THE CREST OF BEEST, IN THE NETHERLANDS

The Crest of the Dutch village of Beest dates back to the Crusades. Citizens of the town enlisted under the banner of the German Emperor, Frederick Barbarossa. In grateful recognition of this service by her citizens, the Emperor and the Patriarchs of Jerusalem joined in bestowing upon the town of Beest this Crest.

FOREWORD

THE early records of the Dutch and Lutheran churches in New York State, and especially of the churches about the Hudson River, from New York to Albany, were translated for the Holland Society of New York City a few years ago. These records, now in the Archives of the Society, are not available, ordinarily, to non-members. For the purpose of solving some of the many difficulties which confronted me in compiling the Van Deusen Genealogy, upon which I was then (1900) engaged, I made, in connection therewith, an exhaustive search of the records of the following churches, for the furtherance of this compilation, the Marriage and Baptismal records, and the Minutes of the Consistory, from 1683, in each church, except as otherwise stated: Albany (Dutch), to 1760; Claverack (Dutch), to 1787; Churchtown (Lutheran), to 1820; Johnstown (Dutch), to 1780; Kinderhook (Dutch), to 1784; Kingston (Dutch), from 1639 to 1801; Schenectady (Dutch), from 1680 to 1901; Ghent (Dutch and Lutheran), from beginning to 1901. In addition to the church records hundred of volumes of historical, biographical, and miscellaneous publications have been minutely examined, some of which are very scarce and exceedingly difficult to consult, except in a few private libraries, for genealogical notes and sketches and information relating to the founders of the Best family. It may be needless to say that the material has taken years to collect, caused much fatigue of travel, and necessitated voluminous correspondence. The author of these pages has endeavored to set forth not only the essential data of genealogical research but also such material as will illuminate the domestic and social life of an interesting period. Details, humble in themselves, framed in words and spelling of colonial simplicity, have seemed to have a significance which should interest not only the descendants, but, in a degree, the student of history and genealogy. Other sources of information have not been slighted; and the various offices of record, miscellaneous documents, bible records, local histories, and gravestone inscriptions have been examined, and duly credited in all instances.

The author is especially indebted to Mr. Robert M. Terry, of Hudson, N. Y., for the loan of portraits of Colonel Clermont L. Best, and Major C. L. Best, Jr.; acknowledgment is also due to others for portraits reproduced here.

The Bests were noted for large families, and the children were nearly all named after some member of a previous generation. The Johns, Jacobs, Peters, and Elizabeths were not allowed to pass out of existence. New names were rarely given to the children, and very few of them remained unmarried.

The system of numbering adopted is the simplest so far devised; and no difficulty, therefrom, will be encountered.

Three classes of numbers are used, viz.:

I CONSECUTIVE. These figures begin with No. 1, and are found in and constitute the left hand column of the book.

II FAMILY. These are taken from the consecutive numbers and placed over the head of the family of the person they stand for in the consecutive column.

III REFERENCE. These are taken also from the consecutive column and placed in parenthesis before certain names in order to show relationship and intermarriages.

BEST GENEALOGY

DR. JOHNSON, in speaking of the writing of Dictionaries, which would apply equally as well to Genealogies, observes of the authors: "whom mankind have considered, not as the pupils, but the slaves of science, the pioneers of literature, doomed only to remove rubbish and clear obstructions from the paths through which learning and genius press forward to conquest and glory. . . . Every other author may aspire to praise, the lexicographer can only hope to escape reproach, and even this negative recompense has been yet granted to very few."

So to mark the paths for future researches beyond the confines of this country, let us examine for the name, or similar name, into the histories and biographies of other countries for the impress it has made on the records of early days. My object is to interest, not to convince, and to clear the boards before entering upon the more serious pursuit of the name in the records of our own country.

In Phillips' Dictionary of Biographical Reference we find the following: George Best, English Preacher and Author; d. 1609. Jean Best, French Engraver and Printer; b. 1808. John Best, Bishop of Carlisle, 1561; d. 1570. Willem Best, Dutch Jurist and Author; 1683-1719. William Draper Best, Chief Justice of the Common Pleas (1824); 1767-1845. Dominic de Bast, Dutch Landscape Painter; 1800. Friederick-Jacob Bast, German Diplomatist and Hellenist; 1772-1812. Louis Amedee de Bast, French Novelist; b. 1795. Martin-Jean de Bast, Flemish Archaeologist and Priest; 1753-1825. Peter Bast, Engraver, 1598.

Burke's General Armory (1884) gives the names of fifteen Bests and three Bests who had been knighted and had coats of arms; many of these possessed crests. For example, one will suffice: "De Best, James (London, granted 4 July, 1617 by Camden, Clarenceux, to James De Best, of London, a free denizen, son of James De Best, of Flanders). Ar. on a fesse az. betw. three dragons' heads erased gu. as many fleurs-de-lis or. Crest—On a mural coronet or, a fleur-de-lis per pale gold and az. betw. two laurel branches vert."

In the Dictionary of National Biography we have the following, which is quoted somewhat at length: George Best (d. 1584?), navigator, accompanied Martin Frobisher in the three voyages undertaken (in 1576, 1577, and 1578) to discover the Northwest Passage, and published, on the return from the third voyage in 1578, "A Trve Discovrse of the late voyages of discoverie, for the finding of a passage to Cathaya, by the Northweast, vnder the conduct of Martin Frobisher, generall; deuided into three Bookes. In the first whereof is shewed his first voyage. Wherein also by the way is sette out a geographicall description of the worlde and what partes thereof haue bin discovered by the Nauigations of the Englishmen. Also there are annexed certayne reasons to proue all partes of the Worlde habitable, with a generall Mappe adioyned. In the second is set out his second voyage, with the aduentures and accidents thereof. In the thirde is declared the strange fortunes which hapned in the third, with a seuerall description of the Countrey and the people there inhabiting. With a particular Card therevnto adioyned of Meta incognita, so farre forth as the secretes of the voyage may permit. At London. Imprinted by Henry Byimyman, seruant of the Right Honourable Sir Christopher Hatton, Vizchamberlain. Anno Domini 1578." 4to, black letter. The book, which is of the highest rarity, is dedicated to

Sir Christopher Hatton. In the third voyage the fleet consisted of seventeen ships. Best was captain of the Jane Anne. The adventures through which the voyagers passed are described graphically and quaintly. At the time of its publication the narrative attracted much attention. A French translation appeared in the same year, under the title of "La Navigation du Cap. Martin Frobisher Anglois es regions de west et nordwest en l'année 1577, Pour Antoine Chuppen." 8vo. In 1580 a Latin translation (from the French) of the account of the second voyage was published at Nörenberg. Two years later an Italian version appeared at Naples. A second translation (from the French) was issued nearly a century afterwards, in 1675, at Hamburg. Best's narrative was included in the third volume of Hakluyt's "Voyages," 1600, and reprinted in 1867 by the Hakluyt Society. A George Best, servant to Sir Christopher Hatton, was killed in a duel about March, 1583/4, by Oliver St. John, afterwards Viscount Grandison. This person is doubtless to be identified with the writer of the "Trve Discovrse." Another George Best, Fellow of Jesus College, Cambridge, was instituted to the vicarage of All Saints, Cambridge, in 1572, and to the rectory of St. Dunstan-in-the-East, London, in 1596. He died in Nov., 1609. (See "Athenæ Cantabrigienses," ii., 524. Also "A Trve Discovrse of the late Voyages of Discouerie, &c.," edited by Rear-Admiral Richard Collinson, Hakluyt Society's Publications, 1867; Nicolas's "Hatton," 366; Herbert's "Ames," 982.)

Paul Best (1590?-1657), controversialist, comes of a family which had been long of the gentry in the North Riding of Yorkshire; but his father, James Best, having removed to the East Riding, was resident in the rectory-house of Hatton Cranswick, near Driffild, known as the burial-place of Alfred, King of Northumbria. Here it is believed Paul was born about 1590. In 1598 his father purchased the manor of Emswell about two miles from Driffeld, for £2050. It had been a monastery of St. Mary of York, and in possession of Sir Thomas Crompton. James Best, as was the wont then with squires, cultivated his own land and grew rich. Dying in April, 1617, he left in his will competent portions to his younger children, and his manor of Emswell and messuages at Beverly to Paul, the eldest son. Paul was at the University of Cambridge when the message reached him of his father's death. From a manuscript of Rev. Roger Ley, we learn that Paul was of Jesus College, Cambridge, having Sir William Boswell, afterwards ambassador for England at The Hague, as his tutor, and this Roger Ley as his fellow-student and "intimate." In September, 1617, he left Jesus, and became a fellow of Catharine Hall. His father, who was most probably a puritan, had meant him to be of Emmanuel. On 13 February, 1618, he parted with his manor of Emswell to his younger brother Henry for the sum of £2200, which was paid him as an annuity for his life. Of his character while at the university Ley thus writes: "In wit he surpassed the ordinary sort, and had a mighty reach. Yet was he more nimble than staid. His quaint and curious searches in philosophy above the ordinary strain made me and others much admire him. For a serious study he excelled in the mathematics, and for a pleasantrie in poetry." Verses by P. B. prefixed to Robert Anten's "Vice's Anatomy" (1617) have been assigned to him, but this P. B. was of Magdalen College. The only poetry by him now traceable is a copy of verses "to Christ." On leaving Cambridge he followed uncertain courses. He proceeded to the continent, and mingled a good deal with educated and "disputative" men of the period. He is found in Germany in 1624, and in Poland, and as a soldier under Gustavus Adolphus, but Ley, his biographer, does not claim for him military renown. "If he had any good military parts," he says, "I may say he was able tam Marte quam Mercurio. Fit to hold discourse with any man he was, and an excellent companion." Ley continues: "He fell to dispute often where he had opportunity, as in the university of Gryphiswald in Pomerania—where Priscian was slain. In these northern parts of Germany, and also Poland and Transylvania, places not free from error, he unhappily disputed with some anti-trinitarians, and more adhering to carnal reason than to mysteries of faith, he was drawn to the dangerous opinion, the denial of our Saviour's divinity." His return was preceded by some years of retirement in Germany, chiefly spent in the study of unitarian theology. His annuity from the sale of Emswell is traced as having been paid 26 May, 1628, also in 1632 at Emswell, and again upon August, 1632 and 1634. The chronology is not exact, but after-allusions bring him before us as a sufferer for his opinions. Having written out his conclusions on the doctrine of the Trinity, he submitted his "loose papers" to the Rev. Roger Ley for his judgment. The manuscript was sent privately and in confidence. Ley appears to have instantly made the "loose papers" public by bringing them under the notice of those in authority. Best never changed in this allegation. In his last pamphlet, "Mysteries Discovered," in a reiterated copy of his "Humble Petition," he expressly places it on record that he had been a close prisoner ever since the 14 February, 1644/5) "onely for his presumed reason or opinion committed to a minister (a supposed friend) for his judgment and advice onely." Be this as it may, all we learn is that Roger Ley and other divines were assiduous and earnest in their visits and reasonings with the prisoner. Roger Ley's manuscript, as well as Whitelocke's "Memorial of the English Affairs during the Reign of Charles I," enables us to go behind the scenes so far. Best is represented as having applied "the most profane epithets to the doctrine of the Trinity," calling it "a mystery of iniquity, a three-headed monster, a figment, a tradition of Rome, monstrum biforme and triforme," etc. For this he was committed to the Gatehouse 14 Feb., 1644/5. After several examinations, on 28 March, 1645/6, the house voted that he be hanged for his offence. On 23 Nov. a provision affirming the lawfulness of capital punishment for heresy was carried but it was not till 2 May, 1648, that the ordinance was actually passed, and by that date Best had been released. In 1646 Best drew up "A letter of Advice vnto the Ministers at Westminster, with severall consideration—The porsibility of a here-tick's repentance, so long as he lives, and such as do any wayes cause him to dye in heresie, as much as in them lyes, do effectually damn him eternally; and consequently, that Paul Best (what-ever his errours be at present), as well as Paul the Apostie, once a blasphemmer, may one day become a convert, if he be not untimelyst arved to death beforehand, 1646" (in MS. marked 28 April). Having launched his "Letter of Advice," Best set about the preparation of a respectful petition to the House of Commons. He appealed to the house to "be pleased to take notice" that he had been "eighteen months imprissoned, with what impairing of his substance" he forbore stating. The petition sought release or a "speedie hearing." This was on 13 Aug., 1646. Still his release lingered. He once more appealed to the authorities in a treatise entitled "Mysteries Discovered, or a Memoriall Picture pointing out the Way from Babylon to the Holy City, for the good of all such as during that night of general error and apostacie (2 Thess. ii., 3; Revel. iii., 10) have been so long misled with Rome's hobgoblins. By me, Paul Best, Prisoner in the Gatehouse, Westminster, 1647." This is an appeal to justice, and a defence against the charges brought against him. On the blank spaces of the Bodleian copy is a manuscript anti-trinitarian note in Latin, which was supposed by Brook Aspland to be in Milton's autograph. It seems most probable that Cromwell at last interfered. However it came about, he was silently released towards the close of 1647. He quietly returned to his family seat. His brother Henry was then dead, and had been succeeded in Emswell by his son, John Best, to whom by some arrangement Paul (his uncle) surrendered his annuity on 22 Jan., 1651/2, and with what of his fortune he had left, cultivated a farm. He still pursued his old studies, and masses of his manuscripts were left behind at his death. The parish register of Little Driffeld gives the dates of birth and burial: "1657, Paul Best, Master of Arts, died at Great Driffeld 17 Sept. and was buried at Little Driffeld 19 Sept. in the churchyard." (Ley's MS., in possession of H. B. Bright, and latterly of Joseph Hunter, from the Chorus Vatum; letters from Rev. Horace Newton, Driffeld; Wallace's "Anti-Trinitarian Biography," i., 87, iii., 161; Whitelocke's "Memorials"; Neal, iii., 292; Best's Works.)

