SARAH LUCINDA GOODIN
March 6, 1862—July 21, 1931

Sarah Lucinda Goodin, Daughter of Eliza Eleanor Blair Goodin and granddaughter of Rev. Jonathan Blair and Melvina Ross Blair, originated the idea of the Blair-Moffet reunions, and, after the first reunion, in 1926 at Mooney Grove near Visalia. She began to plan a genealogical record to include every descendent of her grandfather's families and their ancestors, also descendents of other branches of the families living in California, including a short record of the parents of those uniting in marriage with members of the family.

But even before the first reunion, ill health had overtaken "Sallie", and throughout the following years, in which she assiduously collected data when health permitted, she was at all times an invalid. Her heart and soul were in the work, and could she have been spared, the following records might have been more complete than they are.

THE COAT OF ARMS OF THE BLAIR SOCIETY

The Coat of Arms of the Blair Society of Erie, Pennsylvania, chosen after long consideration by the Blair Genealogical research committee combines many different features of the coats-of-arms of the Scotch Blair lines. "Every charge upon the shield and every crest and motto, the quarterings, and bordurcs have a deep significance as memorials to the family history." It was the aim of the various committees in this work, to represent as many of the Blair lines as possible.

The official insignia shows the following "Blazon:"

"Blair, Argent on a saltire between a mullet in chief and two crescents in flanks, a garb in base sable nine mascles of the first, a helmet closed surmounting the shield, with mantling. Crest, a stag couchant argent. Motto, Amo Probis."

A FOREWORD

In offering this little book to the families of the Blairs and Moffetts, I wish to acknowledge the vast amount of help received from data which Cousin Sarah Lucinda Goodin had been gathering for a number of years, in preparation for issuing a genealogical record of the above named families.

I am indebted to many of the relatives in California as well as some more remotely connected with us, dwelling in other parts of the Union, for their painstaking cooperation in furnishing desired data. A number of the California relatives deserve especial mention for their untiring labor, but many have given assistance, and I hesitate to name any, for fear that some deserving name might be omitted.

I wish to thank Cousin Alice Blair Andrews of East Orange, New Jersey, for numbers of early Blair records, particularly for the wills of great, great grandfather, John Blair, and Great Great Uncle John Blair. To Rev. Jas. Hugh Blair Hall of Birmingham, Alabama, I am grateful for the history of the name "Blair," and for Blair Records. To the Blair Society for Genealogical Research, Erie, Pennsylvania, I am indebted for the Blair Coat of Arms and its significance, and to the late Alexander Blair of Macon, Georgia, for his chart of early Blair genealogy.

I am much indebted to my nephew, W. S. Clawson, for assistance in all of the technicalities of publication, and I am sure that we are all grateful for his liberality in issuing the book on a non-profit basis.

A little explanation might be well for those who read with ease the following records. As the table of contents indicates, after the introductory pages, (1st) each of Rev. Jno. Blair's children and stepchildren's families are recorded successively, (2nd), that of his nephew, Calvin Blair, and (3rd.) each of the Moffett families in order of birth. Generations are reckoned, (1st.) from Rev. Jno. Blair and wife, or Nancy Mayfield Moffett and Husband, (2nd.) John Carnahan Blair and wife, (3rd.) Jas. Hamilton Moffett and wife, Charlotte Bunn Mayfield Moffett.

BLAIR-MOFFETT FAMILIES

I have taken the eldest child in the family and recorded his or her first child, and that child's descendents, then the second child and its descendents and so on through the family. Each of the younger children in a family are taken in the same way. In other words I record all descendents of the first child in a family before taking up the second and its descendents before taking up the third. One should follow carefully the generations and numbers in the generations.

As an example of the above take Viola Ruth Fraser. From the index turn to page 37. She is in the 5th. generation from Rev. Jno. Blair, and the only child in that generation. Her parents would be the first names in the 4th. generation preceding which is 4th. generation and number 3, from Rev. Jno. Blair (Robt. Lee Fraser and wife). The child's grandparents would be the first names in the 3rd. generation preceding, which is 3rd. Generation, number 3 (Laura Josephine Brown and Marion Fraser) the great grandparents would be the first names in the 2nd. generation preceding, which is 2nd Generation, number 4 (Eliza Jane Pogue and Marcellus Brown) the great great grandparents would be the first names in the 1st. generation preceding, which is 1st generation number 1 (Sarah Letta Blair and John Pogue). Jno. Blair then would be the child's great, great, great grandfather. Then turn to page 9 for Jno. Blair's father, and then to chart which traces the Blairs on back to Scotland or Ireland.

Simple abbreviations were necessary to condense the work. Gen.—generations, B—born, M—married, D—died, W—wife, H—husband, L—lives, p—page. As the majority of cities mentioned in this genealogy are in California it was found feasible to eliminate the name of the state in many instances to conserve space and cost. The names of cities other than in California have the state affixed and in most cases abbreviated.

The copy for this book was written and rewritten several times adding more statistics each time with writer's style not considered important. To have rewritten again for "style" involved too much additional work and expense.

BLAIR-MOFFETT FAMILIES

THE NAME "BLAIR"

Excerpts from articles by the noted educator, author and divine, Dr. Jas. Hugh Blair Hall, of Birmingham, Alabama, a descendent of Hugh Blair who was a brother of John Blair (wife Martha), the great grandfather of Rev. Jonathan Blair. Dr. Blair Hall springs from the Hall-Blair lines of England and Scotland. Their coats of arms, preserved to their American descendents, and bearing such sentiments as "Amo Probis" of the Blairs, meaning "I love the good," "give insight into the deeper impulses which marked their aims as well as the ambitions of their descendents." In America the lines are equally distinguished—John Blair signed the constitution of the United States, Jas. Blair founded Wm. and Mary College. The former became chief justice of the colonies, the latter served as governor of Virginia. Equally celebrated were those Blairs who had to do with molding history in their places of high trust in the administration of President Lincoln. Descendents have continually held high offices in the political system of America."

Dr. Hugh Blair Hall says, "The name 'Blair' is said to be of Celtic origin, and to mean 'a cleared field.' It is also said to mean 'a good fighter'. There is also a legend that a man came to the rescue of King Malcolm of Scotland, when he was hard pressed, and cleared the field of the king's foes, and in this unites the other two meanings.

"My interpretation is—away back yonder in the old days of Lords and Earldoms, and Serfs and Serfdoms, men all lived in strong, isolated castles and towers, or in walled cities. It was perhaps the best life that could be had then, but it was certainly not the ideal life. There was a man unto whom this mighty truth came—'Man must sooner or later go forth into the open trusting God and men—and there play—act—the Manly part. He was the man of vision. He would spurn castles, towers, city walls, and go into the open, 'conquering and to conquer', on lines and in things the highest and the most appealing to men of metal and moral worth. It was he who won, 'cleared' and held the field for the king, ultimately for himself and his own.

"In time this man became so conspicuous in character and conduct that men took note of him, took heart from him, and called him 'Blare'. Blair, the man who is brave, bold, fearless, free from all physical walls, all false defenses and sham pretenses, independent enough to step forth and live a man's life. This was the very first sounding of the tocsin of liberty—the call of man into God's great out-of-doors—the world—and to human brotherhood and divine fatherhood. These are the things that found expression on his shield—in his coat of arms—because they were in his heart.

"This is more in keeping with the things typified and signified in the stag and cross and motto, 'Amos Probis.' I love the true, the real, the right—all that the most manly man may choose for his life's aim in knowing, feeling, willing, doing—in learning, possessing, enjoying—in character and conduct.

"Highest ideals must, some say, somewhere find their birth. Such a man the king could, and I believe, would and did estate and call him Blair—the man of the open and cleared field.

"To attain the high ideals of my Blair, it may be, and often is, necessary to fight. Here are the fields on which the Blairs have ever fought. Yes, and 'sure as right is right and God is God' they cleared the field—do the Blairs—they win the victories imperishable—do the Blairs.

"I am hereunto led by my study of the whole of the Blair family in heraldry, in heroic battle, in personal development, and culture along all lines of endeavor and achievement. In this enlarged and ennobling sense, I think I can say with peculiar import and emphasis—I lo' the name o' Blair—the man of the purple soul—knightly clad and kingly."

RESUME OF LIFE OF REV. JONATHAN BLAIR

Jonathan Blair was born at Murfreesboro, Tennessee, March 22, 1805. He was the youngest of nine children. His father, though not a church member, did not oppose the work. Two of the six children who reached maturity became preachers—Jesse and Jonathan. Thomas Blair, Jonathan's father, moved to Arkansas about 1814. (Jonathan was nine years old). Sarah Carnahan Blair, the mother, was the daughter of Rev. John Carnahan and Jane Billingsley, and brother of John Carnahan. She was born Logan County, Ky., and died either in Tennessee or Arkansas.

Jonathan settled on a farm on Indian Creek, Missouri, sometime between October 26, 1834 and April 1, 1836, for the marriage record (which is the first Blair marriage record in Green County Mo.) says Jonathan Blair of Washington County, Arkansas, was married to Melvina Ross on October 26, 1834; while the birth of his first child, Sarah Letta Blair, was in McDonald County, Missouri, April 1, 1836. The land was patented from the government September 2, 1847. The officiating clergyman at the wedding was Rev. Alexander Young. (The marriage record is A. Page 20, at Springfield, Missouri). Rev. Jonathan Blair was always a Cumberland Presbyterian. He received his commission to preach while living in Arkansas, and before his marriage.

