FOREWORD

THE basis of this small volume was founded some years ago when Miss Helen Cooper, of Attleboro, Mass., gathered in and typed off briefly what records she was able to secure from the members of the Briggs Family Association.

A year ago the compiler was approached by Walter A. Briggs, Esq., of Attleboro, in behalf of the said Association, and asked to compile a genealogy comprising the descendants of Emerson and Lydia (Richardson) Briggs.

It seems fitting at this time to also include a short account of the paternal ancestry of Emerson Briggs, and this will be found in the Introduction. Also in the Appendix will be found some brief notes on the paternal ancestry of Lydia Richardson, wife of Emerson Briggs.

The compiler is very grateful for the interest and help of Walter A. Briggs, to whom indeed all the members of the Association owe a debt of gratitude for his determination that this work should be compiled and published. Credit and appreciation should also go to the heirs-at-law of Susie B. Coddington, widow of Erastus B. Coddington, who contributed generously to the cost of the work prior to publication. Unstinted thanks is due Ralph E. Parmenter for assuming the financial obligation of publication. Other cousins made their contributions both in work and in money, and to them appreciation is acknowledged.

So that the readers may better understand the words "Attleborough" and "Attleboro," it should be made known that prior to 1888 the lands comprising those which are now the Town of North Attleborough and the City of Attleboro, were the Town of Attleborough. In the year 1888, the State Legislature established two municipalities designated as North Attleborough and Attleborough. In 1914, the Town of Attleboro was incorporated as the City of Attleboro.

INTRODUCTION

INTRODUCTION

IN ORDER to obtain a complete and comprehensive account of Emerson Briggs, it was necessary to search the original records of his paternal line, so that statements made herein as to his ancestry and certain achievements of his fathers could be proved. For this reason it was deemed reasonable to examine certain original and printed records and, as the notes were all at hand, to present them briefly herein.

This Introduction, then, deals with brief notes as to Emerson's great-great-grandfather, great-grandfather, grandfather, and father; that is, William Briggs of Taunton; William Briggs, Jr., of Taunton; Seth Briggs of Taunton, Attleboro and Mansfield; and Jacob Briggs of Attleboro, Norton and Mansfield.

If further investigation should ever be made on these four men the compiler suggests that full abstracts of certain important deeds would be valuable, and that the records of the Superior Court of Judicature, the Archives of the Commonwealth, and the eighty-odd volumes of the New England Historical and Genealogical Register should be consulted, as well as certain other manuscript and printed sources.

In about two years time the vital records of both Attleboro and Mansfield will have been compiled and published by the Essex Institute, and doubtless further data will be contained in these books about the entire line, as these books will not only contain the records of births, marriages, marriage intentions, and deaths, but also records from graveyards, church records, old Bible records and so on. Both Taunton and Norton have already been published.

It is possible that the Plymouth Colony Records prior to 1685 may contain further material about the immigrant, William Briggs.

WILLIAM BRIGGS of Taunton, Bristol County, Mass., probably born in England, in 1645, ^{Nov. 1648} died in Taunton, as William Briggs the first, 3 Jan. 1728, aged eighty-three years. He married there, 6 Nov. 1666, SARAH MACOMBER of Marshfield, probably born about 1643, died in Taunton, 20 Mar. 1680, doubtless the daughter of William and Ursula (~~Marshall~~) Macomber of Marshfield. It is possible that after her death, William Briggs remarried.

Some confusion has arisen about this William Briggs and this rendered an examination of the land records and other original sources necessary. There were in Taunton three of the name all contemporaries. There was William Briggs the cooper, who died in Taunton, testate, 21 Apr. 1725, aged sixty-two, and was that William, son of Richard, born there, 21 Apr. 1663. He married 13 July 1687 in that town, Constant Lincoln, and in his will dated 19 Apr. 1725, proved 15 June 1725, calls himself: "William Briggs of Taunton . . . Cooper son of Richard Briggs late of Taunton Deceased," and mentions his beloved wife Elisabeth [a second wife],* youngest son Noah, daughter Elisabeth, and two eldest sons, William and Isaac Briggs. (Bristol County Probate.) In his deeds he is called cooper, or "son of Richard Briggs," sometimes both. (Bristol Deeds, 5: 248; 9: 549; 11: 288, 419, 534; 8: 239; 19: 95, 395, 507; 8: 50.) Then there was William Briggs, Jr., son of our William, whose account will follow later; and the third William, was founder of this particular Briggs family, who was known in the records as "the first," or "Eldest," or "Grand Senr," whose account we are now presenting.

Prior to 1685, when Bristol County was set off from the Plymouth Colony, the land records of that section were included in the deeds of Plymouth Colony and should be consulted for land transactions of our William Briggs. After 1685 the land records are filed at Taunton. Taunton, county seat of Bristol, early known as Cohannett was established in 1639. Unfortunately the records of this town prior to 1804, were burned in 1838. Some of the vital records are included in the Proprietors Records † between 1660 and 1700. Fortunately these last records were not burned. But in consulting any of these records we must carefully distinguish between these three Williams. As they grew older, William born 1645 became grand senior, William born 1663 became senior, and William born 1667, became junior.

In the first Military Company of Taunton, roster of 8 Apr. 1682, we note the names of William Briggs, and William Briggs, Jr. [son of Richard]. In the roll of 1700 we note the names of "Wm. Briggs Grand Senior, Wm. Briggs sen., and William Briggs Jr."

William Briggs has only one land transaction of record in Bristol:

19 Jan. 1705, "William Briggs the Eldest Called William Briggs Grand senr of Taunton" for £50 conveys to "William Briggs Junr (the son of the abovesaid William Briggs Grand Senr" twenty acres in Taunton by Three Mile River with a dwelling house thereon. Signs. Wit: Samuel Haskins, Samuel Haskins, Jr., and mark of Merrey Haskins. (Bristol Deeds, 4: 512.)

It is possible that a grant of land laid out by the town in 1711 to "William Briggs, Sr.," refers to our William. (Proprietors Records.) [Some notes from these records were presented at one of the Briggs Reunions, but it would be necessary for the compiler of this account to

* Elisabeth Briggs, widow of William the Cooper, died 27 Nov. 1729, aged fifty-eight years, in Taunton.

† The Proprietors Records should be consulted. See 1: 83, 77, 87, 268; 3: 125, 194; 4: 242; 5: 177; 8: 169.

personally search and make notes of these records before they could be used.]

William Briggs, Grand Senior, left no will, and there is no recorded settlement of his estate in the Bristol Probate Records. It is probable that his eldest son, William, succeeded to the estate, but he also died only three years after his father.

Children born in Taunton:

- i. WILLIAM², b. 25 Jan. 1667; m. ELIZABETH LINCOLN and MEHETABLE BLAKE.
- ii. SARAH, b. 10 Sept. 1669.

(It has been stated that he had eight children. Children were generally born about every two years.—W. L. H.)

WILLIAM MACOMBER of Duxbury and Marshfield, Barnstable County, Mass., died in the latter town before 27 May 1670. His widow URSULA ^{Matthew} was living in 1675.

He was of Dorchester first, and 2 Apr. 1638, William Macomber, cooper, of that town, in company with Henry Modely of the same, carpenter, had liberty to dwell at Plymouth. In 1643 he had removed from Plymouth to Duxbury, and later was of Marshfield, where he appears in a list of those able to bear arms that year.

30 Oct. 1654, "John Rogers . . . of Duxburrow . . . weaver doth acknowledge that for . . . twelve pounds . . . paid by William Maycomber . . . of Marshfield . . . Cooper . . . doth sell . . . land lying att the North River in . . . Marshfield." (Copied Plymouth Colony Deeds, 2: 78.)

22 Aug. 1670, Whereas "John Rogers sen^r of Duxburrow" in 1654 "did sell unto William Macumber of Marshfield" certain land near the North River in Marshfield, and it now appearing that the "sd William Macumber never had the sd lands Confirmed unto him by me . . . by Sufficient & leagall evidence . . . unto the time of his Decease" the said Rogers now confirms the same. (Ibid., 2: 79.)

1 Aug. 1654, "Captaine Myles Standish and Mr John Alden were deputed by the court to; determine of certaine bounds of Marsh in controversye . . . do make devisiion of the same . . . between Morish Truants and William Maycombers." Signed Richard Garrett. (Ibid., 2: 72.)

The following deed belongs to the son: 18 May 1665, "Jacob Cooke of New Plymouth . . . husbandman . . . for . . . fifteen pounds . . . payed by William Macomber the sonne of William Macomber of Marshfield . . . sell . . . unto the said William Macomber the younger . . . land . . . within . . . Dartmouth." (Ibid., 3: 405.)

In 1660, the will of John Rogers of Marshfield was witnessed by William Macomber.

The inventory of "William Macomber of Marshfield Deceased" was taken 27 May 1670 by Thomas King, William Ford, Sr., and Mark Eames, and exhibited to the Court at Plymouth, 7 June 1670, "on the oathes of Ursilla Maycomber Thomas Maycomber and Mathew Maycomber," no real estate mentioned. From Plymouth Colony Probate. (The Mayflower Descendant, 18: 187.)

From the Plymouth Colony Records we note that "Nicholas White Junr: married to Ursilla Maycomber of Marshfeild the 9th of December 1673 Nicholas White the son of Nicholas White Borne the 25th of October 1676." (Ibid., 21: 61.)

Probable list of children, born in Marshfield:

- i. SARAH², b. about 1643, m. 6 Nov. 1666, Taunton, she being of Marshfield, WILLIAM BRIGGS of Marshfield.
- ii. WILLIAM, b. about 1645, aged 20 in 1665.
- iii. HANNAH, b. about 1647; m. 1672, JOSEPH RANDALL of Scituate.