Thomas Best (1570?-1638?), captain of the navy, was probably the son of Captain George Best, the companion of Frobisher in the Arctic voyages (Hakluyt, iii., 47, 60, 75, etc.; "Calendar of State Papers, East Indies," 1513-1616, see index). He went first to sea about 1583 ("Best to Conway, 13 July, 1623), being then presumably about thirteen (13) years old; and yet he is referred to as being in 1598 a man of substance and repute, well known in Ratcliff and Limehouse (Rundall's "Memorials of the Empire of Japan,"—Hakluyt Society,—29). He was appointed 30 Dec., 1611, to command the Red Dragon, a ship of some 600 tons and 200 men, then fitting for a voyage to the East Indies, and accompanied by the Osiander pinnace, he sailed from Gravesend on 5 Feb., 1611/12. He arrived at Surat in the beginning of September, to the great annoyance of the Portuguese, who had previously established themselves in the country. They collected a force of four galleons, each as large as the Dragon, and some twenty small craft, rowboats carrying many men, and on the 29 Oct. appeared off the mouth of the river, where they hoped to surprise the English. Best, in the Dragon, at once weighed, stood out to meet them, and passed between two of their ships, firing into each. This caused the Portuguese to pause. The darkness closed in, and they had to anchor for the night. The next morning the Osiander also came out, and when three of the galleons, in trying to avoid the Dragon, got on shore, the Osiander, drawing little water, "danced the hay about them, and so payed them that they durst not show a man on their decks." The fight continued till dark of the second day. The third day was very similar to the second. Towards evening the Portuguese drew back and attempted to burn the Dragon by means of a hastily equipped fireship. This Best succeeded in sinking before she got dangerously near, and so the fight ended. The loss of the English was returned as three killed and one wounded; that of the Portuguese was certainly very heavy (Purchas, i., 482). Some few days later the Portuguese attempted a further attack, when Best, again standing out to sea, engaged them with such resolution and skill that after four hours' severe fighting they made all sail to get away. The fight was witnessed by thousands on the shore.

The Great Mogul was now quite willing to recognize the English as having rights equal to those of the Portuguese. The English trade was placed on a permanent footing, and The birth of the English power in India may properly be dated from this November, 1612, rather than from any of the semi-piratical voyages of previous years. In January, 1612/13, Best in the Dragon, accompanied by the Osiander, left Surat, and, passing down the coast, crossed over to Acheen, where he arrived on 12 April. He described (12 July) the king and people as very "gripping, base, and covetous." All trade was forbidden except at Acheen; but by releasing a Portuguese whom he had captured, he succeeded in winning the favor of the king, who gave him the title of "Orancaya pute," which is "white or clear-hearted lord." He also obtained permission to open a trade with Siam, and received assurance of good entertainment. At Bantam he obtained a grant of land on which to build warehouses, and when, having got a full cargo, he sailed in November on the return voyage, the Company's affairs in the East were far more satisfactorily settled than before. The Red Dragon, "richly laden," arrived in the Downs in the first week of June, 1614, and Best shortly afterwards attended the Council to give a detailed account of his proceedings. He was considered to have "deserved extraordinarily well," though at the same time some dissatisfaction was expressed at "his great private trade" (Col. State Papers, East Indies, 22 June, 26 July, 9 and 19 Aug., 1614). The question was left to the governor, Sir Thomas Smythe, who gave as his opinion that no one could be a fitter commander than Best, but that for merchandise Captain Keeling was far before him, and should be sent to Surat (7 Sept.). Best nettled, it would appear, by the refusal of the Council to give his son an appointment as one of their [factors, refused to go at all. As he very shortly afterwards (27 Sept.) signified his willingness to go another year, it is not improbable that the Council gave way. Reports to his disadvantage, however, continued to be circulated, so that Best insisted on an investigation. The decision was that the Company was "content to remit all that is past and let these things die, which should not have been ripped up, had he not called them in question himself" (24 Oct., 1615). In October, 1617, the question of sending out a chief commander to Bantam came before the Council, and after discussing the relative merits of Sir Richard Hawkins, Sir Thomas Dale, and others, they requested the governor to confer with Best, as the fittest of all. Best accepted the appointment, and agreed to sail again in the Dragon, but a complaint was presently lodged against him for having appointed his son as a master's mate. On this and other grounds Best declined the command; he was summoned before the court, and after some discussion and his refusal to sign a bond for £5000 to perform the articles agreed on, he was dismissed the Company's service (25 Nov.). He afterwards (27 Jan., 1617/18) made his peace with them, but he does not seem to have again accepted any office under the Company. It is probable that Best had already served in royal ships, and from this time he was actively employed under the crown. In 1623 he commanded the Garland, and when the fleet sailed for Spain to bring back Prince Charles, Best remained as senior officer in the Downs. He had previously been engaged in the prevention of piracy, or the pursuit of pirates (Conway to Commissioners of the Navy, 6 June, 1623), and he would probably have had more of the same duty, had not the insolence of the Dutch, in destroying a Dunkirk privateer at Leith and blockading another at Aberdeen, rendered it necessary to send a small force to the coast of Scotland. It was determined that Best was the proper man to command this expedition; but the Bonaventure, the only other ship available, was commanded by Sir William St. Leger, who held that, as a knight, he could not be under the orders of Best. The commissioners of the navy recommended that St. Leger should be superseded in the Bonaventure by some captain of "meaner quality." Captain Christian, who had formerly commanded the Osiander with Best, was accordingly appointed in his place. The Garland and Bonaventure sailed from Margate on 30 June, and, having gone to Aberdeen, brought the blockaded Dunkirker to the Downs, closely attended by two of the Dutch ships, and when, on 29 July, the convoy attempted to run off by herself, the Dutchmen would have made a prize of her if Best had not beaten them off. He vowed vengeance, but the Dutch ships outsailed him. On 4 Aug., they had all anchored in the Downs, the Dutch at some distance, when Best slipped alongside of them in the dark, and beat them out of the road. The next day the Dutch gathered in force, and threatened summary punishment, unless he could show the king's commission for what he had done. As naval commissions, then, as now, were signed only by the admiralty, Best had not the authority the Dutch required, and to evade the difficulty he was ordered to bring the ships up to Gravesend. Eventually he was superseded, and the Dunkirker was sent home with a safe-conduct from the Dutch (Cal. State Papers, Dom., August, 1623; Gardiner's "Hist. of England," v., 81-8). In 1626/7 Best commanded the Vanguard (19 March, 1626/7) which formed part of the fleet assembled at Portsmouth under Lord Willoughby (State Papers, Dom., Charles I., xxxii., 74), and in the disastrous expedition to Rhé in 1627 (ibid., lvi., 88, lxx., 14). In September, 1630, he was member of a commission to report on the keeping of the king's ships at Chatham and Portsmouth, and in April, 1632, of another to consider the manning of ships. In 1633 he seems to have been senior warden of the Trinity House, and in 1634 to have been master (ibid., cclxxiii., 25, 271); in 1637 he appears to have been still master of the Trinity House; and in April, 1638, he sat on a commission for inquiring into frauds in the supply of timber. This is the last mention of him that can be traced; it seems, therefore, probable that he died shortly afterwards (Calendar of State Papers, Domestic and East Indies, 1611-38.)

William Draper Best, the first Baron of Wynford (1767-1845), judge, the third son of Thomas Best, by a daughter of Sir William Draper, K. B. (by his first wife), was born at Haselbury-Plucknett, Somerset, on 13 Dec., 1767. After receiving his education at the grammar school at Crewkerne, he was admitted to Wadham College, Oxford, at the age of fifteen, but left the university in his seventeenth year without taking his degree. He had been intended at first for the church, but having come into a considerable fortune from a cousin during his residence at Oxford, he entered the Middle Temple on 9 Oct., 1784. He was called to the bar on 6 Nov., 1789, and joined the home circuit. The first case in which he attracted notice was that of Shakespear v. Peppin (6 T. R., 741) in June, 1796, when Lord Kenyon, C. J., paid many compliments to his talents and industry. It is said that the brief in this case fell into his hands by the happy accident of the absence of the counsel who was engaged in the cause. He soon afterwards secured an extensive practice, both on the home circuit and at Westminster Hall. Though at Westminster he chiefly practised in the common pleas, he was engaged in many cases of importance in the king's bench and exchequer, and also in some of the principal criminal trials of the day. In 1799 he became a serjeant-at-law, and in July, 1802, was elected member for Petersfield. He was now attached to the whig party, and was one of the acting managers on the impeachment of Lord Melville. He continued to sit for Petersfield until the dissolution of Parliament. In March, 1809, he was elected recorder of Guilford in the place of Lord Grantley. In October, 1812, he was returned as a member for Bridport, and, having changed his politics, was appointed, 7 Dec., 1813, solicitor-general to the Prince of Wales. On 14 Feb., 1816, he became the prince's attorney-general, and two years afterwards chief justice of Chester. Upon the elevation of Abbott to the chief-justiceship, Best succeeded to the vacancy in the king's bench on 30 Nov., 1818, but did not receive the honor of knighthood until 3 June, 1819. After sitting as a puisne judge for rather more than five years, he was made chief justice of the common pleas on 15 April, 1824, and admitted to the Privy Council on 25 May in the same year. His health throughout his career was a source of great suffering, and he was constantly incapacitated by severe attacks of gout. In June, 1829, he gave up his post on the bench, and, a pension having been granted to him, was called to the House of Lords by the title of Lord Wynford of Wynford Eagle in the county of Dorset, on 5 June, 1829. He was appointed one of the deputy speakers of the house, where he was a vehement supporter of the tory party, and strenuously opposed the Reform Bill at every stage. As a lawyer he had no great reputation, but as an advocate his qualities were both varied and extensive. His style of speaking was forcible and pointed, but not always fluent, though his arguments were at all times remarkable for their clearness. His quickness and unwearying activity made him a most watchful adversary, though as a leader he was not always safe. As a parliamentary speaker he was much less successful than as an advocate, and as a judge he was unfortunately far from being free from bias of temper, and sometimes even of political prejudice. The opinions he was supposed to have uttered on the subject of the game laws in Holt v. Wilkes (3 B. & A., 304) called forth a bitter article by Sydney Smith in the "Edinburgh Review" (vol. xxxv.), entitled "Spring Guns and Man Traps." Best's judgment, however, seems to have been grossly misreported in the account of the case to which Sydney Smith referred. A number of his judgments will be found in vols. ii. to v. of "Bingham's Reports." On 11 June, 1834, the degree of D.C.L. was conferred upon him by the University of Oxford. When attending the House of Lords he used to be carried there in an arm-chair in which he was permitted to sit when addressing the house. In his later years his increasing infirmities compelled him gradually to withdraw from public life. He died at his county seat of Leasons in Kent, on 3 March, 1845, aged 78. Early in life, on 6 May, 1794, he married Mary Anne, second daughter of Jerome Knapp, clerk to the Haberdashers' Company, by whom he had ten children. The title is now borne by his grandson, William Draper Mortimer Best, who succeeded his father, the second baron, on 28 Feb., 1869. S., 431-2; Campbell's "Lord Chancellors," vol. viii., passim; Campbell's "Chief Justices," vol. iii., passim; "Edinburgh Review," xxxv., 123-34, 410-21.)

