is now over the spot, and in 1883 the lot was raised and arranged by Robert Gould, under the supervision of the writer, by request and at the expense of another descendant of the name (see the photograph of the monument which Wm. G. Binney had taken in 1883).

The cellar of the site of the ancestor John's house has been seen by the writer, it was between the Parsonage house which is yet standing (1883,) and the mansion house, erected by his son Dea. John, on part of the land, and west of it. North-west of the latter house, was the one occupied by Amos Binney Jr., and wife Mary Prentice, the grandparents of the writer, and where his uncle Amos Binney, formerly Navy Agent, Boston, and his brother John, the writer's father, and Miss Sarah Binney, and Mrs. Nancy Copeland, sisters of Amos and John above, were born. This house is of oak and a good one yet and was 1884 occupied by the Postmaster, Mr. Pope.

Probably the first settlers were mostly fishermen and also husbandmen and cultivated their lots of land in Hull, as the General Court to encourage the fishery, granted most of the Islands in Boston Harbor, and special privileges to settlers in Hull, for that object.

2. DEACON JOHN<sup>3</sup> BINNEY of Hull, son of John and wife Mercy Binney of Hull, born in — ? May 31, 1679, died Hull, June 30, 1759 "in the 81st year of his age" (80 yr. 1 mo.) He was early called "mariner;" on the Hull record "deacon;" on Suffolk Probate record, gentleman. He in youth probably, went with his father in his vessel fishing. He was married 1st, on his birth-day, May 31 in 1704, by Jonathan Sparrow, Esq., in Eastham, Mass., viz. "John Binney Jr. of Hull, to Hannah b. in Eastham, May 12, 1684, daughter of Thomas Paine, Jr., (or 3d.) and wife Hannah, daughter of Jonathan and Phebe (Watson) Shaw; she died in Hull, Jan. 14 1757, at the age of 72. Dea. John probably became acquainted with Hannah Paine in one of his trips with his father. Dea John Binney, married again, as a tradition in the family said. His wife dead, all his children married and left, and feeling lonesome he started on horseback to Boston, for another wife; he was published in Boston, Nov. 10, 1757, and married 2d, on Dec. 15, 1757, by Rev. Samuel Checkley of the New South Church Boston, to Mrs. Sarah Crosby of Boston. Her friend Mr. Mellus taking a marriage agreement from Mr. Binney for her. No issue by her.

Children by wife Hannah :

- 81 John<sup>3</sup> b. April 23, 1705; m. Hannah Jones, he was a physician, removed to Mendon.

- ii Joshua<sup>3</sup> b. June 26, 1707; d. Aug. 24, 1730, aged 24, in Maryland.
- 10 iii Mercy<sup>3</sup> b. May 5, 1709; d. single, Dec. 2, 1726, aged 17 years 6 months.
- 11 iv Amos<sup>3</sup> b. Feb. 5, 1711; sea captain, m. Rebecca Loring of Hull.
- 12 v Elkanah<sup>3</sup> b. Dec. 28, 1715; a sea captain; m. Elizabeth Loring.
- 13 vi Hannah<sup>3</sup> b. Oct. 18, 1717; m. Jos. Gould, Jr., 1739, who d. July 3, 1770, in Georgetown, Mass.
- 14 vii Dorcas<sup>3</sup> b. June 20, 1721; m. Anderson Phillips March 19, 1740.
- 15 viii Barnabas<sup>3</sup> b. Mar. 22, 1723; sea captain, &c., m. Avis Engs, resided in Boston.
- 16 ix Phoebe<sup>3</sup> b. Nov. 11, 1725; m. Captain Jos. Spear Jr., of Hull.

John Binney was chosen deacon of Hull church, Dec. 13, 1734, was owner of pew No. 1 of the 19 pews in the new meeting-house 1732. He was one of the six present, who signed the church covenant after Rev. Ezra Carpenter was ordained at Hull Nov. 24, 1725, at the house of the senior and aged Rev. Zachariah Whitman, the first settled pastor of Hull, who was ordained 1670.

He and wife Hannah were admitted to full communion in Hull church, April 30, 1727.

Deacon John Binney lived in the Binney mansion house, which he probably built between 1700 and 1732, from oak cut on his land, it was afterward occupied by his son Captain Amos Binney, Sen., then by his son Spencer Binney, Sen., it was finally sold after the death of Spencer Binney's widow to and occupied by John Mitchel some 28 or 30 years, and then sold in 1876 to Mr. Edward Gould Knight, who took it down and built out of part of the timbers, a new house on the site: the frame was perfectly sound; no carpets were used in old times and when the ceiling of the room was torn down showers of fine white beach sand came down on the workmen. A silver pepper box, marked <sup>J. B.</sup> for John and Hannah Binney, descended to the writer's father John Binney Esq., Boston, and is yet owned by one of his sons. There was 26 oz. of silver plate mentioned in Deacon John Binney's inventory. He was town treasurer of Hull, 1712 and 1733, and from 1746 to 1751, and town clerk 1749 to 1753, clerk of the market 1743 to 1748, selectman 1721 and 2, 1731, 1735, 1739, 1742, 1744, 1749 and 1751, and also assessor. His pay as treasurer in 1751, was 40s. a year!

Hon. Horace Binney's letter to the writer, of Aug. 7, 1873 says "Deacon John Binney is an ancestor I am very proud of, I want no better one than him. I have a Woodrow in the maternal line at the same distance, thorough Scotch, of the blood of the Historian of the Covenanters, from whom came my maternal grandmother, who lived to the age of 91, I shall be glad to see her again, as I saw her and was so much delighted with her shrewdness and 'savoir faire,' when I was a law student."

Deacon John Binney was an appraiser on the estate of Captain Joseph Spear, Senior of Hull, in 1738; who married Mary, daughter of Gershom and Elizabeth (Poole) Collier. Mrs. Mary (Collier,) Spear married 2d, Richard Stubbs, of Hull, (per James Spear Loring.)

The "Ensign" Binney, one of the committee of 5, to call a minister, in Hull, March 22, 1724—5, was probably the above John Binney, afterwards deacon of Hull church.

3. CAPTAIN SAMUEL<sup>2</sup> BINNEY, of Hull, sea captain, son of John and Mercy Binney of Hull; born in—1680 or 1681; died Feb. 12, 1723—4; m. by Penn Townsend Esq., in Boston, Nov. 11, 1701, Rebecca daughter of Isaac and Mrs. Elizabeth Vickers or Vickere, who was daughter of the Privatersman, Captain Thomas and wife Ann Cromwell, the widow of Richard Price who d. in 1674. Samuel Binney was cousin of George Vickers, who afterwards m. Samuel Binney's sister, Elizabeth. The aged Mrs. Rebecca Binney d. Dec. 10, 1760.

Children :

- 17 i Elizabeth<sup>3</sup> b. Dec. 25, 1702; m. Thomas Lombard of Provincetown, April 5, 1720.
- 18 ii Samuel<sup>3</sup> b. Dec. 4, 1704; d. Dec. 8, 174(9), (worn off follows Nov. 1749. Robert Gould has 1741),
- 19 iii Isaac<sup>3</sup> b. Dec. 19, 1706; cordwainer; m. Elizabeth Binney, his cousin.
- 20 iv Rebecca<sup>3</sup> b. June 24, 1710; no further account of her, supposed d. young.
- 21 v Caleb<sup>3</sup> b. June 1, 1716; no further account of her, supposed d. young.
- 22 vi Jerusha<sup>3</sup>, supposed to be a daughter of Samuel and Rebecca Binney, and to have been born between 1706 and 1716, m. Elkanah Hayden, Oct. 5, 1732.

Mary, widow of Benjamin Vickere, Hull, in her account of his estate June 6, 1717-18, charges £1, or. 6d. paid Samuel Binney for wood.

Rebecca, widow of Samuel Binney, April 29, 1724, took out letters of administion on his estate, but as his estate was insolvent, she declined and they were revoked, and were granted to his brother, Thomas Binney of Hull, and John Marshall of Boston.

Of the children, only Elizabeth and Isaac can be definitely traced. Samuel's death is on Hull records Dec. 8, 174(9?), (last figure worn off) and was probably unmarried; Isaac married his cousin Elizabeth Binney; his sons went to Penobscot and Castine, Maine, where are some of his descendants in the female line only; Caleb and Rebecca probably d. young.

4. MERCY<sup>3</sup> (BINNEY) BAKER daughter of John<sup>1</sup> and Mercy Binney of Hull; born in Hull, Dec. 15, 1682; m. Nathaniel son of Samuel and Fear (Robinson) Baker of Hull, and Barnstable, and grandson of Rev. Nicholas Baker of Hull and Scituate, in 1704: Samuel Baker and wife Fear (Robinson) Baker, removed from Hull to Barnstable in 1687, where she d. March 9, 1718, at the birth of her daughter Elizabeth, and he married 2d, in Barnstable, widow Mercy Lewis, Jan. 5, 1718 prob. 1718-19, she d. there Dec. 7, 1768? he d. 1750.

Children :

- ix Elizabeth<sup>3</sup> b. March 9, 1718; single in 1750.

5. CAPTAIN ISAAC<sup>1</sup> BINNEY, of Hull, son of John<sup>1</sup> and Mercy Binney of Hull, born in Hull June 25, 1685; d. or lost at sea 1707, probably single. Sailed as master of Sloop Mary from Boston to Barbadoes, and never heard from after that, supposed all on board were lost.

"John Binney of Hull, of full age sworn, said that on or about June or July 1707, the deponent's brother, Isaac Binney, master of the Sloop Mary, sailed from New England, bound to Barbadoes; in which vessel Samuel Gold, went one of the company and that the said vessel never arrived at Barbadoes, as the deponent understands by all the inquiry he could make, nor could he ever hear of his brother, since his departure from New England, or of any of the company; but it is generally believed by all persons, that the said vessel and company were lost in their passage to Barbadoes."

"Boston. 20 Dec., 1710.

"Sd. JOHN BINNEY.

"Jurat Cor. J. ADDINGTON,

"I, Robert Gold, attest to all that is above written, the above named Samuel Gold being my own son :

"Sd. ROBERT GOULD."

"May 4 to Aug. 12, 1704, the sloop Mary was commanded by James Gould." By the Boston News Letter May 19, 1707, the sloop Mary, Isaac Binney, entered inward from Barbadoes and June 9, 1707, outward bound, Isaac Binney, sloop Mary for Barbadoes.

Captain Binney was 22 years old when lost and probably unmarried. He was a witness to Robert Gould of Boston, deed, Aug. 16, 1706, to John Gould, of Meadow land, on Pettix Island, Hull.

6. CAPT. THOMAS<sup>s</sup> BINNEY, sea captain of Hull and Boston, mariner, innholder and merchant, son of John<sup>t</sup> and Mercy Binney of Hull; born Feb. 3, 1687; d. in Boston, Sept. 13, 1742, aged 54; m. to Margaret Miller of and in Boston, Nov. 30, 1710, by Ebenezer Pemberton, she d. Nov. 3, 1764; she was daughter of Captain Paul and Elizabeth (Dorhy) Miller, and b. Sept. 15, 1694 (and m. at 16). Her mother m. 2d, in 1698 Captain Jos. Bosworth, of Hull; her father having died in 1795 or 6.

Children:

- 33 xi Mehitabel<sup>3</sup> b. Feb. 21, 1733-4, bapt. Feb. 24, probably d. young.

Captain Thomas Binney, was the immediate ancestor of the Nova Scotia and N. B. branches. After his will of 1723, he had 5 more children, see the Judge of Probate's order on the will in 1765.

7. ELIZABETH<sup>2</sup> (BINNEY) VICKERS or Vickere, daughter of John<sup>1</sup> and Mercy Binney, of Hull, born in Hull, Dec. 3, 1690; died there June 19, 1725; married Dec. 12, 1710, George Vickere, Jr. (the 3d George Vickere), born Aug. 14, 1688, and son of George and Lucy Vickers or Vickery. He d. 1716; and on Dec. 8, 1716, Thomas Binney, "mariner" of Hull, brother to his wife, took out letters of administration on his estate; perhaps he was drowned, as his administrator charges Jos. Rider coroner's fees. George Vickers being also a mariner; his father's will in 1720, leaves property to his two grandchildren, children of his son George, deceased.

Children:

- i Mercy<sup>3</sup> b. Sept. 14, 1711; bapt. by E. Carpenter, July 28, 1734; m. at Hingham, Dec. 7, 1732, Peter Parker.

Capt. Barnabas Binney, was master and owner of his vessel in which he traded to Demerara, &c., and tradition says, both he and Rev. Dr. Stillman of Boston, owned plantations and slaves, in Demerara.

He also had a store or a room in or attached to his house, in which he sold goods. He resided in his brick house, in Summer St., Boston, opposite the new South meeting-house, church green, where he worshiped. A Boston newspaper of — 1761, has an advertisement of B. B. of "two clocks just imported, silks, dry goods, petticoats, stays, buckles, seals, &c.," for sale at his house in Summer St., and one of 1758, Oct. 12, "a good assortment of Irish Hollands to be sold cheap for cash, by Barnabas Binney, at his house in Summer St."

The Boston Gazette, Sept. 17, 1770, has this : "strayed from Boston, on Tuesday the 7th instant, a small yellow cow with short horns, the tops of which are sawed off ; she has a slit in her right ear, her 'tets' are very small, who ever shall bring said cow to Capt. Barnabas Binney, opposite the new South meeting-house, in 'Seven Star Lane,' shall be well rewarded for taking her up," also April 27, 1771 "a few bales of choice French Cotton to be sold by Barnabas Binney, in Summer St., &c." He lived in good style there.

His estate was large and extended from Summer St., to the water in the rear.

In 1659, Dec. 3, he deeds "to Capt. Amos Binney of Hull, for £500 lawful money,  $\frac{1}{3}$  of his father, Dea. John's estate, buildings, lands, tenements;  $\frac{1}{3}$  of real and personal estate, as per will of John Binney of Hull, deceased."

Israel Lombard was of the firm Lombard & Whitmore, Boston.

Thomas Lombard's will, of Truro, March 4, 1762, proved Nov. 24, 1779, mentions wife Elizabeth, and children.

Rebecca the wife of Captain Samuel Binney of Hull, "husbandman," 1702-3, and mariner, was a daughter of Isaac and Elizabeth Vickers of Hull, who was a daughter and sole heiress of Capt. Thomas Cromwell, the privateersman of Boston, and was widow of Richard Price, whom she married Aug. 18, 1659; who died 1674. Capt. Thomas Cromwell married Ann, relict widow of John Joyliffe, Esq., and previously widow of Robert Knight, merchants, all of Boston.

Elizabeth daughter of John and Mercy Binney of Hull; m. George Vickers, Jr., or 3d.

18. SAMUEL<sup>4</sup> BINNEY, of Hull, son of Capt. Samuel (3) and Rebecca (Vickers) Binney, of Hull, born in Hull, Dec. 4, 1704; died there Dec. 8, 1749. There appears no other account of him, and he is supposed to have died single.

19. ISAAC<sup>3</sup> BINNEY, cordwainer of Hull, son of Capt. Samuel (3) and Rebecca (Vickers) Binney, born in Hull, Dec. 19, 1706; died ante Oct. 4, 1765; married his cousin Elizabeth (23) daughter of Thomas (6) and Margaret (Miller) Binney, March 24, 1737, in Hull, she died in Hull, Jan. 7, 1748; she was admitted to Hull church, July 2, 1738, in full communion; she was born in Hull, Sept. 10, 1711.

Children:

62 i Elizabeth<sup>4</sup> b. Feb. 14, 1737-8; bapt. March 26; d. a. 1755, between 1754-7 (year worn off, Hull Records.) Hull Church Records, says "time unknown," the entry between 1754 and 7.

- 63 ii Frances<sup>t</sup> b. Nov. 29, 1740; bapt. Jan. 11, 1741; d. April 15, 1751 or 2 (year worn off Hull Records.

- 66 v Joseph<sup>t</sup> b. Jan. 2 or 8, 1746; farmer, Castine, m. Elizabeth Freeman.

Isaac Binney is mentioned in Joseph Milton's account of settlement of Lydia Vickere's estate, deceased, July 20, 1748, and paid him 8s. 6d.

Tax list 1749, says; he owns  $\frac{1}{2}$  house yearly value £2, 1 poll 1 cow, 4 acres pasturage, 1 lease of pasture: his name also in tax list 1771 (probably his estate).

Oct. 4, 1765, Sarah Binney (25) spinster of Hull, sister-in-law of Isaac Binney, appointed guardian to Joseph and Mary Binney, minors above 14, children of Isaac Binney, late of Hull, deceased, cordwainer, March 22, 1759. He was sergeant in Capt. John Gould's Foot Co., Hull, taken at Weymouth.

It is reported of Isaac Binney, that when there was no preaching in Hull, on Sundays, he used to sit on a rock and play psalm tunes on his violin, "to drive evil thoughts away." His house was opposite Mr. Thomas Jones, in Hull; one of them was fond of a glass, and is reported to have said "he did not want a better world then this, with rum at 2 cents a glass!" another account says "Isaac Binney's house was opposite Mr. —Lorings."

Caleb Gould, who married Sarah, sister of Elizabeth Binney, leaves by will in 1791, "to the heirs of Elizabeth Binney, sister of his late wife, 9 acres of land, and dwelling house which formerly belonged to Thomas Binney, deceased, to be divided in 3 equal parts, among them, and a common right at upper and lower end of the neck." After the death of Benjamin Binney, of Chestertown, Kent Co., Maryland, whose will was proved Oct. 13, 1790, Thomas and Joseph Binney, and Abraham and Mary (Binney) Perkins, of Penobscot, Me., gave a power of attorney in 1795, with Joseph and Mary (Binney) Osood, to sell and deed the same property to Samuel Soper of Hull, and July 20, 1797, Samuel Soper and wife Content, sell the same property to Thomas Jones of Hull, "Situating north-west on Pound Lane, Duck Lane north-east; Cooms Garden and Town St., south-west, and 1 common," Jones gave $1,600 for it.

Sarah Binney the wife of Caleb Gould of Hull, administered on her father, Thomas Binney's estate, after her mother Margaret, the previous Executrix's decease, and it appears by Caleb Gould's will, neither he or his wife Sarah, had ever paid Benjamin Binney, her brother, or the heirs of her sister Elizabeth, wife of Isaac Binney, their parts of Thomas Binney's estate. Benjamin Binney's will leaves his share of it, both personal, including silver plate, and real estate in Mass., to George and Joseph Osgood, his nephews, sons of his sister Margaret (Binney) Osgood of North Andover, Mass.; and to the two oldest sons of his brother Jonathan Binney of Halifax, N. S., all his own plate, and residue of all his estate, after legacies, &c., are paid.

After the death of Caleb Gould, in 1791; his executors and residuary legatees, Jon<sup>n</sup> and Caleb Loring, and Samuel Lovell, deeded Nov. 4, 1796, the share that Caleb Gould left to Benjamin Binney, late of Chestertown, Md., deceased, to George Osgood, the attorney of the other heirs.

20. REBECCA<sup>3</sup> BINNEY, daughter of Capt. Samuel (3) and Rebecca (Vickers) Binney of Hull, born June 24, 1710, in Hull, as there appears no further account of her, it is supposed she died young.

21. CALEB<sup>3</sup> BINNEY, son of Samuel (3) and Rebecca (Vickers) Binney of Hull, born June 1, 1716, in Hull, as there is no further account of him, he is supposed to have died young.

22. JERUSHA<sup>3</sup> (BINNEY) HAYDEN, daughter probably of Capt. Samuel (3) and Rebecca (Vickers) Binney of Hull, born probably between 1712 or 1713; married Elkanah Hayden, Oct. 5, 1732, as per Hull Church Records of E. Carpenter.

Children :

- i Jerusha<sup>4</sup> b. Aug. 21, 1733; bapt. Hull, Dec. 2, 1733; m. Nov. 28, 1754, Jonathan Garner (supposed of Hingham, Mass).