Rev. Jonathan Blair erected a flour mill on Indian Creek, on his farm, and operated it for many years. Elisabeth Blair, youngest child of Melvina Ross and Jonathan Blair, claimed that her mother's family were well-to-do, and that the money for the mill came from them. Melvina Ross Blair bore three children—Sarah Letta, April 1, 1836, Eliza Eleanor, January 22, 1837, and Charlotte Elisabeth Jane, June 12, 1840—and then in March 1841 she died, leaving Jonathan a widower with the three little girls, the oldest five years old and the youngest but nine months.

On March 1, 1842 Jonathan Blair married Nancy

BLAIR-MOFFETT FAMILIES

Mayfield Moffett, a widow with two little girls—Lucinda Angeline, born January 20, 1839, and Mary Elisabeth, born March 10, 1841. Nancy Mayfield Moffett had been a widow for one and a half years and had come to Missouri from Tennessee a year previous to this time with her mother and stepfather's family.

The Indian Creek farm yielded fruits and vegetables which supplied the family throughout the year, for vegetables and fruits (apples especially) were buried in the cellar and kept for winter use. Cattle did well in this hilly country, and butter and milk were plentiful. Hay was raised and the barn filled for the winter. Undoubtedly Jonathan Blair grew sufficient wheat for the supply of his family since he operated his own mill. On Sundays he followed his chosen calling. Often as circuit rider he rode many miles to keep an appointment. More than likely old "Bee" was often the riding animal on these trips. The saddle, saddlebags, and good-sized man would scarcely dampen her spirits, for the long trip across the plains (in 1857) failed to do so. As circuit rider he was often away from home days at a time.

The farm house was of logs, the main building, some distance from the kitchen, stood on a bench overlooking Indian Creek bottom. Back of the house, in a curve of the hills stood the orchard. The writer visited the place in 1895. The orchard, which used to yield such lucious apples, was a field of blackened stumps. (Frozen a few years previous). A modern cottage occupied the site of the old house, which had burned down a short time before. A store house had been made from the logs that were rescued from the fire. A large spring had been opened up near the cottage and a milkhouse built over it. Below the bench the old drip spring that mother loved so much, where she remembered the water was always icy cold, could only be found by forcing a path down the bluff, through weeds and brush, and uprooting the growth about a marshy spot. The drops caught in a cup were cold but weedy and unpalatable. The large spring on the sand-flat was as it must have been thirty-eight years before, but mother failed to remember that on summer days its water was not cold. On the day that I knelt (as on her death-bed mother had wished to do) and tried to take a good long drink, the water had much the temperature that dish-water sometimes has when you are finishing the pots and pans.

Before leaving for California, Jonathan had sold his farm and freed the one negro slave, Hagar, who was the especial property of Elisabeth, given to her by her mother's parents, with whom she spent much of her time during babyhood and early childhood. To the children, Hagar had often asserted volubly that she was glad to be free and to be free of them—glad she was not going with them. But when the last minute before departure arrived, Hagar was in tears, and begged to be taken along. But there was no room in the crowded wagons and Hagar was left behind. One of the saddest memories of Elisabeth's life was seeing the old negress bowed to the ground as the train topped a little rise not far from the house.

It was May 1, 1857 that the Rev. Jonathan and Nancy Blair, with ten or fifteen other families (about a hundred persons) started for California by the "covered wagon" route. (J. W. C. Pogue gave the starting time as April 15. This might have been the date that the John Pogue contingent left their home. May 1 may have been when the train left the general starting place). Blairs and Moffets were in predominating numbers in the train. The following were among those present, with their ages:

(Following is from Louisa Pogue Moffett's account as told by Grandmother Nancy Blair).

“From Missouri the train moved through Kansas, crossing the Neosho River, to the Arkansas River. After following the Arkansas River for some distance it passed north to the South Platte, crossing it followed the North Platte some distance, then crossed to Ft. Laramie, then crossed to Ft. Bridger, after which it traveled north-west to Snake River, then crossed it twice, then to Humboldt, and followed up this for some disance, then crossed to Honey Lake, then through the Sierras to Red Bluff.

“After staying about a month at Red Bluff to rest, most of the company went down to Santa Rosa (at Red Bluff, Blairs and Moffetts visited Jas. Moffett's, who came out in 1856 and were living there). Rev. Blair settled about three miles below Santa Rosa, stayed there a year, went to Little Lake Valley for three years, then to Tulare County, to the 'old adobe' for two years, then crossed Kaweah to McPherson place for two years, then to Dillons Mill, then crossed to Bravo Lake."

BLAIR-MOFFETT FAMILIES

In crossing the Plains the Blair-Moffett Train met with no Indian trouble. Numbers of times Indians came around the camp begging. Once a party of 500 braves on the warpath against another tribe came into camp, peeked into wagons here and there, begged a little, then went on their way. The train was thrown into wild excitement. Cautiously, the men made ready to resist attack, and as soon as the last of the warriors rode away, oxen were hitched up with all speed, and the train "hit the trail."

Throughout the journey, in wild territory, every precaution was taken against surprise attacks—the wagons were circled, guns in readiness, stock guarded, and watchmen always on duty.

Probably the reason the Blairs, and the J. W. C. Pogue family, moved away from Little Lake Valley was because a severe winter killed a great deal of their stock, and did other damage to trees and crops. They had heard of the broad acres in Tulare County waiting to be taken up, and once more took the trail into strange lands. Several moves were necessary before they found a place exactly to their liking. Near Bravo Lake, the Blairs lived for several years in what was called Stringtown, which was not a town, but consisted of five families living in a "string" or line along the river east of Bravo Lake—each within yelling distance of the nearest neighbor. E. T. Ragle was furthest east, next was Rev. Jonathan Blair, then J. W. C. Pogue, next was John Coble (he had married Polly Pogue) and furthest west was the John Pogue family. Henry Moffett lived further west but was hardly in Stringtown.

While living in this settlement the flood of 1867-8 took place. The river was high. On the evening of December 23 the Stringtown families went to bed as usual, although the river was out of bounds and they were uneasy. A drizzle of rain was falling. It had been raining for 41 days. Everybody was awakened by a rush of water. It came up into some of the houses, and there was great excitement. No one knew the cause of the flood nor how high the water might get. E. T. Ragle moved his family out to the knolls in the night. Others were ready to leave at a moment's notice. Much damage was done, not only by washing away property, such as fences and well curbs, but by taking the soil itself and leaving but a sandy waste. (The flood was caused by a great earth slide in the South Fork canyon of the Kaweah, which had occurred on December 20. The water backed up for three days, then on December 23, gave way and water, earth, logs, brush, trees, and debris of all kinds tore down stream, and spread out over the level country below. Large logs were carried down as far as Visalia).

The flood broke up Stringtown. Ragles moved a mile or two northeast, where members of the family still live. J. W. C. Pogues and Cobles went to Dry Creek, John Pogues to Sand Creek (Orosi). The Blairs remained in Stringtown for several years. (Their house had been on higher ground than others and they had received less damage). Eventually they moved to the opposite side of Bravo Lake, where they spent the remaining years of their lives. The son, James Henry, still lives on the ranch.

On April 18, 1866, Rev. Jonathan Blair together with Rev. S. T. Gilliam, organized the Antelope Presbyterian Church, at the Hamilton schoolhouse. (This was while grandpa was living at Dillon's Mill or on the McPherson place). There were 19 members. Later the meeting place was changed to the Antelope schoolhouse, about a mile northwest of the present town of Woodlake. Again, when the schoolhouse was moved to the present site of Woodlake, church was held in it there, before a separate building was erected for a church. (The name has now been changed to the Woodlake Presbyterian Church). The Rev. Jonathan Blair served as its pastor for twenty years—or until his death. He also preached many sermons in churches and schoolhouses about the country, and often took part in old-time camp-meetings held in the swamp and elsewhere.

During these years he farmed and raised stock, and in these pursuits he prospered, but the salary he received from preaching was small, although he was richly rewarded in the love and esteem of a people, and in the following which he gained for the Master. The pioneer families of that section received most of their religious training from him.

(Another excerpt from grandma's account to Louisa Pogue Moffett).

"Jonathan Blair died in 1886, being then 81 years old. June 15, 1886 was a bright clear morning, and when Jonathan arose he ate his breakfast early, having arose by daylight, after which the family had prayers as usual. After this his wife fixed the churn and he churned. At the close of this, he complained of pains in the chest and was cold and sick. He lay down. The doctor was sent for. He seemed in little pain, and about eleven o'clock his youngest daughter, Zilla, went to get dinner. His wife stayed by him. He said he was in very little pain. This continued until halfpast three, when he died quietly. Shortly after this Dr. Pendergrass arrived and pronounced it a congestive chill.

He was buried the second day after, June 17, (at Deep Creek Cemetery) and on the next day (night) while the women of the family were visiting one of the daughters. Melvina Blair Pogue, the house burned, and nearly all that was there-in."