Henry Digby Best, afterwards Beste (1768-1836), miscellaneous author, born in Lincoln 21 Oct., 1768, was the son of Henry Best, D.D., prebendary of Lincoln. His mother was Magdalen, daughter of Kenelm Digby, of North Luffenham, in Rutland. He matriculated at University College 17 March, 1785, and soon afterwards was nominated a demy to Magdalen. After taking the degrees of B.A. and M.A. was appointed to curacy of St. Martin in Lincoln. He wrote a number of books, which were highly approved by the chief members of Oxford in 1794. Shortly afterwards he changed his name to Beste. He was finally converted to Catholicism. He was then considered one of the brightest minds in England. In 1818 he removed his family to the south of France, where he published a number of works of travel, and personal and literary memorials. He died 28 May, 1836, in his 68th year. (Autobiographical writings of Henry Digby Beste, reissued with reprint in a third edition of his sermon on Priestly Absolution, 1874 pp. 1-85 and 114-239; Register of the Demies of S. M. Magdalen College, Oxford, 1785, iv., 97; "Catholic Magazine" for 1838, p. 480; "Notes and Queries," 1st Series, xii., 227, 314, 3rd Series, xi., 57, note.)

Charles Best (fl. 1602), poet, was a contributor to Francis Davison's "Poetical Rapsodie." The first edition of that anthology contains two pieces by Best, "A Sonnet of the Sun" and a "Sonnet of the Moon." To the third edition

(1610) he contributed "An Epitaph on Henry Fourth, the last French King," "An Epitaph on Queen Elizabeth," "Union's Jewell," "A Panegyrick to my Sovereign Lord the King," and a few other pieces. Best's name is only known in connection with the "Poetical Rapsodie." The "Sonnet of the Sun," and "Sonnet of the Moon" are graceful pieces, and make us regret that the author wrote so little. (Davison's "Poetical Rapsodie," ed. N. H. Nicolas, 1826.)

In Hutton's "List of Emigrants to America," 1600 to 1700, we find the names of Christopher Best, 1623, to James City, Va.; Richard Best (18 yrs.), 1635, to the Barbadoes, in the expedition from Gravesend, Eng.; Thomas Best (33 yrs.), 1635, in the same ship as Richard; Francis Bestt, to James City, Va., in the Gcorge, 1635. We find, in the early records of Massachusetts, that John Best, of Salem, came in the Hercules, in 1635, from Sandwich, a village in the parish of St. George, Canterbury, England. John (Salem), probably son of preceding, married, Oct. 10, 1670, Susanna Doren, and had, John, born Sept., 1671-2, and Susanna, born Jan. 25, 1674. In "Documents Relating to the Colonial History of New York," vol. ii., p. 456, we note the following entry in the "Book of Monthly Payments," No. 12, folio 92, kept by Jacob Sam, under date, Dec. 31, 1663, "to part duty for so much received for right of anchorage from the following ships," among which was the Arent, Pieter Cornelissen Bes, Skipper, £100. In "Colonial New York" (Schuyler), and "History of the New Netherlands" (O'Callaghan), we are told that John Amadon Best was a captain in the Swedish navy. These extracts from early records are noted for the purpose of distinguishing the Bests of English and other foreign descent from the Bests of Holland, who, for the most part, settled among the "Plat Dütchers" of Kippsbergen; and it is the latter with whom we are concerned. In "Documentary History of New York," vol. iii., page 58, among the list of immigrants to New Netherland, who embarked in the Beaver, May, 1661, were Peter Marcelis van Beest, and wife and four children, and two servants; Aert Pietersen Buys van Beest, and wife and son; Frans Jacobsen van Beest, and wife and two children; Widow, Geertje Cornelis van Beest, and six children; Widow, Adreaentje Cornelis van Beest, and daughter; Goosen Jansen van Noort van Beest; Hendrick Dries van Beest; Neeltje Jans van Beest; Geertruy Teunissen van Beest. Embarked, in the Rosetree, March, 1663, Jan Petersen Buys van Beest. Embarked, in the Spotted Cow, April, 1663, Marytje Theunis van Beest. Everts and Ensign, in their "History of Columbia County," p. 23, give also the above names and say that they are "of those who are believed to have been among the earliest settlers upon lands in this county." Upon arriving at New Netherlands the names of these immigrants do not appear again in any of the annals or records of the Province, until nearly half a century later. We may, therefore, assume that the ships' registrars intended, in these instances, to designate the name of the small hamlet, Beest, in Holland, from which these persons migrated, and from which they probably derived their name. Having found for them a name, let us examine now the church records, for marriages and baptisms, many of which were, in early days, imperfectly kept, some of which were lost, and others destroyed. In these early records we discover the names of four Bests, only, which may be connected together from the fact that many of their children were baptized in the same churches, intermarried, and had, as witnesses to the baptisms of their offspring, when possible, each other, or their children. Their names were (John) Jacob Bast (Best), (George) Juriaan Best, Beeltje van Beest (Best), and William Best. We know that one of them, and one only, so far as the records show, settled in the neighborhood of Annesburg, now Germantown, in 1710, near, or in, the German Palatinate, founded by Queen Anne, for the settlement of the Palatines, by the purchase of 6000 acres of land in Livingston Manor, from Robert Livingston. "Documentary History of New York," vol. iii., page 572, says that Jacob Bast (Best) was a Palatine volunteer for the expedition against Canada, 1711, from Annesburg. Sometime before 1750, his descendants settled on the "Flats," in Livingston Manor, to be near the "Low Dutchers," as the Hollanders were called. The "Flats" were described, in 1730, as being "in the North Ward of Dutchess County, and situated on the south-westerly side of a large plain, near the grist-mill of Henry Beekman, the patentee," where they built their churches, and founded the community of Kippsbergen. Their power and influence were never great, and they were soon overwhelmed by the "High Dutchers," or German Palatines, by the strength of the tide with which they came into the country.

- 19 EDWARD, b. ; m. Aug. 20, 1755, Catherine Ray. No issue.
- 20 COENRADT, b. 1777

Jacob Best, as stated above, was a volunteer for the expedition against Canada, in 1711. The Manor Church, in Livingston Manor, was erected in 1721, and organized, July 4, 1722, largely through the efforts of Robert Livingston, who was granted, in writing, by Governor Burnet, the privilege of receiving from "all Churches and Charitable People within the Provinces of New York and New Jersey, in America," all the "free and voluntary charity and Contributions of any of the inhabitants," to aid him in the work. ("Col. Co., at the End of the Century," vol. i., p. 601.) We know, also, that, until 1756, the congregation of this church depended entirely upon ministerial "supplies," and that the services therein were very irregular. The St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, of the Manor, was organized, in 1764, by the pastor of the Churchtown Society; and this red Dutch church and its red-painted Record Book were opened on Oct. 5, 1766, for the congregation. The building is described as "a plain frame meeting house, built on the post road near the old Stickles place." It was used until 1820, and was generally called the "Piet Bush Church." The old residents of Johnstown say that the church stood opposite the orchard on the Clermont road, about one and a quarter miles south of the present village of Johnstown. In this orchard of full grown apple trees were found a number of "home"-cut headstones, much broken and roughly hewn, the fragments of which were translated by Mr. D. Vesteeg, the official translator, for many years, of the Holland Society of New York. Owing to lack of churches, irregular pastoral visitations, unsettled conditions of the region, and dangers and difficulties of travel, many of the marriages were, of necessity, made, in the presence of witnesses, before magistrates, whose records have not come down to us. With the erection of churches, and the establishment of clerical offices, with which they were familiar in their native land, the genealogical history of the Dutch, along the Hudson River, had its beginning. The children of Elizabeth, Johannes, Harmanus, and Jacob were, thereupon, duly presented for baptism. The names of the witnesses to these ceremonies show that the closest relationship existed between the parents.

Coenradt Best, the son of (13) Jacob, fought in the Revolution. In Feb., 1776, he was chosen Ensign, in the 3rd Company, 6th Regiment, Albany County Militia (new organization), Capt. John Lantman (Lampman), Col. Stephen J. Schuyler. ("Cal. of N. Y. Hist. Manuscripts," vol. i., p. 247.) After the Revolution he settled in Pennsylvania, where many of his descendants are now living.

Johannes Best settled on a life leased farm of 130 acres of land, now (1900) occupied by William Bryant, in the northern part of Livingston Manor, in the town of Clermont, at the intersection of the Albany Post Road and the road to Elizaville, within a stone's throw of the residence of Ffitz Mujigh (Mesick), the original ancestor of the Mesicks in this country (Mesick Genealogy). By reason of the close intimacy two intermarriages shortly resulted.

In the Register of Membership of the Johnstown Dutch Church appears the name of "Johannes Best and syn huysvrouw," in 1759; Deacon of the church, Jan. 7, 1759; Elder, Dec. 18, 1763, to Jan. 16, 1771.

He had five sons in the War of the Revolution. He himself served in the war, being a member of the 10th Regiment (Land Bounty Rights), Capt. Conrad Cline; and, also, a member of the Independent Company, Capt. Petrus van Gaasbeck. (55) Benjamin saw service in the 8th Regt., and in the Independent Co., under the same Captain, afterwards joining the 6th Co., 10th Regt., Col. Robert R. Livingston, the same company of which his brother, (52) William, was a member, and of which his brother, (49) John, Jr., was Lieutenant. (47) George J. served in the same Independent Co. as his father, Johannes. (49) John, Jr., served in the war (stated in full under his family record). (58) Peter took part in the Revolution (see under his family record). These troops were all a part of the Albany County Militia. "N. Y. in the Revo.," p. 133. The following note, appearing in Spofford's "Gazetteer of Columbia County," may interest: "On the 27th of Mch., 1791, a Special Act of the Legislature was passed, authorizing the building of a school house and the maintaining of a school master, in the town of Clermont, out of the 'moneys arising from excise and other sources, in the hands of Overseer of Poor, but not needed for the support of the poor.' " (47) George J. Best, and Marks Blatner, brother-in-law, were of the number authorized to carry out the Act. A small piece of land was set aside for the use of the Palatine Minister, "provided he shall likewise teach the school." (47) George J. was Executor of the will of Johannes Michel Mochie.