Elkanah Hayden, was Hogreave, Hull, 1775, (perhaps son of Elkanah and Jerusha. Elkanah Hayden "been frozen," in list Foot Co., Hull, March 2, 1759.

A Jerusha Hayden, married Jon. Garner Nov. 28, 1754, Hull Church Records, probably daughter of Elkanah and Jerusha (Binney Hayden) above (possibly her mother, married Jon<sup>n</sup> Garner).

23. ELIZABETH<sup>3</sup> BINNEY, daughter of Thomas (6) and Margaret (Miller) Binney of Hull, born in Hull, Sept. 10, 1711; died in Hull, Jan. 7, 1748; married Isaac son of Samuel and Rebecca (Vickers) Binney, (see No. 19, Isaac Binney.)

24. THOMAS<sup>3</sup> BINNEY, Jr., son of Thomas (6) and Margaret (Miller) Binney; born in Hull, Jan. 10, 1713; killed in Maryland, Aug. 24, 1730, aged 17. He probably was seaman in his father's or some other vessel, and was probably accidentally killed.

25. SARAH<sup>3</sup> (BINNEY) GOULD, daughter of Thomas (6) and Margaret (Miller) Binney of Hull, born in Hull, Dec. 10, 1716; and died sine prole, Jan. 8 or 18, 1787, in Hull, aged 71; married Caleb Gould, son of Joseph and Mary (Prince) Gould of Hull, in 1776, he was a brother of Joseph Gould, who married Sarah Binney's cousin Hannah, daughter of Dea. John and Hannah (Paine) Binney. Sarah Binney was 60 years old when married, she was a very active, energetic and benevolent woman, at her mother's death, ante 1764 or 5, who partially administered on her husband Thomas Binney's estate. Sarah Binney, "spinster" was appointed administratrix "de bonis non" to settle her father's estate, who died 1742, and which was settled on her, she to pay the others their share. Oct. 4, 1765, she was appointed guardian to Joseph and Mary, minor children of her sister Elizabeth (23), wife of Isaac Binney, deceased, Wm. Gray of Boston, upholsterer, security.

Caleb Gould's will Nov. 21 1791, proved March 19, 1792, mentions his late beloved wife Sarah, and reserved a room and some furniture to Betty Sprague, his housekeeper, after his wife's death. It was near 50 years that Sarah Binney and her husband Caleb Gould, enjoyed Thomas Binney's estate before it was paid over to his heirs and descendants. April 14, 1751, a Sarah Binney, was admitted member of the old South Church, Boston, this may be the above Sarah, her sister Margaret (Binney) Osgood with her family, then attended that church, but probably was Sarah (Dolhonde) Binney, wife of her brother Paul Binney, as they attended Old South Church, and had two children bapt. there in 1748 and 1750. She did not settle up her father's estate, before she died, but her husband Caleb Gould, by his will in 1791, leaves a legacy, and some furniture and plate, to his brother-in-law Benjamin Binney, and Caleb Gould's executors, deeded after Benjamin Binney's death, in 1795, the estate left to Benjamin Binney, to George Osgood. Gould's will mentions widow Jane Binney, daughter of his sister Jane Loring, and Stephen, son of her brother Joseph, who married Hannah Binney, and Margaret Osgood sister, and Benjamin Binney, brother, of his late wife, and the heirs of Elizabeth Binney sister of his wife, and nine acres of land and the dwelling house formerly owned by Thomas Binney, deceased, also a common right at upper and lower end of the neck to be equally divided between them in three divisions.

Caleb Gould's (25) will, who married Sarah Binney of Hull, 1791. Caleb Gould speaks of his late beloved wife.

Thomas Jones, Daniel Loring and Mathew Hunt, witnesses, Jon<sup>n</sup> and Caleb Loring, Jr., and Samuel Lovel, executors in which he gives to Margaret Osgood, wife to Dr. Osgood of Andover, and to Benjamin Binney, his late wife's sister and brother, and to the heirs of Elizabeth Binney, sister of his late wife, 9 acres of land, and dwelling house, &c., in Hull, which formerly belonged to Thomas Binney, deceased, to be divided in three parts equally among them, and also a common right at upper and lower end of the neck. And to Benjamin, in consideration of a legacy, his wife was to pay him, but he did not claim, gives him 2 best feather beds, some furniture, "and all his plate."

To Caleb Loring, son of his sister Jane Loring, his now dwelling house, and land adjoining it, and other land (named) reserving the right for Elizabeth Sprague, to a room, and gives her furniture. To Jonathan Loring, son of his sister Jane Loring, land, &c. To Olive Lovel, wife of Samuel Lovel, land, &c. To his sister Jane Loring, £10. To Samuel Loring, Jr., Mathew, Deborah and Sarah Loring, children of his sister Jane Loring, property, &c. To Elizabeth Fillebrown wife of John Fillebrown. To Jane, wife of Stephen Greenleaf. To Mercy (Mary), wife of Nicholas Phillips. To Mehitable and Sarah Gould, daughter of his brother Elisha Gould, deceased. To Nancy Tirrel, wife of Gideon Tirrel. To the widow Jane Binney. To Elizabeth Newcomb, wife of Oliver Newcomb. To Stephen Gould, son of his brother Joseph Gould, deceased. To the daughter of Joshua Gould of Boston, deceased; to each £5. And again confirms the room to Betty Sprague. Gives £40 to his faithful boy, Daniel French, alias Ranger, bound to him by the Town of Hull, and appoints Benjamin Cushing, to be guardian of the boy till 14, when he is to be put to learn some trade. The rest of his property, given to Jonathan and Caleb Loring, sons of his sister Jane Loring, and to Samuel Lovel, to be divided equally.

Nov. 4, 1796, Samuel Lovel, Jonathan and Caleb Loring; executors, and residuary legatees of Caleb Gould of Hull, deed to George Osgood, the share that Caleb Gould left to Benjamin Binney, late of Chestertown, Maryland, deceased.

The plate left to Benjamin Binney went to the Osgoods, it was part of Thomas Binneys, and some of it is yet among Mrs. Osgood's descendants, marked "T. M." for Thomas and Margaret (Miller) Binney.

26. MRS. MARGARET<sup>3</sup>(BINNEY) OSGOOD, of North Andover Mass., daughter of Thomas (6) and Margaret (Miller) Binney of Hull, born April 12, 1719; died Feb. 16, 1797, in her 78th year, in North Andover; published Nov. 10, married Dec. 1, 1743, by Joseph Sewall, to Dr. Joseph Osgood, of North Andover, Mass., deacon of the North Church there 34 years and highly respected for his piety, christian purity and virtues. He was son of Deacon John, died at 83, and Hannah (Abbot) Osgood of Andover, died Dec., 1774, aged 89 years 10 months; and was born Sept. 5-13, 1718; will March 7, 1790; and died Jan. 11, 1797, in his 79th year; graduated at Harv. Coll. 1737, M. M. S. S. Elected deacon April 27, 1763.

- v Thomas<sup>4</sup> b. Oct. 30, 1750; bapt. Nov. 14, 1750; d. Feb., 1751.
- vi John George<sup>4</sup> b. Aug. 20 or 25, 1751; d. May, 1754.
- vii John<sup>4</sup> b. Nov. 14, 1754.
- viii Thomas<sup>4</sup> b. Oct. 29, 1756; d. Sept. 12, 1771.
- ix George<sup>4</sup> b. Dec. 1, 1758; M. D. of Salem, Mass., d. Oct. 4, 1823, aged 65 years; had a son Benjamin Binney<sup>6</sup>, b. Nov. 26, 1790, and his son Joseph Otis, was father of the venerable Rev. Joseph Osgood, pastor of Cohasset Mass., 1885, and many previous years.
- x Margaret<sup>4</sup> b. Nov. 4, 1760; d. Oct. 5, 1782; aged 22.

In youth he, Dea. Joseph Osgood, was in a counting room in Gloucester, Mass. Entered on a sea faring life, was master of a vessel in the Spanish war ; was captured and carried into Bilboa, Spain, after his exchange he spent several months in London, on procuring funds, returned to Boston, married and was in the sea faring business there. Studied medicine in Boston. "In his store he kept several kinds of medicine, and often administered it to himself and others, and became a celebrated physician." He was a useful man in town and parish "and of strict integrity and virtue. In 1752 owing to the prevalence of small pox in Boston, he removed with his family to North Andover.

He and wife were members of the Old South Church in Boston, where the baptisms of his children to 1752, appear. (See Caleb Gould's will 1791, Capt. Benjamin Binney's will 1790 and deeds about Margaret (Binney) Osgood's part of her father Thomas Binney's estate). Capt. Benjamin Binney of Chestertown, Kent Co., Maryland, left part of his property (that in Mass.) to his sister Margaret (Binney) Osgood's sons, George and Joseph Osgood. A son of Dr. George Osgood was named Benjamin Binney Osgood, a merchant of Salem, Mass., and a son of Dr. Joseph Osgood of Salem, was named Thomas Binney Osgood. Benjamin Binney Osgood Harvard College, 1806, son of Dr. Joseph Osgood, of Salem, was placed by his friends, with a view to his more regular life, in the marine corps of the U. S. Navy, and died unmarried, on board the U. S. Ship, Washington, Jan., 1818 (commanded by his brother?). One of the daughters of Dr. George Osgood, married — Bridges of North Andover, she was in Andover, 1850. A son, George Osgood Bridges, of Syracuse, N. Y., 1850, had a silver mug marked <sup>T.<sup>M.</sup></sup><sub>B.</sub> (Thomas and Margaret Binney) part of their silver plate, through his grandmother, Margaret (Binney) Osgood.

James A. Emmerton of Salem, Mass., writes: Salem, Jan. 9, 1883, that a silver mug with a stamp "W. Cowell" on the bottom and on the side a shield, and has on it the initials J. O., if Mrs. Margaret (Binney) Osgood, had it marked for her son Joseph, it has come down thus: Joseph Osgood and wife, Margaret Binney to Joseph and wife Lucretia Ward, to Joseph and wife Polly Beckford, to Nathaniel W. and wife Mary B. Archer, to Joseph and wife M. A. S. Emmerton, to Josephine Osgood, niece of James A. Emmerton, of Salem, and the owner of the cup in 1883. She married Albert H. Hanson, son of Joseph Hanson of Salem. He is general passenger agent of Ill. Cent. R. R., and they reside, March, 1884, at the "Mentone," Chicago, Ill.

27. CAPT. PAUL<sup>3</sup> BINNEY, of Boston, mariner, son of Thomas (6) and Margaret (Miller) Binney, born in Hull, March 2, 1721; died at sea or abroad ante Sept. 1756; published Boston, July 22, and married Aug. 5, 1742, Sarah daughter of Dr. Laurence Dolhonde, the French physician, by his wife Elizabeth (Stedman) Dolhonde.

Children:

- 67 i Sarah<sup>4</sup> b. ———; bapt. Aug. 7, 1748; probably d. young.
- 68 ii Elizabeth<sup>4</sup> b. ———; bapt. July 1, 1750; probably d. young.

His will is dated April 16, 1744, "bound on a voyage." Gives to his wife Sarah and her heirs, etc., all his real and personal estate now or coming. Witnesses, Jon<sup>n</sup> Binney, John Dolhonde, Thomas Lefebore; it was probably written by his brother in law John Dolhonde (probated Suff. Co. Boston, document No. 11331). His wife Sarah executrix, and proved his will, Sept. 17, 1756.

Inventory of Capt. Paul Binney, late of Boston, mariner, deceased. Sarah Binney, his widow administratrix, presents her account March 6, 1757; among the items a child's bed, child's blanket 4s., basket, &c., large Bible, 13s. 4d., Iron box and heaters, &c., total inventory, £17. 4s. 1d., and there was £50. to £55., old tenor left in y<sup>e</sup> house proceeds of some sugar sent her by her husband in his life time, and since sold. She charges herself with total inventory £24. 10s. 9d., and the Judge allows the widow the ballance of £71. 2s. 5d. "as a commission would eat up the whole," appraisors: John Avery and Samuel Deming.

Sarah Binney was admitted a member of the Old South Church, Boston, April 14, 1751, and is probably the above Sarah (Dolhande) Binney. Her father wills her: Dec. 30, 1745, 20s. and the same to his two other children, John and Elizabeth, whom I have already advanced in the world, "according to my ability," probated, Dec. 18, 1746. And Dr. Laurence Dolhonde's widow Elizabeth, wills to John  $\frac{1}{2}$ , to Sarah and Elizabeth each  $\frac{1}{4}$ , of her real estate, personal to be divided, Feb. 18, 1748, and clothes to her daughters, proved, March 7, 1748. Her personal clothing, jewelry, silver, horse, chaise and riding chair, &c., £4,032. 12s. 6d., mansion house in Long Lane, £4,000. Brick house Long Lane, by Mr., Hooper, £3,000, and about 400 acres of lands, Worcester, not appraised. John and Elizabeth Dolhonde deed to Dr. John and wife Elizabeth (Dolhonde) Sprague, and Paul and wife Sarah (Dolhonde) Binney, brick house Long Lane, 32 acres in Leicester, and 98 acres, and 80 acres in Rutland; the south  $\frac{1}{2}$  pew in new South Church, &c., this in full compliance of the award of division of their mother's estate in lieu of their  $\frac{1}{4}$ . Paul's brother Jonathan Binney, was witness to above settlement, and Jonathan Binney, merchant, suit vs. Paul Binney, of Boston, mariner, Feb. 3, 1749, had judgment for £545.

12s. 6d., and £3. 12s. 6d. expenses, satisfied by seizing  $\frac{1}{2}$  of rent of house in Long Lane, until the debt should be paid. Oct. 3, 1742 (?) probably 1752, Jonathan Binney, assigns to Mrs. Margaret Binney, for £240, the right to collect the above rent during Paul's life.

In Jonathan Binney's letter of Boston, March 2, 1752, to his cousin Amos Binney, of Hull (in the writer's possession) he says: "I suppose Mr. Deming has shown you my offer to my creditors, have given up all my effects and household goods, have not reserved one farthing in the world, and am stripped of every farthing, to pay the debts of a cruel brother, for  $\frac{2}{3}$  of what I owe, is on Paul's account."

By the above Jonathan Binney, was bound in some way for Paul, or Paul owed him.

In the original petition, March, 1746, of 111 inhabitants of Boston, living in or frequenting, Atkinson St., bounded by Cow Lane and Milk St., to the freeholders of Boston in town meeting, is the signature of "Paul Binney," in a plain, bold hand.

28. DR. JOSEPH<sup>3</sup> BINNEY, physician of Boston, son of Thomas (6) and Margaret (Miller) Binney of Hull, born in Hull, April 10, 1723, died about or previous to May 10, 1746; published Feb. 16, 1745, married to Elizabeth (born Feb. 20, 1721) daughter of Moses Pearson and wife Sarah Titcomb, of Falmouth (Portland), Me., an officer in the Louisburg expedition and agent for the N. E. regiments for the division of the spoils of it, and who in 1746, was employed in Louisburg to construct barracks. After Dr. Binney's death, Mrs. Elizabeth Binney, widow of Joseph Binney, and daughter of Moses Pearson, married 2d, Joseph Wise, published Falmouth, Jan. 8, 1749; she died Jan. 25, 1799.

Dr. Binney, in 1744, accompanied Pearson in that expedition as a surgeon, his commission from Massachusetts Province, in the train of artillery, is dated Feb. 10, 1744, or March 9.

It is supposed he died at Louisburg, his inventory was rendered by his brother Jonathan Binney, bondsmen Jonathan Binney, John Avery, John Deming, merchants of Boston, for £300, May 10, 1746. Inventory May 22, 1746, by John Greenleaf and John Sprague, viz: medical articles per list £143, 4s. 6d. March 23, 1747, personal by John Avery and John Deming, medicine, £94, 15s. 0d. among them, pocket and lancet cases £30, set of instruments £50, total, £237, 19s. 6d. Parcel books £11, mortar and pestle, £7, sundries and chest, £45. 4s. 6d. Of the personal, orange colored suit of clothes, 15s., scarlet jacket, £1. 15s. 6d., 1 green banyan, 1 pair leather breeches, £2., worsted cap, 5s., Garlix, do 3s., 3 old wigs, 20s., 1 old sword, £2, pair of sleeve and knee buckles, china bowl, tea pot, case of bottles, sauce pan, one dozen china plates, £4, &c., appraised by John Avery, John Deming and John Green, Boston, June 23, 1747.

He probably had no children by wife Elizabeth. She assents to Jonathan Binney, as administrator on Joseph's estate.

From a fragmentary account book of Capt. Moses Pearson, treasurer, to the agents of the Army of Louisburg is this account: 1745, Dr. Binney, DR., to a paire of Double Chaniel Pumps, 40s-£2.

29. HON. JONATHAN<sup>3</sup> BINNEY, of Halifax, N. S., the immediate ancestor of the Nova Scotia and New Brunswick branches of the family, son of Thomas (6) and Margaret (Miller) Binney, of Hull, and Boston; grandson of the ancestor John and wife Mercy Binney, of Hull, Mass. He was born in Hull, Mass., Jan. 7, 1724-5; died in Halifax, N. S., Oct. 8, 1767, aged 83.

He was published Nov. 26, 1745, in Boston, and married 1st Jan. 8, 1746, by Rev Thomas Prince, to Martha, born 1722, in Charlestown, daughter of Capt. Stephen Hall, by his 1st wife Ann, daughter of Richard Boylston, of Charlestown. In 1753, May 28, she signs as Martha Binney, for her share of her father Boylston's estate; and Jonathan Binney and wife Martha, quit claim in 1753, to Stephen Hall, a lot of land north-west of the trainfield, south-east of John Miller, south-west on John Phillips, which she derived from her grandfather Boylston.

About 1746, Jonathan Binney established himself as a merchant and ship owner, in Boston. Aug. 6, 1746, John Fayerweather, a merchant of Boston, in his account book, charges Jonathan Binney, for cordage and houselinc, for Capt. Scott.

His letter of March 28, 1752, to his cousin Capt. Amos Binney, ascribes his business troubles to his "cruel brother" Capt. Paul Binney. Feb. 3, 1749, Jonathan Binney of Boston, has a judgment vs. Paul Binney, of Boston, for £545, 12s. 6d. and £3, 12s. 6d., expenses and seized half the rent of Paul's house in Long Lane, Boston, till the debt is paid, and Oct. 3, 1752, Jonathan Binney assigns for £240, the right to collect the above rent, to Mrs. Margaret Binney, during Paul's life. In 1750, Jonathan Binney and John Sprague, of Boston, advertise it as a good and commodious brick-house in Long Lane, next to Francis Borland's, with a handsome yard and garden (News Letter, July 19, 1750). In his letter to Capt. Amos Binney, of Hull, 1752, he promises to pay his note to him as soon as able, and in 1804, through Ebenezer Gay, Boston he paid it with interest, to Amos Binney's heirs, which Col. Amos Binney of Boston, received and distributed. In 1753, his wife Martha (Hall) died, and he went to Halifax, N. S., leaving their only child.

Children :

- 69 i Stephen<sup>t</sup> Hall, b. June 19, 1749; bapt. Old South Church, June 25; d. Oct. 1, 1760, aged 11 years, 3 months.

The writer has the fly leaf of the 1st Vol. of Prideaux's sermons owned by the Rev. Bailey Loring, North Andover, Mass., with this inscription and the autograph of the donor : "Stephen Hall Binney, given him by his 'unkel,' Capt. Benjamin Binney, of Boston, Oct. 12, 1759."

After Jonathan Binney went to Halifax, N. S., he made that his home and established himself in business there, and married 2d about 1759, Hannah Adams Newton, daughter of the former collector Hibbert Newton, and sister to the then collector of customs, Henry Newton; she was born 1722; and died in Halifax, Dec. 22, 1797, aged 75.