- v. MATHEW, b. about 1651, ae. about 25 in 1675, according to his will:

WILLIAM² BRIGGS, JR. (*William, Grand Senior*¹), born in Taunton, Bristol County, Mass., 25 Jan. 1667, died there, 20 Feb. 1731, aged sixty-three years. He married first, in Taunton, 13 Oct. 1693, ELIZABETH LINCOLN, who died before June 1696, her identity not ascertained.* He married secondly, in Milton, marriage recorded in Taunton, 16 June 1696, MEHETABLE BLAKE of Milton, born in 1671, died in Taunton, 17 Oct. 1732, aged sixty-one years, her identity not ascertained.* Both William and his second wife are buried in the Oakland Cemetery in Taunton.

Very brief notes on his land records follow:

22 Feb. 1688-89, Aaron Knap of Freetown sells to William Briggs, Jr., of Taunton, eighteen acres in Taunton. Signs by mark. Wit.: Isaac Negus, John Macomber Junr. Recorded in 1749. (Bristol Deeds, 37: 153.)

11 Feb. 1692, Peter Walker husbandman of Taunton for £24 sells to William Briggs, son of Wm. Briggs Grand sen^r of same, land there on Three Mile River. Wife Hannah Walker releases her rights. He signs; she makes her mark. Wit.: Seth Phillips, John Pollerd. Recorded 1705. (Ibid., 4: 511.)

23 Feb. 1699, Richard Stevens of Taunton for £6 sells to "William Briggs Jun^r of sd Taunton the son of William Briggs Grand sen^r so called" land there on the west side of Three Mile River. Wife Mary Stevens releases her rights; he signs, she marks. wit.: Samuel Danforth, Esther Hodges. (Ibid., 4: 88.) Recorded 1705.

3 July 1700, John Smith, Sr., of Taunton sells to William Briggs of same, son of Wm. Briggs Grand Senior of same, land there. Signs. Recorded 1751. (Ibid., 38: 200.)

21 Apr. 1701, Samuel Danforth of Taunton, Clerk [i.e., minister], for £6 sells to "William Briggs Junior of s^d Taunton (the son of William Briggs Grand sen^r)" eight acres there. Signs. Wit.: Henry Hodges, Hannah Glad-ing, recorded late. (Ibid., 19: 507.)

22 Dec. 1702, Benjamin Leonard of Taunton conveys to "William Briggs jun^r (son of William Briggs Grand Senior)" and to Thomas Briggs his brother, one half part of sixth lot in Taunton in a cedar swamp etc. Recorded 1730. (Ibid., 20: 30.)

We have seen that 19 Jan. 1705, he purchased twenty acres and a dwelling house (probably the home farm) on Three Mile River in Taunton of his father. (Ibid., 4: 512.) That same year, Samuel Stacey and John Stacey both of Taunton and "sons of Richard Stacey of s^d Taunton Deceased" for £13-5s.

* The Compiler did not do any research on their identities.

sold a tract of twenty acres there to "William Briggs Jun^r of s^d Taunton (son of William Briggs Grand Sen^r of s^d Taunton)." Signed by mark. Wit.: mark of Thomas Samson grand sen^r, and John Edy. Recorded 1711-12. (Ibid., 7: 171.)

10 Dec. 1705, John Crossman of Taunton for £16 sold to "william Briggs Jun^r (son of william Briggs Grand sen^r" and to Samuel Haskins Jun^r forty acres there on Three Mile River, signs, wit.: Samuel Danforth, mark of Jonathan Harley. Recorded 1711. (Ibid., 7: 108 $\frac{3}{4}$.)

There was a controversy between Thomas Harley Grand sen^r of Taunton and William Briggs Jun^r and Nathaniel Lincoln both of same concerning land there, this was long drawn out, and finally settled 14 Apr. 1712. (Ibid., 8: 167.)

11 Mar. 1715-16, Edmund Andrews of Taunton sells land there in the North Purchase for £100 to William Briggs Jun^r of same. Wife Esther releases her dower rights. The Haskins witness. Recorded 1724-25. (Ibid., 16: 18.)

[A deed in 17: 281 I did not see as the book was not available at the time having gone to the Binders.]

5 Jan. 1716, William Briggs Jun^r of Taunton purchased part of the Bradford Grant for £4 from Samuel Danforth. (Ibid., 10: 341.)

According to some notes read at a Briggs Reunion: 1 Dec. 1702, the town granted land to William Briggs, Jr., being forty-eight acres, being eighteen acres that he had bought of Aaron Knapp, four bought of Mr. Danforth, and the rest his own right. In 1703, he had five acres laid out to him, bounded by land purchased of Richard Stevens; he is also called Jr. in this grant. Again in Norton he had another grant on 22 Mar. 1716-17, which mentions his father's home lot, etc. (Taunton Proprietors Records.)

William Briggs died soon after his father the "Grand Senior," but left no will. An administration was taken on his estate by the eldest son:

"Nathaniel Briggs of Taunton & Thomas Briggs of Rehoboth husbandmen & Nathaniel Bosworth of Bristol Cooper" appear on a bond dated 16 Mar. 1730-31, which cited that "Nathaniel Briggs Administrator to the Estate of his father William Briggs Late of Taunton Deceased" had as his bondsmen or sureties the above Thomas Briggs and Nathaniel Bosworth. Thomas made his mark, the rest signed the bond.

Besides the above bond, the original papers also contain the appointment of the appraisers, the inventory (a verbatim copy enclosed, as it lists all his land), and a release signed by the autograph of "Seth briggs," this reads:

"To the Hounourabell Nathaniel Blagdone Esqr Judg of Probate For the County of Bristol these are to Insure your honer that I give my Consent that my Eldest Brother Nathaniel Briggs my take Letters of Administration upon the Estate of my honred father William Briggs of Taunton Late deceased as witnes my hand this 13th day of March 1730/31 Seth briggs" Wit.: George Leonard.

Neither Sarah (Macomber) Briggs, wife of William Briggs, Grand
The births of his children are not of record.

Children born in Taunton:

By ELIZABETH LINCOLN:

i. SARAH³, b. 5 July 1694.

By MEHETABLE BLAKE: *

ii. AGNES, b. about 1697.

iii. NATHANIEL (Lt.), eldest son, b. 1700, d. 14 Aug. 1774, ae. 74, Taunton; m. JUDITH ———, who d. 22 Nov. 1774, ae. 76.

iv. MEHETABLE, b. about 1703; m. JOHN WARE, JR., of Wrentham.

v. ELIPHALET, b. about 1706.

vi. SETH, b. about 1709; m. HANNAH WHITTAKER.

Probably other children.

SETH³ BRIGGS (William Jr.², William¹), born in Taunton, Bristol County, Mass., about 1709, living in Mansfield, that county, in 1776. He married, in Rehoboth, Mass., 22 Jan. 1735-36, HANNAH
WHITTAKER, whose identity was not ascertained. She was living in 1747.†

"Seth Briggs of Attleborough and Hannah Whittaker of Rehoboth" were married by Rev. David Turner of Rehoboth, 22 Jan. 1735-36, at Rehoboth, the intention was recorded 8 Mar. 1734-35.

The first record we have of Seth is his appearance in his father's estate in 1731, when he consents to the appointment of his eldest brother, Nathaniel, as administrator, and was of course of age at the time, hence born before 1710.

At Taunton, 30 June 1732, a grant of laid was laid out to "Seth Briggs on a grant made to his father, William Briggs, said grant bears date March the 22nd 1716/17," this being on Three Mile River. A further grant was made to him 17 Nov. 1732. (Proprietors Records.)

Seth lived in Taunton to about 1733, when he removed to Attleboro; here he lived till about 1748, when he removed to Norton.
Norton had been the North Purchase of Taunton and was established as a separate town in 1710. Attleboro had also been part of the born a Blake.

North Purchase of Taunton, and had been set off earlier in 1694. It is evident that Seth lived in that part of Norton that in 1770 was established as the district of Mansfield, and that in 1775 was actually established as that town.

Our Seth is not to be confused with that Seth Briggs, Jr., of Berkeley, Mass., who owned land in Dighton, and who removed after 1782 to Putney, Vt. The Briggs Records (published in 1880) list Seth's children on page 185, and erroneously states that he came from Halifax, Mass.

The following service in the French Wars belonged to our Seth Briggs:

Seth Briggs appears on a list sworn to at Norton, 16 May 1757, of the 2d Co. of Militia in the town of Norton, commanded by Colonel Ephraim Leonard, comprising the Train Band and Alarm List, rank a private, reported belonging to the Train Band. (Massachusetts Archives, 95: 380.)

Brief abstracts of Seth's land records follow:

18 Mar. 1731-32, ". . . we Seth Briggs of Taunton . . . and John Ware Jun^r of Wrentham . . . and Mehetable Ware wife of the said John Ware Sendeth Greeting Know ye that wee . . . for . . . four hundred pounds and Seventeen . . . paid by our Brother Nathaniel Briggs of Taunton . . . Recorded 1779. Wit.: John Daggett and Mary Daggett. (Ibid., 59: 208.)

It was evidently agreed that Jacob should support his father, for in 1765 he purchased the other half of the property from his brother Solomon. There is no record of any settlement of Seth's estate in Bristol Probate, nor that of his wife's estate.

When the Mansfield Vital Records are finally compiled and published, we will doubtless be able to add data to these accounts, and may secure a date of death for Seth Briggs. There are some manuscript copies of some of the graveyards there which were examined but nothing was gained from this. As has been stated Attleboro Vital Records are also in the process of compilation and publication.

JACOB ⁴ BRIGGS (Seth ³, William Jr. ², William, Grand Senior ¹), born in Attleboro, Bristol County, Mass., 20 Apr. 1739, died in Mansfield, Mass., 25 Dec. 1821, testate. He married in Norton, Mass., 28 Mar. 1765, ESTHER SKINNER, born there, 2 July 1741, died in Mansfield, 11 Apr. 1841, aged ninety-nine years and eight months, daughter of Benjamin and Abigail (Wilde) Skinner.

Born in Attleboro on his father's farm there, near the Norton line. When Jacob was about nine years old, his father sold the Attleboro farm, and removed to a farm that he had purchased in Norton, which comprised about sixty acres. This Norton land fell after 1770 into the new town of Mansfield.