Phillip Lounart, the father of Eva Lounart, in his will, recorded Mch. 17, 1768, describes himself as of "Rhinebeck Precinct, Livingston Manor, Yoeman," and names his wife, Anna Catrina, son, Peter, daughter, Eva, wife of (16) Johannes Best, daughter, Catrina, wife of Nicolas Traver, and grandson, Philip Traver. He appoints his son, Peter, (16) Johannes Best, and William Beam, Executors.

The widow Lounart was still living in 1790, and occupied the old homestead on the "right hand side of the road to the Manor House from the Linlithgo Reformed Church, being the first house."

One of the earliest wills recorded in the office of the Surrogate of Columbia County is that of (16) Johannes Best. His will is dated Dec. 10, 1787, and was probated Apr. 4, 1788. In it he names his sons (55) Benjamin and (49) John, and (64) George Best, son of his brother, Harman, Executors. He speaks of himself as "being sick and weak of body, but of sound and perfect mind and memory"; desires that his burial shall be "decent without pomp or state"; mentions his "dear and lovely wife," to whom he bequeaths two negro women, named "Bet," and "Rose"; mentions his sons, Jacob, Johannes, Benjamin, Wilhelmus, and Jeremiah, and his daughters, Catherine, Eve, Elizabeth, and Hannah. The witnesses were Solomon Martin, John Minchlaer, and Leonard Ten Broech.

Harman Best was living in 1790 in the vicinity of Clermont, south of Johnstown and north of Blue Store, in the town of Livingston. In "Calendar of Wills," in 1785, we find him as Executor of the will of Jacob Blattner (Platner), a miller, of the Manor. Also, under same date, as Executor of the will of Jury Mosser (Mosier), of West Camp, Albany County. He was one of the signers of the petition for the mitigation of the sentence by court-martial of Aarnold Viele, in 1777. "Calendar of New York Historical Documents," vol. ii., p. 192 (Petitions 33: 486).

"Unto the Honorable, the Council of Safety for the State of New York, now setting at Kingston:

"The Petition of Aernout Viele, of the Manor of Livingston, Humbly Sheweth,—That your Petitioner is now a prisoner in the City Hall of Albany unto sentence of death, and unless Almighty God inclines the Hearts of your Honours to extend your clemency to him is to be executed on Monday next. In the deepest Distress and impressed with the most poignant emotions of contrition he implores permission to approach your Honours, and ardently requests that you will deign to consider his unhappy situation, lead astray by the insinuations and fallacious reasoning of designing men he has greatly erred and justly incurred the dreadful sentence passed against him. He does not complain of justice, but implores mercy, he is a youth inexperienced in Politicks and Law, it was therefore easy for insidious and evil meaning men to draw him into the snare that has proved his Ruin. He has not yet seen twenty-one years, and Death having deprived him of his Parents he was at a Loss for that wholesome admonition which might have been expected from such near and dear Relations. Reluctant to Quite this temporal Existence at so early a Period and but ill prepared for that unchangeable and eternal state which must commence after Death, he fervently beseeches your Honours to have compassion upon his youth and Inexperience, to forgive his crimes or mitigate the Rigour of his sentence, and permit to live and exert his utmost Endeavours to make an attonement to his injured Country. He has two orphan Sisters that depend upon God, upon him for support and Protection, who, if he suffers, must with his other Relations, although innocent of his crimes, partake of his disgrace. May it therefore please your Honours to take what is here represented into your most serious consideration, and permit a sincere penitent to conjure you by the mercies of God shown to mankind in Jesus Christ to reverse or mitigate the sentence passed upon me or if it is irreversibly determined (which God forbid) that I must suffer an ignominious Death be pleased for Christ's sake to grant me some longer Time than my sentence has stated, that I may repent of my sins and prepare for Eternity. And your Petitioner as in Duty Bound shall ever pray."

"Dated, June 24, 1777." (Signed) "AERNOUT VIELE."

Among those who subscribed their names to the above petition were: (13) Jacob Best, (18) Jacob Best, Jr., (47) George J. Best, (17) Harman Best, (64) George (Jury) Best.

In "Calendar of New York Historical Documents," vol. ii., p. 190 (Petitions 33: 484), we find the "Confession of Aernout Viele," dated at the city and county of Albany, June 23, 1777:

In the "Calendar of New York Historical Documents," vol. i., p. 581 (Miscel. Papers, 36: 656) 1776, Richard Esselstyn, Major of the Independent Company, of Claverack, writes of a "Skirmish at Taghkanick": "On Friday last a Scrimmage happened near Tachkanick 2 Horses kiled of ours, of the Tories Nicolas Brasie, Jur. wounded and a few Prisoners taken. In the Evening of the Same Day a Partey of ours came up to the house of Isaac Spoor in Taghkanick where they found several Torys whoe opposed our men on which a fireing Inseued. our Party took several prisoners and wounded one Nicolas Brasie Senijor on Satterday Col Hogeboom with a Party of about 20 men fell in with a party of about 100 Torys near Tachkanick at the House of George Weler where a smart fireing happened. The Col was obliged to Retrete with the loss of one horse killed, of the torys one John Lyck mortily Wounded whoe died the next day; the Cole being Reinforced went In persute of the Torys overtock them at the Long Laik [lake] about Sik mils from [17] Harmen Basts [Best] and thair fell upon them kiled of the torys James Dacker wounded one Finckel and took 15 Prisonars of that Party the next Day Sunday we took another toare and took two more of said Party. We hope to be able to give a fuller and better account of them in a few Days.

From a fragment of an ancient book, containing a journal of the "Committee of Safety," in the Revolutionary War, we find the following regulations, which were intended to provide against surprise by the Tories: "Articles for Regulating the Night Watch in the Manor of Livingston to commence 27th September, 1776, and to continue whenever thought proper, according to a resolve of this Committee. 'Art. 1. That the Guard for every Night consist of twelve men exclusive of the officer. 2. That the Guard shall muster at Eight o'clock P.M. at the Guard House. 3. That the Guards shall take the first Grand Rounds at 9 o'clock precisely. 4. That the Guard be dismissed by 5 o'clock A.M. 5. That the officer of the Guard station two men at the house of Dirck Jansen, and two men at the house of [17] Harne Best, which men shall be relieved every 2½ hours. 6. That the Officer shall take the Grand Rounds, with the Eight remaining Men, every 2½ hours. 7. That when any person is seen, the Guard to Challenge them three times distinctly, and if no answer is returned, or attempts to run, the Guard to have full liberty to fire. 8. That when any person is taken by the Guard, to be detained there until the Officer of the Guard comes up, when if he can't produce a certificate, or give satisfaction to the officer, to be detained till morning and then brought to the Chairman of the Committee. 9. That every Centinel that is found sleeping, to be put under Guard, till morning, and brought to the Chairman of the Committee. 10. That every Officer or private Man that Refuses or Neglects to serve, to be dealt with according to the Resolutions of the Provincial Congress for Regulating the Night Watch. 11. That every Man is to Mount Guard in person, unless prevented by sickness. 12. That no man is Excused from serving by being from home; he is to procure a Man for his Night, otherwise to pay the fine.' 'Resolved that the Night Watch to be kept from Dirck Jansen's to [17] Harne Best's, shall consist of eighty four men, which number is to be divided in seven subdivisions.' 'Resolved That twelve men be the Guard for a Night, exclusive of the Officer.' 'Resolved. That the Night Watch to be kept at Samuel Ten Broeck's shall consist of twenty eight men, which number is to be divided in seven subdivisions.' "

In the year 1781, a bounty of "Land Rights," so called (a "Right" being 500 acres of land), was offered to officers and men for two regiments then to be raised, for the defence of the State. To a Colonel, Lieutenant-Colonel, and Major, four rights; to a Captain and a Surgeon, three rights; to a Lieutenant, Ensign, or Surgeon's Mate, two rights; and to a non-commissioned officer or private, one right. Any master or mistress who should deliver an able-bodied slave to serve, one right. By an Act of the Provincial Congress, dated Apr. 1, 1778, each militia regiment was divided into "classes" of fifteen men each; when soldiers were needed to recruit the line regiments, each class must, within nine days, furnish a man fully armed and equipped. In case they neglected so to do, the designated class proceeded, at once, to draft one of the number by lot. By an Act of Mch. 11, 1780, every regiment was again divided into classes, this time of thirty-five men each, and when soldiers were required as before, these classes were also called upon to furnish a man as before, and in case of a failure so to do within fifteen days, were fined a sum equal to double the amount of the highest bounty which had then been given. This fine was collected by distress and sale of goods and chattels of those refusing to pay, or, if not possessed of property, they were committed to "joil" (sic) "without bail or manprize" until the sum was paid. If a class furnished a man as the law required, it received a money bounty, sometimes as much as £80. As the war progressed and the needs of the government became more pressing, land "Rights" were added to the money bounty; and on Mch. 23, 1782, an Act was passed providing that any class or any person who furnished an able-bodied man to serve "for three years or during the war" should be entitled to 600 acres; or 350 acres for a two-year enlistment; and any person or class who should deliver a man within twenty days from the time of the notification, 200 acres extra. The usual form of a "Class Right" to a land bounty was this: "We, the subscribers belonging to Class in Tenth Regiment of Albany County Militia do hereby transfer and assign to of the Precinct of Rhinebeck, in Albany County and State of New York, yeoman, and to his heirs and assigns forever, all our right and title to the annexed certificate and gratuity or bounty of 200 acres of land to which we are entitled by reason of an Act entitled, 'An Act for raising troops to complete the line of this State in the service of the United States, and the two regiments to be raised on bounties of unappropriated lands and for the further defence of the frontier of this State,' passed the 23rd day of March, 1782." Among the militiamen who signed the "Class Right" shortly before the end of the war, who were ready to serve, and some of whom saw actual service in the war, were (64) George Best, (47) George J. Best, (17) Harman Best, (57) Henry Best, (16) Johannes Best.

John Best, Jr., and Margaret Mesick, his wife, are buried at Johnstown, in the town of Livingston, directly in the rear of the old Dutch Church. The stones marking the graves are in excellent state of preservation. They resided in 1790 in Livingston Manor, in the northwestern part and north of Johnstown, near Glenco Mills ("Doc. Hist. of N. Y.," vol. iii., p. 835, map), in the house built by his father (16) Johannes. The Best and Mesick houses were within "gunshot" distance, and the farms adjoined each other. John Best, Jr., served with distinction in the Revolutionary War. Was first a member of the Independent Company, Albany County Militia, Capt. Petrus van Gaasbeck, probably attached to the 17th Regt., Col. Wm. B. Whiting.