Children by second wife :

- 70 ii Stephen<sup>t</sup> Hall, (2d) b. Halifax, Sept. 29, 1760; m. Susanna Green.
- 71 iii Hibbert<sup>t</sup> Newton, b. Aug. 22, 1766, in Halifax; m. — Creighton, and — Solomon.

Jonathan Binney Nov. 8, 1764, of Halifax, N. S., conveys to John Newton, of Halifax, in trust, for his wife Hannah, and son Stephen Hall Binney (2d), his share of his mother's property in Hull, and land in Worcester and Leicester, derived from his mother.

In 1749, Oct. 1, in Boston, he witnessed the deed of John and Elizabeth Dolhonde, to Paul and Sarah (Dolhonde) Binney, and others; in 1744, he witnessed the will of Capt. Paul Binney, and in 1746, he was administrator on the estate of Dr. Joseph Binney.

Oct. 23, 1792, he deeds to Stephen Hall Binney (2d), lands in Hull, and Holden, Mass., derived from his mother Margaret, sister Sarah (Binney) Gould, or brother Capt. Benjamin Binney, who died in Maryland, and left by will property to the two oldest sons of his brother, Jonathan Binney of Halifax, N. S. The Castine, Mc., Binneys from Hull, and the Osgoods of N. Andover and Salem, descended from Margaret (Binney) Osgood, shared in this property.

In 1758, Jonathan Binney was elected a member of the First House of Assembly that was called in the Province, at Halifax, N. S., and continued as such, to Nov. 16, 1764. In 1760, he and Frederick Des Barres, met the chiefs of three tribes of Indians, at Arichat, and concluded a lasting peace. July, 1761, he was appointed to the Council, by Gov. Minot; Nov. 10, 1764, he was appointed superintendent of trade and fisheries for Causo; and was afterwards, on Oct. 11th, 1766, collector of duties, and excise there, and also at St. Johns Island (since Prince Edward's Island). He collected a number of French Acadians at the Isle of Madam. In 1764, he was also appointed chief judge of the Inferior Court, and was known as the "Hon. Jonathan Binney." In 1765, he and other gentlemen of Halifax, obtained a grant of 150,000 acres of land at St. Mary's river, to obtain an exclusive monopoly of salmon fishery; not improved till 1800, a party from Truro, N. S., purchased 4,000 acres of it, the latter year, and removed thither, and formed a settlement at the Isle of Madam. Oct. 11, 1766, he was collector of duties and excise, and superintendent, and signs at the Custom House, Causo, a permit for Samuel Hay's sloop, "Lovely Lass," to load fish for New York; she hailed from Newark, N. J.

In 1768, Jonathan Binney was made second judge at St. Johns Island (now Prince Edward's Isle). During his residence in Halifax, he made several visits to England, in one of the last, he had engraved there, the silver seal with the arms on it, which he and his descendants have since used, viz. Crest, a Stag's head and neck, ppr. with branching antlers, Shield, ar., two bars, gu., with three martelets, close in each bar. The martelets are the insignia of the younger branches of the nobility, per Hibbert Newton Binney's letter; who said that it was probably adopted by his grandfather, Hon. Jonathan Binney, on his visit to England, between 1780 and 90. when he was told by the famous physician Dr. Bucannan that he was an undoubted descendant of the early Earls of Haddington, the oldest son of whom bears the title of "Binning," till lately Binny, though their family name was Hamilton, whose arms (Scotland) were gu. a sword erect, ppr., pommel and hilt or., between three cinquefoils, or., crest a horse's head couped, ar., bridle, gu.

In 1776, Jonathan Binney went to England, to rebut the charges preferred against his conduct while collector, and which he completely refuted.

In Haliburton's "Nova Scotia," 1829, page 102, and repeated from that by Mrs. Williams in her Neutral French or the Exile in N. S., Providence R. I., 1841, page 45; says: "Mr. Binney, the collector, and others, who were taken prisoners in a vessel at Passamaquoddy, on his way from Annapolis to Boston, in 1721." They both confound Mr. Newton, then collector with Jonathan Binney, who did not go to N. S., till 1753.

30. CAPT. BENJAMIN<sup>3</sup> BINNEY, of Chestertown, Maryland, merchant, son of Thomas (6) and Margaret (Miller) Binney, born in Hull, Mass., July 6, 1727; bapt. July 9; died in Chestertown, 1790; married Mary, daughter of John Smith, son of James, of Chestertown, Kent Co., Md. She died sine prole, before her husband. His will Chestertown, March 22, 1783, and codicil April 5, 1790, proved Oct. 13, 1790. He was probably at first a sea captain, and was in Boston, 1745 and 1755, as in latter year, on an old account book, was "Boston, May 21, 1755; Benjamin Binney, Dr., to cash paid him in full, £51. 13s, 9d." Oct. 12, 1759, he gives his nephew Stephen Hall Binney, several volumes of Prideaux's Commentaries on New Testament, and signs his name to it, on the fly leaf of one of them; "Boston, Oct. ye 12, 1759, given him by his unkel Capt. Benjamin Binney, Boston."

Caleb Gould, of Hull (who married Sarah Binney, (25) administratrix of balance of her father Thomas Binney's estate) in his will 1791, says: in consideration of a legacy Benjamin Binney, (30) was to have, but did not come for, leaves him his two best feather beds, some furniture, and all his plate, this was no doubt part of Thomas Binney's plate, and is probably a part of that now in possession of the descendants of George Osgood, and marked <sup>T.M.</sup><sub>B.</sub> for Thomas and Margaret Binney.

31. MERCY<sup>3</sup> BINNEY, daughter of Thomas (6) and Margaret (Miller) Binney, of Hull, born in Hull, Aug. 16, 1729; bapt. Sept. 21, probably died young, as on settlement of her father's estate, July 16, 1765, when Sarah Binney was appointed administratrix, with the will annexed, instead of her mother Margaret, who died 1764, the Judge of Probate, mentions the names of Thomas Binney's other children except Mercy and Mehitable, who were no doubt deceased.

32. THOMAS<sup>3</sup> BINNEY, son of Thomas (6) and Margaret (Miller) Binney, of Hull, born in Hull, Feb. 15, 1732; died Hull, March 8, 1733; aged 1 year, 1 month.

33. MEHITABLE<sup>3</sup> BINNEY, daughter of Thomas (6) and Margaret (Miller) Binney, of Hull, born in Hull, Feb. 21, 1733-4; bapt. Feb. 24, probably died young, not mentioned by Judge of Probate, when enumerating Thomas Binney's other children as inheriting his property 1765, and was probably deceased and was not mentioned in Caleb Gould's will of 1791.

34. JOHN<sup>4</sup> BINNEY, JR., farmer, Weston, Wayland, Lincoln, Marlboro, Mass., North Ipswich, N. H., son of Dr. John (8) and Hannah (Jones) Binney, of Hull and Weston, born in Hull, Dec. 21; bapt. Dec. 24, 1727; died Jan. 23, 1784, aged 56, in New Ipswich, N. H. He joined the second Precinct Church, Mendon, June 3, 1744. Rev. A. Frost, of Wayland. Published Oct. 31, married 1st Dec. 6, 1753, Elizabeth Ward, of Mendon; she died Sept. 3, 1756; married 2d, (published Oct. 21, 1757,) to Dinah daughter of Gamaliel and Mary Beaman of Lancaster, Mass., she died in New Ipswich, N. H., Dec. 24, 1794; aged 63; born in Lancaster, Sept. 20, 1728.

He was a farmer in Weston, Mass., 1753; from about 1758 to 1771, resided in Lincoln, adjoining Weston. He removed from Lincoln to Marlboro, Mass., where he bought land in 1771. He moved from Marlboro to New Ipswich, N. H., 1781. His name is in a list for a new bell for the third meeting-house, New Ipswich; and in a list of occupied farms, and houses in New Hampshire, No. 100 was his; and his son John Binney, Jr., is also named.

In the valuation of Weston, 1771, is John Binney of Weston.

Children by Elizabeth :

72 i Elizabeth<sup>s</sup> b. June 21; bapt. June 27, 1756, in Lincoln; m. Elijah Fiske, of Natick, Jan. 3, 1782; d. in Hillsboro, N. H., ante, 1802; eight children.

By Dinah :

73 ii Mary<sup>s</sup> b. Sept. 24, 1759; bapt. Oct. 7, in Lincoln; married Solomon Rice, and Ebenezer Parker.

40. THOMAS<sup>4</sup> BINNEY, of Tyringham and Williston, Vt., son of Dr. John (8) and Hannah (Jones) Binney, of Mendon, and Weston, born in Mendon, July 24, 1738 or 1739; died in Williston, Vt., Sept. 19, 1805, aged 66, a distinguished surgeon in the American Revolution. Married 1st Elizabeth Chadwick, supposed in Tyringham, Mass., 1763, she died there Aug. 8, 1777.

Married 2d Mrs. Mary Orlan, in 1778, no children by her; she had children by her first husband; she died in Tyringham before 1800, soon after this even.; his son-in-law James P. Talcott, of Williston, Vt., took him home, for the remainder of his days.

Children by Lydia :

- 79 i Rachel<sup>5</sup> b. Dec. 18, 1763, in Tyringham; d. same day.
- 80 ii Cynthia<sup>5</sup> b. May 16, 1765, in Tyringham; m. Joseph Bird, May 1, 1785; removed to New Haven, Ct.
- 81 iii Achsah<sup>5</sup> b. Dec. 24, 1766; m. James P. Talcott, 1787, removed to Williston, Vt.; she d. July 2, 1818.

- 83 v Hannah<sup>5</sup> b. Aug. 4, 1771; d. three days after.

Dr. Binney was a very skilful physician and surgeon, an intelligent and shrewd man; a great writer and quite a poet. In person rather short but well proportioned, quite erect, handsome dark blue eyes, dark hair, remarkably neat and good looking. A book containing a record of his family and connections was lent to a physician of Weston, who removed to Illinois, and took it with him. The winter previous he took most of his papers and books on a visit to his daughter in New Haven, he returned next summer very unwell, leaving them there, and died Sept., 1805. The house in New Haven was burnt with all his papers &c., after he left there. A few of his books, and an account book of charges in 1771, are left. His wife Lydia's wedding ring, was a heart and hand, with "heart and hand, at your command," engraved on it. His silver plate and most of his property is supposed to have gone to the Oran family.

Joseph Bird, military waiter to Dr. Binney, in the army, and who married his daughter Cynthia, related at his son's residence in Bristol, that Dr. Binney, previous to being in the Revolutionary army, was in the expedition to Quebec, under or with Capt. Giles Dowd, and was present at the fall of Gen. Montgomery, and until the retreat of the army. He joined the Revolutionary army, at Tyringham, Jan. 1, 1777, as surgeon in Samuel Brewer's regiment, went to Ticonderoga, remained until the retreat of the army in July, 1777. Was taken sick with dysentery, and left the army; his wife died of that complaint, in Aug., 1777. He successfully practiced inoculation for small pox while in the army, against orders forbidding it, and was arrested for it, made a successful plea, which was copied in his book, and was acquitted. To avoid examination to detect the practice, he inoculated high up the leg, instead of the arm, attended the soldiers privately, and this saved many lives. The history of Berkshire, mentions his name first in the list of physicians in Tyringham.

He is supposed to have been in Egremont, at one time from an epigram made on him by a crazy man in Egremont, viz.:

"Binney Tom, of Egremont; he is a mere vexation.

He's the curse, that gleans the purse of this poor generation."

He did a good business in Tyingham, and lived in good style, but went to Williston poor. A land claim he owned he placed with Mr. Benjamin Wait Hopkins with a power of attorney to collect, and was to pay Hopkins $50, if he collected it. Hopkins took as partners Frink and Jewell. Hopkins and Frink died soon after, and the family received nothing from the claim.

Dr. Thomas Binney sold his share in his father's estate, in Weston, June 17, 1775. He was afterwards surgeon of the 12th, Mass., Col. Sprout.

41. RACHEL<sup>4</sup> (BINNEY) SEVERNS, daughter of Dr. John (8) and Hannah (Jones) Binney, born in Mendon, probably in 1737-8; bapt. Oct. 6, 1745; married Josiah Seaverns, Feb. 8, 1764, son of Daniel and Sarah (Jennison) Seaverns, who was son of Samuel, of Weston. Josiah and Rachel Seaverns, were both alive in 1794, and died in Weston.

Children :

- i Abigail<sup>5</sup> b. 1765.
- ii Relief<sup>5</sup> b. 1767.
- iii Josiah<sup>5</sup> b. 1774.
- iv Charles<sup>5</sup> b. 1776.
- v Mary<sup>5</sup> b. 1778.
- vi Rachel<sup>5</sup> b. 1780.
- vii John<sup>5</sup> b.
- viii John<sup>5</sup> b. 1788, of Dorchester; m. Abigail Ware, of Weston.

Josiah Seaverns, married second Elizabeth —, and had two children by her. Her father, John Binney's will 1758, leaves her £20, L. M. at 21 or marriage, and after her mother's death gives her and his other three daughters, his negro girl Rose, valued at £20 in inventory.

Josiah and Sarah Seaverns give a deed 1794, witness: J. Seaverns, Jr. Dr. Thomas Binney, of Tyringham, sells to Joseph Seaverns, of Weston, his share of his father's estate, June 17, 1765. John Binney of Weston, to Jn<sup>o</sup>. Seaverns, of Weston, farm in Weston, "where I now live," April 24, 1770.

41*th*. EUNICE<sup>4</sup> BINNEY SPRAGUE, daughter of Dr. John (8) and Hannah Binney, born about 1726(?) in Hull; married about 1750, Silas Sprague, then of Lebanon, Ct., where her sister Mary (Binney) Baldwin, went. Silas Sprague was born in Lebanon, Ct., Jan. 3, 1727, and died Sept., 1808, and was probably son of Benjamin Sprague and second wife, Abigail Hill or (Tisdale) Sprague, Taunton. Benjamin Sprague having married first, Mary Woodworth, Dec. 29, 1797; and had several children in Lebanon, Ct. Silas Sprague was a captain in the Revolutionary army.

Children:

- i Barnabas<sup>5</sup> b. probably 1749 or 50; d. —, 1751.
- ii Eunice<sup>5</sup>.
- iii Barnabas<sup>5</sup>; lived in Great Barrington, Mass.
- iv Hannah<sup>5</sup>.
- v Mary<sup>5</sup>. ✕
- vi Silas<sup>5</sup>.
- vii Andrew<sup>5</sup>.

There is some doubt whose daughter Eunice Binney was, as some of the leaves of Hull Records are missing, and there appears a neglect in entering some items for several years. The first news of her was from Richard Soule, Jr., of Boston, "Memorials of the Sprague family gathering in Duxbury," published Boston, 1847, in which he distinctly stated, that Silas Sprague married Eunice Binney, but has no further mention of her. From the similarity of names of part of his children, Barnabas, Hannah and Mary, with those of Dea. John Binney's children, or grandchildren, I conclude, she must be a daughter of his, or one of his sons. Dr. John Binney of Mendon, had daughters Mary and Hannah, and the latter by his will 1758, appears to have married John Sprague, before 1758.

Benjamin Sprague, the father, or grandfather of Silas, was probably from Duxbury, Mass., some of that family went from Duxbury to Rochester, and Fairhaven, and Benjamin Sprague, is said to have gone to Lebanon, Ct. Benjamin Sprague, born July 15, 1685; married in Lebanon, Ct., 1707, and the first child of Benjamin and Mary Sprague was born in Lebanon, Ct., 1709. If Silas was born 1727, and was 21 at marriage, it would be about 1748, and if Eunice Binney was 18 or 20, at marriage (if in 1748), she must have been born about 1726 or 1728. Their first child Barnabas died per Lebanon Record, in 1751. Silas Sprague, removed about the time of the Revolutionary war, to Great Barrington, Mass., and afterwards about 1790, to East Bloomfield, Ontario Co., New York, where he died September. 1808.

Thomas Sprague, wrote 1847, to Seth Sprague, Esq., Duxbury, Mass., that he thought his grandfather Silas Sprague, was born Jan. 3, 1729, and that he had two wives, by 1st Eunice Binney, he had seven children, by his 2d wife, Abigail Hill, he had eight children, viz.: Roger, Azel, Thomas, Sophia, Betsy, Betsy 2d, Fanny and Aminta. Thomas was son of Roger, who had eight children, and he was the youngest, and says his grandfather Silas, removed to Great Barrington, before the Revolutionary war; and his father Roger removed Aug., 1822, to Oakland Co., Mich., and resided there in 1847.

One of this Sprague family, wrote in 1874-5, to H. P. Binney, from East Bloomfield, Ontario Co., N. Y., that Barnabas and his brother Capt. (Silas?) Sprague, settled there; and he, or Silas, Sen., died in 1808, and left three sons, Roger, Azel and Thomas. Silas Sprague deeds land in Great Barrington, in 1783, and was a captain in the Revolutionary war.

Elkanah Binney, of Hingham, near Weymouth, said his uncle Nathanael Pittee had a daughter Eunice, who was member of the old choir of Hingham, and her oldest sister Mary (Polly) married a Sprague, and Eunice Pittee may have been so named from Eunice (Binney) Sprague.

Lydia Talcott, of Williston, Vt., whose mother was a daughter of Thomas, son of Dr. John Binney, by his wife Hannah (Jones) Binney, wrote that she had often heard her parents speak of Silas Sprague, and her uncle Bird thought he was son of Silas Sprague, who married Eunice Binney.

Caleb Gould's will, Hull, Nov. 21, 1791, who married Sarah Binney, reserves to Elizabeth Sprague, his housekeeper, after his wife's (Sarah Binney) death, the north-west lower room in his house so long as she remains unmarried, and chuses to live in it and privilege in cellar, and well and carrying wood in, and gives her some furniture.

44. JANE<sup>4</sup> (BINNEY) JONES, of Hull, daughter of Capt. Amos (11) and Rebecca (Loring) Binney, of Hull, born in Hull, Wednesday, Oct. 16, 1735; bapt. Oct. 26, 1735; married to Thomas son of Solomon and Mary (Winsor) Jones, of Hull, by Rev. Samuel Veazie, of Hull, Jan. 6, 1763; she died May 23, 1765, aged 29 years, 7 months, soon after the birth of their only son Solomon. Thomas Jones was born Jan. 4, 1735-6.

Children :

- i Solomon<sup>5</sup> b. May 14, 1765; bapt. Aug. 11; m.
Sarah Loring, of Hull. Children : 1. Solomon

Jr., d. single. 2. Sarah, d. single. 3. Jan-Binney b. — 1794; m. Dr. Timothy Gordon, of Hingham and Plymouth, she d. at Plymouth, Jan. 15, 1877; aged 83. Dr Timothy Gordon d. Plymouth, Nov. 6, 1877, aged 82. Their son Dr. Solomon Jones Gordon, resided in Springfield, Mass., 1877. 4. Elizabeth, m. Jacob H. Loud, of the bar, Plymouth, clerk of court there, 1847; had two children.

Thomas Jones, husband of Jane Binney Jones, m. 2d Tabitha Tirrel, of Weymouth, and had by her:

- ii Thomas<sup>s</sup> b. Nov. 4, 1767; d. Jan. 6, 1844, aged 76.
- iii Molly<sup>s</sup> b. Oct. 7, 1772.

Mrs. Tabitha Jones d. Aug. 13, 1789.

To Solomon Jones (son of Thomas and Jane), in 1789, was delivered the Hull Church plate, and the small square parchment covered church records, under Carpenter and Veazie. Mrs. Thomas or Mrs. Solomon Jones, had them in 1847 at her daughter Loud's in Plymouth; she lent the writer the book, to copy; and in 1876, he sent the town clerk of Hull, a copy of them. In 1876, the writer heard Mr. John Reed, of Hull, had the silver communion cups, for the use of the present church in Hull, and a daughter of Mr. Thomas Jones, has the church records of Hull, in Hingham (1876); the new church in Hull, 1881-2, has the service now.