BLAIR-MOFFETT FAMILIES

James Henry Blair, Benjamin Pogue and John Lee Pogue were staying at the Blair home the night it burned. While they were eating supper they heard the roar of flames. The fire had gained such headway that nothing could be done to save the building, and the boys were too much frightened to use judgment in what to try to save. Consequently the manuscript of the autobiography of Jonathan Blair, which was waiting for the account of his death, and which lay on a table just within the sitting room door, was burned. A burning match dropped to the floor probably caused the fire.

In Rev. Jonathan's will be bequeathed $300.00 to each of the married children, while the farm and remainder of the property was given to the two youngest children. (James Henry had really been a partner in the ranch for some years). The son was to care for the mother throughout the remainder of her life. A son-in-law, J. W. C. Pogue, was named the executor.

AN ADDED WORD

Nancy Blair was 67 at the time of her husband's death. After the fire Grandma worked hard in helping her son and daughter to get settled again. In a short time the son erected a modern seven roomed cottage near where the comfortable old-fashioned house had stood.

Grandma, "Aunt Nancy" as many called her, lived with her son until her death, March 3, 1897. On this day she was visiting her eldest daughter, Lucinda Ragle. She ate supper as usual. A short time after, she became very ill, and died within twenty minutes. The doctor pronounced it acute indigestion. She was buried beside her husband in the Deep Creek Cemetery, Tulare County, California.

CHAPTER I

1ST. GEN. 1

SARAH LETTA BLAIR

Eldest daughter of Rev. Jonathan and Melvina Ross Blair
(H.) JOHN POGUE

Sarah Letta Blair was born on her father's farm in McDonald County, Missouri April 1, 1836, where she grew to womanhood, and attended the country school and church. The latter was often presided over by her father.

Sarah Letta's husband, John Pogue, was the son of John Pogue, the grandson of John Pogue, and it is said the great grandson of John Pogue, and was of the Orange County Pogues of North Carolina. His grandfather, born in Virginia, moved to North Carolina, St. Luke's District, Caswell County, just after the Revolutionary War, with a younger brother, Joseph. John and Joseph moved to Tennessee in or before 1798, and Joseph settled on Roaring Fork. John bought 261 acres of land on Lick Creek, Greene County, and raised his family of five sons and four daughters there. John, the second eldest son of this family, born in North Carolina about 1789, married Lydia Jones (a relative of Wm. Goodin's mother). Six children were the result of this union—the youngest child being John, who was born in Green County, Tennessee, October 26, 1819. Lydia Jones Pogue died about 1822. The widowed husband married Sophia Carter. She died without issue about 1836. He married a third time, in 1837 or 1838. This wife was Sarah McConnell Carden, a widow.

John Pogue, who became the husband of Sarah Letta, studied medicine with his oldest brother, Dr. Alfred Pogue, who was a practicing physician in Rogersville, Hawkins County, Tennessee. It is probable that he secured his license, for he practiced in Greene County. Then John's father and step-mother (Sarah McConnell Carden) died on August 31, 1839, of typhoid fever, leaving to him the care of the farm and of an unmarried sister, Polly, aged 24. A three months' old half brother (J. W. C. Pogue) was taken by the grandmother, Nancy Pogue.

BLAIR-MOFFETT FAMILIES

She died within two years, and John and Polly took the baby to raise. It is probable that John had charge of his father's flour mill—at any rate he had little time to devote to medicine. In 1844 he moved to Missouri and settled near Pineville.

When gold was discovered in California excitement ran high. John arranged for the care of Polly and the half brother, Jim, and went out in 1848. He worked for two years in the mines, then returned to Missouri in 1850 and resumed his farm work, and probably had some medical practice.

It was likely after his return to Missouri that John met Sarah Letta Blair, and although he was sixteen years her senior, he captivated her. He made an excellent appearance, rode a beautiful horse, and dressed well. He often wore a stylish cape and it flapped in the breeze as he galloped along. He was thought to be wealthy, and he had accumulated some money. The two were married on October 6, 1853. Henry Moffett, half brother of the bride's stepmother, gave the infair dinner at his mother's home, and the whole country was invited. The procession from the Blair home to that of the Moffetts was nearly a half mile long. Most of the young people rode on horses and at the head of the procession, also on horseback, rode the bride and groom.

The couple lived on the Pineville farm until 1857, when they joined the Blair-Moffett train for California, and settled near Santa Rosa. It was doubtless owing largely to his glowing accounts of the West, and his unbounded faith in its mineral wealth, and knowledge of the route across the plains, that the journey was undertaken. He was one of the leading officers in the expedition. (Probably Calvin Blair's account of the west was partly responsible for the expedition for he had returned to Missouri from California, in December before the train left in April or May).

In 1860 or 61 Uncle John moved to Nevada, to engage in mining. In 1863 he returned to California, Tulare County, living first on the Kaweah, and later at Sand Creek (Orosi), where he followed farming. At Sand Creek Sarah Letta died of pneumonia, January 27,

BLAIR-MOFFETT FAMILIES

1872, leaving a family of five children. One child had died before the mother. She was buried beside the child at Lone Tree, Tulare County.

Aunt Sarah was a Bible student. Grandfather Blair often remarked, "Sarah loved the Old Book." She had read it through seven times.

After Sarah Letta's death the family was broken up. The children lived with relatives, especially with the Blair grandparents, until they were grown. Soon after the death, the father took the two boys with him to Arizona on a six months' prospecting trip. Much of Uncle John's remaining years were passed in prospecting. He lived when he wished with J. W. C. Pogue, the half brother whom he had raised. He died August 8, 1896, at the home of his son, John Lee, on Dry Creek, the old home of his sister Polly Coble. He was buried in the Woodlake cemetery.

The children of Sarah Letta and John Pogue were: 1. Benjamin Franklin, 2. Melvina Josephine, 3. Mary Nevada, 4. Eliza Jane, 5. John Lee, 6. Nancy Laura.

1ST. GEN. 2

ELIZA ELEANOR BLAIR

Second Daughter of Rev. Jonathan and Melvina Ross Blair

(H.) WILLIAM SEVIER GOODIN

Eliza Eleanor Blair was born in McDonald County, Missouri, December 22, 1837 on the Indian Creek farm of her father, Rev. Jonathan Blair. She grew to womanhood there, and on December 20, 1855, at eighteen years of age, was married to William Sevier Goodin, a carpenter and farmer. He was twenty-four years old, having been born on the 23rd. of July, 1831, near Greeneville, Tennessee.

William Goodin's father, Benjamin Goodin, was born on September 19, 1807. The records at Greeneville, Greene County, Tennessee show that Benjamin Goodin had many land transactions around Greeneville from 1815 on for a number of years. It was sometime before 1855 that he moved to Missouri and settled near Pineville. He died in Pineville on October 27, 1875. His wife Polly Jones Goodin (a relative of John Pogue's mother—Lydia Jones Pogue) was born in Louisville, Kentucky on November 27, 1813, and died in Pineville, October 11, 1866.

Eliza Eleanor and William Sevier with their seven months old baby, joined the Blair-Moffett expedition and came to California in 1857. They stopped in Yolo County for about a year, then moved to Santa Rosa, where they lived for nearly two years, after which they moved to Tulare County. They lived first at Venice Hill, then Farmersville, where the wife died of tuberculosis, February 21, 1869. For a time the four children who outlived the mother, stayed with relatives, particularly with their grandfather, Rev. Jonathan Blair. Later, although Uncle "Bill" never remarried, he established a home at Orosi, and his daughter, Sarah Lucinda "kept house" for him. He died, May 26, 1898, at Orosi, and was buried beside his wife in the Deep Creek Cemetery near Farmersville.

1ST. GEN. 3

CHARLOTTE ELISABETH JANE BLAIR

Third daughter of Rev. Jonathan and Melvina Ross Blair

(H.) JOHN McMINN

Charlotte Elisabeth Jane Blair was born at Neosho, Newton County, Missouri, at the home of her Ross grandparents, for to this town the family had moved after the marriage of Melvina to Jonathan Blair. When Elisabeth was 9 months old her mother died, and she was taken to Neosho to live with her grandparents. Much of her childhood was passed with them. Her earliest recollections were of their old home and of the Neosho church. When, some time after her father's second marriage, Elisabeth was returned to him, the grandparents gave her a slave, Hagar, who always made the child her especial charge.

On the trip across the plains, Elisabeth, who was seventeen years old, rode on horseback the greater part of the way. To the young people the way was full of thrill and adventure. They had their campfire parties, and the girls had their beaus. Elisabeth was one of the most vivacious and attractive young women in the train.

It was during the year that the Blairs resided near Santa Rosa that Elisabeth met and fell in love with John McMinn. He was born in Springfield, Missouri, May 2, 1839. His father, Joseph McMinn had eight children. He was born in Washington County, Maryland, June 11, 1795. His parents moved to Hawkins County, Tennessee, when Joseph was quite young. They lived there till 1830, then moved to Madison County, Illinois. After five years they took up their residence in Dallas County, Missouri. Joseph married Charlotte Derrick in Hawkins County, April 20, 1820. She was a native of that county, born February 7, 1800. She died, April 18, 1836. Their children were—Lucretia, Pascal, Selina, and Joseph. He married his second wife, Mary Martin, in May, 1837. They had two children Mary Ann and John. The family came west in 1852, and settled on the Rancho de Cabeza, part of a Spanish grant, on the Sebastopol Road two miles West of Santa Rosa on October 15, 1852.