"N. Y. in the Revo." p. 133. Ensign, and, afterwards, Lieutenant, in 6th Co., same Militia, Capt. Jacob F. Shaver, 10th Regt., Manor of Livingston, Col. Peter R. Livingston. Commissioned Lieutenant, Oct. 20, 1775. Reappointed Lieutenant, May 28, 1778. In the Record and Pension Office, War Dept., Wash., appears the name of John Best, Jr., on a receipt roll, dated, at Manor of Livingston, Mch. 13, 1785, with remark, showing that he received £12. 14s. 3p. for services in that organization (Col. Livingston's Regt.), which was in service from 1777 to 1781. As a Lieutenant of the Manor, his chief duty was to raise troops and forward supplies to the Continental Army. While in charge of troops, upon a foraging expedition, he was captured; and, as was often the case, in the despatches of those times, a mistake as to his rank was made, as appears in a letter from Col. Armand, of the Partisan Corps, to Gen. Washington, at Headquarters (Newburgh?), which speaks of "Capt. Best," officer of the Pulaski Legion, prisoner of war, who is to be exchanged, of Count de Graff; and a second letter, from the same to the same, says that the exchange was made at Charlottesville, Va., Jan. 28, 1782. "The New York Historical Society Collections," pp. 326-329, pub. 1878. That such a mistake was made is evident from a letter from the Record and Pension Office, War Dept., Wash., which says: "Nothing has been found on the rolls, on file in this office, to show that a person named Best served as a captain [the underscoring is mine] in any military organization during the war of the Revolution." Everts and Ensign, in their "History of Columbia County," at page 256, mention "Capt. Best," but give no details of his services. The fact that there is no record of a Capt. Best, together with local tradition, valuable in a way, leads me to conclude that the Capt. Best above referred to was, in all probability, Lieutenant John Best, Jr.

The records of the Dutch Church, at Linlithgo, show that he was Elder, and Deacon, from Apr. 8, 1779, to June

1, 1790. "On Aug. 8, 1779, when James Van Deusen was Elder, and [49] Johannes Best, Jr., Deacon, the Consistory promised Rev. Dr. John Livingston, if he would remain with them, 243 schepels of corn, and £40. 5s. 6p. in cash and sufficient wood. They had promised him 675 schepels of corn but could not get enough subscriptions." Retiring Elder, 1807. Deacon, Aug. 31, 1809. Elder, May, 1811. In 1797, paid to the Church Fund, £13. 5s. 6p. On May 25, Aug. 11, and Dec. 8, of that year, paid certain sums to the Fund. As auctioneer of church pews, Jan. 13, 1816, he announces: "that next Monday, a fortnight, be the time for selling and renting the pews, at 10 o'clock, A.M." (80) Ephraim, his son, was appointed Clerk of the Sale. He occupied pew No. 12, with his son (77) Peter J. (deese sitte int gemeen). (80) Ephraim, his son, occupied pew No. 10, in this church. In 1808, John Best, Jr., was found by the Road Commissioners in Road District No. 2, on the "Road leading from the Clermont line, and so past Philip Rockefeller's [who married (53) Anna, his sister] store, to the cross-road to Josiah Nash."

The will of John Best, Jr., is dated 1820. In it, he describes himself as "Yoeman," of the town of Livingston; mentions his wife, Margaret, and sons, John, Peter, Henry, Jacob, Ephraim, David, Abraham, and Jeremiah, and daughter, Sarah Murray; and appoints Frederick Hauser, and sons, Peter and John Best, Executors.

Hendrick Mesick, the father of Margaret Mesick, who married John Best, Jr., was a son of Ffitz Muzigh (Mesick), who came from Germany, about 1719, landed at Germantown, and settled in the northern part of Livingston Manor, on Claverack Creek, near Glenco Mills, on a life-leased farm of 230 acres of land, now (1889) owned by David Proper. His son, Hendrick, was born 1715, and died Apr. 3, 1809, aged 95 years. He married Catherine Dederick, who died Dec. 20, 1792. Her tombstone, in the Claverack Cemetery, bears the following inscription: "In memory of Catherine Mesick, wife of Hendrick Mesick, who died Dec. 20, 1792." Hendrick Mesick lived on the old homestead, of which he had a joint-lease, with his father, until his death. There he was buried, but his remains, as well as those of his wife, were re-interred in the cemetery of the old Dutch Church at Claverack. Elected Deacon of the Linlithgo Reformed Dutch Church, Aug. 15, 1741; Elder, and member of the Consistory, from Aug. 15, 1741, to Apr. 19, 1775. Was commissioned Lieutenant, 6th Company, Regt. of Militia, for Livingston Manor, by Cadwalader Colden, Jan. 25, 1764 (Mesick Genealogy). Was a member of "Regiment of Foot," organized in the Manor, prior to the Revolution, under command of Capt. William van Alstyn. In the records of the Dutch Church at Kingston, we find the notice of his marriage: "Hendrick Musick, j. m. and Catherine Diederick, j. d. both resid. in the Co. of Albanie married on the presentation of a license, Sept. 19, 1748, by Domine Geor. Wilhelm Mancius."

In the baptismal register of the Manor Church, at Livingston, we find various spellings of Mesick, showing the possibilities of phonetic spelling, and some of the difficulties encountered by the searcher of old church records. We have, Musig, Musick, Misick, Mysic, Musie, Miesig, Mussick, Mussich, Miesick, Mussig, Missig, Mujigh; and there are, undoubtedly, many other variations.

The will of Hendrick Mesick was in the possession of Harriet Mesick Elsefer, a great-granddaughter, recently deceased. In it, he appoints John Best, Jr., his son-in-law, and Johannes Young, his brother-in-law, Executors.

(79) Jacob W. Best achieved distinction in the War of 1812, rising through the grades to the rank of Captain. After the close of the war he accepted a position in a banking house, in Wall St., N. Y. City. After a few years he was advanced to the head of the firm, which he conducted successfully up to the time of his death, in the 93rd year

The People of the State of New-York, by the Grace of God, Free and Independent:
TO Jacob W. Best _____ GREETING:

We, reposing especial trust and confidence, as well in your Patriotism, Conduct and Loyalty, as in your Valor, and readiness to do us good and faithful Service, ~~Have~~ appointed and constituted, and by these Presents, Do appoint and constitute you the said Jacob W. Best Lieutenant _____ of a Company _____ in the Regiment of Infantry in the County of Columbia _____ whereof Robert T. Livingston Esquire, is Lieutenant-Colonel Commandant: You are therefore to take the said Company into your charge and care, as Lieutenant thereof, and duly to exercise the Officers and Soldiers of that Company in arms, who are hereby commanded to obey you as their Lieutenant, and you are also to observe and follow such Orders and Directions as you shall from time to time receive from our General and Commander in Chief of the Militia of our said State, or any other your superior Officer, according to the Rules and Discipline of War, in pursuance of the Trust reposed in you; and for so doing, this shall be your Commission, for and during our good pleasure, to be signified by our Council of Appointment.

In Testimony whereof, We have caused our Seal for Military Commissions to be hereunto affixed:

WITNESS our trusty and well-beloved DANIEL D. of his age. From papers in the possession of (292) Mrs. Cornelia C. De Groff, of Newark, N. J., to which the author has had access, and from other authorities, to which references are made, we obtain some knowledge of the military career of Jacob W. Best. In the first paper, over the signature and seal of Gov. Daniel D. Tompkins, affixed June 5, 1811, and passed at the office of Secretary Elisha Jenkins, June 13, 1811, we find him appointed and constituted as Ensign of a company in the regiment of militia, in the county of Albany, whereof Wm. Fryer, Esq., is Lieutenant-Colonel commandant. Again we find him, under date of Aug. 11, 1812, appointed by Gov. Tompkins, Lieutenant of a company in the 89th Regiment of the Infantry of the State. The third paper, which is quoted in full, is as follows: "The People of the State of New York, by the Grace of God, free and independent, To Jacob Best, Greeting; We, reposing especial trust and confidence, as well in your Patriotism, Conduct and Loyalty, as in your valor, and readiness to do us good and faithful service, have appointed and constituted, and by these presents do appoint and constitute you the said Jacob Best Captain of a Company in the 89th Regiment of Infantry of our said state, whereof Sebastian Visscher, Esquire, is Lieutenant-Colonel Commandant. You are therefore to take the said Company into your charge and care, as Captain thereof, and duly to exercise the Officers and Soldiers of that Company in arms, who are hereby commanded to obey you as their Captain, and you are also to observe and follow such Orders and Directions as you shall from time to time receive from our General and Commander in Chief of the Militia of our said State, or any other your Superior Officer, according to the Rules and Discipline of War, in pursuance of the Trust reposed in you; and for so doing this shall be your commission, for and during our good pleasure, to be signified by our Council of Appointment. In Testimony Whereof, We have caused our Seal for Military Commissions to be hereunto affixed. Witness our trusty and well-beloved, Daniel D. Tompkins, Esquire, Governor of our said State, General and Commander in Chief of all the Militia, and Admiral of the Navy of the same, by and with the advice and consent of our said Council of Appointment, at our City of Albany, the second day of March, in the Year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fourteen, and in the thirty-eighth Year of our Independence." (Signed) "Daniel D. Tompkins, Gov." Passed the Secretary's Office, the 18th day of April, 1814. (Signed) "J. Rutsen Van Rensselaer, Secretary." To which is attached the certificate of S. Visscher (initials undecipherable), city and county of Albany, that Jacob Best had taken and subscribed the oath required by law. Dated, at Albany, May 12, 1814. Capt. Jacob W. Best served on a number of General Courts Martial, the full record of which may be found in the "List of Ct. Martials," at the Adjutant General's Office at Albany, and in the "Military Papers of Daniel D. Tompkins, Governor, 1807-1817," pages 706, 709, 740. One of the Orders appointing a General Court Martial is as follows: "Adjutant General's Office, 3d M.D., New York, Nov. 20, 1814. G. O.: A General Court Martial composed of the following officers of General Haight's Brigade will sit at or near his Encampment for the trial of such Officers and Prisoners of the Brigade as may be brought before it. President, Lt. Col. Moses I. Cantine. Members, Major, John Tush, Major, Isaac Du Bois, Capt. John Martin, Capt. Jacob Best, Capt. Conradt I. Van Gaasbeck, Capt. Ichabod L. Judson, Lieut. David R. Hobby, Lieut. Peter H. Spicer. Supernumeraries, Capt'n. Benjamin Van Bentheusen, Lieut. Ira Jenkins, Adjutant, Moses Aller, Judge Advocate. By Order, [signed] John R. Fenwick, Adj't. Gen'l." A Brigade Order, addressed to the Encampment, at Brooklyn, Nov. 28, 1814, is as follows: "Capt. Best, his officers and men having performed their tour of duty, are hereby honorably discharged from the service. The Commanding General cannot omit embracing the present opportunity of expressing to Capt. Best and his officers his approbation of their conduct while under his command. The subordination and orderly deportment of their men are evinced not only by their improvement in military discipline, but in the accurate return which has been made of the arms and accoutrements entrusted to their hands. The General wishes them health and happiness, and bids them farewell." "By order of Gen. Haight, [signed] Theo. V. U. Varick, A. D. O."

William Best owned a large farm, on the road leading from Blue Store southward to Elizaville, in 1790. He was assessed to work 8 days, in 1803, in Road District No. 14, from the Blue Store to Thomas Swarts' store. He saw service in the Revolution. Was a member of the Independent Co., Albany County Militia, Captain Petrus van Gaasbeck. "N. Y. in the Revo.," p. 133. He served, also, in the 6th Company, 10th Regiment, Col. Peter R. Livingston.

His son, (95) John W., was Lieutenant of Company No. 2, of "Minute Men," of the second ward of the City of Hudson, formed in December, 1844, and called the "Law and Order Association," which was subject to the call of the Sheriff of the county for the suppression of the "Anti-Renters."

In the will of William Best recorded 1829, he mentions his children, William W., Jacob W., Polly Clark, Sophia Best, Catherine Clum, Helen Mink, Elizabeth Best, John W., and Martin C.; and appoints his son Henry, daughter Elizabeth, and friend Jacob H. Best, Executors.