45. REBECCA<sup>4</sup> BINNEY 2d, daughter of Capt. Amos (11) and Rebecca (Loring) Binney, of Hull, born in Hull, Tuesday, Sept. 6, 1737; bapt. Jan. 1, 1736-7; died single, June 26, 1819, aged 82 years, 10 months, 20 days. She was spoken of by Miss Sarah Binney and her sister Mrs. Nancy Copeland, of Boston, as a "Dorcas," and with esteem, as a good old soul, kind and benevolent. After the death of her mother, and the marriage of Spencer, she lived a while in Hingham. She afterwards lived with Spencer, in the new house he built at the west end of the pond in Hull, and where she died. She was very active about her mother's house, and was often called upon by her to look after her youngest darling, Spencer, "now Becca go see where Spencer is! perhaps he has fallen into the well," and wanted Becca to try a horse first, that she bought for Spencer to ride. If he remained out "courting" too long, she sent Becca after him. Rebecca became childish and peculiar in old age, and said "folks stood for their character," and once when in that state made a fire on the floor "to warm the house." She was quite stout, and used a large sized arm rocking chair, made for her mother; and in which her mother sat most of the time previously.

Molly Binney (widow of Spencer Binney), was appointed administratrix on the estate of Rebecca Binney, "single woman, late of Hull," deceased, Aug. 2, 1819. Inventory mentions ix silver spoons and one large one, four notes of hand, furniture, &c., total $823.57, the balance divided among her brothers' and sisters' families. John Binney, Esq., Boston, in a letter of Oct. 18, 1820, to his sister Mrs. Mary Cushing, of Hingham, (see No. 45,) says: I inclose $15.85, your part of $79.27 received from Molly (Jones) Binney, administratrix on the estate of Rebecca Binney; this sum from aunt Rebecca was unexpected, for we were of opinion aunt Binney should have whatever was left, but as she has so settled it, I have taken the $79.27, and divided it among brothers and sisters.

Miss Sarah Binney bought her large bible with a part of hers. Mrs. N. Copeland, a cow with hers. John Binney, Esq., probably bought his large silver soup ladle with his. Rebecca left the large square family bible of her parents (Amos (11) and Rebecca), to her nephew Spencer Binney ; at his death, Samuel Loring his administrator, of Hull, sold it with his effects at an auction in Hull ; John Gould, who married Bitba. Binney bought it, and gave it to his daughter Mary Gould, then aged about 7 ; she married Rev. Addison Woodward, a Methodist minister, who was settled in "Ashdod," a part of Duxbury, in 1847, and where the writer saw it and copied the family record. They have since resided in New Bedford, where they were in 1874.

Amos Binney's letter, 1813, to John Binney, in Wiscasset, Me., says ; "aunt 'Becka' takes care of Mrs. Mary (Cushing) Lincoln, now sick."

47. SARAH<sup>4</sup> (BINNEY) COLLIER, daughter of Capt. Amos (11) and Rebecca (Loring) Binney, of Hull, born in Hull, Wednesday, Oct. 8, 1741 ; died March 10, 1784 ; married William Collier, of Hull, Feb. 14, 1771, son of Thomas and Bridget (Southworth) Collier, of Hull, who (T. C.) died Jan. 10, 1785.

Children :

- i Sally<sup>5</sup> published Boston, Nov. 25, 1812 ; m. Charles Bellamy, and had three or more children.
- ii William<sup>5</sup>.
- iii Benjamin<sup>5</sup>.
- iv David<sup>5</sup>.

Mrs. Sarah (Binney) Collier fell into the fire, in a fit, and was so badly burnt, that she died March 10, 1784. She had a legacy of £53, left her, "as his daughter Sarah Collier," by her father Amos Binney, in his will 1775, in Hull. A Wm. Collier died at Boston, Feb. 5, 1849.

48. RACHEL<sup>4</sup> (BINNEY) CLEVERLY, daughter of Capt. Amos (11) and Rebecca (Loring) Binney, of Hull, born in Hull, Aug. 18; bapt. Aug. 21, 1743, by Rev. Ezra Carpenter; married about 1772, Dr. John Cleverly, of Harvard, Mass., she died Oct. 3, 1780; aged 37 years, 1 month, 15 days.

Children:

- i Sally<sup>s</sup> b. Feb. 11, 1773; m. Jesse Knight, Feb. 21, 1803; had six children: Sabra, Rachel Binney and Alfred, living in 1884, and Abigail, Sarah H. and Mary, deceased before 1884.
- ii Nancy<sup>s</sup> b. May 23, 1774; m. Leonard Edgarton, Dec. 8, 1808; d. 1855, three children John, George, and Caroline, who d. Sept. 12, 1859.
- iii Rachel<sup>s</sup> b. Nov. 6, 1777; d. single Oct. 27, 1851 or 2.

By her father's will, 1775, he left his daughter Rachel, a legacy of £40.

57. ELKANAH<sup>4</sup> BINNEY, tailor of Weymouth, Mass., son of Capt. Elkanah (12) and Elizabeth (Loring) Binney, of Hull, born in Hull, April 27, 1742; bapt. May 9, 1742; died in Weymouth, Oct. 10, 1809, aged 67. "Being infirm, he was run over by two fast young men, on their return from muster, and never spoke after it."

Elkanah Binney of Hull, published to Olive Pettee, in Weymouth, Feb. 11, 1769, and married Jan. 4, 1770. She was born July 23, 1746, daughter of Nathaniel and Mary (Woodward) Pettee, she died in Weymouth, Oct. 15, 1818, aged 72. He went to sea from Hull, in his youth, and left there for Weymouth, at the age of 25, and probably went to sea a while from Scituate.

He went to Weymouth, and was a tailor and clothier there. He voted "yes" in town meeting in Weymouth, 1774, in favor of adopting the U. S. Constitution. He was a soldier in the Revolutionary army, from Weymouth, Vol. 12-98, Lexington Alarm Roll, April 10, 1775, assembled April 19 in Minute Co., Capt. Jacob Gould, Col. Benjamin Lincoln's regiment. - 188 vi Mercy<sup>e</sup> Loring, b. Jan. 23, 1815; single, 1884.
- He came to Boston (probably at the age of 14, and about 1791), to learn the boot and shoe trade. In 1809, and several years previous, he was a partner with his uncle Loring, firm of Loring & Binney, quite celebrated manufacturers, and located on Devonshire St., Boston. This firm was dissolved in 1811, see his note to that effect, with a bill of shoes, to John Binney from 1809 to March 19, 1811, credited on the back by John Binney, "paid by Kingsbury," No. 103; on the back of the bill he writes, "I have left my uncle and set up for myself, the firm of Loring & Binney, was dissolved last August."

In the Boston Directories of 1808-10, and 1816, his Shoe store, was No. 1 Kilby St., house William's Court, and he is there called "cordwainer." This court in 1873, runs from Washington St., to Court Square, and there he reared a family of six or seven children, and about 1816. he kept a bar room in Congress St.; and believe he also did at one time in N. Y., as "I recollect when I was a boy." In 1820, and for many years was a toll keeper on Canal or Craige's Bridge, Boston, and in 1820, resided on Second St. In 1822, he was taxed $318, house No. 6 Second St., valued $200, Is. Durell, owner. He lived at one time with his son Jonathan, in Medford, till 1847, afterwards in 1850, with his daughter Mercy L. Binney, in East Cambridge.

There is no portrait of him known. The writer remembers him well. The account of him above is partly from Mathew Binney and Joshua Binney, of Medford.

vi William<sup>6</sup> Brewster, b. June 15, 1835; d. Oct. 8, 1842, of croup, at the Middletown, Wesleyan University, Ct.

Rev. Robert Gould took down the old Bosworth house in Hull, and erected a new one, with part of the sound materials, on the same spot, which now remains. He built the first Methodist meeting house in North Cohasset, Mass. He joined the N. E. conference 1826. He preached in Chatham, Marshfield, 1848, Cumberland, Somerset, Dudley, Thompson, Worrich, East Greenwich and Scituate, Marlboro, 1846; Rockville and Tolland, Ct., Quincy, 1849; Weymouth, 1850; Edgerton, New Bedford N. E. Church, and removed back to Hull, May 19, 1834, and purchased the house built by his wife's brother Spencer Binney, in Hull. Was a representative to the General Court, 1836-7-8 and 40. He kept the boarding house on Fort Warren, Georges' Island, for the officers and mechanics, for five years, also on Fort Independence, Fort Winthrop; and Lovels and Rainsford Islands. He erected the "Oregon House" in Hull, out of the materials he had from the forts, on the site of John Stone's house and land in Hull, and opened it for summer boarders, in 1848-9. He was appointed commissioner of wrecks in 1840; was a delegate to the State convention, 1853. In April 1853, he removed to Hingham, to the house and lot where Peter Hobart lived, in Hingham. His son, the present Robert Gould, of East Cambridge, 1878 and 1884, carried on the Oregon House until he sold it to Mr. Harrington, who still with his son carries it on, in 1884, having added to the size of it. He died March 23, 1864, aged 69; his wife died April 11, 1858, aged 64.

97. RACHEL<sup>5</sup> BINNEY ASBURY, daughter of Spencer (54) and Mary (Jones) Binney, of Hull, born in Hull, Tuesday, Aug. 25, 1795. "She lived a consistent christian and died in the triumph of faith," Feb. 10 or 29, 1825, of consumption, and buried at Urbana, Ohio, aged 29. Published June 23, married July 6, 1823, in Hull, to Rev. Thomas Asbury, an itinerant Methodist Episcopal minister, who was born in the city of Litchfield, Straffordshire Co., Eng., in 1776, and came to the United States about 1818; he was a nephew of Bishop Francis Asbury. Soon after her marriage they removed to Columbus, Ohio, where in 1822, he had erected a two story brick house. He retired from the active itineracy, and invested largely in lands of the future city, which became very valuable. He died there Nov. 26, 1860, aged 84. Rev. Thomas Asbury married second in Duxbury, Mass., about 1826, Sarah, widow of Capt. Thomas Herrick, a ship master who died aged 40, in Richmond, Va., 1841, and daughter of Nathaniel and Olive (Soule) Winsor, of Duxbury. She died at the residence of Dr. Thomas Binney Asbury, in Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 26, 1872, who speaks highly of her character, her kindness to him in his childhood, and says: "a better and more kind and affectionate step-mother never lived,"

Children:

Rev. Thomas Asbury, and his second wife Mrs. Sarah (Winsor Herrick) Asbury, Dr. Thomas Binney Asbury's first wife Margaret (Scowden) Asbury, William T. Asbury, and two infant children of Dr. Thomas Binney Asbury, are buried in his lot in Green Lawn Cemetery, Columbus, Ohio.

Dr. Thomas Binney Asbury, has an oil life size portrait of his father Rev. Thomas Asbury, a photograph of Wm. T. Asbury, one of Mrs. Asbury, taken 1858, and one of himself taken 1875, those photographs he sent to the writer, Dec. 8, 1884.

Rev. Thomas Asbury was a self-educated man, and acquired by his own diligence a fair academic education. He came to America about 1818, as an itinerant minister; he traveled from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, all along the Atlantic Sea border and Gulf States, meeting his uncle Bishop Francis Asbury, in the south, from thence up the Mississippi and Missouri, to Fort Independence, Mo. After the dangers incident to a pioneer minister's life, he came to Columbus, Ohio, and built his two story brick house in that future city; he began preaching in England.

99. SPENCER<sup>s</sup> BINNEY, JR., of Hull, son of Spencer (54) and Mary (Jones) Binney, of Hull, born in Hull, Tuesday, March 12, 1799; died in Hull, Sept. 6, 1832, aged 33; married to Nancy Hatch, of Hanover, Mass., by Samuel Loring, Jr. Esq., of Hull, Jan. 9, 1825. She was daughter of John and Nancy (Cleaves) Hatch, and was born Oct. 27, 1804?; died in Taunton, Dec. 25, 1833,? at her brother's, where she lived.

Children :

- 189 i Nancy<sup>a</sup> Cleaves, b. Dec. 24, 1825. Nancy Binney m. at Hanover, June 23 or 25, 1850, John S. Brooks, shoemaker, of Hanover, son of John and Eunice Brooks. She d. insane Sine Prole.

- 193 v Josiah<sup>a</sup> Letch, b. Dec. 8, 1832; d. Dec. 19, 1832.

He was Town Clerk in Hull, in 1826.

Spencer Binney built the large and partly brick house in Hull, which caused much speculation of his object then; Rev. Robert Gould has since lived there, and subsequently his son Robert Gould (now 1847 and 1877, of East Cambridge), owned and occupied it. Spencer Binney probably intended it for a hotel for summer boarders from Boston. In 1874, there was an old sign of his in the attic of the house, and on it "Spencer Binney Hotel."

Mrs. Binney had a sister, Medad Turner, residing in Hull, 1847.

Samuel Loring of Hull, was administrator on his estate in Hull, 1832-3.

100. MARTIN<sup>5</sup> BINNEY, merchant of New York, son of Spencer (54) and Mary (Jones) Binney, of Hull, born in Hull, Dec. 8, 1800; died in New York City, May 4, 1836, and was buried there. Published in Boston, Nov. 12, married in Boston, by Rev. Mr. Harding, to Susan Dunn, Nov. 23, 1823. She died in Boston, May or June 2, 1861, aged 65, at No. 9 Lenox St.; was daughter of John A. (of Virginia), and Susan Dunn, of Maine, born 1796.

195 ii Anna<sup>6</sup> Maria, m. John T. Atkins, her cousin.

Both daughters of Martin Binney, are dead.

The Boston Directory, 1822, Martin Binney & Co., (Lorenzo G. Haven) English goods, 29 Cornhill, Boston.

Martin Binney afterwards removed to New York, probably as commission merchant, and with a partner, Mr. Wilson, as Dr. Amos Binney writes: Paris, France, May 5, 1825, "will ship two Alabaster Vases, for John Binney, Esq., costing 80 Francs, and other articles for Boston, via New York, in care of Wilson & Binney, to forward." Wilson & Binney were not successful in New York. After his death in New York, his widow returned to Boston, opened first, a boarding house near the college, Cambridge, and in 1847, one in Boston, which she had in 1852, in Portland St. She gave the writer the painted coat of arms her husband had, with a sheaf of wheat on the shield, of his Binney branch evidently "a Doyle."

Susan Binney, guardian of Susan A., and Anna Maria Binney, minor children of Martin Binney, of New York, deceased, petitions to sell real estate in Hull, the "Fort Hill lot," Feb. 15, 1842.

101. REV. AMOS<sup>s</sup> BINNEY, of New Haven, Ct., M. E. minister, son of Spencer (54) and Mary (Jones) Binney, of Hull, born in Hull, Saturday, Oct. 30, 1802; died in New Haven, Ct., Friday, March 29, 1878, aged 75 years, 5 months; married 1st by Albert A. Folsom, or Joseph Wilder, Justice Peace, of Hingham, July 14, 1824, Caroline, born April 3, 1803, daughter of Isaiah and Susan Wilder, of Great Plains, Hingham. She died in Roxbury, Mass., Aug. 12, 1847, and was buried in Hingham. He married 2d, Oct. 10, 1848, Isabella Hill, a daughter of James and Mary Ann Hill, of Milbury, Mass., who was for several years preceptress of the Wilbraham Academy, born Oct. 25, 1818. Mr. Binney, had been a teacher there also. In 1879 or 1880, she married 2d Miner Raymond, of Evanston, Ills., and survived him in 1884.

Children by first wife:

- 196 i Harriet<sup>b</sup> b. Sept. 23, 1826; m. Rev. Daniel Steele, D. D.
- 197 ii Mary<sup>b</sup> Spencer, b. in Lincoln, Mass., June 19, 1834; m. Mr. Samuel G. Lane.

Mr. Binney became a local preacher of the Methodist Episcopal Church, July, 1821; a traveling minister, July, 1826, connected with the N. E. Conference, serving in regular appointment (except one year as agent of the Wesleyan University). Six years as Presiding Elder on two several districts, in said Conference, until 1854, was a member of the General Court in 1852. In 1847, was of the book firm of "Binney & Otheman," Methodist book store, Cornhill, Boston, then residing in "Binney Place," rear of the foot of Mt. Pleasant, Roxbury, where he owned some small houses. After the death of his first wife, he gave up house-keeping, and his daughters went to school in Worcester, Mass.

At the Annual Methodist Episcopal convention in Boston, in 1850, he was appointed a delegate to the peace convention in Europe. He went to Europe with his wife in 1860-1. In 1873-4, he was writing his commentary on the New Testament, when it was nearly finished, he was seized with a severe paralysis, and was so helpless, as to be fed a long time; when sufficiently recovered, he and wife visited Europe, and afterwards was able to complete his theological compendium of the Bible, assisted by Rev. Dr. Steele, of which at his death the circulation had increased to 40,000 copies in the English language, with a continued yearly sale to 1884-5. It was published in 1840, and has been translated into Arabic, Chinese, German, Swedish, Bulgarian, Spanish, Italian, and Japanese languages (Mrs. Steele, 1884).

Mr. Binney attended the Conference held in 1876, spoke but little, and owing to illness, returned to New Haven, to his house, 76 High St. In that Conference, he and Rev. Mr. Otheman, were continued on the superannuated list. He was Presiding Elder at the Conference held in Boston, in 1852. For many years he had been unable to serve in the ministry, but has helped the cause by his writings, monuments of industry, talents and Biblical knowledge.

Mr. Binney was a very tall slim man, see his photograph. Since his illness he wrote a peculiar hand. Two years before his death, he preached his 50th anniversary discourse before the Conference in Lowell, Mass.

102. ANN<sup>S</sup> (BINNEY) JOSSELYN, daughter of Spencer (54) and Mary (Jones) Binney, of Hull, born in Hull, Tuesday, Oct. 3, 1804; died in East Cambridge, March 5, 1873, and buried in Hull, near her family; she was married to Rev. Aaron Josselyn, Aug. or Oct. 15, 1825, a Methodist minister, by Rev. Amos Binney, in Hingham. He married 2d June 17, 1874, Mrs. — Newt. He was son of Charles and Lucy (Dwelly) Josselyn, of Hanover, Mass.

- v Martin<sup>6</sup> B.
- vi Ann<sup>6</sup> B., a school teacher at Cambridge.
- vii Henry,<sup>6</sup> d. young.

Mrs. Josselyn, always went by the name of Ann.

Mr. Josselyn removed to Duxbury, and was of Duxbury, when first married, he built a small house with his wife Ann's property, and gave up preaching for watch repairing, which trade he learned in youth. In 1847, he had a shop in Kingston, near the depot, he was not energetic, and his wife a very smart active woman, worked hard to bring up seven children. Mr. Josselyn was a representative from Duxbury to Massachusetts Legislature, in 1853.

In 1877, Mr. Josselyn and wife not agreeing together, she one day in his absence, packed up her own furniture and things, and left him. He continues repairing watches in Cambridge. Mr. Josselyn and his daughter Ann, occupied part of Robert Gould's house, in East Cambridge, in 1883-4-5.

The daughter Ann is very capable, she erected in 1876, a handsome white marble slab set in granite, over her mother's grave in Hull, on the right of row of Binney's grave stones.

103. BARNABAS<sup>5</sup> BINNEY, of East Cambridge, son of Spencer (54) and Mary (Jones) Binney, of Hull, born in Hull, Sunday, June 8, 1806; died at his house in East Cambridge, March 18, 1874, aged 67 years, 9 months. Married his cousin Jane Binney (176), daughter of Benjamin and Lydia (Greenleaf) Binney, of Cambridge, June 5, 1828. She was born in Boston, April 7, 1800. In Oct., 1875, she had a shock of paralysis on her right side, but recovered and lived in the house where her husband died. "Died at East Cambridge, Dec. 1, 1880, Jane, widow of Barnabas Binney, aged 80 years, 8 months."