Jacob Briggs is not to be confused with that other Jacob Briggs of Norton, born in 1745, who served from Norton in the Revolution, aged thirty-five in 1781.* (Massachusetts Sailors and Soldiers in the Revolution.) Nor is he to be confused with that Jacob Briggs, who served in the Colonial Wars in 1757 from Taunton.

Jacob Briggs had service in the French Wars, and his descendants are eligible to membership in the various societies founded on service in the various French, or "Colonial," wars. A photostat of this service can be secured if desired. His father, Seth, also had service in this same company:

Jacob Briggs appears on a list sworn to at Norton, 16 May 1757, of the 2d Co. of Militia in the town of Norton, commanded by Colonel Ephraim Leon-

* Jacob Briggs, s. of George and Sarah, b. 9 Apr. 1745, Norton; m. there, 3 Dec. 1767, Sarah Cheney. There are numerous Jacob Briggs in Bristol county in the XVIIIth century.

ard, comprising the Train Band and Alarm List, rank of private, reported belonging to the Train Band. (Massachusetts Archives, 95: 380.)

Again, Jacob Briggs appears on a pay roll certified to at Boston, 22 Feb. 1763, of a company in His Majesty's service under the command of Captain Josiah Dunbar, as a private, residence Norton, entered service 27 Mar. 1762, served until 18 Nov. 1762, served thirty three weeks and six days. (Ibid., 99: 237.)

Our Jacob Briggs besides fighting in the French Wars, also saw service in the Revolutionary War:

"Briggs, Jacob, Mansfield, Private, Capt. Samuel White's 7th (West Mansfield) Co., Col. John Dagget's (Bristol Co.) regt., which marched on the alarm of April 19, 1775, to Roxbury; service, 4 days."

"Briggs, Jacob, Private, Lieut. Ephraim Grover's Co., Col. Isaac Dean's (4th Bristol Co.) regt.; enlisted Aug. 5, 1780; discharged Aug. 7, 1780; service, 4 days at Rhode Island, on the alarm of Aug. 1, 1780. Roll sworn to at Attleborough." (Massachusetts Sailors and Soldiers in the Revolution, 2: 509.)

He doubtless had other service in this war, but the record is not extant. It is stated that only about one third of the records are preserved of those who actually served. Neither he, nor his widow, received any pension for this service, and his widow did not receive any bounty land rights.

So we see that in 1757 and 1762 he was serving the King, and that in 1775 and 1780 he was serving the Colonies. We also know that his brother, Solomon Briggs, had like service.

In 1762, Jacob purchased of his father thirty acres in Norton. Three years later his father conveyed to him some fifteen acres more there and the westerly half of the homestead which they, Jacob and his father, had built together. In that same year, 1765, Jacob purchased of his brother, Solomon, twenty acres of land and the easterly half of the homestead, Solomon removing to Attleboro, viz.:

28 Oct. 1765, "I Solomon Briggs of y^e Town of Norton . . . yeoman for . . . Thirty five pounds Thirteen Shillings . . . paid by my Brother Jacob Briggs of y^e Town . . . afforesd yeoman . . . sell . . . him . . . Twenty acres of Land being y^e Easterly Part of my home place of our father Seth Briggs of s^d Norton . . ." Wife Molly Briggs releases her dower rights in same. He signs; she makes her mark. Wit.: John Daggett, Abigail Ide. (Bristol Deeds, 50: 125.)

In 1770, Jacob Briggs purchased further common land from his father, Seth, said land being in Norton (Taunton North Purchase). At this time they both called themselves of the District of Mansfield. For these land records involving Seth, see Seth's account on the previous pages.

Ten years later, in 1780, Jacob Briggs again appears in the land records:

4 Oct. 1780, Samuel Tiffany Junr of Attleboro, for £42-6s. silver, sells to Jacob Briggs of Mansfield, yeoman, ten acres in Mansfield, bounded east by the line of Attleboro. Wife Hannah Tiffany releases her dower. Wit.: Mary Daggett Junr, Ebenezer Daggett. (Ibid., 61: 237, 238.)

13 June 1785, Nathaniel Hodges of Mansfield, for £16-2-6, sells to Jacob Briggs, yeoman of same, land there, being the northern end of a fifteen acre lot. Wit.: John Daggett, Anna Braman. (Ibid., 71: 448.)

1 Feb. 1788, "I Solomon Briggs of . . . Mansfield . . . yeoman in Consideration of . . . Thirty pounds . . . paid me by my Brother Jacob Briggs of ye Town . . . afores^d yeoman . . . sell . . . him . . . Land . . . in . . . Mansfield . . . part of my home place," wife Molly releases her rights. He signs; she marks. Wit.: Benjamin Skinner, Hannah Briggs.* (Ibid., 66: 473.)

22 Feb. 1797, Joseph Fairbanks of Wrentham, gentleman, for $85 sells to Jacob Briggs of Mansfield, yeoman, and to Abraham Crowley of Mansfield, yeoman, land at Witch Pond Swamp in Mansfield, it being a little over an acre. Wit.: James and Susey Fairbank. (Ibid., 75: 594.)

Jacob Briggs lived until 1821, and further deeds in regard to his estate, passed by his children, will be found under his son, Emerson Briggs's account.

In the census of 1790, he is listed as of Mansfield, with a family of three males over sixteen, one male under sixteen, and three females. (Mass. Census 1790, p. 47.)

In 1800, Jacob Briggs was still of Mansfield, having in his family at that time one male between ten and sixteen [Emerson], one male between twenty-six and forty-five, one male over forty-five, and one female between sixteen and twenty-six, it is evident that his wife's record was omitted from this.

In 1810, he had but one male and one female in his family; that is, his wife and himself. In 1820, he is not listed in Mansfield, but was apparently living in the family of his son, Jacob, Jr., and is one of the two males therein listed as over forty-five, his wife being that female over forty-five. Jacob, Jr., had a large family of twelve persons. In 1830, son Jacob was still of Mansfield with a large family listed, the father had died in 1821, but his widow was evidently that female aged between eighty and ninety listed in the son Jacob's household. And in 1840, the son Jacob had listed in his family one female aged between ninety and one hundred, this woman being his mother, who died in 1841, aged ninety-nine years.

(Records from U. S. Census Bureau, Washington, D. C.)

The will was proved in Court, 2 July 1822. (Bristol Probate.)

The widow left no recorded estate. From the will above she was to have her thirds and right of dower in his estate. We have seen that she lived with her son, Jacob, Jr., until her death in 1841.

It is evident that the "Meeting" referred to the First Church in Mansfield. This was originally a Congregational parish of Norton, founded in 1731, and like most of the first Congregational parishes it was later absorbed into the Unitarian faith. The records of this church were of great value, containing baptisms, marriages, deaths, admissions, dismissions, and church minutes. In the Report on the Public Records published in 1885 these records were reported in a fair condition. A few years later the church was disbanded and the records deposited in the Town Clerk's office in the Town Hall of Mansfield, and now they are no longer to be found. It is said that some misguided person burned them for waste paper! An irreparable loss! The Essex Institute, which is going to publish the Mansfield records, the Unitarian Society, which is attempting to collect all records of non-existing churches, and other private persons have investigated this matter.

If these records were extant we would doubtless have a full list of all of Jacob's children as well as many other dates and records.

DESCENDANTS OF EMERSON BRIGGS

DESCENDANTS OF EMERSON BRIGGS

1. EMERSON ⁵ BRIGGS (Jacob ⁴, Seth ³, William Jr. ², William, Grand Senior ¹), son of Jacob and Esther (Skinner) Briggs of Attleboro, Norton, and Mansfield, Bristol County, Mass., was born in Mansfield, near the Attleboro line, 10 Dec. 1784, and died in Norton, 16 Feb. 1873, being buried on the homestead there. He married in Attleboro, 1 July 1804, LYDIA RICHARDSON, born there, 31 Jan. 1787, died in Norton, 21 July 1858, daughter of Seth and Lydia (French) Richardson. She was also buried beside her husband on the homestead farm in Norton.

At the time of their marriage, Emerson was but nineteen years old, and his bride but seventeen. They had courage in those days! The old records of the Second Congregational Church of Attleboro contain the following: "Emerson Briggs of Mansfield & Lidia Richardson of Attl." married 1 July 1804.

A descendant describes the wedding as taking place in the Richardson homestead in Attleboro, it being a very simple one, as Lydia was one of a large family, and that young Emerson took Lydia away with him in a chaise drawn by a white horse. Cold records are but dry facts, and we must let our imagination play here, and try and visualize the little wedding party and the (probably) hot and sunny July day.

Lydia was one of eleven children, five boys and six girls, the brothers being Seth, who removed to Vassalboro, Me.; George, who married Polly Willson, and lived in Winslow, Me.; Silas, who married a Daggett, and also lived in Winslow; Francis, who married Nancy Crossman and lived in Winslow; and Ira, who married Eveline Fisher and lived in Mansfield. Lydia's sisters were Sarah, who married Thomas Braman of Norton; Roxy, who married Joseph Parmenter and went to China, Me.; Anna, or Nancy as she was called, who married Minor Phillips, had fourteen children, and lived in Winslow; Phebe, who married Barnum Hodges and also went to Maine to live; and Rhoda, who married Elkanah Wheeler and lived in Norton.

Seth Richardson, her father, died in Attleboro, 29 Jan. 1824, aged sixty-eight years, and her mother, Sarah, died there, 18 Feb. 1816, aged fifty-eight years. They are both buried in the Old Kirk Cemetery in Attleboro.

