FOREWORD BY THE AUTHOR

Dear Cousins:

I trust you find your own name and your family's in the proper place in this little volume. Please do not fail to report any errors to me so they can be corrected. The spelling of names varies according to the person who sent the data so I tried to find the way each family preferred them.

Please note carefully the system by which I have each person's name listed, not only alphabetically but also accompanied by a Roman numeral. This numeral is most important as by it a person is placed as to which generation he belongs. For no other reason at all except that I had no other starting place, I have numbered my generation I—this to include my brothers and sisters and the children of my aunts and uncles, etc. Generation II would be that of my father and mother, their brothers and sisters, and the children of their uncles and aunts. Generation III includes my grandparents, their brothers, sisters, etc., and so on as far back as I have authentic records on each line—to a 9-greats-grandfather (try and say it!)

Of course there are a number of members of the family in a younger generation than my own, so with my generation arbitrarily listed as I, I have given the letters a, b, etc., to these younger generations succeeding my own. For lack of space I have not listed these children of generation I separately, but only under their father's name in the alphabetized list.

In studying the chart (in the exact center of book) which gives my direct line from each remote ancestor it is easily seen that I could not list the name of each of you cousins there. But by the numerals in front of your own, your parents' and grandparents' names in the alphabetized lists, you can tell just exactly on my chart where your direct connection comes. Then it becomes a simple matter for you to make a chart of your own direct line.

Persons listed herein as direct blood descendants of those named on the Roll of Honor as Revolutionary soldiers are eligible, if invited, to become a member of the Daughters or the Sons of the American Revolution. As I am, at this date, the only person in the D. A. R. who has used the record of Enoch BENSON VI (I just completed it two years ago) I, hereby, give to any owner of this book who is eligible and desires to do so, permission to use this record to establish the claim and the use of my membership number, 256799, to assist in getting papers through quickly.

Descendants of Capt. Randolph BRANDT X will find that, if invited, they, through his patriotic and outstanding services to the Maryland Colonial Assembly, are eligible for membership in the Colonial Dames of the XVIII Century and other colonial societies. Soldiers of other wars are listed wherever there was definite evidence of military service. On account of the scarcity of authenticated records of Confederate muster rolls, in some cases membership in the United Daughters of the Confederacy may be difficult to establish. All of you, however, who are descendants of Joel Posey REED III, Andrew C. HOY, IV, Major Reuben LATIMER V, and Robert McCoy BENSON IV are free to use my membership papers in the U. D. C.

As the method by which I have the names of my family connection listed is an invention of my own, and, I think, one that is much easier to follow than is that of most genealogical works, I shall explain briefly how it works. Each person is alphabetically listed under his family name, the Roman numeral preceding it being his generation number. A married woman is listed under her maiden name and following it will be, 1st, birth date, 2nd, parents' names and their generation number (one larger of course than her number), 3rd, if married to whom. (If there are children they will, in no case be listed under their mother's name as she is listed under her father's family name while her children receive her husband's family name and hence are placed under his name in the lists.) Besides the data given under her own name, her name and number appears in at least two other places; under her father's name as his daughter and under her husband's name as his wife. Where there are children her name will be repeated under each child's name in giving his parents.

As an example, if you wished to know who were the parents of my grandmother, Mrs. Joel Posey REED, and you had no idea what her maiden name was, the first thing would be to turn to Joel Posey REED'S name. Under it is written "m—Susan Elizabeth HOY III." Then on turning to the H's, her name appears in its proper order and under it would be "dau. of Andrew Coan HOY IV and Matilda T. DURHAM IV." If you wished to go further and find out the brothers and sisters of Mrs. REED III, you could then turn to her father's name and under it would appear "c—III—Susan Elizabeth, Mary Amanda." In this way you can see how easy it is to trace relationships by this system as you could go on ad infinitum finding whom her sister married, her sister's children, and so on.