John, the youngest child in his father's family, graduated from Scott's Academy, Santa Rosa in 1858. Three years later, February 28, 1861, he married Elisabeth Blair at Little Lake (Willets). The Rev. Jonathan Blair had moved there from Santa Rosa in 1858. The groom and his bride lived with his parents on the Sebastopol farm. Later he built a beautiful home. In 1896 he sold the new home and part of the farm, and moved to Santa Rosa (5th Street), where they passed the remainder of their lives. Members of the family still reside there.

John McMinn was a life member of the Santa Rosa Lodge, No. 57, F. & A. M. and the masons officiated at his burial. Death took place May 8, 1912. His life was marked with kindly deeds, and he was worthy of great esteem and respect.

Aunt "Lizzie" lived until July 7, 1925, being 85 years old at the time of her demise. She was always a staunch Presbyterian, had many friends, and kept to the last her vivacious spirit.

The children of the above couple were: 1. Jonathan; 2. Mary Melvina, 3. Etta Mae; 4. Rose Lee; 5. Joseph; 6. Clara Jane; 7. Allette; 8. Nancy Bess; 9. John Fred-eric; 10. Jas. Ross; 11. Carlotta Elisabeth.

CHAPTER IV

1ST. GEN. 1

LUCINDA ANGELINE MOFFETT

Eldest daughter of Nancy Mayfield Moffett and
Jas. Hamilton Moffett

(H.) WILLIAM CONRAD RAGLE

Lucinda Angeline Moffett was born in Fayetteville, Lincoln County, Tennessee, on January 20, 1839. When her father, Jas. Hamilton Moffett, died in October, 1840, leaving the mother, Nancy Mayfield Moffett, a widow, Lucinda, the only child, was under two years of age. Five months later, as she and her mother, with her mother's family, were on a boat, crossing the Mississippi to Missouri, Lucinda's sister, Mary Elisabeth, (Little Mary) was born. In Missouri, Nancy Mayfield Moffett lived with her mother's family until March 1, 1842, when she married Rev. Jonathan Blair. From this time until Lucinda was grown, she lived on the Blair farm on Indian Creek. She walked to and from the country school (which was a mile or so away) and was often in the little graveyard, which was a short distance up Indian Creek from her step-father's dwelling. Here her own sister, Mary Elisabeth, was buried in 1845, two months and a week later, a half brother, John Carnahan Blair, followed "Little Mary", and two years after this, a half sister, Missouri Emily, was laid to rest in the same cemetery. Other relatives were also buried there.

Lucinda was eighteen years old when the Blair-Moffett train started for California. It was on this trip that she persuaded young "Jim" Pogue from returning to Missouri, when he had had a difference with his half brother, John Pogue. Thus to Aunt "Cindy" the James William Center Pogue family probably owes its union with the Blair family.

During the year that the Blair family lived near Santa Rosa, Lucinda met Wm. Conrad Ragle, and in about a year they were married—August 23, 1858—at Little Lake (now Willets) in Mendocino County California.

BLAIR-MOFFETT FAMILIES

Wm. Ragle was from Hawkins County, Tennessee. His father, Geo. Ragle, was born in Virginia on January 15, 1792. He died at Churchill, Hawkins County, Tennessee, on January 17, 1881—eighty-nine years of age. His mother, Margaret Miller, was born in Virginia on September 14, 1794. She died on August 8, 1840, and was buried at Churchill, and there forty-one years later her husband was buried beside her. Their son, William Conrad, was born at Churchill, October 15, 1830. He came to California in 1852.

Uncle "Bill" and Aunt "Cindy" took a farm near Santa Rosa and dwelt there until the spring of 1866, when they moved to Tulare County, where many of her relatives had preceded them. They settled between the present town of Exeter and the Kaweah River. In the flood of 1867-8 the river overflowed their land, reaching even to the floor of the dwelling. This caused them to move to Dry Creek, where they engaged in the sheep and cattle business until 1871. They then located at Antelope Heights, now known as Naranjo District, which is a part of the better known Woodlake District. The ranch is about three and one-half miles from the town of Woodlake. Here they brought up their family of eight children, (one child had died at Santa Rosa), and here both Uncle "Bill" and Aunt "Cindy" died.

Wm. Ragle died April 21, 1895 of heart failure. He had gone at dusk to milk. Aunt "Cindy" at the house with her mother, was startled by what she thought was a call. She listened, but heard nothing more. He did not return. She grew uneasy. The children returned from Christian Endeavor, and went at once to search for him. It was nearly midnight when the youngest son nearly stumbled over his father's body near the corral. The bucket of milk was near him on the milk shelf.

Aunt Lucinda and Uncle "Bill" were charter members of the Antelope Presbyterian Church, organized on April 18, 1866. He served both as trustee and elder and she was a deaconess. Uncle "Bill" was an Odd Fellow and Aunt Lucinda a Rebecca. She lived for ten years after her husband's death, and, had she not had the misfortune to fall from their porch, a distance of three and a half or four feet, and break her hip bone, she might have lived much longer, but she was never well after the accident, and passed away on July 9, 1905. She was buried beside her husband in the Woodlake Cemetery.

Issue of the above couple were: 1. Eliza Jane; 2. Jas. Albert; 3. Nancy Elisabeth; 4. Margaret Ann; 5. Mary Alice; 6. Geo. Jasper; 7. Katherine Penelope; 8. Wm. Arthur; 9. Martha Rozillia.

CHAPTER V

1ST. GEN. 1

NANCY MELVINA BLAIR

Eldest daughter of Rev. Jonathan and Nancy Mayfield
Moffett Blair

(H.) JAMES WILLIAM CENTER POGUE

Nancy Melvina Blair was born in McDonald County, Missouri, February 13, 1843. She lived on the Blair farm on Indian Creek until she was fourteen years old, when the well-known train left Missouri for California, May 1, 1857. (April 15 is J. W. C.'s record).

In the same train was the 18-year-old half-brother of John Pogue, James Wm. Center Pogue. His grandfather was John Pogue, one of the Orange County Pogues of North Carolina, who with his brother Joseph had come from near Richmond, Virginia, soon after the Revolutionary War. The Pogues lived also near Raleigh, Wake County, and in Caswell County, St. Lukes District, North Carolina. During or before 1798, John and Joseph moved into Tennessee, and John settled on Lick Creek. Several of his children (he had five sons and four daughters) had been born in North Carolina. Among these was John, the father of J. W. C.

The mother, Sarah McConnell Carden, was a widow at the time of her marriage to John Pogue, while he had lost two wives. J. W. C. was the only child by this marriage. He was born June 1, 1839, and when but three months old, both father and mother died, August 31, 1839, leaving him to the care of his grandmother, Nancy the widow of John Pogue of North Carolina and Virginia. Two years later the grandmother died, and the baby was taken by his half brother and sister—John and Polly Pogue. John was 22, and Polly 26. Both unmarried.

John and Polly with "Jim" moved to Missouri in 1844 and took up a farm near Pineville. Here Jim lived until his eighteenth year—except for a year or two, when John had sent him to the Carter Station School near his old home in Tennessee.

BLAIR-MOFFETT FAMILIES

"Mellie" and "Jim" had known each other for at least four years before the Blair-Moffett train left for California, since his half brother had married her half sister in 1853. They may have known each other before this, but it is doubtful, for the Pogue and Blair farms were too far apart for the children to have attended the same school. It is likely that they were together a good bit on the way to California. Two and a half years later they were married at Little Lake (Willets), on October 13, 1859. She was 16½ years of age and the groom 20 years and 4 months old. Jim bought a part of his bride's wedding finery—a white silk ribbon for her waist and a pair of shoes. (This was probably because the nearest store was 100 miles from her father's farm, and near where Jim was living with Polly, who had married John Coble).

The young couple took up a farm at Little Lake, and in 1862, when the Blairs moved to Tulare County (because a severe winter had frozen their stock and done much other damage) they moved down also. They first lived near St. John's Creek, not far from Visalia. After two years they moved to the "Old Adobe" on Venice Hill, and nearly two years later to the swamp south of Bravo Lake, then, after a winter there, to Stringtown, and, after the flood of 1868 had wrecked the Stringtown and swamp property they settled on Dry Creek, where they lived until 1877. In this year they moved across the Kaweah River to another part of their ranch—for the Dry Creek and Lemon Cove Ranches had been united several years previous to this. They first lived on "The Ditch," then, because of malarial conditions, changed to "The Knolls" (a quarter of a mile distant), then for the same reason, a year later, put the buildings on skids and moved a mile south to what is now the town of Lemon Cove. Here they lived during the remaining years of their lives. J. W. C. was manager of the 10,000 acre ranch which included the whole of Lemon Cove and his Dry Creek place. (The owners were Wm. Wallace, Clark Crocker, and J. W. C. Pogue). A wayside hotel and store was erected. J. W. C. started the citrus industry in that part of the country, in 1877. Previously grain growing and stock raising were the chief industries. He was also County Supervisor for a number of years—until he refused the office, and one year was Democratic nominee for the senate.