Possibly some brief notes concerning the Richardson ancestry of Emerson's wife, would be of interest here. The progenitor of this line, Samuel Richardson, of Charlestown and Woburn, had by wife, Joanna, a son, Stephen Richardson of Woburn. The latter died 1718 testate, and had by wife, Abigail Wyman, who died there 1720, intestate, a large family of children, several sons removing to Attleboro from Woburn. Among the latter was Francis³ Richardson, born in Woburn in 1681, died in Attleboro, 1756, testate, and who by his wife, Sarah Houghton of Lancaster, whom he had married in Charlestown in 1708, had a son Seth, born in Attleboro, 3 Sept. 1716, died there, 15 Jan. 1785. This Seth⁴ Richardson married in Norton, 25 Apr. 1739, Abigail Skinner, born there about 1721, died in Attleboro, 26 Apr. 1811, they both being buried in the Old Kirk-yard Cemetery in Attleboro. Although Seth Sr., did not record the births of his children, and left no recorded estate, he conveyed to his son, Seth, Jr., in 1781, by deed, all his property in Attleboro in return for life care and maintenance. This son, Seth⁵ Richardson, Jr., a soldier of the Revolution, was the father of Lydia (Richardson) Briggs.*

In the name of God amen—

The following is a copy of data which consists apparently of the Reminiscences of a grand daughter of Lydia (Richardson) Briggs:

“Grandmother Briggs, Lydia Richererson’s father’s name was Seth, her mother’s maiden name, his wife, was Sarah French who lives on the Captin French place down below Aunt Louitta Harvey’s. Sarah French’s father had two wives. Captin Frenches father Thomas French was Sarah Frenches brother. Captin French and grandmother Briggs were one cousins.

“Seth Richersons mother was a Skinner he had a brother Thomas who lived in West Mansfield on what is now the Motomer Hodges place. My grandfather’s name was Emerson Briggs his father’s name was Jacob Briggs, his mother’s name Easter Skinner. Father lived on the Sam Ring’s place back in the lot a little ways, She was born here. Jacob Briggs lived in that old house up to Solomon Briggess. Easter Briggs lived to be 101 years old and burried the 13 day of April 1836 [sic].* Her funeral text was Mary hath chosen the good part which shall not be taken away from her. The day the funeral was the roads were blocked so but 1 carriage got to the funeral. Minister Cran was the one that came in the slay. She was burried in the burrying ground up to Happy Hollow up beyon Robbersons. Emmerson Briggs had three sisters Sally she married Abraham Crowley of Mansfield near the Quaker Church. She was one of the early members. Lucilda married a Brittnal lived near Abraham Crowleys. Ester married Nathan Starkey they lived in Wrentham. One brother, Jacob Briggs he married Nancy Gillmore and lived in the old house up to Solomon Briggess, his father gave him the place to take care of him which was valued at about $4000. He gave grandfather Briggs $700. Grand mother Briggs had 10 brothers and sisters, 6 girls 5 boys.”

So much for the Richardson connections.

Our Emerson Briggs was a great-great grandson of the founder of this particular Briggs family, and indeed once related to a grandson, that his (Emerson's) grandfather (Seth) had told the family, that his (Seth's) grandfather had come from England. This founder, of whom I have written in the Introduction, was known as William "Grand Senr," to distinguish him from the other William Briggs of his town. An early settler of Taunton, born in England about 1645, he was of Taunton by 6 Nov. 1666, when he married Sarah Macomber of Marshfield, who died in Taunton, 20 Mar. 1680, and he, the Grand Senior, also died in Taunton, 3 Jan. 1728, aged eighty-three years. By a deed dated 19 Jan. 1705, "William Briggs the Eldest Called William Briggs Grand senr of Taunton," for £50 conveyed to "William Briggs Junr (the son of the above-said William Briggs Grand Senr" twenty acres in Taunton by Three Mile River with a dwelling house thereon. (Bristol Deeds, 4: 512.)

Emerson's great grandfather, "William Briggs Junr (the son of the abovesaid William Briggs Grand Senr)" was born in Taunton, 25 Jan. 1667, and died there, 20 Feb. 1731, aged sixty-three years; he had married in Milton, as a second wife, Mehetable Blake, possibly a young widow, who died in Taunton, 17 Oct. 1732, aged sixty-one years, they both being buried in the Oakland Cemetery in Taunton. This William, like his father, left no will, but an administration was granted upon his estate 16 Mar. 1730-31, to the eldest son, Nathaniel, and among the papers settling the said estate, is a paper which gives the consent that "my Eldest Brother Nathaniel Briggs may take Letters of Administration upon the Estate of my honred father William Briggs of Taunton late deceased as witness my hand this 13th day of March 1730/31 Seth briggs." (Bristol Probate.)

Seth Briggs, Emerson's grandfather on the paternal side, was born in Taunton, not later than 1709-10, probably about 1709, and married in Rehoboth, 22 Jan. 1735-36, Hannah Whittaker. But before this marriage he had removed, between December 1732 and April 1733 to Attleboro. In November 1747, Seth sold his Attleboro farm, and in September 1748 purchased a house and farm in Norton comprising some sixty acres. He settled in that part of Norton that in 1770 was established as the District of Mansfield, and as a town of Mansfield in 1775. In 1762, Seth sold his son, Jacob Briggs, land in Norton. (Bristol Deeds.) He also made these conveyances:

19 Aug. 1765, "I Seth Briggs of ye Town of Norton . . . yeoman For . . . money to Me in hand . . . paid by my Son Jacob Briggs of ye Town . . . afors^d yeoman . . . Confirme unto him . . . Land Scituate in s^d Norton . . . fourteen or fifteen Acres . . . being all Ye land which Belongs to me of that Sixty one Acres of Land which I Purchased of John Starkey as also y^e one half of a Dwelling House being y^e House wherein I . . . & y^e s^d Jacob . . . now Dwell in and is y^e House which I Built in Partnership with y^e said Jacob . . . and is y^e westerly End of s^d House and all my Intrest in s^d House . . ."

He signed this deed, there is no release for his wife, who had doubtless deceased by this date. (Ibid., 49: 541.)

29 May 1770, "I Seth Briggs of ye District of Mansfield . . . yeoman in Consideration of . . . Three pounds Eighteen shillings . . . paid . . . by my son Jacob Briggs of y^e s^d District . . . yeoman . . . confirm unto him . . . two acres & half of y^e Common & undivided Lands in Taunton North Purchase . . . it being y^e Right that I y^e Seth Briggs Pitched where y^e Dwelling house of y^e s^d Seth Briggs now stands which was in y^e original right of Thomas Harvey . . . also three acres of y^e Common undivided Land." Signed. He acknowledged this deed 17 Sept. 1776; it was recorded in 1779. It seems very possible that Seth died between 1776 and 1780. (Ibid., 59: 208.)

Jacob Briggs, father of Emerson, born on his father's farm in Attleboro, near the Norton line, 20 Apr. 1739, was taken by his father to live in that part of Norton, now Mansfield, when but a lad, so that he practically lived his whole life in Norton, and died in Mansfield, testate, 25 Dec. 1821. His wife, Esther Skinner, whom he had married in Norton, 28 Mar. 1765, and ~~who was~~ born there, 2 July 1741, daughter of Benjamin and Abigail (Wilde) Skinner, survived Jacob by many years, and died at the home of her son, Jacob Briggs, Jr., in Mansfield, 11 Apr. 1841, aged nearly a hundred years. In fact, longevity seems to be one of the inheritances of the descendants of Emerson Briggs.

Doubtless Jacob cared for his father, Seth, in his old age, for in 1765, soon after his father had conveyed to him the farm in Mansfield, he bought out his brother Solomon's rights in the same. And here he continued to live, acquiring by purchase further property in that town. In 1788, he bought of his brother, Solomon Briggs, part of Solomon's own home farm in Mansfield.

It was on Jacob's farm in Mansfield near the Attleboro line that Emerson was born, soon after the close of the Revolutionary War, in 1784.

A copy of Jacob Briggs's will follows:

Perhaps it was too much war talk that influenced Emerson Briggs to become a member of the Friends. Certain it is that he came of a fighting stock. There had been no "slackers" among his ancestors. Turning again back to the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, we note the name of William Briggs, on the roll of the first military com-

* Two months earlier than the date of this will, in April 1806, Emerson had sold to his brother, Jacob Briggs, Jr., all his rights to his father's estate, for the sum of seven hundred dollars. It was agreed at the time that the said Jacob, Jr., the elder brother, would care for the father and mother, hence the various provisions of the said will quoted above.

pany of Taunton, 8 Apr. 1682. Again on the Taunton military roster of 1700 appear the names of "Wm. Briggs Grand Senior" and William Briggs, Jr. Coming down to the third generation, we note that Seth Briggs, grandfather of Emerson, had service as a member of the Norton Train Band in the French Wars in 1757. And in the fourth generation, that of Jacob Briggs, Emerson's father, it will be seen in the Introduction, that Jacob not only was a member of the Norton Train Band in 1757, but that he saw eight months' actual service in the French Wars in 1762; and furthermore had service from Mansfield in the War of the Revolution. Emerson's uncle, Solomon Briggs, had a long term of enlistment in the Revolution. (History of Taunton; Mass. Archives; Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolution.)

As a child, Emerson doubtless attended the old first parish meeting house in Mansfield, formed as has been explained in the Introduction in 1731. Congregational in its beginning, later as did so many of the first Congregational parishes, it became Unitarian in denomination, and when the church was disbanded in the eighteen nineties, the records were deposited in the Town Hall of Mansfield, and they are now no longer extant. If these records had been saved doubtless we would have found the record of his baptism therein. His wife, Lydia, was also a Congregationalist, and we recall that their marriage record is to be found in the records of the Second Congregational Church of Attleboro. This latter, the Second Church, was established in 1748, from the old First Church in Attleboro. We recall in Jacob's will of 1806 that he carefully provides that "my Son Jacob Briggs Shall Provide a horse for my Said wife to Ride to meeting," etc.

One of Emerson's married sisters attended the Friends Meeting in what was known as the Shearman Neighborhood in Mansfield, and Emerson also became a member of that Meeting, his wife joining a year later. Neither of them were born in the faith and as Emerson joined first, it was evidently he that was converted.

The Mansfield Friends Meeting was built in 1809 on land that was given for that purpose by a David Grover. It was about two miles from the West Mansfield Depot on a corner opposite to the residence of the late David B. Grover. The said Mr. Grover died in 1916, and was the last surviving resident member of the Meeting. When the building was taken down, about five years ago, some of the benches were given to the Meeting at Saylesville, R. I., and the land reverted to the Grover family, for by the terms of the deed of gift, the provision was made, that when it was no longer used for the Meeting, the land was to come back to the family.