XCII

92 HELEN (Lany), daughter of (52) Wilhelmus Best, m. Philip H. Mink.

Philip H. Mink was Supervisor of the town of Gallatin, in 1803. He kept store, and conducted a saw-mill, constructed for him by the Livingstons, under a life lease. Upon the organization of the Town of Gallatin, he was elected Overseer of the Poor. He and his brother, Henry P., were the first residents of Snyderville, afterwards called "Mink Hollow."

It is deemed unnecessary to trace, in detail, the line of all the children of (52) Wilhelmus Best. Sufficient has been given to allow his descendants to trace their line of descent.

Jacob Best resided on a large farm, in the town of Milan, a few miles southeast of Pine Plains, then known as "Little Nine Partners Patent." He, afterwards, moved to Pine Plains, and became the owner, in large part, of Lot 46, of Little Nine Partners, as shown in the various deeds of conveyance, of record in the Clerk's Office of Dutchess County. One of the deeds shows that (67) Johannes J. was part owner of said Lot, and, with his wife, Christina, conveyed his interest therein. "Deed Books 30, 31." The will of (104) Hendrick was executed June 25, 1863, and is of record in the office of the Surrogate of Dutchess County.

Levi Best resided on the farm formerly owned by his father (54) Jacob, situate about one mile and a half west of the village of Pine Plains, which, with the farm owned by Robert Ham, comprised, for the most part, Lot 46, of the "Little Nine Partners Patent," which consisted of 1200 acres of land. The first purchasers of Lot 46 were Martin Ham and John Houghtaling, who were, also, partners in the Patent. The farm is now known as the "Jacob Ham farm." "History of Little Nine Partners," Hunting.

We find, too, that Levi Best subscribed $20 for the purchase of an organ at the Presbyterian Church, at Pine Plains, in 1835. A local History tells us that Levi Best, and his sister (103) Margaret were, in 1849, members of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, at North German-town, which had been connected with the West Taghkanick Circuit. By deed, dated Apr. 1, 1842, Jacob H. Best, and wife, Christina, conveyed to (101) Levi Best, 151 acres of land, in Lot 46, in L. N. P., where he resided until his death.

Mrs. Clermont L. Best resided, in 1900, at No. 56 East 67th St., N. Y. City, after the death of her husband. The war record of Colonel Best may be summarized as follows:

Colonel Clermont L. Best, a hero of many wars, passed away on Wednesday night, April 7, 1897, at his home in New York City, after a week's illness, of heart disease.
He was, then, on the retired list of the United States Army.
Colonel Best was the son of James Best, a former Hudsonian, and was born in the village of Livingston, in Columbia County, on April 26, 1824. On July 1, 1842, he entered the West Point Military Academy, from which he graduated on July 1, 1847. He was brevetted 2nd Lieutenant on the date of his leaving the Academy. He was made a 1st Lieutenant of the 4th Artillery on Sept.
12, 1850; served in the Seminole War, in Florida, in '50, '56, and '57; was on frontier duty in quelling the disturbances in Kansas, in '57 and '58; and in the Utah expedition, in '58. He served, during the Civil War, in the Shenandoah Valley, and in Maryland; and was made Captain of the 4th Artillery, on April 29, 1861. He was in the northern Virginia campaign, in '61 and '62; was chief of the 5th
Army Corps, which was in the battle of Cedar Mountain, August 9, '62, and the battle of Antietam, Sept. 17, '62.
He took part in the Rappahannock campaign, from Dec.,
'62 to June, '63, and was in the battle of Chancellorsville, on May 2-3, '63, where he was brevetted Major for gallant and meritorious services. He took part in the struggle at Gettysburg, on July 1-3, 1863, and was there brevetted Lieutenant-Colonel, for gallantry. At the close of the war was brevetted Colonel, for good conduct and gallantry during the Rebellion. He was made Major of the 1st Artillery, in '67; Lieutenant-Colonel, in '83; and was retired from active service, as Colonel of the 4th United States Artillery, on April 25, 1888. Colonel Best is survived by his widow, Mary, daughter of the late Joseph G. Tooker, of New York, and her daughter; also by his son, Major Clermont L. Best, of the 1st Artillery, who was born of the Colonel's first wife, Sarah, daughter of the late Ralph Utley, of Hudson, New York. The funeral occurred at his residence, in New York City, and the interment took place in the Hudson Cemetery, with appropriate ceremonies.

Johannes J. Best was retiring Elder of the Johnstown Dutch Church, in 1807. Elder, again, May, 1811. The marriage record reads: "Johannes J. Best j. m. born in Livingston, in the 'Mannor of Livingstond' and Christina Ham, j. d. born in Livingston, and both residing in the 'Mannor of Livingstond,' married on the presentation of a Certificate that 3 sabbath publications had been made without objection in the Church of the 'Mannor Livingstond' Nov. 7, 1780." The military history of John J. Best, a soldier of the Revolutionary War, as appears from his application for pension on file in the Bureau of Pensions, Department of War, Wash., D. C., is as follows: In 1776, he served 9 months in the ranks, Capt. Petrus van Gaasbeck, Col. Livingston. In April, 1777, he enlisted for 6 months, Capt. Henry Pulver, Col. Hay. He again saw service, in 1779, for 3 months, under Capt. Leonard Ten Broeck. His application also states that he saw service for 2 months in each year, 1779, '80, '81; the names of the officers in command not being stated. He resided during his lifetime on the farm now known as the Diblee Farm in the town of Taghkanick; and was among the earliest settlers in the western part of the town, which was, then, within the boundaries of Livingston Manor. He was one of the petitioners to the Legislature, "demanding an investigation into the Livingston Title." "Doc. Hist. of N. Y.," O'Callaghan, vol. iii., p. 839.

Jacob Best resided in the town of Milan, Dutchess Co., on a large farm. In his will, dated Mch. 24, 1854, and probated 1861, he appointed his sons (171) Tunis, (173) Alexander, (175) Thomas J., Executors. (173) Alexander resided in the town of Milan. Was a prosperous farmer; and, for some years, represented the town in the Board of Supervisors. At a special town meeting held at the house of Ambrose L. Smith, in the town of Milan, Little Nine Partners, Aug. 9, 1864, (173) Alexander Best was appointed one of the Committee of three, under the following resolutions: "Resolved, That the Supervisor of the Town shall have the power to borrow money on the credit of the said town sufficient to pay to volunteers to fill the quota of the town under the call of the president for 500,000 men." "Resolved, That to every man who shall volunteer and be mustered in the United States service for the term of three years shall be paid, as a town bounty, the sum of $500." "Resolved, That a Committee of three be appointed by the Chair to draw the money upon the order of the Supervisor to pay to those men who are drafted; and to every man that is drafted under this present call shall be paid, as a bounty from this town, the sum of $400." "Resolved, That every man who is liable to a draft, and not taxable, shall pay to the Committee appointed the sum of $25, on or before the 25 of August, 1864." "Resolved, That any person who shall enlist for one year, or two, shall receive the same as a drafted man, $400; and that the Supervisor in procuring men for the quota shall have the power to pay to all enlisted by him for one year the sum of $400."

The New York Herald, of April 23, 1900, contained the following account of the death of Albert Best, which occurred April 21 inst.: "Albert Best, senior member of the firm of Best & Co., of West Twenty-third Street, died suddenly of heart disease Saturday afternoon in Mount Vernon while on a bicycle trip through Westchester County with friends.

"He was a great lover of the wheel and when the weather and business cares would permit used to leave his home, No. 15 West 121st Street, and take a spin on his bicycle through the Park and along the roads in the upper part of the city.

"He invited several friends to go with him after lunch Saturday on a trip through the lower end of Westchester County. He planned to stop at the house of a friend in Mount Vernon and then return home.

"He rode with his accustomed vigor until the party approached Mount Vernon, when he began to experience pains in his stomach. He spoke to several members of the party about it.

"When they reached Mount Vernon the pain had become acute and he got off the bicycle. His face grew pale and his companions took him to the home of a friend, where in spite of medical skill he expired in three hours.

"Albert Starr Best and Ralph Westervelt Best, sons of Mr. Best, are members of the Seventh Regiment, and were at Croton with the Regiment. They were immediately notified of the death of their father and returned to the city yesterday on a leave of absence.

"The death of Mr. Best removes from the world a philanthropist whose charities, covering all creeds and races, will never be adequately known. He was born in October, 1843, at Pine Plains. When sixteen years old he came to the city and entered the employ of A. T. Stewart as a clerk, remaining there five years. When he was twenty-one years old he went to Newark, N. J., and entered business for himself, opening a drygoods store, which he continued for eighteen years with much success. Then he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., where he conducted a furniture store four years. Then he came to this city and started with a store in Sixth Avenue, between Twenty-second and Twenty-third Streets. Ten years ago, the business having grown to large proportions, the firm went to its present location, in Twenty-third Street.

"Three daughters, two sons and a widow survive him. The latter was Miss Estelle Starr, daughter of John Starr, a merchant. Mr. Best was a member of the Harlem Club, Aldine Club, and Second Collegiate Reformed Church of Harlem."

 249 JACOB, b. Feb. 3, 1823; m. Gertrude Nevius. He was living 1894.

John J. Best was Elder of the Reformed Dutch Church at Stuyvesant Landing, Dec. 10, 1830. In the Minutes of the Consistory of this church we notice that John J. Best is mentioned as the husband of Mary Best, which was probably her name, and, hence, has been placed in parentheses. It is hardly possible that two brothers should each marry a Margaret Lape. It is more likely that an error has been made in the Lape Genealogy. Thomas Lape had a daughter Mary; and I believe that it was Mary, not Margaret, who married John J. Best. Assuming that the former name is correct, the dates of her birth and death should be otherwise than as stated.

Jeremiah Best took part in the War of 1812; was commissioned Ensign, in the 15th Regt., April, 1814. Of the military organizations existing in Columbia County prior to the War of 1812, we obtain some idea from an old brigade order, signed by Joseph Lord, as Brigade-Major, and issued by command of Brig.-Gen. Samuel Ten Broeck, under date of Aug. 10, 1806, directing that a review and inspection of his brigade be held near the tavern of Jacob Moul, in Claverack, on the 2nd of September, in that year. The 15th Regiment, in which (152) Jeremiah Best was, afterwards, an Ensign, was one of the commands mentioned in the order. The said brigade was still under the command of Gen. Ten Broeck at the opening of the war. Jeremiah Best was a resident of the town of Taghkanick, and a communicant of the Dutch Church at Johnstown. He was elected Deacon, Apr. 18, 1813; a delegate to the Classis at Hopeville, Sept. 26, 1835, as an Elder; chosen Treasurer of the church, in place of John Van Deusen, resigned, Apr. 8, 1837; Elder, again, 1837; delegate to Classis, at Poughkeepsie, April 8, 1837; Secundus to Claverack, Oct. 12, 1846; delegate to Mellenville, in the same year. From the Minutes, we have the following: "Resolved that [152] Jeremiah Best and William Gardner be requested to act as a committee to collect funds to defray the expenses of the repairs of the church at Johnstown"; dated, May 4, 1831. On Sept. 3, 1830, Elder Robert I. Van Deusen was "appointed member of committee on Discipline," in place of (152) Jeremiah Best, whose term had expired. On Feb. 11, 1832, (152) Jeremiah Best and others "were appointed a Committee to sell a lot of land belonging to the church and to purchase another lot and to build a parsonage." Under date of Dec. 10, 1831, we find: "Resolved that the Consistory make application to the Legislature of the State of New York, at the approaching session, for permission to sell the lot belonging to the Reformed Dutch Church of Linkthgow [sic] for the purpose of purchasing a parsonage and in case the petition is granted that the consistory proceed to sell the same." (152) Jeremiah Best and another were appointed a committee to draw up the request. On Aug. 20, 1836, we find him, again, on a "committee to carry into effect the repairing and making presentable the church." Three of his sons served in the Civil War. (331) Stephen E. enlisted at Hudson, Oct. 4, 1862, Co. I, 159th Regt. (334) Martin enlisted at Taghkanick, Co. G, same Regt. (332) Frederick M. enlisted at Taghkanick, at the same time, in same Co. and Regt. as his brother Martin.