Melvina died of cancer on May 23, 1891, and was buried in the Woodlake Cemetery.

She and her husband had been charter members of the Antelope Presbyterian Church (now Woodlake Presbyterian Church) which had been organized in 1866 by her father, the Rev. Jonathan Blair, assisted by Rev. S. T. Gilliam. She was always a faithful and devoted Christian, and her husband served as trustee and elder for years and was Sunday School superintendent.

On August 16, 1894 J. W. C. Pogue married his wife's sister, Margaret Elzira Blair Jasper in Santa Maria. He died June 29, 1907, and was buried at Woodlake beside Melvina.

The second wife died at the home of her son, Wm. Jasper, near Sanger, on November 16, 1923, and was buried in the Fresno Cemetery. She too was a charter member of the Antelope Presbyterian Church, and was always a Presbyterian.

The children of Nancy Melvina Blair Pogue and J. W. C. Pogue were: 1. Martha Louisa; 2. Nancy Eugenia; 3. Ewell Jackson; 4. Jonathan Early; 5. Sarah Eva; 6. Thomas Amzi; 7. Melvina Ollie; 8. Bertha May; 9. Nora Alice.

CHAPTER VI

1ST. GEN. 3

MARTHA ANN BLAIR

Third daughter of Rev. Jonathan and Nancy Mayfield
Moffett Blair.

(H.) ELISHA HOLT FINE

Martha Ann Blair was born in McDonald County, Missouri, on the Blair Farm, January 9, 1847, and lived there until, in her tenth year, came the memorable journey across the Plains. With old Bee for a saddle animal, the way must have been full of joy. She was fifteen when, with her parents, she left Little Lake (Willets), and came to Tulare County. The next year Martha was sent to the seminary at Alamo in the San Ramon Valley. She boarded at (Uncle) Tom Johnson's. There, in the spring of 1864, she met Elisha Holt Fine at the home of mutual friends, the Rennicks'. In the fall the two were married (September 22) at the home of her parents, who by this time had moved from the old "Adobe" at Venice to the McPherson place, which lay across the Kaweah river, on the Mineral King Road.

Elisha Holt Fine, born in Dover, Lafayette County, Missouri, on November 28, 1836, was the son of John Fine and Agnes Mitchell Fine. The former was born in Tennessee, September 2, 1798, the latter in Kentucky, February 16, 1809, and they were married in Lafayette County, Missouri, on December 31, 1826. In 1853 John Fine brought his family to California. They first visited with a brother in San Jose, then moved to what was known as "Uncle Jim's Cabin" in what is now the town of Mayfield, where they stayed for the winter. In the spring they moved to Moraga Valley, where they lived for 19 years, then settled on a farm near Linden, where they spent their last days. He died August 14, 1878, and she on March 13, 1881.

Elisha Holt Fine was the only boy in his father's family, and after reaching California, he was soon the only child at home. Two younger sisters had died at birth, in Missouri, and one sister had married before the family left Missouri. The remaining sister married during the first winter in California.

John Fine came to California to go into the cattle business. He started from Missouri with a large herd but lost many on the way out. He arrived with only 80 head. He and his son went into the business together. They had one herd in San Luis Obispo County, another in Tulare County. In the dry year of 1864 they lost about a thousand head of the Tulare herd. This determined them to sell the remainder of the herd, which they did, and never went into cattle business in a big way again.

In the fall of 1864 Holt Fine and his father went to Tulare County by team to collect their cattle, which were rented out. The suspicions of Holt's mother were aroused when he asked her to pack his good coat for him, but she was not sure of his reasons until he arrived home with his bride. It had taken about a week for the groom and bride to make their honeymoon journey from Tulare County to Moraga Valley.

The young couple stayed with his parents for a week or so until a cottage could be made habitable, then moved to themselves. Eight years later, 1872, both he and his father took up land in the Linden District and moved to that place.

In the Moraga Valley he and his father had engaged in dairying to some extent—driving to Oakland and San Francisco to market the butter. In Linden, Holt Fine ran a small dairy, and raised stock and grain. He set out a family orchard soon after his arrival in Linden, but in the winter of 1894-95 he prepared to enter the fruit business, and planted about 20 acres to walnuts, almonds, apricots, and prunes. The walnuts formed a single row about the orchard. They thrived, and were the beginning of the walnut industry in that section of the state.

Every child of Rev. Jonathan Blair was religious, and none was more so than Aunt Martha. She was deeply interested in all Christian enterprises, and kept up her church and missionary work until the time of her death, which took place in Linden on March 12, 1920.

Uncle Holt was also religious. He was of a retiring disposition, a kindly nature and loved by all who knew him. He lived until March 14, 1921, when he passed away and was buried beside his wife and mother and father in the Lindsen cemetery.

Children of this couple were: 1. Nancy Agnes; 2. Mary Louise; 3. Henry Holt; 4. Margaret Eliza; 5. Sarah Rebecca; 6. Lena Eugenia; 7. Martha Lucinda.

1ST. GEN. 4

MARGARET ELZIRA BLAIR

Fourth Child of Rev. Jonathan and Nancy Mayfield
Moffett Blair.

(H.) JAMES ARCHILLES JASPER

(H. 2ND) J. W. C. POGUE

Margaret Elzira Blair was born on the Blair farm in McDonald County, Missouri, on February 24, 1849, and so was but 8 years old when the trip to California was made in 1857. She was with her parents in their various homes—three miles from Santa Rosa, at Little Lake (Willets), in the "Old Adobe" at Venice Hill, on the McPherson place, near Dillon's Mill, and in Stringtown. She received her education at public schools, took the county examination, and taught school for a term at Antelope (Woodlake). She was a charter member of the Antelope Presbyterian Church (Woodlake Presbyterian Church), which was organized by her father and Rev. S. T. Gilliam on April 18, 1866. While living at Stringtown, she and James Achilles Jasper were married at Visalia, on April 12, 1869. She was then 20 years old.

Jas. Achilles Jasper was the son of Merrill Jasper, who was born in Kentucky, and Francis Crowley Jasper who was born in Clay County, Mo., July 8, 1831. Jas. Achilles was born in Polk County, Missouri, February 15, 1848. A sister, Francis Louise, was born in Liberty, Polk County, October 7, 1855.

In 1857 Merrill Jasper brought his family to California by ox-team. They were accompanied by several other families. The Jaspers settled first in Sonoma County, but in 1860 or 61 came to Tulare County. For a time they lived in Visalia, then moved to Venice, where "Uncle Jimmie" probably met his future wife. "They were living at Venice when the first county election was held under the old 'election tree.' The tree is still standing in the Venice district." (There had been an election held under this tree on July 10, 1852, when Tulare County was organized.) About 1869 the Jaspers moved to Lins Valley, where the father operated a general merchandise store. Two years later they moved to Farmersville, and Merrill Jasper opened up a general merchandise store in that town. This store was bought by O. G. Brundage, who still owns it. Merrill Jasper died in Hanford, July 28, 1879. His wife passed away in Farmersville June 7, 1873.

Jas. Achilles and Margaret Elzira began their married life at Glenville, Kern County, but in 1871 returned to Tulare County. The next year they moved to Nevada, where he was engaged in the cattle business. They returned to Tulare County and for a time lived near the Lemon Cove district, where he was in the sheep business, and at the same time worked on a mine. The family moved to Santa Maria in April 1879. Jas. Jasper fell ill about this time. He was ill for years, and died in Los Angeles, August 3, 1893, and was buried there. He was a kind, gentle, unassuming man, and liked by all who knew him. A book given by him to the writer, when she was under five years of age, is still treasured.

During the illness of her husband Aunt "Maggie" bought a hotel in Santa Maria, and operated it successfully for many years. She was also an excellent needlewoman, and seemed tireless in assisting less proficient sisters and their children in such work. On August 16, 1894, in Santa Maria, she married her brother-in-law, J. W. C. Pogue, and went to live in the Pogue home at Lemon Cove. A few years later her two sons, John and William Jasper, went into the grape and fruit business in the Sanger district, and she made her home with them. She died at the home of her younger son, William, near Sanger, November 16, 1923, and was buried in Fresno.

The children of Margaret Elzira Blair Jasper and Jas. Achilles Jasper were: Sarah Francis; 2. John Merrill; 3. William Thomas.

—Second child of Jas. Hamilton Moffett and Nancy Mayfield Moffett Blair. She was born on the Mississippi River as her mother and sister, and grandmother's family were en route to Missouri, on March 10, 1841, 5 months after the death of her father.

In 1842 Little Mary's mother married Rev. Jonathan Blair, and Little Mary went to live on the Indian Creek farm of her step-father. She was a great "pet" of her step-father, but she was not destined to live. When Rev. Jonathan was away on the circuit preaching, word was brought that one of his children had died, and when he reached home he found that little Mary was gone. She died on the Indian Creek farm, McDonald County, Missouri, on October 23, 1845, and was interred in the Indian Springs Cemetery.

1ST. GEN. 2.—JOHN CARAHAN BLAIR—Eldest son of Rev. Jonathan and Nancy Mayfield Moffett Blair, was born in McDonald County, Missouri, on September 15, 1844 and died on December 30, 1845. He was buried at Indian Springs near the Blair home.