The dates &c., correspond with the records of Barnabas and Jane Binney's families, sent in 1874.

Mrs. Jane Binney inherited her father's house and the house of her husband, both in East Cambridge. In 1877, she and her brother Mathew Binney, of Boston, were the only members of her father's family alive.

Barnabas Binney was at one time in his brother Martin's store at New York. Afterwards was in the Iron Casting business, then a presser in E. Cambridge Glass Works. When John Binney, Esq., of Boston, established the Granite Bank, he appointed Barnabas Binney messenger, which office he faithfully discharged 14 years, until he had a rheumatic fever, when they were obliged to select another in 1848. After recovery, he was a collector for Banks, Insurance offices, and estates. Was an overseer and assessor of East Cambridge, 1850. Chosen deacon of the 2d Universalist Church, East Cambridge, Jan., 1856. He told the writer in Sept., 1873, that he had had three severe rheumatic fevers. In 1873, his residence was No. 102 Otis St., East Cambridge, in which year he had a paralytic shock, but was recovering from it in June. His hair and beard had been white for several years. In March, 1874, he took cold, had congestion of one lung and lived a short time; a few moments before his death he conversed with each son, put his arm around his wife's neck, kissed her and passed away. In 1873, the writer and H. P. Binney visited him, he was bright, his speech slightly affected, but feeble, he gave each of us his photo. and showed us the china bowl said to have been brought from Liverpool, by Capt. Barnabas Binney, and given to his brother Amos Binney, Sen., and which came to his son Spencer, who gave it to Barnabas, named for Capt. Barnabas Binney, it has figures of sheep lying down on the inside.

106. JOSHUA<sup>s</sup> BINNEY, "yeoman and mariner," of Weymouth, son of Elkanah (57) and Olive (Pittee) Binney, of Weymouth, born in Weymouth, Mass., Oct. 17 or 19, 1770; drowned Sept. 15, 1808, aged 37, from a stone lighter, capsized in a gale, off Nantasket beach, going from Weymouth to Plymouth, Mass., his body came on shore at Nantasket beach. He left seven minor children. Married Phoebe, daughter of Ebenezer and Mary Hollis, Feb. 27, 1794. She was born July 2, 1776; died Dec. 21, 1847, having married second Asa French, April 1, 1818. In 1808, widow Phoebe Binney, declined administration on his estate, for insolvency, and Asa French was appointed. He owned a house, &c. And she stated to the Judge of Probate that she had seven children, &c.

- 219 ix Sarah<sup>6</sup> Wilder, b. in Hingham, Oct. 19, 1827.

Elkanah Binney was a nailmaker, then farmer. He resided in Weymouth ten years, and since in Hingham, near Weymouth. In 1849, he told the writer that he was 75 years old and his wife 65 years old. He was tall and thin, small features, and shows his age, and though of active habits, cannot remember old events well.

His wife was larger, younger, dark complexion, wore a necklace of large gold beads, had a good memory, and gave most the above account of her children verbally. They had no written record of their family. They resided north of the railroad crossing and back from Weymouth, in a field. Elkanah and Nancy, two of the children of Elkanah and Olive (Pittee) Binney, were twins, and born Oct. 9, 1775.

110. OLIVE<sup>5</sup> (BINNEY). JENNINGS — GLOVER, daughter of Elkanah (57) and Olive (Pittee) Binney, of Weymouth, born in Weymouth, Jan. 3, 1778; Mrs. Glover d. March 21, 1831, aged 52 years. Published May 3, married 1st, by Rev. Dr. Stillman, May 17, 1804, to Benjamin Jennings. She was erroneously called Alice Binney on book of publishments, Boston, May 3, 1804. She married 2d William Glover, she had a family.

111. JOHN<sup>5</sup> BINNEY, housewright, Boston, son of Elkanah (57) and Olive (Pittee) Binney, of Weymouth, born in Weymouth, Wednesday, Aug. 17, 1780 or 1781; died at Boston, Sept. 30, 1838, aged 57, of consumption. Published Boston, July 9, 1807, married in Boston, April or Aug. 9, 1807, by Rev. Samuel Baldwin to Jane Sargent. His widow Jane resided in Minot St., Boston, 1849; died there April 24, 1867, aged 79 years, 10 months. He resided in Deacon St., about half way between Portland and Friend Streets, on the east side. (Deacon St. was a short street, running north and south from Portland to Friend St., and ended there; the street was afterwards opened by the city of Boston, taking away an old house then occupied as a boarding house, by Mathew Binney's grandmother, Jenny (Loring) Binney, a widow, and her sister Mrs. Spear, it was opened through to the square on Merrimac St., and the whole length of the street from Court St. to Merrimac St., was called Sudbury St.). Mr. Binney was a tall spare man, and a good workman, the writer remembers him, Mathew Binney remembers him as not over 5 feet 8 or 9 inches, and a little round shouldered, thin face, high cheek bones, sharp black eyes, and sallow complexion. He was at one time in copartnership with Samuel Lane. His daughters had the same small, sharp, black eyes. He remembers Mr. John Binney very well, does not remember his son, but knew Orcutt and Pratt, who each married one of his daughters, both deceased in 1874. Mr. Sargent, he did not know, but thinks he is living in 1874.

Amos Binney

Dr. Binney in his youth attended the Derby Accademy, Hingham, Mass., and boarded with Mr. Kimball, and there developed his taste for natural history, in a large collection of nests and eggs of birds, &c. He prepared for Brown University, which he entered in 1817. He wrote a very good affectionate letter at the age of 15, to his aunt Mrs. Mary Cushing, on the death of her son Stephen in 1818, which the writer has.

"Our tender tie." * *

"Of earthly bliss, it breaks at every breeze."

"It admonishes us that although we ourselves may at present be in the enjoyment of life and health, with all their pleasures, yet soon may the baneful Cypress wave over the tomb, which shall be the only repository of our earthly remains."

After a youthful frolic in college, he was rusticated for a short time to a country town to study in some Parson's family, where he amused himself in learning to make horse-shoe nails at the blacksmith's. He graduated from Brown University in 1821. Took his degree of M. D. at Harvard College, 1826, having studied medicine with the late Dr. George C. Shattuck, in Staniford St., Boston. He never practiced medicine.

In 1824, unfavorable symptoms of health appearing, he rode horseback from Boston to Cincinnati, Ohio, where on his arrival he was seized with a fever; on a partial recovery he had a severe relapse, and was carefully attended to through all his illness by Dr. Greene, in whose family he fortunately was. On his recovery he returned home also on horseback.

In 1825, he was ordered to Europe for a year for his health, and was accompanied by Theodore Russell Jenks, a son of the late William Jenks, D. D., of Boston, as a companion, in case of Dr. Binney's illness.

Dr. Binney possessed the art of writing interesting, amusing and descriptive letters in perfection, the writer has several of them. The visit gratified his taste for natural history and fine arts, and he laid the foundation of his valuable library and collections on those subjects.

He made a visit to Savannah, Georgia, Florida, &c., with his wife and in Savannah met with the Rev. Joseph Getchell Binney, then preaching there as a Baptist minister.

He entered into mercantile business, in company with the late John S. Tyler, of Boston, at 33 Long Wharf, Boston. Subsequently he devoted himself to his father's affairs, assisting him in his large business, making himself acquainted with business in general, under so able a teacher, and devoting his leisure time to literature, fine arts and natural history. After the decease of his father he occupied himself in settling his large estate, and increasing his own property by judicious investments in stocks and real estate in and near Boston, especially near "Tommy's Rocks," Roxbury, and in land near Longwood, Boston side, then Roxbury, which has increased in value, escaping the commercial crisis of 1837, but with severe losses. In five years from that time, he retrieved them and enlarged his estate. He was chosen president of the Hancock Bank, to wind up its affairs involved by previous mismanagement of others. In 1830, he was one of the founders, and drew up the constitution of the Boston Natural History Society, was its curator and treasurer from 1832 to 1834, corresponding sec., 1834 to 1837; vice-president in 1837 to 1843, and president of it in 1843, and to which he presented his valuable collection of minerals, shells and birds. After 1835, he devoted much time and study to the "Terrestrial Mollusks of the United States," always collecting specimens on his travels, a valuable treatise on which he prepared for the press, and had expensive plates made in Paris, to illustrate them, and left directions in his will that it should be published by his friend Dr. A. A. Gould, of Boston, who wrote an eloquent memoir of Dr. Binney, from which some of the foregoing account is taken.

The "Terrestrial Mollusks of the United States," was published in several volumes, a monument of the industry and love of science of the author, a copy of which he directed to be presented to the Scientific Societies of the United States, and several in Europe. Chiefly by Dr. Binney's efforts, the new brick building of the Boston Natural History Society, was erected in 1846. He was a member of most all the Scientific Societies of America. The American Philosophical Society; American Academy of Arts and Sciences; the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia; the New York Lyceum; the Natural History Societies of Salem, Mass., of Hartford, Ct., Portland, Me., &c., a prominent member of the American Association of Geologists and Naturalists, at its session in Boston, in 1848, over which he was to have presided.

While a member of the House of Representatives, Massachusetts Legislature, 1836-7, he obtained the vote for a commission of a Zoological Survey, added to that of Geology of the State of Massachusetts under Professor Hitchcock, and also an appropriation to the Boston Natural History Society. With a view to encourage American Art and Artists, he offered a generous price to four of the most prominent American Artists, each to select a subject on American History, or written by Americans. He selected Huntington, Rothermal, Leutze and Terry, who produced the paintings owned by him, viz.: Henry VIII and Catherine Parr, by Huntington, "Noche Triste," from Prescott's Conquest of Mexico, by Rothermal, Spaniards storming a Mexican Teocalli, from the same history, by Leutze, a very large painting, and Columbus before Ferdinand and Isabella, with gifts and Indians, on his return from the discovery of America, by Terry, from Prescott's Ferdinand and Isabella. They were requested to produce works pledges of their ability, and on which posterity might judge of their reputation. All these were owned by Dr. Binney. Similar propositions were made to the American sculptors, Powers and Crawford, and other artists in statuary and bronze. There is an excellent oil portrait of Dr. Binney.

In 1846, his health again failing, he took passage to Havre, with his wife for a trip to Europe, to see if that would recruit it. After a short tarry in Paris, his bodily suffering and nervous irritability increasing, they started for Italy. In Florence his sufferings increased. The "Mistral" of the Appennines, chilly and penetrating, with the discomforts of the lodgings, produced a violent attack of pleurisy. Though suffering much from the ride, on the 4th of Feb., they pushed on to Rome, for medical advice, as the last resort. There the best medical advice and skill with active treatment, was at first beneficial, but after a relapse, of no avail. The day after his arrival, from his bed he penned his last short note of farewell to his sister Mary, full of love to all his family, longing to see them, and regretting his having left home. Convinced of his situation, a few days after on the 6th of February, in the presence of Franklin Dexter, Esq., and his two children, of Boston, he signed his will with difficulty in a trembling hand to a codicil of his will he had made Oct. 6, 1846, before he left home, showing the effects of a deceased body acting on his mind. He revoked several munificent donations to his favorite societies in Boston. After fourteen days of suffering in Rome; during which his wife was his constant nurse day and night, a softening of the brain finally produced delirium and unconsciousness, ending in death on the 18th of February, 1847, at the age of 43 years, 4 months, just before 7 P. M., Roman time, civil reckoning. His mother in Boston, dying at 2 A. M., of the same day and year and preceding his death four and a half hours. On the arrival of his body funeral services were held at his sisters and brother's house, Boston. Rev. Dr. Charles Lowell, officiated, all Dr. Binney's family and immediate connexions, and many friends were present in large numbers, among them Rev. Mr. Snowdon, the colored minister, and "Father Taylor," the sailor's minister, both of whom Dr. Binney's father Col. Amos Binney, had befriended, and many others.

He was buried at Mt. Auburn Cemetery, in the large lot of that family, in the east end of the lot. The beautiful and costly marble cenotaph, made by Crawford, in Rome, by the direction of Mrs. Binney, was subsequently placed in the centre of the lot, in July 1850, representing a drapery thrown over it in heavy folds, on one side is a deep niche, in bas relief is a figure representing the spirit of the departed ascending, the face turned heavenward, on the other side is a female figure veiled, a small part of her face only visible looking down to and holding an urn.

Dr. Binney was of a fine, tall, erect and robust appearance, dark complexion, very black hair and eyes, good features, prominent nose, was gentlemanly and courteous, though rather reserved in manner, voice full, deep, and distinct, of a refined and elegant taste, fond of literature and the fine arts, evinced by his large and well selected library, pictures, engravings, statuary, &c. His library was one of the best private collections, and especially rich in Natural History, and often consulted by those interested in similar studies. He was a great student and writer, often sitting in his library half the night, like his father; although he reported himself naturally indolent, he accomplished a vast deal in his short life. Happy in his family, he was desirous "that his children may especially imbibe principles of honor and religion, and that it may be their high aim to acquire and deserve the name of christian gentlemen, and that it may be said of my house, not 'that all the sons were brave, and daughters virtuous,' but also that all the sons were upright and honorable, and all the daughters good."

164. CHARLES<sup>6</sup> JAMES FOX BINNEY, of Boston, son of John (88) and Sarah Ann (Callender) Binney, of Boston, born in his father's Allen St. house, Oct. 2, 1806, in Boston; married Oct. 29, 1829, Clarissa, born Oct. 14, 1810, daughter of Deacon George Loring, and his second wife Hannah (Drew) Loring, of and in Duxbury, Mass.

Mr. Binney attended the school of Rev. Joseph Richardson, in Hingham, then the private school of Rev. Wm. Jenks, of Boston, and the public Latin School of Boston, in 1819, under the late Benjamin A. Gould, and afterwards the late Capt. Alden Partridge's Military Academy, at Norwich, Vt., but preferring mercantile business, entered his father's store 33 Long-wharf, Boston, about 1825. In 1826, as a member of the Boston Light Infantry, he visited New York, the company commanded by Parker H. Pierce.

After his father's decease, he continued the same business, principally navigation. He removed from Mt. Vernon, to Dorchester, afterwards to Mt. Pleasant, Roxbury, and Oct., 6, 1848, to Florence St., Boston, a year or two, the house being unhealthy causing constant illness of his family, he was advised by his physician, to move out of town. He moved to the house on Binney St., Roxbury, which in 1873, was taken in as part of Boston, where he has since resided.

Dr. Amos Binney and himself were the executors of his father's estates and by judicious management and running his ships, during the high freight year, increased the result of the estate largely. He was also guardian of his brother William C. Binney, until he was of age. Administrator on the estate of Mr. John Copeland, whose wife was his aunt Nancy, administrator of her brother John C. Binney's estate, and trustee with Charles B. Wells, of his sister Sarah P. Binney. Of late years he attended to commission and ship brokerage business. In 1839, he joined the Boston Marine Society as an honorary member. In 1848, he sailed from New York, in the Bark Jessurun, Capt. Vinal, with his son Charles L. Binney, for the latter's health, (he having shown symptoms of pulmonary complaint from a severe cold,) for the Island of Curacoa, where they remained three months and returned in the same vessel, via. New York May 17.

Afterwards while moving from Mt. Pleasant to Florence St., a small money bag was stolen containing the red cornelian seal with "J. B." on it, and several seals and rings.

In 1850, he finished his History and Genealogy of the Prentice or Prentiss family, the first edition of which was published in 1852, and the second edition enlarged, corrected and illustrated, in 1883.

After the decease of his daughter Emily, in 1839, a large portrait of her was painted by Alexander of Boston, and a full length marble statue of her as she lay, as if asleep, dressed in her usual clothes, in her crib, was made by Henry Dexter, of Cambridge. In 1840, this was placed under the marble entablature, supported on four fluted columns of marble on a granite base, in the centre of his private double lot No. 681 Yarrow path, at Mt. Auburn Cemetery, at Cambridge, Mass., it was for several years enclosed in glass, which was subsequently removed.

In Oct. 1841, the writer requested his friend John Bobson, Esq., of Wiscasset, since 1884, of Boston, to forward the remains of his mother Sarah A. (Callender) Binney, to Boston, they were temporarily placed in the "Binney receiving-tomb," Copps hill Cemetery, Boston, and then with the remains of his grandmother, Mary (Prentice) Binney, of his father John Binney, Esq., and those children of his father, who had died, were removed from the Copps hill Binney tomb, to the writer's lot at Mt. Auburn, on the west side, his grandmother first on the north west corner, next his father, his mother, then Nancy, &c., and a slab for his brother John who died and was buried at sea, marble slabs were placed over each grave, the feet of each towards the monument in the centre. His sister Sarah P. Binney, was also buried on that side, and on the decease of Mrs. J. C. R. Binney, second wife of John Binney, she was placed there, and also Sarah (Winkley) Binney, wife of Amos R. Binney, was allowed to be placed there; on the decease of his aunts Miss Sarah Binney, and Mrs. Nancy Copeland, sisters of the writer's father, they were buried on the north side, near their mother Mary P. Binney, and slabs placed over each.

On the south-east or east side of the lot, which side is reserved for the writer's own family, were placed the remains of our daughter Emily, in 1839, aged 4 years, 6 months, and son Prentice died 1849, and a slab to Charles L. Binney, our son, who died at sea in 1863, on his return from Singapore, to enter the northern army, since our daughter Mary Prentice, was buried there. In the north-east corner of the lot are placed the remains of Mary Isabella, in 1866, of Charles Franklin, in 1873, young children of Henry Franklin, and Isabelle (Binney) Stadder. The writer has at his house the excellent portrait of his father John Binney, Esq., painted by Harding, framed by Mrs. M. A. Binney, and sent to him by her.

To 1878, the writer had been prevented for several years from attending to business.

He was a member many years of the N. E. Histor. Genealog. Society, Boston, member of Boston Light Infantry, and marched to New York with them, under Parker H. Pierce, chosen an honorary member of the Pennsylvania Histor. Society, also of the Marine Society of Boston, author and collector for the past 40 years of a Memoir, History and Genealogy of the Binney family, aided of late years by Henry P. Binney, of Boston.

A., June 25, 1884; was a member of Dr. Charles Lowell's West Church, in 1852. He married Maria Louisa, daughter of William Chamberlin, of Philadelphia, in Paris, France, March 20, 1855. Her father and mother have since deceased, leaving property to their children.

Children :

- 393 i Marie<sup>8</sup> b. in Paris, Aug. 5, 1856; m. F. W. Earl, of Burlington, N. J.

- 394 ii Florence<sup>a</sup> Ethel, b. Feb. 4, 1861; m. Albert Alexander Kingsland, of New York. She has one son Alexander Kingsland, Jr., b. in New York; she now resides with her father.

Mr. Binney resides in Burlington, N. J. He and family while in Europe acquired the correct French pronunciation, and he has inherited his father's taste for Natural History, especially Conchology. In 1867, the State of Massachusetts selected him to complete a new edition of the Invertabrateae of the state, making a book of 524 pages and plates, published by the state printers at the University Press, Cambridge, Mass. The first edition of which was published by Dr. A. A. Gould. Mr. Binney's work is a monument of his patience, skill and learning. A notice of Mr. Binney and his works, is in the Smithsonian Institution report, a copy of which is in Vol. 7, of the reports of the Historical Society of Boston. He has been a sufferer from neuralgia, &c., and spent several winters in St Augustine, Fla., and Aiken, S. C. June 6, 1884, being the last survivor of his father's family. On the death of his mother in Newport, R. I., he inherited most of the paintings and works of art, left by his father, and as such, also a fourth of the property of Miss M. G. P. Binney, of New York, at her decease. Some land he had from his father and his two brothers, opposite Appleton Place, Roxbury district, Boston, on the Back Bay, will eventually be valuable. When the small full length photo of Mr. Binney, was taken, he was slim, of late years he has grown stout. He has since completed, in 1885, a manual of American Land Shells, published by the United States National Museum, as Bulletin No. 28, 528 pages.

PART II.