Now the most difficult part of classifying my connection as to generations comes when one branch of the family marries in to another, and a member from one generation marries a person with another generation number. For instance, John Berry BENSON V (or 5th generation back counting my generation as I) by a late second marriage had Julia BENSON IV. She married William Thomas FOWLER, who would automatically become generation IV also and their children generation III except for this complication: on the DURHAM branch of my family, Margaret DURHAM IV married Thomas FOWLER IV and had George FOWLER III whose son was the William Thomas FOWLER mentioned above. As the son of George FOWLER III he becomes William Thomas FOWLER II on that line, his children becoming generation I. Because his wife, Julia BENSON'S number was IV, their children this, because of the crossing of my family connection, had to be saddled with two Roman numerals, I and III, the first numeral always referring to the father's line. So when tracing their relationship, they follow the first Roman numeral on their father's line back to the DURHAMs while on their mother's side they follow the second Roman numeral back to the BENSON line.

As most of you cousins have, in the last two generations, become very widely scattered and in so many cases do not know the individuals who form my direct lineage, it is not my purpose to inflict upon you a volume of eulogy about persons unknown to you. I shall pause only long enough to pay tribute out of the fullness of my heart to a long line of honest, honorable, God-fearing and God-serving forbears—men and women who in the highest sense of that word were real citizens, whose hand was against no man, and whose characters bore the stamp of their Maker upon them. Time after time from all who knew them there has come the tribute, "they were nature's noblemen"—and what higher praise could we wish for them?

A strain of noble blood enters the line and we find two grants of coats-of-arms; political titles embellish many names and we are glad of their preferment; professional skill is highly in evidence all along the lines and we are proud there has been a way for us to serve human needs; brilliant scholastic honors bear fruit in high achievement; religious leadership is highly marked in every generation and we thrill to the record of that service; and patriotism shows its colors held high by our brave men in many battles in many wars. All of which is interesting, worthy of more space, but I, however, do not dwell on that phase of the family history. From all the outstanding qualities that attract my notice, it is the staunchness and the trueness and the steel-blueness of stalwart characters that refused to compromise the right that demands from me my respect, my love, my admiration. Cousins, they were ever strong and true as citizens—a vital force in the life of their communities. Let us look to our records. What are we today and what of tomorrow? Emulation is the only sincere compliment we can pay them.

It is impossible to include here all the records I should like to give you, but as the majority of you are interested in the connection that established itself in Cobb and Cherokee Counties some time before 1835 and centered around BENSON's schoolhouse and Noonday church, I shall give the briefest sort of a glimpse of them and from whence they came.

The first real cause of the great hegira from Virginia and Maryland toward the deep south and west go way back in the 1780's to when the Government opened up the newly acquired Indian lands for settlement, giving Revolutionary soldiers an extra share for their military service. I have a facsimile copy of Enoch BENSON VI's grant in 1784 in Greenville Dist. S. C. and in the Georgia lottery of 1827. Enoch did not get as far as Cobb co., but settled in Gwinnett. His sons Reuben V and John Berry V were active, however, in Cobb Co. church and community life before 1835. His daughter Clarissa V, called Clary, and her husband Solomon KEMP V were there at the same time. Before going to Gwinnett co. they had settled for some 15 years in Greenville Dist. S. C. where there are numerous land records transfers, etc. which show that Enoch's father was Prue (also spelled Prew) BENSON VII. According to records in the Pension Bureau at Washington, S. C. Enoch BENSON VI was from Culpeper Co., Va. where he and his brother, Zacharia VI, enlisted for Revolutionary service. Enoch, Zacharia, and their sister Clarissa VI (evidently for whom Clarissa V was named) are mentioned with others in Prue BENSON VII's will in 1792—one of the oldest on file in Greenville. You can imagine with what interest I examined all those papers on a trip to Greenville this summer.

Benjamin LATIMER VI, Rev. soldier, died soon after the war and his son, Dr. James VI, with his brothers and sisters left their ancestral home, "Putney", in Charles co., Md. and settled in Abbeville co., S. C. Several of Dr. James LATIMER VI's children, including Major Reuben and Wiley—Dr. Harrison V coming in the 1860's—came to Cobb co. around 1841 and soon after their names become prominent in the affairs of old Noonday. Further on is given a very brief description of the LATIMER coat-of-arms and that of the interrelated family of BRANDT.