28 Dec. 1820, Emerson Briggs was admitted into membership with the Friends, as see the Minutes of the Men's Meeting of that date. This admission was also confirmed by the Minutes of the Women's Meeting of that date. A year later, Emerson Briggs requested that his seven children be also admitted. At the Mansfield Preparative Meeting of December 1821, there was presented a request to the Monthly Meeting,* in writing, from Lydia Briggs for herself and jointly with her husband for their children to become members of the Society. A committee was appointed and visited the family and when they reported to the Monthly Meeting they included with the seven children, the name of the mother, who had applied for membership with them, a year later than her husband. All were received into full membership in 1822, the parents now being both members with the Friends, the children born later would be birthright members.

It might be well to note here that, in 1812, there had been a suggestion made that the Mansfield Meeting be transferred to the Providence Monthly Meeting, but this idea was abandoned and the Mansfield Meeting continued on under the Smithfield Meeting.*

25 Sept. 1823, Emerson Briggs attended the Monthly Meeting at Smithfield (i.e., Woonsocket, R. I.) as a representative from the Mansfield Preparative Meeting, which shows him a member of good standing on that date. 28 Apr. 1831, the oldest son of Emerson and Lydia Briggs was granted a certificate of clearness to proceed in marriage with a member of the New Bedford Meeting. 28 Nov. 1833, Seth C. Hiller informed the Mansfield Preparative Meeting of his intention to marry Betsy Briggs and the record further states that they were both present.

Emerson Briggs evidently continued with his wife and family a member of the Friends for some years, but later apparently was disgruntled or lost his interest, for at the Smithfield Monthly Meeting held the 28 Dec. 1848, a complaint was presented by the Mansfield Preparative Meeting concerning him, and a committee, consisting of Richard Battey and Luke Aldrich, were appointed to have an opportunity with him and "to bestow such labor for his recovery as best wisdom may direct." The complaint read:

"Emerson Briggs has so far departed from the good order of Society as to wholly neglect the attendance of meetings, both for worship and discipline, and plainness of speech and refusing to assist in defraying the expenses of Society; for which labor has been bestowed with the desired effect."

In January 1849, a month later, the committee stated in the Monthly Meeting, that they were not ready to report definitely as yet, and so were continued. Their report made at the Monthly Meeting of 22 Feb. 1849, stated:

"We your Com^t in the case of Emerson Briggs report that we have treated with him on the subject of complaint, he manifested no disposition to change his course and no desire to be continued as a member. We are of the opinion that further labor with him will not be attended with usefulness."

After hearing this report, the Meeting, upon consideration decided "to place him under their care as a member, having the concurrence of the Womens Meeting at this time." And at the Meeting of April, that year, 1849, the record states that he had been informed of his disownment. (Smithfield Meeting Records.)

A descendant of Emerson Briggs, Walter Albert Briggs, Esq., of Attleboro wrote the compiler, in regard to Emerson, as follows:

"Inquiries have been made as to the life of Emerson Briggs and so far I find him not a star of great magnitude but one of the lesser luminaries who played the life of a good and regular New England farmer. From what I can glean from the diversified stories, he was born in the town of North Attleborough, near the Mansfield line, easterly of what was called "Bungay Reservoir" and now more stylishly designated as "Greenwood Lake." In his younger days he was a vender of hollow-ware made in Foxboro, travelling through north-eastern Massachusetts and Rhode Island selling his goods. He married Lydia Richardson and lived for a while in the old Noah Cooper house on Pleasant Street, in Attleborough, and thereafter purchased a farm in that part of Mansfield called "Sodom" and with this farm was a grist mill. Not only was the grist mill a source of family revenue, but Emerson turned out mortars for use in grinding salt, coffee, and other materials. From here they moved to Norton, where most of the children were born and raised, this place being on the easterly side of the Wading River, opposite the Braman homestead. Emerson and the boys cut and hauled timber for shipbuilding, most of which was sold for whaling ships at New Bedford. This timber was shipped mostly from the East Norton freight station. He cut enough meadow hay along the Wading River to feed his own cattle and kept the good hay for sale, and hauled timber in the winter time. He was a Quaker by faith attending in his younger years the church in the Sherman Neighborhood in West Mansfield and I understand that he attended the annual meeting of the Quakers at Newport. The story goes that he was disturbed by the local Quakers giving hotel rooms to those visiting Quakers from the South and that the local Quakers were given rooms in private families. He did not attend the annual meetings after that.

"After Lydia Richardson passed away, about 1851, I am informed that the grandfather [Emerson] called in the ten children and either at that time [or later] made provision for all of them by giving home places to the sons, Alfred and Benjamin, and bringing the son, Edmund, to the home place, giving it to Edmund for taking care of the father for the rest of his days. (I am not quite certain whether these gifts were made to the children before Lydia Richardson passed away or not.) The story also goes that sums of money were given to each one of the daughters when they were married and that he reserved $300.00 for his burial expenses." *

* Emerson Briggs was born in Mansfield, near the North Attleboro line; he attended the Meeting in the Shearman Neighborhood in Mansfield; his wife died in 1858; in 1842 he gave his homestead to his son, Edmund; in 1872 gave a farm in Norton to his son, Benjamin-Skinner; and in 1872 gave a farm in Attleboro to his son, Alfred.

Born in Mansfield in 1784, Emerson was evidently that male under sixteen years, listed in the family of his father, Jacob, who was a resident of that town when the census of 1790 was made. In 1800, he was still in his father's family, being that male listed between the ages of ten and sixteen in the household of Jacob Briggs in the census of that year.

Emerson became of age in December 1805, and in July 1804, was married in Attleboro, being called of Mansfield in his marriage record. It is possible that as Judge Briggs relates above, Emerson lived for a time in Attleboro following his marriage, but not for long, for his eldest son, born in May 1805, was born in Mansfield, and in Emerson's first deed, dated April 1806, he gives his residence as of Mansfield.

The next census, that of 1810, finds Emerson living in Mansfield, with his wife, three children, and another female, perhaps some young relative acting as a helper. This family consisted of one male under ten, one between sixteen and twenty-six, two females under ten, one ten to sixteen, and one female sixteen to twenty-six.

In February 1814, Emerson designates himself in the land records as of Mansfield, and in December 1815 his sixth child was born in Norton, so that between those two deeds he removed to the latter town where he had purchased a farm, as see the abstracts of his deeds which are given later. In 1820, the census lists him as of Norton, with one male under ten, one male ten to sixteen, one male sixteen to twenty-six, and two females under ten, two ten to sixteen, and one female twenty-six to forty-five.

In that record of 1830, "Amason Briggs" had a large family, viz.: one male five to ten, one ten to fifteen, one fifteen to twenty, and one forty to fifty, two females under five, one five to ten, one ten to fifteen, and one female forty to fifty, living still in Norton.

In the census of Norton for 1840, we again find Emerson Briggs, his name correctly spelled this time, with one male fifteen to twenty and one fifty to sixty, two females ten to fifteen, one fifteen to twenty, one twenty to thirty, and one fifty to sixty.

By 1850, the census records become even more valuable as they give names, ages, and state of birth. We know that Edmund had, in 1842, come to the farm in Norton to live and care for his parents and we find him listed with them: Norton, 1850, Emerson Briggs, aged sixty-five, male, a farmer, born in Massachusetts as head of a family which consisted of his wife, Lydia Briggs, aged sixty-four; Edmund Briggs, aged thirty-one, also a farmer; Achsah Ann Briggs, aged thirty-two; Lydia A. Briggs, aged five; Edmund A. Briggs, aged three; Ellen L. Briggs, aged six; Stephen A. Briggs, aged one; and Martha Briggs, aged twenty-one; all born in Massachusetts. Achsah Ann was Edmund's wife, and the little ones their children; Martha was Emerson's youngest child, and still at home as she married in 1851.

(Census Records from Washington, D. C.)

It was not deemed necessary by the compiler to do the later census records; that is, the 1860 and 1870.

Several times we have had occasion to refer to Emerson's land records. His purchases and sales will be found briefly abstracted on the pages following, but perhaps a brief résumé or digest of them may be given here, for to the uninitiated, brief abstracts of deeds make dry reading.

In April 1806, Emerson sold to his brother, Jacob Briggs, Jr., all his rights to his father's real and personal estate and this release was called attention to in the will of the father, Jacob, Sr., made two months later, in June 1806.

Again in April 1806, Emerson purchased of the Slacks of Mansfield, house, grist mill, shop, etc., and some twenty-two acres in Mansfield. This property was sold by two separate deeds in 1813 and 1814. At this time, Emerson removed to Norton, where in 1815 he purchased land of the Nathan Dean estate, and in 1819 he bought of John Hodges part of the Hodges home farm there. This became his home farm and was the same that he and his wife, Lydia, conveyed to their son, Edmund, in 1842, but where he continued to live, and where he was buried in 1873.

Jacob Briggs, Emerson's father died on Christmas Day in 1821, and in the January following, Emerson partook in a deed of settlement with his brother and sisters re Jacob's estate. Three years later in 1825, Emerson bought of Pliny Puffer a ninety-acre farm in Norton. In 1826, a brother and sister of Lydia (Richardson) Briggs sold the Richardson homestead in Attleboro, which they had by the will of their father, Seth Richardson, in his will of 1824, to their brother-in-law, Emerson Briggs.

Again in 1826, by a number of deeds, Emerson and his brother, Jacob, bought from the heirs of Eliphaz Day, the Day place in Attleboro, which consisted of house, barn, cider house and mill, and some forty-three acres. Several months later, in 1827, Jacob and Emerson sold this place to David Drake by two deeds, dated March and June of that year.