THE BINNEYS OF WORKSOP, HULL, BAWTRY, SHEFFIELD AND NEWCASTLE, ENGLAND, EDINBURGH, SCOT-LAND, AS FAR AS KNOWN, AND THEIR DESCENDANTS IN AMERICA.

BINNEYS

Believed to be the English home of the Binney family, who are said to have gone there from some place in Scotland, with one of the early Dukes of Norfolk, who built Worksop Manor. And "there is a tradition in the family (writes Thomas Casson Binney, of Hull, Eng., in 1847), that one of the name went early to America, and probably was the John Binney, of Hull, Mass., of 1680." And it is likely that the Bawtry and Sheffield branches, many of whose descendants, mostly farmers, are in the Western or Southern States of America, and some in Australia and New Zealand, were also of the Worksop branch. Worksop, Nottinghamshire, England, is a market town and parish, of England, 25 miles north of Nottingham, on the Ryton, at the northern extremity of the Sherwood forest, with a station on the Sheffield & Lincolnshire Railroad; population in 1871—7215.

The church formed part of an ancient priory, and is one of the most perfect specimens of the Anglo-Norman style, of the 12th century, in England. The Norman nave of the Priory church, with the aisles, was re-established in the perfect style and now serves as the Parish church. There are two western towers, surrounded by modern battlements and pinnacles, and the east end has a good triple lancet, with a circular window above. The south porch has an elaborate groined roof. The church contains many monuments, &c., from the old one; at a short distance east of the present church, is the ruins of "Lady's Chapel." It is a very fine east of England work. There is little left of this Augustine Abbey. The ruins of the priory in the distance, under the large arch of the latter, as seen in the two photographs, with a lens, can be seen the burial ground of the Binney family, surrounded by an iron railing, and adjoining the place to the right, which Mr. Owen took from it, who removed the grave-stones of several of the older Binneys, without authority. In all probability, our family have been buried there since the date of the dissolution of the priories by Henry VIII, 1536 to 1539, to get possession of them and their incomes; and even before that time. The burial place as seen by the photograph, is a most picturesque and solemn looking last resting place (writes Edward William Binney, of Manchester Eng). It was the custom of the Worksop, Hull, Sheffield and Leeds families of the name, wherever they died, to be buried in the Worksop old church cemetery (wrote Thomas Casson Binney, in 1847, from Hull). And that the Binneys of Worksop, had buried there some 200 to 250 years. They were yeomen, tradesmen and land owners.

THOMAS CASSON BINNEY, in the grain and lumber trade, of Hull, Wakefield, Eng., son of Thomas (8) and Elizabeth (Cowley) Binney, born in Worksop, about 35 miles from Wakefield, May 3, 1795; married Isabella Holt, of Rochdale. He died in Wakefield, at his residence, June 21, 1865, aged 70, and was buried in Worksop. He was christened Thomas Casson Binney, but only used Thomas Binney, in letters, &c.

Children :

- 25ai William Thomas, m. Annie Wilby, of Hepte, near Hull, and has children. He and his brother Robert were in business in Hull, England, in 1854, together, under the firm of "Thomas Binney," corn merchant. He was

- corn merchant, in Hull, 1884, and resided in Hull, 1885.
- 25/bii Robert, m. Emina Sooby, of Norton Hall, in Norfolk; had children in 1849, and was in business in Hull, Eng., with his brother William, as "Thomas Binney," as above, in 1854, of Leeds, 1884, and retired from business.
- 26 iii Isabella, single, of Hull, 1885.
- 27 iv Rachel, m. Richard Baxter; had children in Hull, 1866, and where he was a corn merchant, in 1884.
- 28 v Eliza, single, in Hull, 1885.
- 29 vi Mary, m. Charles Armstrong, silk merchant; has children, and living in Manchester, Eng. She is alive and he is deceased in 1885.

Thomas C. Binney was at one time in business in Hull, Eng., with his two sons, as the above firm of "Thomas Binney," in the grain and lumber trade, he retired and left the business and firm name to his two sons above. In 1849 had resided in Wakefield, for 40 years, a branch of the Hull firm was also in Wakefield.

He wrote 1849: "some one of the family left England about 250 to 300 years ago for America, and the whole Binney family had buried in Worksop 200 to 250 years, their native place. I understand our family came from Scotland, my father and uncle were reticent about their ancestors. The Dukes of Norfolk own "Worksop Manor," in Worksop, and it is thought our family came from Scotland, through their influence. Thomas, Richard and John, were family names for a long time back. It is possible that John Binney, of Hull, Mass., U. S., in 1680, may be the one who left (as above) for America." In his letter, 1854, he says: "our family for 2 or 3 generations has been small, not more then two brothers and sisters, and now 1854, number 15 male children."

RICHARD BINNEY.

25. EDWARD WILLIAM BINNEY, of Manchester, England, F. R. S., son of Thomas (8) Binney, of Morton, near Gainsboro, Eng., by his second wife Elizabeth, daughter of James and Elizabeth Cross, of Grinslay on the hill, born Dec. 7, 1812, at Morton, fellow of the R. S. & G. S. Mr. Binney going in a small boat, Dec. 8, 1881, towards the steamer, to return from his summer residence in Douglass, Isle of Man, to his residence in Manchester, fell down paralysed, and became worse on the steamer; when brought to his own house at Cheetham Hill, seldom conscious, from Dec. 8, to Dec. 20, 1881, when he died. In his youth he was educated at a boarding school in Gainsborough, Lincolnshire, of some note. He served his time as a solicitor, at Chesterfield, and after being a while in London, settled in Manchester, but soon found he had no special love for the study of law. In appearance he was a strong, tall and active man, fond of nature, a student of rocks and scenery, and an especial lover of Sherwood Forest, to which he made frequent visits, and lately before his death, was planning excursions there in the spring. He came to Manchester in 1836, and resided most of the time at Cheetham Hill. When a young man, he was present at the founding of the Manchester Geological Society, and soon began the collection, afterwards known as the Museum of that society, subsequently transferred to the Natural History Museum, and thence to Owen's College. He was secretary, vice-president and president, of the Literary and Philosophical Society of Manchester, and read many of his ninety-four mostly geological publications, before it, and there made the acquaintance of Mr. James Young, F. R. S., LL. D., the Scotch chemist, employed in the Chemical Works, at Ardwick, then residing in Manchester. Mr. Young told Mr. Binney that the Scotch Boghead coal, and coal pit shale, contained a good deal of paraffine, which Mr. Binney thought worth extracting, and so told Mr. Young, after several conversations, each suspected the other was about to enter into a speculation in the matter, and in fact, they both met in Edinburgh, and on the same pursuit, they then formed a partnership, and took a place at Leigh, to try the experiment, which was so successful that they took out a patent, and it proved very profitable, they finally sold it to a limited company, for £120,000. Mr. Binney retired from business with a large fortune. He purchased a beautiful residence called "Ravenscliffe," in Douglass, Isle of Man, overlooking the harbor, and where he spent his summers, and his winters in Manchester. As a geologist, especially of the coal counties of England, he stood one of the foremost in rank. He liked to encourage the study of nature among the working classes, assisting and lecturing to them, and taking them on his geological excursions. He was intimate with Samuel Bamford, and Mr. Richard Buxton, author of Flora Mancancensis, the old and refined botanist, the poor and uneducated, yet refined and learned "gentleman," with a quick temper, and scorn of empirics. Mr. Binney had a good heart, and did much good with his means. His power of observation was acute. A friend of Mr. Binney, for 40 years, speaks of him in the highest terms.

The late Mr. Amos Binney of Boston, Mass., in company with the late Professor Rogers, of Boston U. S., met Mr. Binney at a meeting of geologists in 1849, at Swansea, Wales, of which Edward Wm. Binney, was an active and influential member. His father told him, when he married to obtain a good and healthy wife, above all things, if she had not a second shift to her back. Mr. Binney married in 1856, Mary Christiana, daughter of David Jones, Rector of Hope Bagot, near Ludlow, County of Salop, whose brother is Vicar of Ellsthorpe, and one sister who married — Davis, of Bowdon; another married Mr. Bradney.

Children:

- 49 i Edward William, b. Dec. 13, 1857.
- 50 ii Thomas Godfrey, b. May 27, 1861; m. Susan Hobson, daughter of a clergyman, of Douglass, Isle of Man, they resided there in summer of 1884. In 1884-5, with his wife and child, traveling round the world had a second child b. in Australia.
- 51 iii Maud Elizabeth, b. July 1 1863; m. Oct. 1884, Mr. Sowerby, of Lincolnshire.
- 52 iv Alice Hannah, b. Sept. 6, 1864, m. Mr. Grub.
- 53 v Joan Cross, b. Nov. 10, 1865.
- 54 vi James, b. Aug. 5, 1868, traveling with a tutor in 1886.

Mrs. Mary C., widow of Edward Wm. Binney, did not long survive the loss of her husband, and died from some internal disease. She was a bright intelligent woman, an affectionate wife and mother, her grief at the loss of her husband, is supposed to have hastened her death.

Mr. Binney wrote to the writer of this in 1873, "our race is a good, hard, sound and robust constitutioned one." In 1875, he wrote "that his grandmother was Elizabeth Casson, of Thorne, in the County of Yorke, a Quakeress, as appears from her gravestone, at Worksop. Your ancestor John Binney, of Hull, Mass., U. S., is I imagine, connected with the first Benjamin Binney, of Worksop, Notts, who was son of William Binney, who died in 1643. I send you a copy of the Worksop Register, relative to Binneys, and copies of all the inscriptions, now remaining of the old tomb and gravestones there, and of those since 1700, and extracts of records from old family Testaments."

34. RICHARD HENRY BINNEY son of Richard (20) and Jane (Walker) Binney, born in Morton, 1831.; married 1866, in Adelaide, S. Australia, Jane, daughter of Henry Tout, a corn merchant of Neath, Glamorganshire, S. Wales. Mr. Binney resided 1866, in Adelaide; in 1884-5, in Melbourne, as a wine merchant. He died suddenly Aug. 9, 1885, aged 54, at Atherton-ponds, Victoria, where his widow resided in 1885. He was very large and stout, weighing over 19 stone, was of a genial temper and was in good circumstances, after several ups and downs in a new country, yet like the old family saying: "you may knock a Binney down, but you can't keep him down." He as well as others of his father's family, used the Scotch Binney Arms per Burke's heraldry, which the Worksop branch did but with this added motto, "Appetitus Ratione Parenti."

Children :

- 59 i Robert Heslenden, b. at Adelaide, 1853; m. 1880, Catherine, daughter of John Liddle, of the Fourth, Tasmania, and had children: 1. Francis Heslenden Liddle, b. 1881, at Essenden, Vic-

EDW. H. BINNEY.

SHEFFIELD ENGLAND BRANCH.

(Supposed from Worksop.)

51. JOSEPH BINNEY, of Sheffield, Eng., son of —. (Joseph Binney is supposed to be a younger brother of Mordecai Binney, of Worksop,) born in the small parish of Baton, four miles from Sheffield; died 1812. In the Universal British Directory for 1790, Joseph Binney of Sheffield, was a pen and pocket knife cutler. "The Sheffield branch is likely to be allied to the Worksop branch, those places being only about 18 miles apart, though there is no tradition in our family of any relationship."

Children as far as known :

- 52 i George, b. in Sheffield, 1737; m. Mary Hare, always resided in Sheffield; he d. 1821, aged 84. Served apprenticeship to the shear making business, which he followed to age of 75. They had one child, viz. :
- 53 i Joseph, b. 1782; m. 1802, Mary Bibbs. He was a locksmith, and resided in Sheffield till 1820, when he emigrated to Philadelphia, Pa., U. S., and became a citizen there. Have had thirteen children, five boys, and eight girls; six of the girls, and two boys, born in England; three boys, and two girls, born in Philadelphia ; one boy and one girl, died in England ; one boy and five girls, came to America (Philadelphia). In 1849, he was a locksmith, at 73 South 5th Street, Philadelphia, Pa., had five children, all girls, living ; the boys died young. Names of the children unknown.

- 54 ii William, b. 1797 ; d. 1873 ; m. —, had several children, one of whom, Joseph, is a solicitor of Sheffield, Eng., in 1885, a law partner with Arthur John his brother, firm of "Binney & Sons," solicitors, Hoole's Chambers, 47 Bank St., Sheffield. Alfred Septimus Binney, of Sheffield, is also brother of Joseph and Arthur John : Joseph says "his grandfather Joseph, the cutler and merchant of Sheffield, was a younger brother (?) of Mordecai Binney, of Worksop," as he believes. See his letter Sheffield, Jan. 5, 1886 ; his family is the only old one of Sheffield, there are other Binneys there. "Some members of the family, and one of my uncles went, I believe to Illinois, about forty years ago (1846?), perhaps this was the Joshua or Benjamin Binney, near Logansport, Ind."

Joseph 51, Benjamin 55, 56, and Joshua 57, were relatives of each other.

BAWTRY BRANCH.

(Probably from the Worksop, England, Branch.)

1. BENJAMIN BINNEY, son of —; married Sarah —.

Children:

- 2 i Benjamin.
- 3 ii John Jackson Bur, d. Sept., 1803 (inscription in the Bawtry church yard).
- 4 iii Richard.

2. BENJAMIN BINNEY, son of Benjamin (1) and Sarah (—) Binney, born —; married Catherine —.

Children:

- 5 i John, b. Feb. 14, 1801; d. March 7, 1874, buried in the cemetery in Bawtry; m. Sarah —, who as his widow was in Bawtry, 1879. Had six children, three are deceased, and two daughters and one son Benjamin alive, latter in United States, 1879.
- 6 i Benjamin, is in the United States, 1879.

Bawtry Yorkshire, in 1853 was a small town on the great northern road. And since the disappearance of stage coaches, is a very quiet and forlorn place. The glassy stream of the "Idle," winds through the plain of Austerfield

(which is near Scrooby), between the villages of Bawtry and Scrooby. The spots of interest connected with the Scrooby church, are all comprised within a small circuit of Bawtry. Emanuel College of Cambridge, was early the nursery of the Pilgrim Ministry. John Robinson joined them at Scrooby. Bradford was a native of Scrooby, and knew the Dutch, French, Latin and Hebrew languages.

Edward William Binney, of Manchester, said there were Binneys in Bawtry in the middle of the seventeenth century, and probably the above families.

5 iv —.

6 v —.

7 vi —.

8 vii Archibald, youngest son. b. in Edinburgh, 1762 or 3, type founder, came to United States.

9 viii Elizabeth, resided in Philadelphia, 1849, but age had so impaired her memory, no information could be had from her. She m. the late General Alexander Trotter, of Morton Hall, near Edinburgh. She with her two daughters : Catherine, Joanna, and son Alexander, emigrated to Philadelphia, Pa., and settled there, where they all died.

10 ix Margaret, m. — Dunbar.

S. ARCHIBALD BINNEY, type founder, of Philadelphia, son of John (1) and wife (—) Binney, the brewer of Edinburgh, Scotland, born in Edinburgh, in 1762 or 3; died April 25, 1838, aged 75. Married first in Edinburgh, Elizabeth —, she was born there and died and was buried in Philadelphia, at Pine and 4th St. soon after 1796; of the Presbyterian persuasion. He married second in Philadelphia, Pa., Charlotte Prager, of Philadelphia, born May 25 1790. In 1873, she resided at No. 1835 Chesnut St., Philadelphia, with her daughter Harriet Binney, and died April 10, 1875, in her 85th year.

Archibald Binney left Scotland for political reasons, having written against the Government. He emigrated at an early age or shortly before 1796, to the United States, and was for many years settled in Philadelphia, Pa., where he soon after engaged in type foundry business, and associated with him in that business, his friend James Ronaldson, under the firm of "Binney & Ronaldson," which was very successful and lucrative, and was one of, if not the first, successful type foundry establishments, in the United States. Mr. Joseph Binney (53), of the Sheffield Branch, wrote to the writer of this from Philadelphia, in 1849, "that the firm of Binney & Ronaldson, earned an eminent and enviable reputation in their business throughout the United States." Mr. Archibald Binney materially aided our Government, in a financial way in the war of 1812. He retired from business and settled at his family residence "Porto Bello," in St. Mary's Co., Maryland, just before the breaking out of the war of 1812, and there passed the remainder of his life, until his decease, Wednesday 25th April, 1838, in the 75th year of his age, and was interred in the Episcopal church yard there. His daughter Harriet wrote:

"On Saturday last, 25th May, 1873, my mother celebrated her 83d birth day. Her mental faculties are now too much impaired to write you or give reliable information on the subject of her family. John, the first son of Mr. Archibald Binney, was the one who wrote you in 1849, and Archibald his half brother is the one you referred to as in New Orleans. I send you a photo of my father Archibald Binney, from an old oil painting of some years since, 'poorly executed, and a good one of my mother, taken when seventy-seven years old. The family record was unfortunately lost on removal from Maryland to Philadelphia, some years since, with many valuable papers of our family, and some relative to French Spoilation, in which my mother's family were deeply interested. I believe my father had two sisters; Margaret, wife of — Dunbar, and Elizabeth, wife of the late Gen. Alexander Trotter, of Mereton Hall, near Edinburgh, Scotland. She with her two daughters Catherine and Johanna, and a son Alexander, emigrated to the United States, and settled in Philadelphia, and are all deceased. John the brewer, his son John and Archibald, spelt the name Binny without the e, but the family have since added it, and spell Binney."

"No venture in the type founding (in the United States) was successful until about 1798, when Binney and Ronaldson, established themselves by State aid in Philadelphia. The type founding tools and materials, imported by Benjamin Franklin, from France, for his own use, fell into the hands of Binney and Ronaldson" (says a writer in Harper's Magazine, March, 1875); but his daughter Harriet Binney writes from 906 Spruce St., Philadelphia, July 12, 1875. "The above needs correction: my father Archibald Binney, most surely established his type foundry alone and in his own name, and afterwards when his friend James Ronaldson, became unfortunate by the burning of his biscuit bakery, my father from motives of genuine friendship, associated him as his partner in his type foundry, though Mr. Ronaldson then knew nothing whatever about the making of types. I think it also a mistake that Binney and Ronaldson received State aid. The first type foundry tools used by my father in his establishment, he brought with him to this country; they were seized on their arrival in New York, but owing to the potent influence of money, were restored to him. Recently in my mother's desk, I came across an old medal, the upper side has my father's likeness upon it, with the inscription 'A. Binny, Letter Founder,' the reverse side has upon it, I think a printing press with the implements used in making type, with the Goddess Minerva holding a laurel branch, also the inscription 'Letter Foundry of Philadelphia, established An<sup>o</sup>. 1796' (not 1798, as Harper's Magazine, has it)."

Miss Harriet Binney sent the writer July 31 1875, two large photographs of the medal, one of each side, on which his, Archibald Binny's name is spelt Binny.

Children by first wife:

- 28 xi Harriet, b. at "Porto Bello;" single, resided in 1873, with her mother at No. 1835 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, and in 1875, at No. 906 Spruce St., Philadelphia, with an aged aunt, a sister of her mother.
- 29 vii Charlotte.

"Porto Bello," the name of Archibald Binney's country seat, in Maryland, was probably named for "Porto Bello," A quoad sacra parish, parliamentary and municipal burgh, a seaport town, and fashionable resort of Scotland, County of Edinburgh, in a plain on the south bank of the Frith of Forth, with a station on the North British Railway, three miles east of Edinburgh, has hot and cold salt water baths, a bank, assembly rooms, &c. It was founded in 1762.

Children of John Jr.:

3 i Thomas, b. in Newcastle, April 30, 1798; the Rev. Thomas Binney of London, DD. LL.D., d. Feb. 24, 1874, aged 75.

4 ii Edward, d. before 1864.

5 iii John, d. before 1864.

6 iv Hudson Atkinson, was alive in 1864; d. before 1884.

7 v A daughter, Mrs. Viney, wife of Rev. Josiah Viney, brother in law of Rev. Thomas Binney, she was buried in Abney Park Cemetery.