1ST. GEN. 5.—CALVIN AMZI BLAIR—Was born in McDonald County, Missouri, May 29, 1851. He lived with the family in their various residences until when they were at Stringtown in 1868, they sent him to the seminary in Visalia, where he began his studies for the ministry—for he intended to follow in his father's footsteps. Measles broke out in the school. Amzi assisted in nursing the patients. He contracted the disease, but continued to help care for those more ill than himself. He took cold. Pneumonia followed and he passed away in a few days—October 28, 1868, and was buried in the Deep Creek Cemetery. Dr. Benn was the attending physician.

1ST. GEN. 6.—MISSOURI EMILY BLAIR.—Sixth child of Rev. Jonathan and Nancy Mayfield Moffett Blair, was born on the Blair farm in McDonald County, March 5, 1854. She died at the same place two years later—October 29, 1856, and was buried at the Indian Creek Cemetery.

1ST. GEN. 7.—CHARLOTTE CAROLINE BLAIR.—Seventh child of Rev. Jonathan and Nancy Mayfield Moffett Blair, was born on the Blair farm, Indian Creek, McDonald County, Missouri, on April 6, 1856, and so was but little over a year old when the family came to California. She died at Little Lake (Willits), California, December 25, 1860 and was buried there.

1ST. GEN. 8.—THOMAS IRVIN BLAIR—Eighth child of Rev. Jonathan and Nancy Mayfield Moffett Blair, was born at Santa Rosa, February 28, 1858.

In the summer of 1870 the Blair family was still living in what had been Stringtown (the other families had moved away). Thomas Irvin (Tommie) went to his sister Melvina on Dry Creek to help his brother-in-law with the sheep. One morning before it was full daylight, he arose and ran toward the corals to help in turning the sheep out. He ran into the clothes line, and was thrown backward, striking on the back of his head. He assisted with the sheep that day, but the next was ill, and died three weeks later, August 14, 1870, of brain fever. He was buried in the Deep Creek Cemetery.

CHAPTER VIII

1ST. GEN. 9

JAMES HENRY BLAIR

Ninth child of Rev. Jonathan and Nancy Mayfield
Moffett Blair.

(w.) SUSIE ELISABETH BROTHERTON

James Henry Blair was born at Little Lake (Willeys), Mendocino County, on February 28, 1860. He received his education in the country school districts of Antelope and Lone Willow. While yet a boy he had his own little flock of sheep, and began to learn the ins and outs of the stock business. As years passed he gradually took upon himself much of the work of the ranch. He was the only surviving son in the family, his father was aging, and so "Jim Henry" had to assume more and more the management of the place. Profits from his own and his father's sheep and cattle added acres to the ranch, until by 1886, it contained 1100 acres of good tillable land, and he was in fact a full partner with his father.

Susie Elisabeth Brotherton was born at Carolton, Missouri, on January 11, 1866. Her father, Wm. Alexander Brotherton, was born in Memphis, Tennessee, February 23, 1837, and the mother, Margaret Elisabeth Coop, in Bedford, Tennessee, January 16, 1837. The two were married in Carolton on March 22, 1860, and in 1875 they moved to California. Wm. Brotherton purchased a farm east of Bravo Lake (Woodlake), which included the site of the old "Stringtown". This was the Brotherton home until 1908, when they gave up the place and moved to a farm near Visalia. The mother had been ailing for some time and died here on June 18, 1910. The father lived until February 1, 1916. He died at the home of his daughter, Susie, at Woodlake.

Jas. Henry Blair and Susie Elisabeth Brotherton were married at Woodlake on November 15, 1888. Two years prior to this, Rev. Jonathan Blair had died. The night after the burial the old Blair residence had burned to the ground. "Jim Henry" had built a seven roomed cottage near where the old house had stood, and with his mother, his younger sister, and a niece, Laura Pogue, was living here at the time of his marriage, and it was to this home that he brought his bride. During the next year his sister and niece married. His mother lived for eight years, passing away on March 3, 1897.

In the year 1904 James Henry built a commodious ten-roomed house on the highway, about a quarter of a mile from the cottage. He still lives at this place.

From stock-raising of cattle and sheep, and farming, he turned his attention to fruit and grapes, and was successful in these industries. The town of Woodlake sprang up within a half mile of him, and he was compelled to assist in many of the enterprises that are necessary in the upbuilding of a town. He has never shirked his responsibilities, and is one of the most dependable men in that part of the country. People turn to him in time of need and want, of stress and trouble, even as they did to his father.

Since childhood he has belonged to the Antelope Presbyterian Church. (Now Woodlake Presbyterian Church). His wife is also an earnest member of the same organization. For 42 years he has ministered as its ruling elder. For 24 years he served as school trustee in the district.

Issue of Jas. Henry Blair and Susie Elisabeth Brotherton Blair were: 1.—Edith Irene; 2.—Ewell Jonathan; 3.—Elsie Margaret; 4.—Edgar William (one of twins); 5.—Edna Ruth, (One of twins); 6.—Lula Susie.

ROZILLIA BLAIR

Tenth and youngest child of Rev. Jonathan and Nancy Mayfield Moffett Blair

(H.) DR. WILLIAM CLAYTON PENDERGRASS

Rozillia Blair, the youngest child of the Rev. Jonathan and Nancy Mayfield Moffett Blair, was born February 14, 1865, near Visalia, on what was then known as the McPherson place, on the Mineral King road across the St. John's River from Venice. She received her education in the country schools and in the Visalia Normal School. In the spring of 1885 Rozillia graduated from the Visalia normal, and, within a few weeks, passed successfully the county examination for teaching. In the fall 1885 she secured the position as teacher at Elder Springs. The two following years she taught the Antelope School, and on November 21, 1889, was married to Wm. Clayton Pendergrass at the family home near Woodlake.

Wm. Clayton Pendergrass was born at Cooksville, Tennessee, October 18, 1863. He was the son of the Reverend Travis Witt Pendergrass, a physician and Cumberland Presbyterian Minister, who had been born at Cooksville, Tennessee, October 23, 1827, and Nancy Scanlan Pendergrass, born in Jackson County, February 25, 1836, of English ancestry. The Rev. Dr. Pendergrass died in San Jose, November 15, 1898, at the home of a daughter, whom he was visiting, and his wife died at the home of her son, Dr. Wm. Clayton Pendergrass, on November 7, 1918. They were interred in the Visalia Cemetery. The grandfather of Wm. C. Pendergrass was Jesse, the son of Nimrod Pendergrass, whose ancestors came from Scotland. The grandmother was Annie Witt.

Will Pendergrass met Rozillia Blair at the home of her uncle, Henry Moffett, about the year 1879 or 80. He also graduated from the Visalia Normal School. He taught school for about five years, however, his principal occupation was farming, until in 1896, he determined to follow in his father's footsteps and become a physician. In that year he took his family with him to Tennessee, and entered the Vanderbilt Medical College. He graduated four years later, in the spring of 1900.

Returning to California, Dr. Wm. Pendergrass entered upon the work of his profession. For several years he practiced in different towns of the San Joaquin Valley, but located permanently at Clovis, near Fresno, where he built up a large and important clientele. He was well known and highly esteemed throughout the country, was a member of the City Council, of the K. of P. Lodge, of the Presbyterian Church, and a prominent worker in all activities for the upbuilding of the community. He died of apoplexy at his home in Clovis, on September 22, 1919. His death was not unexpected to himself, for he had made provisions, that in the event of his demise, certain of his patients should be cared for by a specified physician.

Rozillia and her husband gave largely of their time and means to the education of their children, and after his death, she carried on the work. One son entered postal service work, one became a druggist, two physicians, and the daughter a school teacher.

Rozillia spent the spring following her husband's death in Oregon, with her son Travis' family. In 1928, when her youngest son entered the Oklahoma Medical College, she went with him and took upon herself the cares of a home there. After his graduation, when the son began practice with his older brother in Clovis, the mother kept the home for him there. In 1933 Dr. Clayton Ira Pendergrass married, but the mother still makes her home with him.

Issue of Rozillia Blair Pendergrass and Dr. William Clayton Pendergrass were: 1. Jonathan Floyd; 2. Travis Ray; 3. Errol William; 4. James Elmo; 5. Nancy Alva; 6. Clayton Ira.