Ten years later, in 1836, Emerson conveyed some parcels of land to the Boston and Providence Railroad whose rails went through his farm and that same year he sold Stephen S. Shearman land he had bought in 1830. From then on we note several instances in these deeds where Emerson acted as a mortgagee. And in 1837, the estate of Zubulon White sold Emerson farm land in Norton, which bounded on land that Emerson already held there. His deed of gift in 1842 to his son, Edmund, has already been mentioned. In 1849, Emerson bought from the Jarvis Smith heirs a large farm in Norton. This was the farm that he gave to his son, Benjamin-Skinner Briggs, in July 1872. In 1850, Emerson's nephew mortgaged to him the Brintnell property in Mansfield, the mortgage being released in 1853. That same year, 1853, Emerson bought of Beard and Manuel, further property, in three tracts, in Mansfield, which he sold to his son Edmund the next year, Lydia releasing her rights therein. In 1872, Emerson again sold a small piece of land to his son Edmund, it being in Mansfield and Norton. Some seven months before his death, and on the same date that he gave to his son, Benjamin Skinner Briggs, the Jarvis Smith property in Norton, Emerson Briggs on 10 July 1872, gave to his son, Alfred Briggs, the Richardson property in Attleboro. (Bristol Deeds.)

With this careful settlement of his estate by land records we are not surprised to find that Emerson Briggs left no will, and that there was no further settlement of his property recorded in the Probate Court, there being no need of this.

Of his eleven children, ten reached maturity and marriage and it is certainly fitting that his and their descendants should cause this brief account of his life to be compiled.

The first reunion of this Briggs Family was held in 1901 at the Richardson homestead in Attleboro, and at this time a sketch of Emerson and Lydia (Richardson) Briggs was read by their granddaughter, Lidora E. Briggs.*

"Francis Richardson was the first white man to settle here. He came from Woburn with his young wife toward the close of the 17th century. When Francis Richardson was gathered to his fathers, he left his estate to his son, Seth Richardson. His son, Seth Richardson, Jr., married Sarah French. From this ancestral home four men were Revolutionary soldiers. After a simple wedding ceremony, with five brothers and five sisters present to make it merry, Emerson Briggs, not quite 20 years old, and his wife, Lydia, hardly 17, went forth into the world to make a new home. Lydia Richardson was small of stature, had delicate, regular features and gray blue eyes. She was a very lovable, as well as a most remarkable women. I have heard of other women as unselfish, others as greatly attached to their kindred, others as industrious, but for great, big heartedness, for Christ-like, loving sympathy she stands alone. Some of you can remember when the braiding of straw braid in the homes took the place of the spinning and weaving of the previous century. By means of this industry children were educated, and many of the comforts of life were brought into the homes. To Lydia Richardson belongs the honor of introducing the braiding of straw braid into Bristol county. She lived to be 71 years old, and when asked where she would like to be buried, replied 'that when the spirit had left the body she cared not what became of the clay.' Emerson Briggs lived 87 years, not quite as long as his mother, who reached the advanced age of 100 years and nine months. He had strong features resembling Henry Clay. He was tall and straight, measuring six feet two inches. A man proud of his integrity but not of his clothes. He was a man of good judgment, being called on frequently to appraise the value of estates and settle boundary lines. In old age he was gentle and affectionate and appreciative of all that was done for him. One day his oldest son, Benjamin, came into the house to tell him that some new carriages were to run between Boston and Providence drawn by steam on iron rails. In a very emphatic manner the son was told not to repeat such nonsense. He lived to send, with the aid of his sons, many loads of ship timber to New Bedford over these iron rails.

"Emerson Briggs was born in 1784, one year after our treaty of peace with England. Fully imbued with the Quaker faith in which they were trained, his ten children, three boys and seven girls, went forth to homes of their own."

("Attleboro Sun," issue of 29 June 1920.)

Born at the close of the Revolutionary War of a father who had served both under the King, and Washington, Emerson Briggs lived at a remarkable time in the world's history. As a young man he must have heard much of Canada and Valley Forge, and joined himself in talk of the treatment accorded the young American Merchant Marine by old England, which culminated in the War of 1812. He lived during that great period of expansion and exploration that colonized the west and caused the Mexican War of 1848. He also witnessed the struggles of the Abolitionist Cause with its final outcome, that most terrible of all wars, a civil war. And his span of life even touched the gigantic growth of industrialism, which had its beginnings in the early seventies. Born in the eighteenth century, Emerson was of a period when the trade was conducted in the home, he later was to see the rise of the factory system with all its benefits and all its hardships, and the coming of the steel rail with its tremendous impetus towards the strength achieved by that very system.

We must recall also that Emerson had in him the memories of nearly a century and a half, for his mother born in 1741 very nearly rounded a hundred years. And also that Emerson's own grandfather's grandfather, for Seth was about twenty when his grandfather died, came from England, the mother country, at the very beginnings of this New England. Seth lived to pass down these memories to his son, Jacob, and to Jacob's wife, Esther (Skinner) Briggs, who in her turn, lived until Emerson's youngest child, Martha-Cora Briggs, was over twelve years of age. It is no wonder that the New England traditions of simple living, straight thinking, and sturdy action had been part of Emerson's inheritance, and which he in his turn, passed on to his children and their descendants.

From the original Friends Records of the Smithfield Meeting, one would judge that Lydia and some of her children remained of that Faith, even though Emerson, the husband and father, had withdrawn about 1848, and was later disowned by that Meeting. Not trusting to the inaccuracies of the printed records,* the compiler had the following records copied from the originals, now at the Moses Brown School in Providence:

“Briggs, Emerson born—
 Lydia, his wife, died, aged 71y 20d 6m 1858
 Edmund, of Emerson and Lydia, 22d 4m 1818 d. 1883
 Sarah, of Emerson and Lydia, 22d 4m 1821
 Alfred, of Emerson and Lydia, 19d 7m 1823
 Martha, of Emerson and Lydia, 24d 9m 1828
 Benjamin Joseph, of Benjamin S., 24d 8m 1833
 Elizabeth Caroline, of Benjamin S., 3d 6m 1835
 Louisa Amanda, of Benjamin S., 13d 5m 1837
 Alfred, of Benjamin S., 20d 3m 1843
 Seth Richardson, of Benjamin S., 19d 2m 1847.”

The following marriages are taken from Arnold's Rhode Island Vital Records, volume 7, page 163, and will be checked later with the Friends Records:

“Briggs, Abi and Stephen S. Shearman, 7d 5m 1829
 Louisa and Jonathan Cowen Jr., 1d 5m 1834
 Betsey and Seth C. Hiller 2d 1m 1834
 Sarah and Peter D. Slade 6d 1m 1842”

Emerson and his wife were buried on the home place in Norton, but about ten or more years ago, when this property was sold from the family, the remains were removed to the Spring Brook Cemetery in Mansfield. A copy of the inscriptions on their stones as sent by the superintendent of that cemetery follow:

“Emerson Briggs
 Born 12 Mo 10 day 1784
 Died 2 Mo 16 day 1873
 Aged 88 yrs 2 Mo
 6 days”

“Lydia Briggs
 Born 1 Mo 31 day 1787
 died 7 Mo 21— 1858
 Aged 71 yrs 5 mo
 20 days”†

The original stones were reset to their memories in the burial plot of Edmund Briggs in Spring Brook Cemetery at Mansfield. They are in true Friendly form, giving the number of the month and day.

It is possible that by a careful examination of the Norton Town Records from 1814 to 1872 some further information about Emerson Briggs might be gained. How he received his given name is still a mystery.

* By Arnold.

† Of course these inscriptions and others of the family will appear in the completed Mansfield Vital Records.

2. BENJAMIN SKINNER⁶ BRIGGS (*Emerson*⁵, *Jacob*⁴ *Seth*³, *William*², *William*¹), born in Mansfield, Bristol County, Mass., 11 May 1805, died in Rochester, Plymouth County, Mass., 11 Dec. 1881, aged seventy-six years and seven months. He married in Rochester,† 1 June 1831, CAROLINE COWEN, born there 19 Aug. 1809, died in Norton, Bristol County, Mass., 11 July 1878, aged sixty-eight years, ten months, and twenty-two days, daughter of Jonathan and Elizabeth (Luce) Cowen, the former born in Rochester, the latter born in Marthas Vineyard, and sister of Jonathan Cowen, Jr., who married Louisa⁶ Briggs, sister of Benjamin-Skinner⁶ Briggs.

Benjamin-Skinner Briggs, the eldest child of Emerson and Lydia (Richardson) Briggs, lived in that part of Rochester which was known as Mattapoisett, and which in 1857 was set off from Rochester as a separate town. Between 1847 and 1850 he removed with his family to Norton, where his father was then living, and remained in Norton until after his wife's death.

He was a Quaker and, as we have seen under his father's account, his birth and the births of his five children are recorded in the Friends Records of the Smithfield Meeting. Again his birth, and that of his eldest daughter, are recorded with the Society of Friends, New Bedford Meeting. From the records of the former meeting we note that, 28 Apr. 1831, he was granted a certificate of clearness to proceed in marriage with a member of the New Bedford Meeting. (Friends Records.)

As were so many in those days, Benjamin-Skinner Briggs was a farmer. His wife's mother and grandmother were prominent leaders in the Friends Meetings. It has been stated by a descendant that following his marriage Benjamin-Skinner Briggs lived for a few years in the Seth Richardson house in Attleboro, Mass., and that his two eldest children were born in that town, yet the Rochester Vital Records give these children as being born in Rochester, and their births are not of record in Attleboro.

The census of 1850 places "Benjamin S. Briggs" as a resident of Norton, aged forty-five, with wife Caroline aged forty-one, Benjamin-J., aged sixteen, Elizabeth-C., aged fourteen, Louisa-A., aged thirteen, Alfred aged seven, and Seth-R., aged three, all born in Massachusetts. They are all also listed in Norton in the State Census of 1855, the census of 1850 being a United States Government Census. (U. S. Census Bureau.)