The family came from the northern part of Northumberland, to Newcastle upon Tyne. Rev. Dr. Thomas Binney wrote: "That when he was a boy, his father did not use the e in the name (and spelt Binny), but we boys thought it looked better with it, and we changed it to Binney. A tradition was in the family, that some great uncle sailed away to the west and settled in the United States of America." He has no knowledge of the Sheffield or Wakefield Binneys, in fact, Rev. Dr. Thomas Binney knew little, and cared less about his ancestors, and only knew his father and grandfather bore the name of John.

3. REV. THOMAS BINNEY, D. D., LL., D. of Upper Clapton, N. E., and Walworth, London, a famous English Dissenting clergyman, son of John (1) and — Binney, born in or near Newcastle upon Tyne, England, April 30, 1798; d. Feb. 24, 1874, aged 75 years, 9 months, 25 days. Married first, —, died —. Married second Miss — Piper, sister of Rev. Josiah Viney, of Alleyne house, Caterham Valley, S. E. Had four sons, all in Australia, in 1872.

Children :

- 8 i Nixon, is deceased.
- 9 ii Edward, m. and has a family.
- 10 iii Richard, m. and has a family.
- 11 iv Bladen, has not been heard of in 1885 for years, probably dead.

As Rev. Thomas Binney requested that no biography of himself should be published by his executors, we gather the following from a slight account of him, and from the published account of the funeral services, and partial biography, London, 1874, and other sources.

Mr. Binney was educated at Weymondley College, Herts., England, was for twelve months minister at Bradford; then minister of an independent Congregational Chapel, in St. James St., Newport, Isle of Wight, for five years. In 1829 he was ordained and assumed the pastorate of the King's Weigh-house Chapel, in London, for 40 years, until 1871, when he resigned. From 1825 he published many books, tracts, essays and sermons, mainly on religious subjects and was author of the hymn beginning "Eternal Light, Eternal Light." Some thirty of his books, &c., are mentioned in the Boston Evening Transcript, of Feb. 25, 1874. In his youth he served several years with a bookseller, from 7 A. M. to 8 P. M., daily, and sometimes from 6 A. M., to 10 P. M. In 1845 he visited the United States and Canada. In 1857 he visited the Australian Colonies, where all of his four sons were settled, being absent two years, and preached and lectured many times there. He received the degree of LL. D., from the University of Aberdeen, and that of D. D. from the United States. He was persecuted by some Ecclesiastics of the Church of England, but ably and successfully defended himself in lectures and letters. In 1869 he retired from active ministerial duties. In 1872 he filled the chair of Homiletics in New College lecturing weekly, to 1873, and was chairman of the Council of that College several years. He visited Europe several times for health and rest, proceeding as far as Egypt. In 1848, he was chairman of the Congregational Union of England and Wales. He was in the ministry 50 years, and had a wonderfully attractive power over young men. He preached his last sermon in Westminster Chapel. In 1874, he made his last visit to Highgate. He felt that his last illness, was such, and was greatly impressed with the great and numerous offerings of affection, and esteem and sympathy at that time. He had as many others have had, periods of gloom and doubt, probably caused by over work, then he traveled and soon threw it off. He was buried in Abney Park Cemetery, beside his sister. Dr. Stanley, Dean of Westminster, concluded the services at his grave. There were thirty-three mourning coaches, besides many private carriages in the procession of one-third of a mile long; the following services were at Stamford Hill Chapel, some distant relatives were chief mourners; from the Chapel they proceeded to Mr. Binney's house, Upper Clapton. Some 5000 people were at the grave, and along the entire route blinds were closed, and every mark of respect shown. The stone pulpit and table in the Chapel, were draped in black. The applications for admission to it were so numerous, that tickets of admission were issued. All ranks and sects filled it, members of Parliament, Peers; professors, travelers, ministers, among whom the very Rev. Dean Stanley, who wore the skull cap he wears in Westminster Abbey. The 90th Psalm, one of Dr. Blow's solid harmonies, a funeral chant of non-conformists, of Puritans and Covenanters (and which Hampden's stern troopers sounded, bearing his body over Buckwither's Hills to Hampden Church yard), was sung, and so he was laid at rest.

A Philadelphia Newspaper in 1850, says: "Rev. Thomas Binney of London, is, taking him all in all, the most eloquent divine in England. He is very tall, something over six feet, his head is a splendid one, his forehead is gigantic, and his eyes are beautifully black and expressive, his face is full and round, and his thoughts show themselves upon it as plainly as if written in alphabetical characters. His hair is dark auburn, his hands small and nervous, and his whole body finely strung, notwithstanding his giant frame and apparent coarseness. His continued uneasiness, twitching of the face, head and body, prove this at once to a stranger. I saw that his genius was an erratic one before he spoke, there was an unique look which is scarcely ever to be mistaken. He got up to read a portion of scripture, gave a comical shrug, and commenced reading a beautiful psalm. He read it touchingly, his voice was remarkably sweet, at times a feminine softness in it surprised me, as he went on his face grew radiant with smiles, and before he was half through, I wondered that I had not before discovered the wonderful beauty of the psalm he was reading. So it is ever with genius, it has the power not only to create, but discover beauty. His prayer was short, but I think it surpassed all, that ever I heard in my life, in touching fervor, simplicity and beauty. His face looked as if Heaven was dawning upon it. Henry Vincent, the most popular and effective out door orator in Britain, has the same power of face, of expressing his heart upon his countenance, only with Thomas Binney, it is chaster, holier, and more heavenly. Vincent, expresses the more turbulent passions, while Binney pictures forth pure love, a child's faith, holiness and serene beauty. He speaks without notes."

The whole of Mr. Bartlett's account is so good that it should be given entire. Grief for the death of his first wife, injured his health, and he traveled in the United States, incog, he returned improved, and again married. In conversation he is agreeable, but not very voluble. As a man he is dearly loved by thousands, and adored as a pulpit orator.

The "London Christian Times," June 1, 1849, has a long and interesting account of him and his preaching. It is rather singular that so eminent and independent a preacher, should have such narrow views of the creed or belief of others differing from his own, especially about Unitarians, "whom he considered little better than Heathens, and hardly to be saved."

The late Wm. Ropes, Esq., of Boston, said he heard Mr. Binney when in London, several times; he was a powerful thinker and speaker. Rev. Wm. Taylor calls him "the Nestor of the English Congregational Union. The Arch Bishop and Patriarch by character and ability, though not in name, of the British non-conformists." George Gilfillan called him the most popular writer in London. Rev. Dr. Hibbert Binney, a distinguished Church of England preacher, wrote "that Mr. Binney was a distinguished dissenting minister."

From the many articles in newspapers, periodicals, &c., published about Mr. Binney, and from a part of which a few selections are made, are the following: Rev. Henry D. Northrup's published account says: "In person, Mr. Binney is tall and well proportioned, some have compared his physique to that of Daniel Webster, a high forehead, a large and pleasant eye, full face, florid complexion, and dignified appearance combine to render him a noble specimen of a man. At the commencement of the service and in parts of it throughout, his voice is low and grum, at times his utterances are loud and impassioned, when aroused, he is lion-like in power, but it is always the power of heart-earnestness, along with physical force. He rises slowly to deliver his message, puts on his spectacles, reads his text, glances at his meagre notes, passes his fingers through his hair, takes out his handkerchief, scratches his upper lip with the tip of his long forefinger, puts up the thumb of one hand, and lays the finger of the other very significantly upon it, passes his hands again through his hair, &c., but all these false motions mean something, the idea is worth waiting for, slowly he weaves a garment for his hearers to wear, it is both lasting and large, occasionally he fires up and becomes animated, but generally addresses the understanding, closing perhaps with a solemn appeal." He has a strong hatred of heresy.

In 1848, Mr. Binney sent the writer a copy of his "Service of Song, a Christmas evening book," and with it, he writes: "I happen to be of the tribe of authors; I don't know what your religious sentiments or views may be, but I venture to hope, that whatever they are, you will find some portions of this little book to interest you. I shall be greatly delighted and pleased if there be any of my young namesakes, any youths or maidens of the Binney family, whose tastes and sentiments as to piety, poetry or song, may receive gratification from these few pages, by one of their name." He also sent a very fine steel engraving of himself, and a small full length photograph also. He concludes with: "wishing you dear sir, and all of our name, every where, all temporal mercies and all spiritual blessings through Jesus Christ, I am very truly and respectfully yours,

"THOMAS BINNEY."

THE BINNEY FAMILY IN ENGLAND.

Families of this name with the variations in spelling of Bynney, Binney, Binny or Binnie, have been found in the British Isles, the United States, the British Provinces, the West Indies and Australia, but are not numerous in either country. Some of these families are connected and although others have no connection with any family of the same name in the United States, an account of them is inserted in this volume, because some of them have resided here for a time, others may hereafter remove to this country or a connection may be made between the ancestors of some of these families and the families who early came to this country.

No account of the modern families spelling their name Beney, Benny or Benney, of which there are many, is included in this volume, except of Capt. John Beney, whose gravestone with those of his wife and son is in the old Granary Burying Ground in Boston, because his name upon old records and in books is sometimes spelled Binney, and he might therefore be supposed to belong to some of the properly Binney Families. In former times the name Benney was sometimes written Binney, and even to this day Binney is sometimes erroneously written and pronounced Benney. A list is added of individual names whose owners are not known to belong to any of the other families who are described in this volume.

In several English families of the name there have been traditions that an ancestor or "cousin" had emigrated to America in early times, but we have not yet been able to connect John Binney of Hull, 1680, who is the ancestor of most of the Binneys in America, with any family on the other side. As this John Binney died in 1698, only eight years after the birth of his youngest child, he was probably not very old at the time of his death and may therefore have been born between 1640 and 1660, but he is probably of the Worksop branch which was originally from Scotland.

The other Binneys who came to the United States can usually give the names of their parents, or grandparents in England, so that their descendants know in what direction to commence their researches in their attempt to trace their ancestors to the Domesday Book.

BINNEY FAMILIES IN THE UNITED STATES.

The earliest mention of any person of the name of Binney in the United States, which we have yet been able to find, is that given by the town records of Hull, in Massachusetts, here is recorded the births of the younger children of John and Mercy Binney, and of their grandchildren. These younger children of John and Mercy were born 1682 to 1690. As the first town clerk of Hull was not appointed until 1693, the record could not have been made for many years after the events had taken place, and was probably in accordance with a Law of the General Court and plan of the clerk's to collect together the births of those born in Hull, viz. "A Record of the children born in Hull, and a record of the persons who died in Hull," is the heading of the book, and many families are entered together on the same page, interpolated among the records of later years. From the omission of the names of the two elder children of John and Mercy, and the absence of any mention of John Binney elsewhere earlier upon the records, in the division of land, assessments of taxes, appointments of town officers, &c., it is presumed that he was not long in the place, but had come there with his wife Mercy and two children. He probably inherited or bought out one of the original proprietors, as his name afterwards is found on the records in deeds, &c., as one of the proprietors. None of the name are now in Hull, but most, if not all of the descendants of John and Mercy, have been traced to other places, and are now found scattered through the continent, from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick to California, with branches in Australia, New Zealand, England and Ireland. The first portion of the foregoing pages is devoted to a genealogical record of eight generations of this family, including some account of those families who have intermarried with the Binneys, Besides John Binney of Hull, there other persons of the name who came to America later, some of whom have descendants now living in the United States, who are described in the latter part of this volume.

* Two letters from Hon. James Savage about his supposition of the origin of the Binney name in Hull, Mass., are given further on wherein he promised to correct in his Genealogical Dictionary that error, but did not. Solomon Lincoln, Esq., of Hingham, followed with the same error, from Mr. Savage, supposing Binney and Bunn were the same.

SURMISES OF THE ORIGIN OF THE NAME.

By some supposed from Normandy or France from the name "Bienne" pronounced Bi-ennè, a place in Normandy. The French pronunciation* Be-ane, — German Be-en, a place in Switzerland, from which latter country, the emigration has at times been great. The name may have been brought to England by some of the German-speaking Swiss, whom the commotions of the 16th century, or whom traffic brought over. Possibly the name may be derived from "Bienc," German, for bee, a figure for industry, perhaps transferred by the early settlers in England, from their former dwellings, as the places in England are in part from places of those who came from Scandanavia and Normandy. Bena, Benae, Benna, are names of an ancient Thracian City. In Cole's Latin Dictionary, 16th edition, 1742, is Baienne, a town in Bavaria, perhaps the same as Bienne now in Switzerland. Greek baïs (baees), a palm branch, gives the Greek word bainas e, and on, as varied i. e. ba-ee-ney, &c., made of palm branches, palmy, bearing palms.

Willembach de Bienne, was of the clergy of Berne, Sept., 1525 (Daughbigny's History of the great reformation of the 16th Century, Vol. 3, Carter's edition, New York, 1843). French bini (bee-ney), a monk companion, is the Latin bini, twins, a pair, &c.; French, benêt bee-nè, is a savall, and beni ie. baney, is blessed, praise. The name of Binny in "old British" signifies a fish, called a barbel, very plentiful in the River Idle, on one of the tributaries of which Worksop, in Notts., is situated; where is the ruins of the old Abby Church, whose Parish Church Records or Register, begins in 1558; in the church yard of which, the "Binneys of Workshop, have buried some two hundred and fifty or three hundred years," and on which register the Binney Family names appear from 1594, down to 1700, "tradition says the name was there before the register began." Bigne, French, one of the name was chaplain to King John, and followed him to England after the battle of Poitiers, Benney, Pentre and Porthmorthoumy; lands of that name in the County of Brecknockshire, Wales. "Binny Craigs," east and west, in the Royal borough of Linlithgow, 17 miles from Edinburgh, Scotland, one of them is five hundred feet high. Linlithgow Castle, was taken by stratagem, by Wm. Binnock, by connivance with Bruce. The Binnings of Walylford, this name is supposed to be merged into Binny, Binney. The place was presented to the family of Hamilton, after the Revolution of 1715. Thomas Hamilton in 1613, was created Baron Binning, and Earl of Melrose, which he afterwards changed to that of Haddington in 1619, bred to the law, created Baron, by King James VI., was secretary of State, Lord advocate and register of the College of Justice, 1627, appointed Lord Privy seal and held that office ten years, several of his descendants had the title of "Lord Binny."

The name "Benny" appears in Leland's list, copied from the original battle rolls of the battle of Hastings, Oct. 14, 1066, taken by order of William the Conqueror, directly after the battle, in which with 60,000 followers and at a loss of 15,000, defeated and slew the English King Harold the 2d, with a large loss of his men. This name "Benny" appears in the Doomsday book, which William caused to be made, it was begun in 1086, of persons holding lands direct from the King, previous to the survey, one of whom was "Leninus Benne," in the County of Suff., Eng., this may be the same as the one in that battle, and probably came over with Duke William from Normandy, whose followers, says Leland, were composed of noblemen, gentlemen of the first rank, with others from France, Flanders, Brittany and Normandy came with him on his invitation and promise of lands and other honors. William confiscated the estates of those who fought under Harold, and bestowed them on his followers, who were particular to see that their names were on that roll, ever after considered a title or mark of honor. And most families in England trace their name or origin to names on that roll. William built a battle abbey on the field of battle, and the roll was long preserved there. It was supposed afterwards to have been carried to Gowdry House and perished with that house by fire, in 1793. Henry 8th gave the site and lands of the Abbey to Sir Anthony Browne, ancestor of Viscount Montague, this family sold it to Thomas Webster, Bart., whose family still hold it, they resided at their other seat Gowdry house near Midhurst.

ARMS USED BY THE BINNEYS.

BINNEY.

Crest a dexter hand ppr. holding a short straight sword point up. Sword pale azure, hilt and pommel, or. (see plate 50. No. 12 under the name of Douglas Washburne's family crests, London, 1838).

BINNEY, BENNIE, BENZIE, BENNY, BINNIE (from Scotland).

Crest a horse's head bridled. Shield, ar. with a bend sa. between a cinquefoil in chief, gu., and a sword in pale, az., bladed, or., motto "virtute et opera" (Robinson's Br. Heraldry). (This motto is the same as the Earl of Fife's, Plate 43, No. 34, Washburne's Family Crests, &c., crest, a horse's head bridled under the name Holland).

The Worksop Branch of the Binney Family, especially the family and descendants of Richard Binney, of Worksop, use the same arms as the above Scotch branch, except they have this motto "Appetitus ratione parent."

BINNEY (Fearn, N. B.).

Argent, a bend sable. Crest, a horse's head couped, ar., bridled, gules, motto "virtute et opera." (Burke's Her Reg., 1849 and 1850.)

BINNEY (Forneth).

The same as above, adding a cinquefoil in Chief, gu. (Burke.)

BINNING.

Crest, a horse's head bridled.

BINNY, BINNING.

Hamilton, Earl of Haddington, in East Lothian, 1619. Baron Binny, 1613. Arms in part gr., 1st and 4th, gules, in a chevron, between three cinquefoils, also thistles in the shield. Crest, two hands clasped, &c.

BENNEYS or BENNOYS.

Three oak sheaves, or. (Robinson's Heraldry.)

BINNEY.

John Binney, Esq., born in Hull, Mass., U. S., had a coat of arms in Boston, framed. Crest, a Knight's arm incased in armour, holding a short curved sword to the left, over a Knight's visor, closed. Shield, ar., a sheaf of oats, or. in the centre, between two thistles, or., and one thistle below, motto, "By the name of Binney." This the writer has, but it was probably made by Doyle, and a doubtful one. The Osgoods of North Andover, had one combined with Binney, which it is said was obtained in London, by one of the Osgoods.

BINNEY.

Hon. Horace Binney, of Philadelphia, had these arms on family plate over hundred years old, supposed from his grandfather Capt. Barnabas Binney of Boston, or were derived from his paternal grandmother's father, Williams Engs, grandson of Madet Engs, of Boston, from England, about 1630, or they may have been those of the Paine Family. Dea. John Binney of Hull, Mass., having married Hannah Paine, of Eastham, Mass.

Crest, an Ostrich, ppr., holding a key, or. in his beak, handle down. Shield, or., two bars, sa., with two scollop shells on each bar. The motto "Tiens ta Foy," was added by Mr. Binney. The Lindsay Family (Kingfother, Scotland), has a crest of an ostrich with a key in his beak. Lindsay, Earl of Crawford, anno 1398, crest, an ostrich holding a key in his beak, motto, "Endure Fort."

BINNEY.

Hon. Jonathan Binney, of Halifax, N. S., born in Hull, Mass., used a seal as do his descendants. Crest, a stag's head and neck, ppr., with branching antlers. Shield, ar., two bars, gu., with three martlets close in each bar. This seal was of silver, and Rev. Dr. Hibbert Binney, of Newbury, Berks., wrote that it was probably adopted by his grandfather Hon. Jonathan Binney, of Halifax, N. S., in his last visit to England between 1780 and 1790, when he was told by the celebrated physician Dr. Bucannan, that he was undoubtedly descended from the early Earls of Haddington, the oldest son of whom had the title of Binning, till lately Binny, though their family name was Hamilton.

BENNE.

John, attached to the signature to King Charles' death warrant, Jan. 30, 1648, is an imperfect facsimile of a seal with a coat of arms. See Hume's History of England, Vol. 4, Philadelphia edition, 1822.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES.

CAPT. BARNABAS BINNEY (15), of Boston.

Was a merchant of Boston, and also commanded his vessel, in which he traded to the West Indies, &c. He left a large estate. His inventory consisted of five long pages. It is said he owned plantations and negroes in Demerara, but they were not mentioned in the inventory of his estate, that mentioned £73 of silver plate. His will was carried off from Boston to Halifax, by the Tory Judge of Probate, when he left with others in the British fleet, and the executors had to send there to obtain a copy of it and certified: the three heirs each had a third of £8743 8s., less depreciation of money, leaving £7,395, 16s. 8d.