CHAPTER XII

1ST. GEN. 1

JAMES HAMILTON MOFFETT

Oldest child of Jas. Hamilton Moffett and
Charlotte Bunn Mayfield Moffett

(w.) VIRGINIA OWEN

Jas. Hamilton Moffett, B. Lincoln County, Tennessee, November 30, 1823, was the oldest child of his parents. In 1841 he went with them to Barry County, Missouri. In about a year they moved to Newton County. He was married in McDonald County, Missouri, July 1, 1847, to Virginia Owen, an orphan, who was born in Eastern Tennessee in 1824, and was brought to Missouri by the family who took her after the death of her parents. For nine years Jas. Hamilton and his wife lived in Southwest Missouri. In 1856, with a number of other families, they took the "Overland Trail" for California. In Missouri they had lost one baby, Mary Ann, and when they joined the California train they had two sons with them: Jas. Porter and Marshall Lafayette. On the way out they were forced to lay over at Castle Rocks for the birth of a third son, Wm. Hamilton Moffett. The Moffetts settled at Red Bluff in Northern California. The following year when the Blair Moffett train reached Red Bluff, they rested for a month, and relatives visited with the Jas. Moffett family. The next year they moved to Mendocino County and engaged in stock raising until 1865 when they settled in Tulare County. By the fall of 1868 they were living at the old Moffett home two miles west of Lemon Cove, where he engaged in farming and stock raising. They stayed there until the death of the wife on January 18, 1873. The wife died of typhoid-malaria. The attending physician was Dr. W. A. Russel. The ranch remained in the family for many years, but Jas. Hamilton died two years after his wife, at Sand Creek (Orosi), January 19, 1875. Both were buried in the Deep Creek Cemetery. Friend and

CHAPTER XIV

1ST. GEN. 4

HENRY MOFFETT

Fourth child of Jas. Hamilton Moffett and
Charlotte Bunn Mayfield Moffett

(w.) CHARLOTTE ANN SMYTHE

Henry Moffett, fourth child of the above parents, was born near Nashville (probably Lincoln County, where the old home was) on October 16, 1829. He was twelve years old when the family moved to Barry County, Missouri, and a year older when they moved to Newton County. He was married on May 27, 1856, at Pineville, Missouri, to Charlotte Ann Smythe, by Rev. Jonathan Blair.

Charlotte Ann Smythe was a native of Missouri, born October 22, 1838. She was the daughter of a Methodist Episcopal Minister, South, The Rev. Thomas Andrew Smythe, and Adeline Penelope Wilson. Rev. T. P. Smythe died at Waldron, Arkansas about 1865, and was buried there. The wife had died at Pineville, Missouri about 1852, and was buried at Pineville.

The next year after the marriage of Henry Moffett and Charlotte Ann Smythe, the Blair-Moffett train left for California, and they, with their first child, a six weeks old infant, joined the expedition. After great hardships, but without Indian peril, and probably without loss of life in the train, they reached Red Bluff, where they remained a month, resting and visiting with Henry Moffett's elder brother, Jas. Hamilton Moffett. Then the family moved to Sonoma County. By 1860 they were living in Mendocino County, probably lured there by Jas. Hamilton Moffett, who had been living in that county since 1858. By 1863 they had returned to Santa Rosa, and in 1866 they had settled in Tulare County, near Rev. Jonathan Blair at Woodlake. Here they lived until after the last of their large family was born, and most of them were married and had moved away. For a short time they lived at Cottage Postoffice. They had a ranch at San Creek (Orosi) and used to spend much time there, but always returned to Woodlake. Late in life they moved to Visalia, and lived there for a number of years. He died there on August 21, 1905. His wife died at Eureka, Humboldt County, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Perrott, on May 23, 1910, and was brought to Tulare County and buried beside her husband in the Deep Creek Cemetery.

Uncle Henry, his wife and his mother, Charlotte Bunn Mayfield Moffett were all charter members of the Antelope Presbyterian Church, which was organized by Rev. Jonathan Blair assisted by Rev. S. T. Gilliam on April 18, 1866. Uncle Henry was always a prominent figure in the church, holding various offices and serving in many capacities. Aunt Charlotte was an earnest and devoted Christian, serving wherever duty called.

Children of the above couple were: 1. Charlotte Adeline Penelope; 2. Andrew Hamilton; 3. Joseph Larkin; 4. James Blair; 5. Emma Theresa; 6. Thomas Henry; 7. Edgar Kanada; 8. Wm. Oscar; 9. Mamie; 10. Amzi Bradshaw; 11. Nancy Burnette Euseba; 12. Mattie Zenoma Eliza; 13. Lorenzo Burton; 14. Otto.

CHAPTER XV

4TH. GEN. 5

ELIZA ANN MOFFETT

Sixth and youngest child of Jas. Hamilton and
Charlotte Bunn Mayfield Moffett

(H.) EMANUEL THOMAS RAGLE

Eliza Ann Moffett, born in Giles County, Tennessee, December 17, 1838, was the youngest child of the above couple, and was but three years old when the family moved to Barry County, Missouri in 1841, and four when they moved to Newton County, where they made their home until 1857, when the Blair-Moffett train left for California. At this time the father was dead (died September 29, 1852), and the two sons Jas. Hamilton and Henry, and one daughter, Elisabeth (Betsy), were married. Jas. had gone to California in 1856. Henry and Elisabeth's families joined the train. The mother, with Eliza Ann and Martha and perhaps Charlotte lived with Henry and came with his family to the West. Eliza Ann was but 19 years old, and she looked upon the journey as a great adventure. She rode on horseback much of the way, took part in the evening gatherings of the train, and thought little of dangers, until Indians came into camp, or a wide, turbulent stream lay before them, or perhaps when they passed bleaching bones along the way. At Red Bluff, with her father's family, she visited her brother James for about a month, before moving to Sonoma County. In less than a year from that time she was married to Emanuel Thomas Ragle, whom she had known but a month.

E. T. Ragle was born in Hawkins County, Tennessee, May 13, 1883. He was the son of Geo. Ragle, (born in Virginia, January 15, 1792. Died Hawkins County, Tenn., January 1, 1881) and Margaret Miller (born in Virginia, September 14, 1794, died at Churchill, Tenn., August 8, 1840). She was buried at Churchill and forty-one years later her husband was laid beside her.

BLAIR-MOFFETT FAMILIES

Geo. Ragle and Margaret Miller Ragle had ten children, as follows: Elisabeth, (May 17, 1817—August 30, 1840). 2. Henry A. (December 27, 1818—May 2, 1884). 3. John F. (December 20, 1820—July 27, 1840). 4. Katherine, (January 15, 1823—no. death record). 5. Samuel J. (June 2, 1824—January 6, 1865). 6. Geo. J. (July 5, 1826—December 11, 1893). 7. Martin E. (August 28, 1828—no death record). 8. Wm. C. (October 15, 1830—April 21, 1895). 9. Emanuel T. (May 18, 1833—February 23, 1916). 10. Anna M. (November 14, 1834—September 1894). By a second marriage after the death of his first wife, Geo. Ragle had one child David S. (July 13, 1844—July 6, 1863).

In 1851 E. T. Ragle went to Indiana and Iowa but returned to Tennessee. In 1854 he had a chance to help in bringing a herd of cattle to California, for which he received pay. His twenty-first birthday occurred on the way, and so, at Redding, Shasta County, where a stop was made, he cast his first vote. E. T. Ragle located in Mendocino County but a little later went to Sonoma County. Here at Santa Rosa, on September 23, 1858, he was married to Eliza Ann Moffett after a whirlwind courtship.

In 1863 E. T. Ragle and family moved back to Mendocino County, but coast fogs caused them to come to Tulare County in 1865. They settled first at the dam on Outside Creek, later they moved to Stringtown, but after the disastrous flood of 1867-8, they moved about two miles northeast, and established the home in which they spent their remaining years, and where members of the family still live. It is in the Woodlake district, and some two miles from his brother Wm. Conrad's ranch.

Uncle Tom received his education in subscription schools. He and Aunt Eliza were charter members of the Antelope Presbyterian Church, founded in 1866 by Rev. Jonathan Blair assisted by Rev. S. T. Gilliam. Meetings were first held at the Hamilton Church.

Nancy Mayfield Moffett Blair was a half sister of Aunt Eliza. Aunt Eliza died at Woodlake, July 25, 1913, and Uncle Tom on February 23, 1916. They were interred at the Woodlake Cemetery.

Children of the above couple were: 1. Francis Lenore;

1ST. GEN. 3

MARTHA MOFFETT

Third child of Jas. Hamilton Moffett and
Charlotte Bunn Mayfield Moffett

MARTHA MOFFETT, was born in Lincoln County, Tennessee, February 5, 1827, and was fourteen years of age when the family moved to Barry County, Missouri, and fifteen when they again moved to Newton County—this latter move occurred in 1843. In 1857 Martha with her mother, and perhaps another unmarried sister, Charlottee A. Moffett, came to California in the Blair-Moffett train, with the family of Henry Moffett. She continued to live with them in Sonoma County until in the year of 1864, when on February 8, she passed away, and was buried in Sonoma County.

CHARLOTTEE A. MOFFETT

Fifth child of Jas. Hamilton Moffett and
Charlotte Bunn Mayfield Moffett

CHARLOTTEE A. MOFFETT. In Charlottee Bun Mayfield Moffett's old Bible (or rather in a small portion of it, which is in possession of her granddaughter Caroline Virginia Ragle McKee) occurs the record—"Charlottee A. Moffett, born in Tennessee, January 5, 1833." No death record is given, and yet the writer can find no one who has ever heard of the child. The death record is given of every other one in the family who had passed on before the mother died. Martha Louisa Pogue Moffett seems to have heard of a child having died in the trek across the plains in 1857, but Charlottee would have been 24 years of age at this time. J. H. Blair remembers no one of the description in the family. She must have died in infancy or early childhood. She is the mystery child of the Moffett family.

CHAPTER XVII

HAPPENINGS

As captain of the Blair-Moffett train, Rev. Jonathan Blair often headed the train. Once the train waited while he explored the crossing of a wide and muddy river. When almost over he turned in the saddle and shouted back, "All Safe! Come Ahead!" At that instant horse and rider sank from sight in the muddy water.