Louritta (Briggs) Harvey apparently never used her middle name. She was received into the Friends Society in 1822, but probably married out of the faith. After her marriage she lived in Attleboro. Stimpson Harvey died intestate. 1 June 1883, Louritta Harvey of Attleboro presented that Simpson Harvey died in Attleboro, 3 May 1883, left the petitioner, who was his widow, and a daughter Lydia-L. Butterworth, also of Attleboro, whose husband was Herbert-A. Butterworth. The widow was appointed administratrix, 1 June 1883, Alfred Briggs of Attleboro and George-L. EDMUND⁶ BRIGGS (*Emerson*⁵, *Jacob*⁴, *Seth*³, *William*², William), born in Norton, Bristol County, Mass., 4 July 1818, died there, 12 Oct. 1883, aged sixty-five years, three months and eight days. He married in Attleboro, Bristol County, Mass., 6 Oct. 1839, ACHSAH-ANN PERRY, born there, 17 Sept. 1817, died there, 18 Mar. 1898, aged eighty-one years, five months, and nineteen days, daughter of Stephen and Joanna (Lincoln) Perry of Attleboro.

Emerson Briggs and his wife, Lydia, gave to their son, probably in return for life care, their farm in Norton, 29 Aug. 1842, and so it was with his parents that Edmund Briggs lived. This homestead farm and buildings consisted of some one hundred and seventy-two acres and there was also another lot of land given to Edmund at this time which contained about thirty-two acres, also in Norton. Later, 30 Nov. 1854, Edmund purchased from his parents land and a dwelling house in Mansfield, and still later, 25 June 1872, Edmund bought from his father, woodland situated partly in Norton and partly in Mansfield. All three deeds were recorded in 1872. (Bristol Deeds, 322: 179; 324: 136, 137.)

The census of 1850 confirms this, for we note that Emerson Briggs is head of a family in Norton, consisting of himself, a farmer aged sixty-five, wife Lydia Briggs aged sixty-four, Edmund Briggs aged thirty-one, Achsah-N. Briggs aged thirty-two, and Lydia-A., aged five, Edmund-A., aged three, Ellen-L., aged six, Stephen-A., aged one, and Martha Briggs aged twenty-one, all born in Massachusetts. (U. S.

According to one of the descendants, Joseph Whiting was the son of Peter Whiting, and had besides his son, Daniel-Peter Whiting, son Joseph-Milton, who married Clarissa Derry; daughter, Ruth, who married Winslow Cook; and daughter, Sally, who married Cyrus Allen. It is also stated that Captain Moses Adams, father of Ruth (Adams) Whiting, served in the Revolutionary War.

Interested in farming and lumbering, he was also one of a Rifle Company in Bellingham, and a great reader of the Bible, of modern and ancient history, and the law. He is said to have been an "ardent church goer, and saw to it that the farm hands went too!"

13. ELIZABETH CAROLINE ⁷ BRIGGS (Benjamin-Skinner ⁶, Emerson ⁵, Jacob ⁴, Seth ³, William ², William ¹), born in Rochester, Mass., 3 June 1835, died in Franklin, Mass., 10 Apr. 1922, aged eighty-six. She married in Norton, Mass., 24 Apr. 1856, JOSEPH-WADSWORTH CLARK, born in Franklin, 9 Apr. 1824, died there, 9 Dec. 1893, aged sixty-nine, son of Abijah Clark Jr., and Susannah (Wadsworth) Clark.

Joseph-Wadsworth Clark served as a selectman and as an overseer of the poor. He was a violinist, made his first instrument, and by playing for dancing was enabled to buy his second. His wife, Elizabeth-Caroline Briggs, or as she was sometimes known, Caroline-Elizabeth Briggs, is said to have been born in Attleboro, Mass., this birthplace being also given for her eldest brother, Benjamin-Joseph Briggs. But their births are not recorded in Attleboro, and are to be found on the Rochester town records. She was brought up a Friend and attended their school in Providence, R. I. She was "a very industrious woman, a most devoted mother."

The following information was supplied by Nellie-De-Ett ⁸ (Clark) Mills:

In 1841, Joseph-Wadsworth Clark started a wood-working machine shop on a small stream in front of his house. Here he invented an attachment for a wood-turning lathe, which made a perfect axe handle, these being made by hand previously. His business increased rapidly, and after he invented the shoddy picker, used in mills, he was obliged to build a larger shop on another part of his farm. The Clark improved shoddy picker became popular, especially in the South. He then moved his business to Franklin, having built a larger shop, house, stables, and blacksmith shop, nearer the railroad and the mills. He took his two sons into the business, and as his health failed, they carried it on until they died within a year of each other. In 1928, the grandson, William-Harold ⁹ Clark, son of his son, William-Cowen ⁸ Clark, took over the business, this being the third generation to make the machines. For fifty-two years the name of "Clark's Machine Shop," has been known for its general repair work as well as its constructive work.

28. SAMUEL ⁷ WHITING (Lydia-Adeline ⁶ Briggs, Emerson ⁵, Jacob ⁴, Seth ³, William ², William ¹), born in Franklin, Mass., 5 Apr.

1843, died in Dana, Mass., 26 Apr. 1912, aged sixty-nine. He married in Heyworth, Ill., 20 Oct. 1868, LUCRETIA ROGERS, born in Decatur, or Waterloo, Ill., 27 Jan. 1845, died in Atlantic, Mass., 17 June 1926, aged eighty-one, daughter of Rev. Austin-Flint and Julia-Ann (Gibbs) Rogers.

Samuel Whiting attended Dedham Academy; he tried to enlist in the Civil War, but was refused because of disability. By occupation he was a wooden box and chair maker, served as a police officer, and was a member of the Congregational Church. He was an ardent church worker, and had the faith of the early Puritans. Dr. Rogers, father of his wife, Lucretia (Rogers) Whiting, preached in Illinois for over sixty years, and had one son, and three grandsons, who also followed the ministry.

Mrs. Willie-Miles De Mond, daughter of Samuel and Lucretia (Rogers) Whiting, states that her mother personally knew Abraham Lincoln, and writes as follows concerning her father:

In 1890, my father's business was thriving, buildings were of lumber and large in size, and a great quantity of sawed lumber was stacked in the yards. The time was ripe for the thugs and crooks of that locality. At ten thirty in the evening they set fire to all the lumber and buildings, the fire was spectacular and raged for two hours, and all the town came to the fire. Thieves looted everything, bank, post office, hotel, tailor shop, grocery store, and meat market. Father was reduced to the level of laborer, his family's future hampered, and he was never able to answer the question of, "Oh, why did they do it." His Christian faith always reassured him, and his courage to try again never left him. His one regret until his death was that his work was not finished.

They lived in Franklin and Holliston, Mass.

APPENDIX

The "Richardson Memorial" published many years ago is in error concerning the identity of Seth Richardson, father of Lydia (Richardson) Briggs as the following pages will prove. This Seth Richardson married Sarah French and was not that Seth ⁴ Richardson born 1723, son of Seth ³, and grandson of Stephen ² Richardson, but was indeed a Seth ⁵ Richardson born 1756 and son of Seth ⁴, grandson of Francis ³, and great grandson of Stephen ² Richardson, the two Seths being first cousins-once-removed as the legal term expresses it. The Seth ⁴, born 1723, evidently died young, for his father's estate of 1747 only mentions a widow Mary and four daughters, and no sons; the said father, Seth ³ Richardson, born in Woburn in 1690, had married a Mary Brown, and in 1711 removed from Woburn, Mass., to Attleboro, Mass., where he had son, Seth ⁴, born 26 May 1723. If the compiler of the "Richardson Memorial" had consulted land and probate records the error would not have been published in the book. The correct line runs as follows:

SAMUEL ¹ RICHARDSON, of Charlestown and Woburn, who died in Woburn, Mass., 23 Mar. 1656, had by wife JOANNA ———, among other children, son STEPHEN ².

STEPHEN ² RICHARDSON (Samuel), born in Woburn, Mass., 15 Aug. 1649, died there, testate, 22 Mar. 1718, aged sixty-seven years. He married in Billerica, Mass., recorded in Woburn, 2 Jan. 1675, ABIGAIL WYMAN, born probably in Woburn, about 1660, died there, 17 Sept. 1720, intestate, aged sixty years, daughter of Francis Wyman. They had a large family, their sons being: STEPHEN ³ born 1676; WILLIAM ³ born 1678; FRANCIS ³ born 1681; TIMOTHY ³ born 1688; SETH ³ born 1690 (vide supra); DANIEL ³ born 1691; SOLOMON ³ born 1702; and HENRY ³ born 1704. In 1708, deed recorded in 1749, Stephen ² Richardson sold his son, Francis ³, land in Charlestown, an abstract of said deed will be found under the account of Francis ³ Richardson. An abstract of the will of Stephen ² Richardson follows:

"I Stephen Richardson Senior of Wooburn . . . Yeoman, being aged, and under deceases of Nature, do . . . Ordain . . . this . . . my Last will and Testament . . . in the following manner . . .

To my two Sons Daniell Richardson and Solomon Richardson . . . my Homestead formerly belonging to my Brother Samuel Richardson Deceased." Signed. Dated 12 Aug. 1713, proved 3 Apr. 1718. [He left all of his property to his sons, Daniel and Solomon, and took five pages to do so.] Wit.: Joseph Richardson, Jr., Stephen Richardson, Jr., Thomas Richardson, and James Towle*. (Middlesex Probate, 19143.)

The widow, Abigail Richardson, died intestate, and Theophilus Richardson was appointed the administrator of her estate. There were many papers filed in settling the same, many of them being of interest, among the receipts it is cited that:

"october 20 ye 1720 Then Received of Theophilus Richardson . . . by me francis Richardson" [his share].

Among the heirs of her estate were: Solomon Richardson a minor, John Vinton the husband of Abigail Vinton, Daniel Richardson, Mary Balston [she had "an amber Necklace"], Francis Richardson, Seth Richardson, Prudence Kendall, William Richardson. (Ibid., 18852.)