The DURHAMs were among the first settlers of the county and among the early staunch supporters of the Noonday church. John IV, son of George DURHAM V is known to have been in the county before 1835 and came from Spartanburg Dist., S. C. where George DURHAM's father, John VI, originally from south Va., had a plantation of 2000 acres along Brushy Fork Creek joining the DRUMMOND lands. Stories handed down tell of John DURHAM VI's Revolutionary service but as I have no record or proof as yet, I cannot list him as a Rev. soldier.

Joel B. REED IV, son of Isaac REED V and a Miss SPRUELL V. came from Reidville, S. C. before 1835 and was one of the organizers of the Noonday church, serving it for many years. The oldest members of the REED family say that William REED VI, who was born in Eng. and died in America, was the youngest of the seven brothers of George READ, signer of the Declaration of Independence from Delaware. I, of course, do not include this as a fact, not having been able to look it up, but I am including it as an interesting clue for some of you to run down. The REEDs, BENSONs, DURHAMs, and LATIMERs, from all available records were particularly interested in the educational facilities of the community, providing the land, building the houses, furnishing sons, and later daughters as teachers, besides ten to thirteen children per family as scholars!

The HOYS, descended from the CRAWFORDs, COANs, and SNODDYs, had quite a lengthy wandering before settling in northern Cobb co. John HOY VI and his son Patrick V were of Scotch descent but lived in Raloo parish, Antrim Co., near Belfast, Ireland. They came to Charleston, S. C. in 1800 and later went to Spartanburg to join their cousins the CRAWFORDs who had preceded them just long enough for Patrick CRAWFORD VII to die a locally famous death in a Revolutionary War skirmish almost in sight of his own home.

Follows here a glance through the early minutes of the little church that was to mean so much to these early settlers of Cobb co. and to their descendants—Noonday. Just four years more and it will have a hundredth anniversary. Can't the descendants of these early members celebrate the occasion fittingly.

On June 25, 1835 the Noonday Baptist church was organized with "Peter KUYKENDALL and EAVEN PEARSON forming the presbytry." The following were the members: William TATE sr., William TATE jr., Hiram BENNETT, Joseph REID, David WATKINS, John KIRKLAND, Joel REED (IV), Martha TATE, Mary REED (IV) Eleanor REED, Jane KIRKLAND, Rebecca BLYTHE.

At Aug. "term" of conference, John BLYTHE, John TATE (IV), Rachel and Kesian TATE joined by letter. In April term received John DURHAM (IV) and wife Sarah by letter—appointed H. BENNETT and J. DURHAM delegates to general meeting. A committee was working on plans for building a church house.

June term, 1836; Brother Tornton BURKE moderator—received Reuben BENSON (V) and wife Mary by letter.

July term, 1836; appointed John KIRKLAND, John DURHAM, and Reuben BENSON a committee to arrange preaching during the year. These last two seem to have been called on at every meeting for some kind of service to the church.

At conference, Aug. 1839, they paid $8 for use of church (still had not built it seemed): in June, 1844, appointed H. BENNETT, G. ROBERTS, R. BENSON, J. DURHAM, W. H. McHAFFEE, J. B. REED, James BENN, J. B. BENSON (V), J. LAND to say where meeting house should be placed; at July term appointed a "standing committee to superintend the building of the meeting house, viz. R. BENSON, J. DURHAM, W. H. McHAFFEE". (Meeting house was built on hill above present location.)

Apr. term, 1847, rec'd by letter Wiley LATIMER (V) and wife Ireana and Richard LATIMER.

Feb. 1851; Rec'd Andrew C. HOY (IV) as deacon and his wife Matilda DURHAM HOY (IV). Oct. 1851; appointed John DURHAM clerk and on June 1852 elected Robert M. BENSON clerk.