There is a charge for "hire of a chaise to take Mrs. Binney out of town" during its occupancy by British troops.

He also owned jointly with Rev. Dr. Stillman, tomb No. 85 in the Granary burying ground, Boston, in the wall, in rear of the "Tremont House," which previously had been owned by Dea. J. Gibben. It still stands to those owners on the books at City Hall, Boston, and was in good condition when opened in 1849. Capt. Barnabas Binney gave Dr. Stillman half of the tomb.

Capt. Barnabas Binney belonged to the "Sons of Liberty," and his name is mentioned in the list of the "Sons" who dined at Liberty tree, Dorchester, Aug. 14, 1769; about 300 dined, out of 355 belonging to it.

During the occupancy of Boston by the British troops, they selected such houses as suited them to reside in, and used Capt.

Binney's, and held high orgies there, and after dinner they used the portraits on the walls as targets; that of Capt. Binney's wife Avis (Engs), had several marks of such usage; the portrait was mislaid or missing for some time after the settlement of his estate, but was finally found by Mr. Payson and transferred to Hon. Horace Binney of Philadelphia, who had it restored, and since his decease, it has belonged to his son, Hon. William Binney, now of Newport, R. I. The writer saw it a few years since in a poor light, but could not examine it for any marks of the painter. He was disappointed in not receiving a photo. from it and having a heliotype of it inserted in the book. She was a remarkable woman and was thought highly of by those who knew her.

DR. BARNABAS BINNEY (60), p. 66.

Senior surgeon in the Revolutionary army, and in one of its hospitals. Great success followed his practice of medicine in Philadelphia, where he settled after the war, with the confidence and esteem of the community. In 1786, failing health, induced him to give up practice and after placing his affairs in perfect order, he started with his wife for Berkeley Springs, but died on his return at the house of a friend. His intellectual powers, fine learning, strength of principle, decision and energy in action, with "a delicacy of passion," and poetic talents, were appreciated. He was a friend of the lamented General Warren. "He was the most eloquent man I ever met with," wrote the late Epes Sargent of Boston. The following anecdotes were related by the late eminent physician, Dr. Marshall Spring, of Watertown, Mass., who married Dr. Barnabas Binney's widow. "During his Revolutionary services as surgeon in the army, while passing after the battle, near the abandoned pile of men, laid aside for burial, he thought he perceived signs of life in one of the heaps, upon examination he discovered that the subject had been cut with a sabre lengthwise down the abdomen and that the bowels had been let loose, without other injury; the man had fainted from loss of blood; he was removed and the surtutes performed. The soldier lived for many years after, and became a farmer, and was accustomed to pay an annual visit to the Doctor, evincing his gratitude by a present of a fine cheese, a barrel or two of cider or apples.

Mrs. Ellet, in her "Women of the Revolution," relates this anecdote of Dr. Barnabas Binney and Deborah Sampson, who served in male attire several years in the American army as "Shurtliff," without discovery of her sex. "Dr. Binney in going the rounds of the hospital, discovered that a soldier named Shurtliff was nearly dead with fever, having a bandage over the breast, on removing this to his surprise he discovered the patient to be a woman; with true delicacy, he said nothing of his discovery, but had the "soldier," as such, removed to his house in Philadelphia, where, as a soldier, she was carefully attended. The discovery of his sex was not known by the family, though Deborah, suspected it was known to the Doctor attending her; she keenly watched his countenance, but could find no evidence of it." Mrs. Ellet speaks in a sensational way of a niece of Dr. Binney falling in love with the soldier, offering to educate and marry him, and the anguish of Deborah on this account. A son of Dr. Binney wrote, that the first part of the story is probably true, there was a tradition to that effect in the family, but the story of the niece is not true, for neither Dr. Binney or his wife, at that time (probably 1781 or 2), had any niece older than three or four years. The niece of Dr. Binney of that age, was the oldest daughter of Dr. Binney's sister, Mrs. Ann Anthony, then with her parents in New England. On the recovery of the pretended soldier, Dr. Binney had a long conference with the Commander of the regiment, in which she had served several years undiscovered, and with the strictest propriety of behaviour. The result was, that the soldier was sent with a letter to General Washington at head-quarters. She then suspected that she was discovered, but obeyed; General Washington read the letter in private, came into the room where the soldier was waiting, said not a word, put into her hand a letter of good advice and a discharge, with a sum of money to take her home. For this forbearance she was truly grateful. It appears that after her return home to New England, she resumed her sex's attire, married and afterwards drew a pension for her services.*

Dr. Marshall Spring of Watertown, Mass., married Mary the widow of Dr. Barnabas Binney, and she with her young children by her first husband, removed to Watertown. "She died Nov. 9, 1793, aged 37" (inscription on the Marshall Spring family tomb in Watertown), leaving one child only by that marriage, Marshall Binney Spring, born Aug. 30, 1792; Harvard College, 1812; married in 1816, Miss Eliza Willing, daughter of Charles Willing, of Philadelphia, and grand-daughter of Thomas Willing, first President of the United States Bank of Philadelphia. Marshall Binney Spring died Sept. 17, 1825, his wife died previously, leaving four children. One daughter married Mr. Wharton, of Philadelphia, and the other married Edward Newton Perkins, of Jamaica Plains, Roxbury, Mass. Dr. Marshall Spring, of Watertown, voted "no" in the convention for the ratification of the constitution in 1788. He was a mild Tory, but from kindness and skill it was overlooked. Dr. Spring married second, in 1797, Hannah Lee (per Bond's Watertown), of Cambridge, but had no children by him.

Mrs. Susan (Binney) Wallace, daughter of Dr. Barnabas Binney, a beautiful and accomplished woman, wrote a truthful memoir of her father, published in the life of President Manning of Brown University.

SPENCER BINNEY, SEN. (54) of Hull.

Was a farmer of Hull, and cultivated much land there, was an industrious and shrewd man. He sent his extra crop of barley to John Binney, merchant of Boston, for sale. Spencer Binney would engage all the Hull boys to help get his hay into the barn, promising them a clam bake afterwards, when it was all in, he took his oxen and plough and drove a long furrow on the beach and set the boys to prepare the clams, gather seaweed and driftwood, when the stones in the hole were hot, he placed layers of seaweed and clams with fish and ears of corn and also filled up the hole, when sufficiently done, they had a delicious feast. He raised a large family, and was a prosperous farmer. He resided in the mansion house built by his grandfather Dea. John,<sup>2</sup> a square house, which was taken down a few years since. On taking it down a shower of fine beach sand came from the ceiling of the second story floor on the workmen, supposed to have accumulated by the constant scouring the floors underwent before the time of carpets. Two or three teaspoons much battered, were found under the sink, marked "S. B." for Spencer Binney, and were kept as relics by the finder.

Built in the old Colonial day,

When men lived in grand'er way,
 With ampler hospitality.
 A kind of old Hobgoblin Hall,
 Now somewhat falling to decay,
 With weather stains upon the wall,
 And stairways worn, and crazy-doors,
 And creaking and uncovered floors,
 And chimneys hugh, and tiled and tall.
 A region of repose it seems." — Longfellow.

It was built by Dea. John Binney, on part of his father John's land, between 1704, and Dea. John's marriage, 1732. In his inventory 1760, the homestead and building were mentioned. After his death his son Capt. Amos Binney, Sen., resided till his death, 1778, when it fell to the latter's son Spencer Binney, Sen. After the death of the latter's widow, Molly (Jones) Binney, it was sold to John Mitchel, and after his death, Mr. Edw. G. Knight bought it, took it down, and out of the sound materials built a new house on the site.

See the photo of it.

THE OLD HOUSE OF AMOS BINNEY, JR., of Hull.

"Through days of sorrow and of mirth.
 Through days of death and birth,
 Through every swift vicissitude
 Of changeful time — unchanged, has stood."

This house is a small two story one on the South Main St., of Hull, with a small front yard, and is said to have been built by Henry Chamberlin of Hull, of oak, cut on the place, in the style of that time, 1757 to 1760, and is about 156 years old. The oak beams overhead in the lower story are half exposed through the ceiling. Abraham, son of Thomas Jones, married Elizabeth Lobdell, of Hull, and resided in this house next to his father. He and wife removed to Boston, and May 17, 1768, deeded it and five acres of land to Amos Binney, Sen., of Hull. Amos Binney, Jr. was married May 31, 1770, to Mary, daughter of Rev. Solomon Prentice, formerly of Grafton, Mass. The heirs of Amos Binney, Jr., sold the house after 1798 (see the photo of it). At one time since, a gilt ball hung on the north-west end for a hotel. It is now, 1886, occupied by Mr. Jos. Pope, Post-master, and is yet a good house.

The house that John<sup>1</sup> Binney, Sen., lived in between the parsonage house (built about 1642-4, and is yet a good house), and the house that his son Dea. John<sup>2</sup> built, has been down many years, and probably resembled the small old gambrel roof house opposite (in 1886). The writer once saw the hollow of the cellar where it stood many years since.

COL. AMOS BINNEY (87), pp. 79, 80.

He was 5 years old when his father died, and then and until he went to earn his own living in Boston, in 1793, was of great help to his mother. He early embraced religion in the Methodist Church, in Boston, excepting some teaching at home, his native energy enabled him to acquire a good education, he was a self-made man, and the architect of his own fortune. After a short term in a store, he began business for himself, and also acted for several in Probate Office business. He was appointed navy agent for the Port of Boston, in 1812, and remained in it till 1826. During the war of 1812, with the aid of "Billy" Gray, and Commodore Hull, by his untiring exertions, he was enabled to fit out the "Constitution Frigate," in season to capture the "Guerriere." He was a great friend and aid to several churches, and to the Wilbraham Academy, which has his portrait on their walls. In early youth with knapsack on his back, he traveled over most of the New England states, and acquired much knowledge of the country, its geology and resources. He was Captain in 1808, in the Legionary Brigade, and Lt. Colonel in 1813, of the 1st regiment Infantry, 3d brigade, 1st Division of Massachusetts Militia, and subsequently Colonel of it. During the war of 1812, our Government wanted funds, and he procured them by disposing at a discount treasury notes from Washington; many hesitated to purchase them, but Wm. Gray, Esq., and some others were shrewd and clear sighted enough to procure them on favorable terms. Our navy was not thought able then to cope with that of England, but the capture by the "Constitution" soon changed that idea. He belonged to a Masonic Lodge. He was president of the Vermont Copperas Works, which he started; interested in Iron and Glass works, the latter of which was in East Cambridge, President of the Worcester R. R., and of the Market Bank, Boston. A service of plate was presented him for saving from conflagration "Joy's Building," Boston, by purchasing bales of blankets and having them nailed on the building and kept wet. He was a steady friend and patron of American manufactures. He became well known to the community as an honest, upright, conscientious, able and energetic man, possessing extraordinary talents for business in the various corporations and public institutions to which he belonged. He was liberal to the deserving and remembered the ministers of his persuasion and relatives especially at "Thanksgiving" time. In 1829, he had a serious bilious attack, his last illness some what similar, in 1833, found him with a constitution enfeebled by constant application during the day and far into the night. His funeral was attended by "Father Taylor," Mr. Paul of the African Church, and many others. He first introduced the Methodist worship in Hull, by taking there Rev. Daniel Ostrander, in 1797, and Rev. Jesse Lee.

He was tall, stout, of dark or bilious complexion, black hair and eyes. A gold ring which was presented him marked "R.C." he wore till death, then his son Dr. Amos wore it till his death, and now the 6th Amos, son of the latter's son Amos, has it in Walpole, Mass.

CAPT. JOHN BINNEY (88), pp. 79, 80

Merchant of Boston, like his brother Col. Amos Binney (87), with a slight education in early years, soon sought business in Boston, to aid his mother and her family. He was a self-made man, acquired an extensive knowledge of men and business, by extensive reading. In 1807, was Captain of the North End Artillery, Boston, and offered the services of his company to the President of the United States, and belonged to Ancient and Honorable Artillery Co., there in 1801. In 1808, was commissioned as Capt. of the 4th Regiment of United States Infantry, and ordered to the command of Fort Edgecomb, Wiscasset, and the others in its vicinity, and resided in Wiscasset. The old fort remains, the "block house" on it is preserved by the people of Wiscasset, as a relic, and is yet in good order. He marched with his company in 1813, to the northern frontier during the war, at its close he resigned in 1814, and declined a commission, and returned to Boston, as a merchant; was a large ship owner. President of the North and Granite Banks, which he established, and also the Tremont Insurance Co., which under his management, was very prosperous. He was an alderman of Boston, and a member of the house of Representatives in 1831. His portrait by Harding, in 1835, is preserved. He was of a sound and discriminating mind, of good judgment, active and enterprising, of a lively social disposition, of medium height; in the prime of life, stout, dark hair and eyes, and florid complexion. He used to tell, that when a boy in Hull, Spencer Binney, Sen., used to pay him a cent an hour "to ride horse all day, to plough."

ROBERT GOULD, pp. 90, 91.

Formerly of Hull, now of East Cambridge, the fourth Robert in direct descent from the ancestor Robert Gold-Gould-Gould, as since spelt. Robert the ancestor, nephew of John and wife Joane Stone, of Nantasket, Hull, about 1630 to 1635. John Stone left his property to his wife Joane, and being childless, she sent to England for her nephew Robert Gould to come over and be her heir, in her will she calls him her loving cousin. She left him all her property in Hull, except a legacy to the children of her husband's brother Simon Stone, of Watertown, Mass., &c. Anstiss Gold, sister to Robert Gold, Sen., of Nantasket, Hull, married in London, Mr. Bisset, he and all his family died there of the plague, and she came to Nantasket where her brother Robert, who inherited his uncle and aunt Stone's property, was settled. Mrs. Bisset met John Wilkins in Boston and married him, he had five children by her, and afterwards was one of the original proprietors of Bristol, R. I. This family of Gold, of Nantasket, Hull, is connected with the Benning, Ellery, Longfellow, Appleton and Dana families, the sister of R. H. Dana, of Boston, 1886, is Miss Elizabeth Ellery Dana. Robert Gould, Sen., of Nantasket, Hull, had three wives, the second in 1688 or 90, was the widow of Jonathan Poole, né Hersey, daughter of William of Hingham, the first was Elizabeth, daughter of Benjamin Bosworth, of Hull, she was born in Hingham; married in 1697 or 1703. Third, the last one, Sarah, died 1706; daughter of Rev. Z. Whitman, pastor of Hull, and widow of Nicholas Cock, of Second Church, Boston. She died in Hull, 1749, she took care of her father till his death, he left her his parsonage house and land in Hull.

HON. HORACE BINNEY (116).

Resided in Philadelphia; in winter, and in summer at Burlington, N. J., and Bryn Mawe, Pa. He was a director of the United States Bank, in Philadelphia; president of the Contribution ship Insurance Co., Philadelphia, many years; Senator in Congress, 1808-9; head of the Philadelphia bar. His fame as a lawyer, and most accomplished gentleman, was unsurpassed in this country, and he was called the "Nestor and Father of it." He was twice offered a seat in the Supreme Court, but declined. He preferred a private life, surrounded by many friends, and an affectionate family, to any public honors. The writer met him in 1850, in Philadelphia, and found him of a large and commanding appearance, with a quick bright eye, which when excited lighted up with a quick bright sudden flash, and a piercing look; he was very courteous and polite, and conversed easily upon any subject, and was entirely the reverse of Hon. Chas. Sumner's report of an interview aboard.

There are several portraits of him by Inman, Sully, Healey and others and a miniature of him. The heliotype of him at the age of 85, was inserted by one of his family, he died at 95 years. Two Vignetts of Hon. Horace Binney, were engraved for the bills of the National Bank of Philadelphia.

His power of speech in debate was great and forcible, several were published. His defence of General Hull, was forcible and correct.

Mr. Binney wrote much on law. He published privately several treatises, one a Eulogy on Chief Justice Marshall, and one on Chief Justice Tillingham, and a monograph on Washington's farewell address, proving him the author. He was much interested in the History and Genealogy of the Binney Family, and the Hull ancestors, and "did not want a better one than Deacon John Binney." On a visit to Hull, he caused extracts to be made from the Town Records of the early Binneys. He had old silver plate that had been in his family over 100 years. Crest, an Ostrich with a key or. in his bill, Shield, ar., two horizontal bars, sa., with two scollop shells in each bar, motto (since added) Tiens ta foy. "His maternal grandmother Woodrow, thorough Scotch, of the Blood of the historian of the covenanters, lived to the age of 91, and I shall be glad to see her again as I saw her when a law student, and was much delighted with her shewdness and savoir faire. Dea. John Binney of Hull, is an ancestor, I am very proud of. The race from Scotland and England, is good enough for us, and we are quite as good." Horace Binney's mother had some correspondence in 1792, with Hon. Jonathan Binney, of Halifax. She received an Indian work box, from Hibbert Newton Binney, of Halifax, with his initials "H. N. B.," worked on the top. Hon. Horace Binney wrote Jan. 6, 1870, to Hugh Blair Grigsby, Charlotte Court House, Va., "my first action in public, was walking as one of the Philadelphia academy boys in the Federal procession July 4, 1788, to celebrate the adoption of the constitution successively by ten states; perhaps the march to Brush-hill, tended to make me a strong constitutionist ever since, * * * mine has been a life of health not much abused, nor yet very carefully nurtured, but having the root of a very good constitution, passed in wholesome country air and exercise from 8 to 18, nearly, and all the rest in this city. I am devoutly thankful to God for his many mercies, and have a strong sense of kindness for friends who sympathise with me in my capacity to enjoy life." A relative says "he died serenely of a gradual wasting of vital force, take him for all in all, he was the noblest man that I ever knew, or have read of."

MATHEW BINNEY, (178) of Boston.

Was in the umbrella business in Court St., Boston, firm of "Binney & Ellis." Since with his two sons Mathew, Jr. and Charles E., at 94 Arch St., Boston. On his retiring in 1852, from active business, he turned the business over to them as "Mathew Binney's Sons." He resides in 1885, at No. 90 West Newton St., Boston, retaining a desk at his sons' store, which he visits daily. He has taken much interest in the Genealogy of the Binney Family, and has furnished much information of his branch.

Of late years he has attended to his real estate and other investments. In 1870, Mathew Binney, then of 13 Franklin St., with Rev. Joseph Getchel Binney, who was then on a visit from Burmah, placed a slab on the Binney tomb in Copp's Hill Cemetery, Boston, and a square flat stone over the entrance, the slab bore this inscription "Tomb No. 72, built 1801, by Benjamin, Amos, Joshua and John Binney, all born in Hull, Plymouth Co., Mass. (owners of it), Amos died Jan. 11, 1833, aged 55, in Boston. John died April 16, 1838, aged 58, in Boston. Benjamin died Jan. 16, 1844, aged 70, in Cambridge. Joshua died Oct. 24, 1853, aged 76, in Cambridge."

This tomb was built and owned-one fourth each by the above four, and has been used by the families. The remains of Col. Amos Binney's family, were removed to their family lot in Mount Auburn, and those of John Binney's family and his mother and first wife Sarah Ann (Callender) Binney, who was interred in Wiscasset, Me., and those of his two sisters, Miss Sally Binney, and Mrs. Nancy (Binney) Copeland, were removed in 1840, to the lot of his son C. J. F. Binney, in Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

WILLIAM PRYOR BINNEY (245), pp. 116.

William Pryor Binney, son of Stephen and Emily (Pryor) Binney, of Moncton, N. B., was born July 21, 1840; married Polixine Pateraki, daughter of the late George Pateraki, of Constantinople. Mr. Binney is the general manager of the submarine telegraph cable in the kingdom of Greece and Turkey, has held the office for twenty-five years past, and in 1884, lived at Syra, Greece. He is H. B. M. consul at Syra. Had no children in 1873. He had the title of Chevalier from the King of Grece and decoration of the order of the Saviour and order of the Iron Cross, from the Emperor of Austria.