FRANCIS * RICHARDSON (*Stephen*², *Samuel*¹), born in Woburn, Mass., 15 Jan. 1681, died in Attleboro, Mass., 14 Jan. 1756, testate. Children, first three born in Woburn, rest in Attleboro:

- i. SARAH⁴, b. 25 Jan. 1709; m. JOHN CAMPBELL.
- ii. FRANCIS, b. about 1711, d. intestate, 1748, Attleboro; m. MARGARET ———. He passed a deed in 1732, so was then of age. (Bristol Deeds, 23:73.) Administration on his estate was granted to the widow Margaret, 7 June 1748, she having for her sureties, Jonas and Seth Richardson, all sign the bond. Jonas was appointed the guardian of Margaret a minor under fourteen, daughter of said deceased, and to son Francis, also under fourteen, 7 Dec. 1753. 20 Feb. 1759, Jonas was appointed guardian to Jeremiah minor son above fourteen, prior to this, 5 Feb. 1759, Francis and Jeremiah petition that their "uncle Jonas Richardson" be their guardian. 12 Mar. 1766, Margaret, being now in her twentieth year, chose Stephen Richardson to be her guardian. SETH⁴ RICHARDSON, SR. (*Francis*³, *Stephen*², *Samuel*¹), born in Attleboro, Mass., 3 Sept. 1716, died there, 15 Jan. 1785, aged sixty-eight, buried there in the Old Kirkyard Cemetery. He married in Norton, Mass., 25 Apr. 1739, ABIGAIL SKINNER, born there, about 1721, died in Attleboro, 26 Apr. 1811, aged ninety, buried in the Old Kirkyard, daughter of John and Sarah (——) Skinner.

An examination of the Bristol Deeds reveals that there were three contemporary Seth Richardsons in Attleboro in the early part of the eighteenth century. There was the *Seth*³, born 1690, son of Stephen ², who bought land there in 1712, and whose son Seth ⁴, born 1723, died young (vide supra). Then Timothy ³, born 1688, brother of Seth ³, also removed to Attleboro, and left son Timothy ⁴, born 1715, son Abiel, born 1717, and a son Seth ⁴, who was entirely omitted from the Richardson Genealogy. And Francis ³, born 1681, brother of the above Timothy ³, and Seth ³, as has been explained in his account, also had a son Seth ⁴, from whom this line descends. (Bristol Deeds, 13: 558; 12: 215; 30: 298; 21: 244; 27: 426; 40: 57; also Bristol Probate.)

Seth Richardson, Sr., served in the French (or Colonial) Wars viz:

The name of Seth Richardson appears on a list dated Attleborough, 8 Apr. 1757, of the 2d Company of Militia in the town of Attleborough, commanded by Captain Joseph Capron, comprising the Train Band and Alarm List, rank, probably private, reported as belonging to the Train Band. (Ibid., 95: 259.)

Seth had no service in the Revolution, he was of course at that time much too old, apparently his grave has been incorrectly marked as a veteran of that war, it was his son, Seth ⁵ Richardson, who fought therein.

Seth Richardson did not record his children's births in the town records of Attleboro, nor are their baptisms to be found in the church records. There is no settlement of his estate, nor that of his widow's in the probate records. We know from his deeds that he had a son, Seth, Jr., from the French Wars Records that he had a son, Thomas, and it is possible that he also had a son, Jonathan, but his other children are unknown. If the town meeting records of Attleboro were read through it might be possible to secure further data.

Seth was named in his father's will of 1749, and he served as a bondsman for his sister-in-law, Margaret, the widow of his brother, Francis ⁴ Richardson, in 1748, signing the bond. He has only four land transactions of record:

24 Mar. 1767, "I Seth Richardson of Attleborough . . . yeoman & Jonathan Richirson of s^d Attleborough yeoman . . . in consideration of Twenty four pounds . . . paid us by Thomas Richardson of Attleborough . . . Husbandman" convey land and a house thereon in said town which "is Part of Seth Richinsons homestead farm." Both sign. Recorded 1778. Wit.: Elijah Wetherel, George Leonard. (Bristol Deeds, 58: 158.)

15 Dec. 1770, John Tiler of Attleborough, gentleman, for 15s., sells to Seth Richardson of same, yeoman, one acre and forty eight rods there, wit: John Tiler, Mary Tiler. (Ibid., 58: 159.)

31 May 1781, "I Seth Richardson of . . . Attleborough . . . yeoman For . . . one hundred and Fifty pounds . . . paid by my son Seth Richardson Jun^r of y^e Town . . . afores^d yeoman And in Consideration of my Son Seths being Bound (by a Bond bareing even date with these presents) to provide a good & Comfortable Support & Maintainence for my Self & my wife during our Natural Life . . . whereof I do . . . Sell . . . him . . . One Messuage

. . . Situate in s^d Attleborough being my homestead Farm whereon I now Dwell Containing . . . about Seventy Acres of Land . . . with a Dwelling House, a Barn and Corn Barn on ue Same being the whole of my homestead & Real Estate which I now own in sd Attleb^o . . . Note there in included within ye above described Bounds a Lot of Two Acres of Land with a Dwelling House on ye Same which belongs to ye sd Seth Richardson Junr and is excepted and not Sold by these presents . . ." Abigail, his wife, released her dower rights. They both sign by mark. Wit.: John Wilkinson, Daniel Tiffany. Acknowledged 31 May 1781. (Ibid., 60: 332.)

The above deed of course explains why he did not make a will and why an administration was not needed. If the land records of Jonathan Richardson were searched doubtless proof of his parentage might be ascertained.

Children born in Attleboro:

- i. THOMAS ⁵, b. about 1740, living 1767. Served 1759 in the French Wars. The name of Seth Richardson appears in the record of service of Thomas Richardson of Attleboro, as the said Thomas's father or master, 1759. (Massachusetts Archives, 97: 165.)
- ii. ? JONATHAN, b. about 1742, living 1767.
- iii. SETH, b. in 1756; m. SARAH FRENCH.
Probably other children.

SETH ⁵ RICHARDSON, JR. (Seth, Sr.⁴, *Francis*³, *Stephen*², *Samuel*¹), born in Attleboro, Mass., in 1756, died there, 29 Jan. 1824, aged sixty-eight, testate, buried there in the Old Kirkyard Cemetery. He married there, intention dated 12 Jan. 1778, SARAH FRENCH, born there, 6 Apr. 1758, died there, 18 Feb. 1816, aged fifty-seven, buried in the Old Kirkyard, daughter of Thomas and Keziah (Perry) French.

Seth Richardson, Jr., served in the Revolution, and it is his grave that should be marked for this distinction, not his father's grave. He received no pension for this service but the service as recorded follows:

"Richardson, Seth (also given Seth, Jr.). Attleborough, Private, Capt. Stephen Richardson's (Attleborough) co. of Minute-Men, which marched probably on the alarm of April 19, 1775; service, 9 days; reported enlisted into the army May 15, 1775; also, Corporal, Capt. Moses Knap's co., Col. Joseph Reed's regt.; muster roll dated Aug. 1, 1775; enlisted May 8, 1775; service, 3 mos. 1 day; also, order for bounty Coat or its equivalent in money dated Roxbury, Nov. 21, 1775; also, Capt. Stephen Richardson's 4th (2d Attleborough, also given Attleborough No. 12) co., Col. Dagget's regt.; list of men who were in the 8 months service at Roxbury in 1775, known as the 1st campaign." (Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolution, 13: 263-264.)

"Richardson, Seth, Capt. Stephen Richardson's co., marched Sept. 25, 1777; discharged Oct. 29, 1777; service, 1 mo. 6 days, company marched from Attleborough under command of Col. George Williams on a secret expedition." (Ibid., p. 264.)

"Richardson, Seth, Corporal, Capt. Alexander Foster's co., Col. Isaac Dean's regt.; marched July 31, 1780; discharged Aug. 8, 1780; service, 10 days, including 2 days (36 miles) travel home; company marched to Tiverton, R. I., on the alarm of July 31, 1780. Roll sworn to at Attleborough." (Ibid., p. 264.)

Seth Richardson has but three deeds recorded:

13 Nov. 1777, "I Thomas Richardson of Attleborough . . . yeoman in Consideration of fifty pounds . . . paid to me by Seth Richardson Junr of s^d Attelborough Laborer sell . . . land in s^d Attelborough . . . two acres with a Dwelling house . . ." bounded by land of Seth Richardson. Wit.: John Wilkinson, Samuel Tiffany, Junr. (Bristol Deeds, 58: 159) [see also Ibid., 58: 158 under Seth, Sr.'s, account.]

31 May 1781, Seth Richardson, Jr., received a deed to his father's holdings in return for an agreement of life care and maintainance of his parents. (Ibid., 60: 332.)

1 Apr. 1806, Lane Round of Attleborough, yeoman, sells to Seth Richardson, of same, yeoman, seven acres there. Wife, Silva Round, releases her dower rights. Wit: Ebenezer Daggett, Caleb Richardson, Jr. (Ibid., 86: 227.)

11 May 1808, Seth Richardson of Attleborough, yeoman, sells to Thomas Braman of Norton, Jr., about seven acres, same bounds as in 1806 deed above. Wife, Sarah Richardson, quits her dower rights. Wit.: Thomas Braman, George Richardson. Recorded 1810. Neither the 1806 deed, nor this 1808 deed, give the town wherein the land is situated, but it was probably in Attleborough. (Ibid., 91: 132.)

A full copy of the will of this Seth ⁵ Richardson and further data about him and his family will be found in the account of his son-in-law, Emerson Briggs.

His will, dated 27 Jan. 1824, was proved 18 Feb. 1824, in this instrument Seth calls himself of Attleborough, a yeoman, describes himself as "Being weak in body," and names his oldest son Seth Richardson, Jr., second son George Richardson, daughter Sarah Braman, second daughter Roxcy Parmater, third daughter Lydia Briggs, fourth daughter Anna Phillips, third son Silas Richardson, fifth daughter Phebe Hodges, fourth son Francis Richardson, son Ira Richardson, daughter Rhoda Richardson. These last he constituted residuary legatees. Appointed Ira to be the executor. He signed by mark, and the will was witnessed by: Noah Claflin, Jr., "turner pane," and Benj. W. Rounds. (Bristol Probate.)