Sept. 1855; granted letters of dismissal to Washington BENSON and wife (does anyone know who he was?)

Feb. 1856; agreed to build new meeting house, 34'x64'. Building committee was G. ROBERTS, Reuben LATIMER (V), John DURHAM, W. B. LATIMER, A. S. SMITH, Wm. GRESHAM, and Willis ROBERTS.

Mar. 1856; contract let to John McHAFFEE at $999.93¾—sold old building to him for $38.

June, 1856; appointed J. B. REED, G. ROBERTS, John DURHAM, W. B. LATIMER, and A. S. SMITH a committee to "revise the abstract of principles, gospel order, and rules of decorum held to heretofore by the church."

Mar. 1856; elected A. C. HOY as church clerk, R. M. BENSON having served continuously since 1852; May 1858; "started Sabbath School".

Sept. 1858; "rec'd by experience Susan E. and Mary Amanda HOY (III), Lucretia BROOKS, Cornelia GRIFFITH (III), Vicy and Lucinda GRESHAM (III), Warren ROBERTS, Fannie belonging to Levi DURHAM, James DOBBS, Charity belonging to Wm. DOBBS, Allen belonging to Thomas FOWLER, restored Jacob belonging to A. C. HOY.

Broke away from Tallapoosa Association and formed Noonday Baptist Association, Oct. 1858, with Reuben LATIMER, John DURHAM, J. REED, and W. LATIMER serving with others on a committee which had been planning this step for two years previous to date of organization. July 1859; elected W. B. LATIMER, G. ROBERTS, R. LATIMER, R. BENSON delegates to Noonday Association held in Marietta.

I cannot give any more space to the activities of old Noonday, but it will always occupy a warm spot in my heart, for the love of it has come down from John Berry BENSON and others in my direct line—Matilda T. DURHAM, Andrew HOY, Joel B. and Joel Posey REED, Reuben LATIMER, Robert M. BENSON, to John Donald BENSON my own grandfather, who gave the best years of his saintly life to its service for the good of man and the glory of God.

Some speak unthinkingly of the lack of education among the pioneers of Cobb Co., but if they could but read some of their beautiful letters which I cherish, and read the newspaper and magazine articles from their pens, they would realize quickly that, though college walls sheltered only a comparatively few of them, the well worn, beautifully bound books of real literature that have been handed down, were never on shelves or tables just for decoration. The well-worn Shakespeares and the precious carefully studied Bibles and learned books of doctrine and precept were more inspiring tutors than many in the colleges of today.

—But I just must stop chatting with you. One thing, however, that I wish to call to the attention of all those connected on the LATIMER branch of my family, is that I have in my possession a copy of the coat-of-arms of the LATIMERS and also that of the BRANDTS (James LATIMER IX married Mary BRANDT IX. All of the connection can be traced on the lineage chart in the exact center of the book and in the alphabetted lists where also will be found under her father's name, Capt. Randolph BRANDT X, his wonderful service to Maryland in colonial days.)

The Latimer arms consists of a red shield with a gold cross, surmounted by a plumed turban as the crest. The whole is embraced in a ribboned garland of the oak leaves and the English rose so famed in song and story. The accompanying motto is, "Variae sunt Fortuna Vices."

The BRANDT coat-of-arms is somewhat descriptive of the name as was the case so many times when a family was granted a title of nobility and chose its distinguishing emblem. On a silver shield is a blazing yet growing brand, the roots in a field of green. Above the shield is a medieval helmet surmounted by another burning growing brand which forms the crest. A lambrequin of silver and sable embraces the arms.

You have no idea what a beautifully decorative pair this makes as a wall grouping for a living room, and I shall be glad to have one or the pair made up for any of you who would like to have them. They are each 8"x10", finished in a beautiful antique sepia, and look well if framed in circassian walnut or in antique gold. A copy of each done on parchment in colors is $25 but the handsome sepia print done on portrait paper is only $2 for each.