606 HENRY ALLAN, b. Apr. 20, 1848; m. Mary Kate Pruyn; d. Jan. 20, 1905.

Henry Allan Best was largely interested in mercantile pursuits. He established, in 1868, a merchants' and general freighting business at Stuyvesant Landing, under the firm name of Henry A. Best & Co.; was one of the Consistory of the Stuyvesant Reformed Dutch Church; was a member of the last Disbursing Committee, Jan. 4, 1865; Supervisor, 1859-75; and a Director of the National Union Bank at Kinderhook, N. Y.

DCVI

606 HENRY ALLAN, son of (246) Henry Allan Best; m. Nov. 5, 1879, by Rev. E. A. Collier, Mary Kate Pruyn, of Kinderhook, N. Y. (see Pruyn Genealogy), b. Mch. 15, 1858. Issue:

607 PRUYN, b. July 27, 1880; d. Oct. 14, 1881.

608 HENRY ALLAN, b. May 27, 1884; d. Jan. 15, 1886.

609 ABIGAIL LEE, b. Apr. 4, 1887.

Henry A. Best died at his beautiful home at Stuyvesant Landing, Jan. 20, 1905. He was an energetic business man and a representative citizen of Columbia County. He was engaged in the freighting business, and was an extensive dealer in lumber, coal, and feed at Stuyvesant Landing. He was one of the substantial property-holders of the county and was well and favorably known as a man of more than ordinary business talent and worth. Mr. Best's elementary talent and worth were obtained in the schools of his native town, and his more advanced studies were pursued in schools at Rhinebeck and Poughkeepsie. After his graduation he entered the store of his father at Stuyvesant as a clerk, remaining in that capacity until 1872, when his father retired from active business, and he was admitted to the firm as junior member, the name being changed to J. Woolcox & Co. In 1880 the firm name was changed to Best & Bray. After several years of continued prosperity another change in the firm was made, the name then reading H. A. Best & Co. In 1888, Mr. Best sold out his interest in the store and abandoned mercantile pursuits for awhile. Two years later, however, he purchased the freighting business, which he carried on up to the time of his death, adding the lumber, coal, and feed business to his sole enterprise. He was the owner of several large farms and accumulated considerable wealth. He is survived by his wife, one daughter, and a sister, who reside in Stuyvesant Landing.

Ephraim P. Best spent his boyhood days on a large farm, situate about one quarter of a mile south of the "Widow Mary Livingston" place in the Town of Livingston. When about ten years of age his father purchased the Peter Bain farm in Klinekill, which was on the road leading from Valatie to Chatham. After living here a few years his father purchased a farm of nearly four hundred acres of land situate about one mile north of the village of Kinderhook, where he resided until his death, in 1846, in his seventieth year. The subject of our sketch married here, in 1840, Sophia Vosburgh, and had, as a wedding present from his father, six slaves, which he refused to accept. Owing to his father's declining health, which shortly resulted in his death, he assumed control of the farm, and the varied interests of his father which devolved upon him. In 1870, he turned over the farm to his son, (824) Peter I., and moved to Kinderhook, where he spent his remaining years in looking after his farm investments. He contributed largely of his means and strength to the upbuilding of the community and church in which he was interested. He held a lease, in consideration of one hundred dollars, paid to the Minister, Elders, and Deacons of the Reformed Protestant Dutch Church of Kinderhook, by him, to the full "enjoyment and use, for himself, his heirs and assigns, of one half of pew, No. 30, in the Brick Church, owned by the said Minister, Elders and Deacons, situate in the Village of Kinderhook, so long as the said Brick Church shall remain in the occupation and for the use of the said Minister, Elders and Deacons," subject, however, to assessments for repairs, salary, and an annual rent of ten per cent. on the valuation of said pew, which may be increased at will to equalize the value of the pew; also subject to current expenses, the aggregate sum of which the Pew-owners shall from time to time in writing assent to. In case of forfeit for non-payment of rent or assessments, after six months the pew may be sold at auction, upon due notice posted on the front door of the Church. This certificate is dated the 23rd day of Oct., 1851, and given under the hand of the minister and the corporate seal of the Church. This church organization is one of the oldest in the State, dating prior to 1685, at which time, in the records of Albany, mention is first made of sending material (nails) for repairs to the Church at Kinderhook (see Van Deusen Genealogy, p. 15). As forms, like customs, change but slightly through the years, in small communities, this form or a similar one for the sale and renting of pews may have been employed very much earlier, even dating back to the organization of the Church. A very entertaining history of this old Dutch Church, which should be in every library, has been written by the Rev. Dr. E. A. Collier, for nearly half a century pastor of the congregation. A recent book of local history deplores the extravagance of modern entertainments. With flying machines and motor cars "de earth do move"; and the simple pastimes of our forefathers, in which dancing and "general training" on the "commons" were the chief amusements, and gingerbread and hard cider the rewards for proficiency, pale, indeed, to insignificance. Of these "training bands" there was one at Kinderhook, known as the "Columbia Blues," attached to the 56th Regiment, N. Y. S. Infantry, and captained by John W. Pitts, who certified, under date of Oct. 19, 1827, in a time-worn slip of paper, now in my possession, that Ephraim P. Best (then 17 years of age) had regularly enlisted, was completely equipped and uniformed, and was then a member of the company of Light Infantry under his command. The old Homestead, at which the author has spent many a delightful hour, with its vast extent of rolling country and primeval forests, about the last to feel the touch of the woodman's ruthless axe, is beautifully situated in a grove of ancient pines. The house, set back some distance from the road, is equipped with modern and necessary appliances usually desired in a comfortable country home of the period. It is now occupied by the widow and the four children of (824) Peter I. Best, who, at "Besthurst," dispense charming hospitality to their many friends.

The obituary of Ephraim P. Best, composed by his friend, "G. S. C.," is as follows: "By the decease of Ephraim P. Best, Feb. 9, 1884, at the advanced age of seventy-four years, the community loses one of its most widely known citizens.

"As all who knew him will remember, he was unpretending in dress, frank in speech, with no dissembling, sagacious, self-reliant, ever attentive to the duty in hand, active to the last, wise in counsel, and a steadfast friend.

"At his decease he was one of the very oldest in membership of the Reformed Church of this village (Kinderhook). For many years he was a director of the National Bank of Kinderhook. In the relations of life he was distinguished for great practical common sense, sound judgment, and conservative action. Few were admitted unreservedly to his confidence, but in those who enjoyed that confidence he reposed implicit trust. His recollections of past events were exceedingly accurate, his knowledge of human nature extensive, and his observations on men and affairs shrewd, wise, and seasoned with a quaint humor peculiarly his own. The secret of his success was his practicality, directness in doing or dealing, and thorough devotedness to the work in hand. In all business transactions he was precise, methodical, and attentive to minutest details; yet, under rather an austere exterior, he carried a kindly heart, in manifold ways doing innumerable quiet and unsuspected acts of generosity and kindness. He was ever ready to assist those who seemed willing to help themselves. He scorned all hypocrisy, cant, and sham. He valued men as they were and not as they professed to be. He was a man of great force of will, clear and strong convictions, inflexible honesty, and incorruptible integrity. Perhaps none, now living in this vicinity, preserved the republican simplicity of life of generations ago so fully as he. He was most happy amid scenes of rural peace and quietness. His beautiful farm he loved with almost paternal fondness; its broad acres of meadow and plowland; its forests of primeval growth; almost as untouched as in his father's day of sixty years ago, were his unceasing pride and delight, where he seemed to reverently commune with nature, or with some brooding spirit of restful peace and calm.

"Clinging indeed to life, he was nevertheless ready for the summons: 'The Master calleth thee.' With indescribable pathos, shortly before his decease, in response to a greeting, he said 'I am at the lowest ebb,' and now he too 'has gone out with the tide.' Farewell, true-hearted and constant friend."

822 SARAH ELIZABETH, daughter of (263) Ephraim P. Best; m. June 3, 1863, George Ellsworth Benson, M.D., b. May 7, 1829; d. May 30, 1896, and had:

826 EDWARD ELLSWORTH, b. Sept. 19, 1864.

827 CHARLES BEST, b. July 11, 1866; m. Maude S. Mesick.

George E. Benson was born at Greenwich, Washington Co., N. Y., the third child of Joseph and Maria (Miller) Benson. After acquiring a public school education in his native town, he entered the Albany Academy, which, after two years, he left to take a course at the Albany Medical, from which he later graduated. After acquiring an education, largely through his own efforts, as his parents were unable to assist him, financially, to any extent, he left home with a horse and carriage, a small sum of money, and a bountiful supply of good wishes from his boyhood friends. He opened an office at Valatie, N. Y., where he married, and practised his profession for eighteen years. Seeking a larger field and surcease from the long drives, necessitated by country practice, which called him from one end of the county to the other, and made him a familiar figure to the country side when on horseback, or seated in a tall two-wheeled gig with his saddle bags strapped up behind, he moved to Hudson, N. Y., where he practised medicine and surgery for seventeen years, with success, when he sold his equipment and practice to Dr. O. H. Bradley, who had been a student in his office, and devoted himself to travel and congenial pursuits with such strength as remained to him. He died at his home in Hudson, after a protracted and painful illness, May 30, 1896, and is interred in Cedar Park Cemetery. His indomitable will and perseverance came to him, in nature's course, from a long line of fighting stock. His father was in the War of 1812, enlisting as a drummer boy, at the age of 12, and serving at Clinton and other points on the border. His grandfather, Bildad, served in the Revolutionary War, as corporal in the Albany County Militia, 13th Regt., Col. John McCrea. "N. Y. in the Revo.," p. 122. His great-grandfather, Jacob, fought with Gen. Stark, at the battle of Saratoga, and in the distribution of Bounty Rights, he was assigned to the 13th Regt., Albany County Militia, in a Co. captained by Peter Van Vort, and served through the war. "N. Y. in the Revo.," p. 234. His mother was born in the town of Claverack, and her ancestors participated in the War of Independence. The subject of our sketch traces his descent to an ancestor who came from England, and settled at Providence, R. I., about 1650, one of whose descendants fought in King Philip's War.

The obituary of Dr. George E. Benson, published in a local paper, has been added to and changed in a few minor particulars, to elucidate the text, but is quoted as though such changes had not been made: "Sunday morning the sad news was made known that late Saturday night the venerable and widely beloved Dr. George E. Benson had passed away at his residence, No. 306 Warren Street.

"Dr. Benson, who was in his 68th year, was a graduate of the Albany Medical College, preparing for the course under the celebrated practitioners and surgeons, Drs. March and Armsby, of Albany. On leaving college he practised in Valatie, for eighteen years, from which place he came to Hudson to take the place of the well known and skillful surgeon, Dr. Pitcher. After coming to Hudson he made several extended European tours in which he reinforced his education and experience by study in hospitals and clinics of London, Paris, and Dresden; and the specialty for which he fitted himself so thoroughly, brought him, ultimately, a surgical practice which extended over Columbia and several of the adjacent counties. The Doctor's modesty kept him from mingling to any great extent in society; but there are hundreds of homes and thousands of hearts in which the memory of the humane and tender hearted gentleman and the sympathetic and skillful physician will be cherished most lovingly. The Doctor had little time for the discharge of public duties, the only office he ever held being that of Health Officer for the city of Hudson; but he had time to devote to the advancement of his profession, and was a prominent member of the Columbia County Medical Society, and its President in 1882; and a life member of the State Medical Society before whose members he frequently appeared with interesting cases for their edification. Upon the incorporation of the Hudson City Hospital, March 7, 1889, he was chosen a member of the first Board of Trustees, and was elected its first President, at a meeting of the Board, held December 17, 1889. Seven years ago, on account of failing health, he retired from active practice; and has, up to within a few weeks ago, enjoyed perfectly his well earned immunity from the cares of his thirty years' toil in noble but exhausting labor."