* * * * *

Ten-year-old Little Martha Blair, in high spirits, was riding beside the train. "Just watch me spur old Bee!" she cried. They watched. Bee's heels went up, and little Martha rolled in the dust.

* * * * *

Jim Pogue, a youth of eighteen, angry with his brother John about night-guarding stock, decided to return to Missouri. He tied his belongings into a little bundle and on horseback, was ready to take the back trail, when pretty Lucinda Moffett persuaded him to change his mind.

* * * * *

Train members disagreed as to the best trail ahead. The train divided. Part took the Oregon trail, part kept straight ahead through the Sierras. Most of the Blairs and Moffetts were in the latter division. They had been at Red Bluff for about two weeks resting, when, one night, they were awakened by the cracks of whips and shouts of drivers. The second division had concluded that Grandpa's way was best, and backtracked to the forks of the trail and followed him.

* * * * *

Melvina Blair had great difficulty in concealing Jim's loveletters from her mother. This was at Little Lake, the year before her marriage. She selected the bottom of the sack of rags as an excellent hiding place. But she was disgusted. Grandma located them.

* * * * *

Years after Melvina had gone to her final rest, her daughter, Eva, saw in the top bureau drawer, a little bundle of letters tied with a faded blue ribbon. She slipped a letter out and glanced through it, then joked her father about some of the phrases. The package disappeared. No one ever saw the letters again.

* * * * *

During the Stringtown flood, Uncle Tom Ragle, whose house and yard were in a fairly strong current of water, was trying to get his family to the hogwallows. He had gotten the children out, and was wading through the water with Aunt Eliza in his arms. (In later life Aunt Eliza was quite fleshy, no doubt she was more slender then.) Uncle Tom was hampered by the dark and the drizzle of rain—suddenly, with his burden, he sank from sight, but came up thrashing about and calling for help. He managed to get Aunt Eliza out and to safety before help arrived. The hole was the well. The current had washed the well-curb away.

* * * * *

Presbytery was in session at Glenville. A young licentiate minister was giving the Lord's prayer in public as part of his examination. He began—"Our Father, Who art—" Nervously Grandpa pursed his lips, and quite distinctly over the congregation was heard the whisper—"Wh—wh—Which!"

* * * * *

Willie Jasper saw hail for the first time. Running to his mother, he shouted, "It's raining alum! It's raining alum!"

* * * * *

Tommy Pogue saw his first hailstorm, and cried gleefully, "It's raining popcorn! It's raining popcorn!"

* * * * *

Aunt Lucinda was away from home. Rose, playing about the windmill, stuck a finger through the hole that couples the mill to the pump, as it slid up and down over the uncoupled pump. The end of the finger was snipped off. Everyone was excited. The mother returned, and Katherine ran with her to the mill to show how the accident occurred. "See ma. She stuck her finger right in here."—and the end of Katherine's finger followed Rose's.

* * * * *

BLAIR-MOFFETT FAMILIES

In going for a doctor, John Lee Pogue rode from Lemon Cove to Visalia (18 miles), in one hour on horseback.

* * * * *

Sarah Goodin, a mere baby, was rocking in her tiny chair before the fireplace. The chair rocked too far forward and Sarah was thrown face forward into the fire. The best of medical skill left her with badly crippled hands. But Sarah could do whatever others of her sex could do—sweep, cook, sew, write, etc.

* * * * *

Elisabeth McMinn's honeymoon trip was taken on horseback from Little Lake (Willits) to Santa Rosa. The groom had led a horse up from Santa Rosa for the bride's return journey.

* * * * *

When Samuel Crookshanks was campaigning for Superintendent of Schools in Tulare County it was said his most effective speeches were on his fine baby girl—Lefa Ray (Clawson). He was elected.

* * * * *

Baby Melvina was very sick. Those about her thought she died. She was dressed for burial. Grandpa felt that his baby could not be dead. Praying, he put her into a tub of warm water. She revived. He was never happier in his life he said, than when, that night as he held her in his arms in bed, she called for "ba-la", water.

* * * * *

Uncle John Pogue's horses became unmanageable, and ran away with his covered spring wagon. Some one asked about it. He replied, "Yes, they traveled along right peart."

* * * * *

The day was hot. Uncle Henry Moffett, his sons, and some neighbor boys were shearing sheep a half mile from the ranch house. Shrieks attracted their attention. Smoke poured from doors and windows and hovered over the house. Everybody ran. As man after man passed Uncle he panted—"Run, boys, run! I'm a ruined man! Run, boys, run!" Aunt Charlotte and Addie were tossing things from upstairs windows, and the smoke was thicker. The men ran at top speed. Panting and perspiring Uncle reached the house only to be met with a chorus of—"April Fool! April Fool!"

BLAIR-MOFFETT FAMILIES

But the merriment died very quickly—Uncle Henry was not in a merry mood.

* * * * *

Ruby and Jewel had been good deer since they were bottle babies until that fall, when they grew cross. As Lydia (Pogue) Moffett, her daughter Florence, and sister Nora entered the garden, Ruby charged. The children reached the fence. Lydia was knocked to the ground. She clung to his horns. The children ran screaming. Sarah Goodin reached her first. Mary Crowley with a club routed the deer. Earl Pogue and Mark McKee were close behind Sarah and Mary. J. W. C. Pogue, Lydia's father, came running. They carried Lydia to the house and sent for a doctor. She bore the scars always, but Ruby paid with his life. He was served for the next noonday meal, and Jewel at a little later date, but we nor the ranch hands could scarcely partake of the feast, for we had all petted the deer since they were wabby babies.

* * * * *

Aunt Sarah Blair Pogue read the Bible through seven times.

* * * * *

Aunt Martha Blair Fine's honeymoon trip was by spring-wagon from near Visalia to Moraga Valley near Oakland. It took about a week. They camped along the sandy desert roads and beside dangerous streams which they had to ford.

* * * * *

The next morning after the fire had destroyed the Rev. Jonathan Blair home, the spring-wagon, with grandma's party on the way home after spending the night at J. W. C. Pogue's stopped at the W. H. Moffett ranch near Woodlake. One thing Grandmother said, through tears, the writer has never forgotten—"Cast down but not forsaken!'

* * * * *

Once in talking with Sarah Goodin about genealogical work, the writer remarked—"I'm not so much interested in the present as in the past. I want to know where we came from."

BLAIR-MOFFETT FAMILIES

Sarah answered with spirit: "I don't give a hoot where we came from, what I'm interested in is where we're going to."

* * * * *

In 1858, E. T. Ragle (Uncle Tom) was talking with a relative, when Eliza Ann Moffett, age twenty, rode by on horseback with friends. E. T. turned to his relative and said, "There's the girl I'm going to marry." The relative advised him not to be so confident.

Uncle Tom met Eliza at his brother Wm. Conrad's wedding. Just one month later, September 23, 1858, he and Eliza Ann Moffett were married.

* * * * *

In October 1845, while Rev. Jonathan Blair was preaching on his circuit, he received word that one of his little girls was dead—which, the messenger did not know. He hurried home. Grandmother saw him coming and with her girls about her hurried to meet him with their only boy, John Carnahan, in her arms.

Grandfather watched anxiously—which could it be? There was 9½ year old Sarah, and he could see 8 year old Eliza and 6 year old Lucinda. The tiny one held by the hand and toddling along he recognized at Melvina—but little Mary, 4-year-old, was gone.

* * * * *

Indian trouble was great where Vada (Pogue) Bacon and Billie were living in 1886. One night he called to his wife, "Get the gun!" She told him he was asleep. He answered, from near the window, "No, I'm not. Get the gun quick!" She jumped up and hurriedly brought the gun from another room. But Billie had returned to bed and his regular breathing told her that Indians were not troubling him.

* * * * *

Addie Moffett Jones took Gladys to a Los Angeles tuberculosis sanatorium for treatment. One evening Gladys felt that her mother needed her, and slipping out, she made her way to her mother's down-town hotel room. Her mother was very ill.

That same afternoon at Visalia the husband had the same premonition and took the first train to his wife. He reached her a few minutes before her death, "acute indigestion."

HISTORICAL INFORMATION

The following information about the early Blair settlers of N. C. was taken from the "History of the Buffalo Presbyterian Church and Her People," by Rev. S. M. Rankin (Greensboro, Guilford Co. N. C.)

The first settlers of Guilford Co., N. C., including John Blair, received land grants which were signed Dec. 1753 by agents of Lord John Carteret, Earl of Granville.

"John Blair secured his section on the headwaters of North Buffalo. On 2nd Jan. 1765, he sold this to Dr. Caldwell and located on the Reedy Fork. His wife was Jean and their children were Thomas, John, Andrew, Jonathan, Jean and Martha. All this family moved away. John Blair died in 1778."

On page 185—"There were 7 commanding officers in the Buffalo Congregation . . . and Major Blair who lives on Reedy Fork."

On page 190—"Thomas Blair, son of John, was a Major in the Guilford Militia, (Colonial Records, Vol. 10, Page 537). He had 3 brothers, Andrew, John, and Jonathan who must have been in the service with him."

According to a History of Guilford County, N. C., Thomas Blain was appointed 2nd Major in the Guilford Militia on April 4, 1776, when the State of N. C. was placed in military organization.