In my reference list may be found a few of the sources of my material, but I cannot attempt to give credit to the cousins who have been so kind as to gather names in their particular branch for me. If one branch of the family contains more complete data than others you can know that some one or more on that line responded more fully than others to my call. Thank you all so much, and if any of you have additional data to the interest of the group or to future members, please send them to me so they can be prepared for distribution.

Sincerely,
MARY BENSON MAXWELL

KEY TO THE ALPHABETTED LIST OF FAMILY CONNECTION OF MARY ELIZABETH BENSON (Mrs. WILLIS MAXWELL) I

Roman numerals are based on the lineage chart in the exact center of the book. All letter listings of a, b, etc., are of generations younger than generation I.

Names under the family name are alphabetted according to the first name or initial even though the person may have been called by second name.

Names of all towns, cities and counties without a state name attached are in the state of Georgia.

Military service is indicated before a soldier's name by the following symbols:

- § Colonial Wars
- † Revolutionary War
- ‡ Indian fighting
- x War Between the States
- z Spanish-American War
- * World War
- b born
- m married
- dau. daughter
- c children

A (—) dash in front of a surname indicates the author's direct lineage.

d—will probated Feb. 10, 1698 (Baldwin's "Maryland Calendar of Wills" Vol. 2, page 170)
Came to Charles Co. Md. in 1674 from Barbadoes Island at invitation of Lord Baltimore. He owned "Penguiah Manor" Book I, B. pages 365-372 gives names of plantations. In 1658 a record of him in Barbadoes is signing a bill of lading in Ship's book of Bridgetown as purser of "ye good ship Wm. and Thomas, now riding in ye roads of Barbadoes" and bound for Rotterdam. Land office records at Annapolis show that on Mar. 18, 1674 he was granted 300 acres of land "to inhabit" himself and wife, Mary, Henry Lewis, a servant, and Randolph, Mary, and Judith, his children.
Randolph BRANDT seems to have taken an interest in Maryland affairs immediately on his arrival as we find him appearing as member of the lower house of the Assembly in 1678. See Archives vols. 7, page 23 (was given 4,950 lb. of tobacco to repay him for outfitting a troop of horse at his own expense) page 100. Book 7. Indian Troubles Vol. 15, page 281, May 11, 1680. He was also Capt. of this troop of horse which seems from his reports to have been very active in patrolling the western frontier of Charles Co., part of the time protecting the friendly Piscataway

Indians from their hereditary enemies the Senecas and the Susquehannas. One report made by him to Lord Baltimore with respect to providing a new home for the Piscataways indicates that he was a man of much better education and of broader views than was common amongst the earlier settlers. He was clerk of court—Book 1, No. 1

In Council Proceedings page 253, July 1681, Vol. 15 in "Sidelights on Maryland History," he is marked as one of the noblest founders of Colonial Maryland families, page 283. On page 315, "In the absence of Parish registers or complete early Charles Co. records, the exact relation of the LATIMERS and other Charles Co. families is not exactly proven, but the fact that John FAIRFAX Jr., left his minor children, Ann and William to live with James LATIMER Jr. and the close ties shown in the records to have existed between the families, imply kinship." James LATIMER'S home was named "Maycock's Rest." Capt. Randolph BRANDT also owned "Putney", "Asshar", and "Greenwich."

Too old to enlist in service, but went to the Confederate camps near his home to give medical aid. He went to Maryland to nurse his son, a soldier, who had measles, but found he had been buried the day before his arrival. He stayed three months in the camp through severest winter weather to help during the epidemic. Not feeling well, he left to go home quickly, but had contracted measles and died from pneumonia that resulted from the exposure.

 killed in Revolutionary War in S. C. in 1783
 He was a member of Capt. Barry's Co. of S. C. Rangers. On one occasion they were ordered to meet at a certain point. Two parties came in sight of each other sooner than was expected and each took the other for Tories. Firing began and young Thomas More shot Patrick CRAWFORD through the head. A slab marks the place near Nazareth church where the tragedy occurred.