As the author will probably never undertake another work of this character, and intends to distribute this book, which will be very limited in number, in the city and county where Dr. Benson labored for many years, it has been thought, not inappropriate, but of added interest, to insert herein his photograph, which was taken before his marriage, and is, indeed, the only one possessed by his family, but which portrays a fair resemblance.

Following the practice which I find is almost universal—and I would not deviate therefrom—in books of this kind, as on the stage, where the author or playwright appears therein, it is now in order and on the card that the author, after introducing, seriatim, with fulsome, but I trust truthful, words and phrases, the various personages in this compilation, should speak with modesty somewhat of himself. It may be taken for granted that every one, with some leisure, has a hobby, or should have; with some it is the pursuit of sport or animals, the buying of paintings and fine bindings; with others less elevating pastimes. Genealogical research has interested me for many years, and, like most diversions, has produced little profit, but much pleasure. In the search for data I have found it necessary to ally myself with a number of societies, having the same objects in view, The New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, The New York Historical Society, and others with like aims. With this brief apology for inflicting another genealogical work upon the innocent but long suffering public, let us pray: "Requiescat in pace" upon the dusty shelves.

John Harder Best was a resident of Chatham, where his children were born, some of whom still reside there. His son (904) Leigh, pronounced "Lee," acquired his education at the public schools of Chatham. After his graduation he went to New York City where he obtained a position on the clerical force of the New York Central Railroad, at the Grand Central Station. By close application and marked ability in the performance of his duties he soon came under the notice of President S. R. Callaway, who made him his private secretary. With the completion of the executive staff of the American Locomotive Company, of which S. R. Callaway was chosen president, Leigh Best was elected secretary and assistant to the president. He was warmly urged by President Newman, the successor of Callaway in the Central, to retain his old position, but Mr. Callaway was able to offer him a broader field of action. He is now vice-president of the American Locomotive Company, one of the largest aggregations of capital in the country. We may point with pride to another son of old Columbia.

James Best spent his early years in the Town of Johnstown, on his father's farm. We find in the minutes of the Church there that he had removed from the bounds of the congregation, Aug. 11, 1838, and that Peter Potts was elected Deacon of the Church in his stead. On Oct. 4, 1840, retaining his membership in the Church, he was appointed Delegate to attend the regular meeting of the classis to be held at Glenham, on the 27th inst. He had been twice Elder of the Church. He removed to Chatham, where he married, and spent the remaining years of his life.

James Best resides at Everett, Wash. When very young, his parents having passed away, he went to live with his aunts, the Misses Best, at Kinderhook, where he attended the Academy, from which he graduated at a very early age. As a youth he had shown great aptitude for languages and literature; and, after receiving his degree at college, he decided to devote his career to literary pursuits. He first assumed the management of a newspaper at Spokane, Wash., which he conducted for some years with great success. He afterwards moved to Tacoma to take the entire charge of and edit the principal newspaper of that city, in which he was also financially interested. His business ventures, added to his newspaper work, have brought him wealth and prestige, so that, to-day, his name is well known in that part of the West. The "Best Block," one of the largest stone and brick buildings in Tacoma, is one of the monuments to his enterprise. He resides in a beautiful home at Everett, is somewhat interested in society, but devotedly attached to his newspaper enterprises, from which he would be loth to part, as by them he has made his calling and election sure.

273 JARED, son of (80) Ephraim Best; m. Dec. 21, 1854, Malinda Holmes Paul, b. Mch. 20, 1835, and had:

- 933 LIZZIE AUGUSTA, b. June 28, 1856.
- 934 WILLIS JAMES, b. Sept. 14, 1858; m. June 10, 1907, Mrs. Sally Robinson Creighton, sister of Alfred Judson Robinson, of Bangor, Maine. She had a daughter, Dorothy, who has taken the name of Best.

- 936 JARED FRANK, b. Nov. 4, 1865; d. July 4, 1890.
- 937 MARIE LOUISE, b. July 8, 1873.

Jared Best in his early days was actively engaged in the manufacture of paper near Chatham Village. In 1840 he was conducting a mercantile business there. Upon the incorporation and construction of the Masonic Building he was chosen its first vice-president. He was tall and dignified of stature, and affable and genial in business and social relations. He passed away, suddenly, while superintending the work of the farm, in which he was actively interested to the last, at his beautiful home, "Highland Farms," near Chatham Village, at the advanced age of eighty-five years. His son (936) Jared Frank, better known as Frank, to distinguish him from his father, early moved to Mobile, Alabama, where he engaged in the lumber industry, and, at the time of his death, had acquired the reputation of being one of the most expert judges of lumber in the South. He died at his home in Mobile, of a fever indigenous to the South, at the early age of thirty-five years, and his remains were interred in the Rural Cemetery at Chatham. (934) Willis James attended the public schools at Chatham, after which he entered Eastman's Business College, at Poughkeepsie. After graduation he accepted a clerical position in a bank at Chatham, which he held for a year, when he went to Forest City, Iowa, and served in the same capacity in a bank in that city. Following this he engaged in the railroad business at Chicago, which occupied him for two years, when he went to Denver and continued in the same business for two and a half years. He is now interested in ocean transportation, and largely in mining and smelting industries in Mexico. Is president of one of the largest copper mines in New Mexico. Is vice-president and director of one of the coast lines of steamships plying between New York and Mexican ports. Has been vice-president and is now a director of the City Club, one of the wealthiest clubs in New York City. He spends most of his leisure time on his estate, "Highland Farms," situate about two miles north of Chatham Village, where, in the breeding of Guernsey cattle and fine horses, he finds his chief delight. The house, placed on an eminence commanding a wide extent of view, has been elaborately decorated by well known artists, and is amply equipped for the entertainment of city guests, where, in season, they find the essentials of a city home combined with the pleasures of outdoor life. Office address, No. 27 William St., N. Y. City.

(944) Cyrus W. Best, in his youth, showed marked musical talent, which his parents deemed wise to develop. As a composer and pianist he has been eminently successful in his chosen profession. After graduating from the Oberlin (Ohio) Conservatory of Music, in 1890, he went from there directly to Leipzig, Germany, where he studied, for three years, at that famous Conservatory of Music, with the well known teacher, Herr Prof. Martin Krause, the great European musical critic. In 1895 he went abroad again for further travel and study. He has had several years' experience in successfully managing large conservatories, and for some years conducted the C. W. Best Concert Company. The Chicago "Journal of Fine Arts" says this of him: "In few cities of America are there as many talented performers on the pianoforte as in Chicago, and among these C. W. Best stands out prominently as a soloist." For some years he was the director of the Kankakee (Illinois) Conservatory of Music, and a teacher of piano, pipe organ, theory, and musical history, with over two hundred students in attendance, in 1900. Receiving offers of larger remuneration and greater scope for his activities, he accepted, in 1902, the directorship of the Waynesburg College Conservatory of Music, at Waynesburg, Pa., where he is now located. His wife, Frances McCracken Best, is also an excellent musician, and teacher of harp and piano. She was a pupil of the celebrated harpist, Mrs. Clara Murray, and the eminent Danish pianist, Mr. August Hyllested. She has been a most successful teacher in every way, as well as a concert performer.

Jacob L. Best was a life-long resident of Chatham, where he married Emma Angell, a daughter of John Angell, who is still living there at an advanced age. Mrs. Best, who has devoted much time to genealogical research, traces her descent from Sir Francis Drake. At the death of Jacob L. Best, the following memorial was unanimously adopted by the official board of the Methodist Episcopal Church of which he was a member: "Whereas, our beloved brother and co-laborer, Jacob L. Best, has been called by that voice whose summons we must all obey, therefore be it resolved, that while we bow in humble submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well, we sincerely feel our loss, ever bearing in mind his long and useful life among us. In his official capacity he freely gave of his time and means in the interest of the church he so much loved; and, when in health, was always found in attendance upon the devotional meetings, not only bearing testimony of the goodness of our Heavenly Father, but at the same time, kindly, but earnestly urging all to give themselves into His care and keeping. Resolved, That we tender our heartfelt sympathy to our sister in this her great affliction, also Resolved, That in respect to his memory and life work, the above be spread upon the minutes of the church and a copy of the same be sent to the family of the deceased brother."

In searching through old records the author happened upon the following, which is inserted here for the interest it may convey, and not for the purpose of establishing descent; Apr. 15, 1735, Jacobus Vandenbergert, of Dutchess Co., yeoman, and wife, and Mydert vandenbergert, of the same Co., and wife, in consideration of £100, conveyed to Jan de Graeff (Groff), of said Co., land in "pouchg-keepsinck," on Fall Creek, adjoining the land of the widow of John Kip, deceased, also of Col. Leonard Lewis, then late of Dutchess Co., deceased, and of Baltus Van Kleeck, then late &c., deceased, and then in possession of Franc Filkin, excepting and reserving the mill creek, called Fall Kill, and a road down to the mill. The property deeded was situate at Poughkeepsie, in Dutchess Co., N. Y., where Jan de Graeff then resided. The spelling is retained; the names are easily recognized. May 5, 1738, Bartholomeus Hogeboom, of Dutchess Co., Carpenter, and "Saramynwyf," in consideration of "eyty pounds currant money of the provence of New Yorck," conveyed to John De Graef, of said Co., "Coerdwyner," land at "poghkeepsinck" (they certainly had a hard time with that word), butted and bounded on the south "syde" of the land of Walter Van Kleeck, and extending to the river, which tract was deeded to said Hogeboom by Myndert Harmonse, and Helena, his wife, in July, 1709.

From a map of the village of Poughkeepsie, made from a survey of Henry Livingston, May 10, 1799, we find that a De Graff resided on the 'Upper Landing Road.' Local historians say that he was one of the earliest of the Dutch settlers. The last village President of Poughkeepsie was Jacob De Groff, 1853-4. It is probable that the descendants of Lewis De Groff will find their earliest ancestor here.

Jacob B. Murray was engaged in the wholesale grocery business in Brooklyn for many years. He devoted much of his time and means to philanthropic objects and church work, in which he was largely interested. He was an elder of Plymouth Church, and at the time of his death Henry Ward Beecher, then pastor of the church, inscribed the following on the minutes of the Consistory, a copy of which was sent to the widow: "After a prosperous and most happy life, of fifty-two years, God called Jacob B. Murray unto his heavenly rest, on the morning of August 24, 1880. In the fulness of life and happiness, 'his eye not dim nor his natural strength abated,' by reason of a brief illness through inflammation of the brain, he arose from earth and entered into life eternal. His body was laid to rest in Greenwood, at the going down of the sun, on Friday, Aug. 27, 1880." (Signed) "Henry Ward Beecher." His widow resides at No. 246 Carroll St., Brooklyn N. Y.

In the year 1900, the author commissioned a genealogist employed by the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society to make for him a chart of the Best family from all data then extant and available to the professional searcher. A very cursory examination of this chart discloses a task quite impossible, except perhaps to the romancer, of attaining with safety, or with any degree of assurance, an haven of certainty, through the interminable maze, by relying solely upon the halting and traditional tracings of a genealogical chart as laid down for us. It is reproduced for the purpose of showing the scanty material of the family which had been published up to that time, upon which the chart was formulated.
